Mr. Roosevelt, although still young in years, has seen much of the world. He accompanied his father to Africa for the big game hunt in 1910 and has had several other hunting trips since. He was graduated from Harvard in 1912 and after a trip to England took up railroading in Brazil. Last winter he made a trip through the Brazilian wilderness and after coming out from the Amazon country a few weeks ago hastened at once to Madrid. Colonel Roosevelt after a visit to New York sailed for Madrid to be present at the wedding.

MAY CALL NEW HAVEN MEN.

McChord Undecided as to Witnesses Who Were Not Heard.

Washington, June 11.—Commissioner McChord of the interstate commerce commission still has under consideration the question of whether or not the commission will summon additional witnesses or depositions in the New Haven inquiry.

The hearing ended abruptly on Saturday, and it has now developed that there were New Haven employees and officers present who had been summoned to testify concerning the minutes of the board and the failure of the New Haven books to disclose certain large transactions.

Weather Forecast.

GEORGE W. PERKINS.

Progressive Leader Attacked by Pinchot as Favoring Trusts.

That George W. Perkins doctored the Progressive national platform in 1912 to make it conform to his views on the trust question—and that after the platform had been adopted—is broadly hinted by Amos R. E. Pinchot in a letter to Progressive National Chairman Joseph M. Dixon and the members of the Progressive national committee demanding that Mr. Perkins be deposed from the chairmanship of the executive committee and practically read out of the party.

WANTS PERKINS OUT OF THE PROGRESSIVES

Pinchot Says That He Favors the Trusts.

New York, June 11.—Declaring that George W. Perkins, the present chairman of the national executive committee of the Roosevelt Progressive party, is a bitter enemy of organized labor, the unswerving champion of illegal trusts and monopolies and that he has used the official organs of the bull moose party in his protrust propaganda, Amos R. E. Pinchot, brother of Gifford Pinchot, the Roosevelt candidate for senator in Pennsylvania, made public a letter he had sent to Senator Joseph M. Dixon, to Colonel Roosevelt and to the members of the bull moose national committee, in which he calls for the elimination of Perkins from the affairs of the Progressive party.

Pinchot asserts that Perkins is alienating the entire labor vote from the Progressive party despite the fact that the party platform stands for unionized labor. He attacks Morgan's former partner bitterly for his alleged belief that private monopolies and trusts are "sacred institutions," adding that Perkins as chairman of the committee has made the whole bull moose party appear to favor monopolies.

Pinchot assails Perkins for his connection with the steel and harvester trusts and speaks sarcastically of the steel corporation's "co-operative store," by which it declared it would share profits with employees. He points out that the "co-operative store" pays more than 100 per cent dividend a year into the coffers of the steel trust instead of sharing anything with employees.

David Lamar Appeals.

Washington, June 11.—David Lamar, indicted in New York for impersonating a congressman, appealed to the supreme court from the decision of the local courts, which ordered that he be extradited from Washington to New York for trial.

TRACKS MINED TO KILL HUERTA

Dictator Faces Death if He Should Leave.

BRYAN SILENT ON ANTILLA

It Is Known No Instructions Have Been Sent to Stop the Cargo of Munitions For Rebels—Greatest Secrecy Is Maintained.

LATEST DEVELOPMENTS IN MEXICAN SITUATION.

Huerta faces sure death if he quits city.

The Ward liner Antilla, with 3,000,000 rounds of ammunition for the rebels, is due at Tampico at any minute.

Secretary Daniels said last night that no steps have been taken to interfere with the landing of the Antilla's cargo.

The mediation conference at Niagara Falls is again at a standstill pending the receipt of General Carranza's reply to the note of the mediators.

Vera Cruz, June 11.—Any attempt by Huerta to flee from Mexico City would amount to suicide, according to passengers who arrived here from the capital.

They said rebel forces have planted dynamite under every railroad track to blow up if necessary any train on which he may try to flee. Yesterday's train narrowly escaped destruction from the rebel mines.

"Look out for bombs," the passengers report that Huerta said when jaunty and smiling he personally bade farewell to friends at the train just before it pulled out of the capital.

That his warning was well timed was proved when the train reached a point forty miles from Mexico City. There it passed over two boxes of dynamite which were set to explode by a trigger pulled by a string.

By mistake the rebels had carried their string over instead of under the rails, and the first wheel of the engine cut it off.

It was believed by the passengers that rebel spies in Mexico City saw Huerta at the depot and, believing he was about to flee on that train, either telegraphed or wigwagged orders for its destruction.

Bryan Is Silent.

Washington, June 11.—With the Ward liner Antilla due to arrive at Tampico any minute with a large cargo of arms and ammunition for the Constitutionalists speculation runs high in official circles as to whether the administration will make any efforts to hold up the delivery of the shipment.

Secretary Bryan, upon whom apparently rests the decision, is keeping so close mouthed on the subject that even some of the members of the cabinet are in doubt as to what steps will be taken.

It became known that the only instructions thus far sent to Rear Admiral Mayo at Tampico are to the effect that the moment the Antilla arrives at Tampico report shall be sent direct to Secretary Bryan.

No Instructions to Stop Ship.

On the highest authority it can be stated no instructions have been sent to stop the Antilla from landing her cargo.

Despite reports reaching Washington from Niagara Falls concerning a disagreement between the Mexican delegates and the American representatives over the manner of selecting a provisional president of Mexico to succeed Huerta, President Wilson is still confident that the Mexicans, as well as the mediators, will come to terms. Secretary Bryan had a long conference with the president at the White House, but refused to comment on his visit.

It is understood to be the intention of the administration to observe strictly from now on its prohibition of arms shipments from United States ports to Mexico.

On the other hand, it was pointed out, to prevent the landing of the Antilla's shipments after the ship had been allowed to clear for Mexico would be to seriously jeopardize the prospect of Constitutionalist support for the mediation program.

GET AFTER WRINGER TRUST.

Washing Machine Manufacturers Arrested In Sherman Suit.

New York, June 11.—That the government has begun a criminal prosecution under the Sherman law against officers and directors of the American Wringer company of Pittsburgh became known when Alonzo G. Beardsley, secretary of the company, and John F. Hemenway, a director, surrendered themselves to the federal authorities in this city and gave bonds of $3,000 each to appear in Pittsburgh for trial.

REARREST SYLVIA PANKHURST

London, June 11.—Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, one of the militants' most fiery leaders, was rearrested on Bow road as she was gathering her cohorts for a movement on parliament.

Her arrest indicates that the authorities have determined to adopt the most rigorous of repressive measures against the "wild women."

PETITION OUT FOR WILBUR

without a struggle. The open primary gives promise of producing more candidates for the job than in many years past. It is certain that neither the Democrats nor Republicans will suffer from a dearth of candidates for the party nomination and the Progressives will also nominate a full county ticket.

Sheriff Wright, who will also seek the county clerk nomination as running mate with Rev. William T. Stuchell, of Rahway, who wants to go to Congress, has almost forty petitions in circulation and is putting in his spare time in quiet canvassing among his friends in all sections of the county. It is considered probable that former Congressman Charles N. Fowler will make the race again this year.

Two changes were made in the personnel of the Progressive County Committee at the meeting Tuesday night. Because of business reasons, Clarence P. Morrell tendered his resignation as county chairman, and Harwood Fish, Mayor of Roselle, was unanimously elected to succeed him. At the same time Harry F. Brewer asked that his resignation as treasurer be accepted. This action was taken, and his place filled by Theodore F. VanDyke, of Summit.

There was some speculation as to who the various Progressive candidates would be. It is known that there is some talk of John K. English, of Elizabeth, and James Furber, of Rahway, as Congressional timber.

Charles A. Trimble, it is understood, will be a candidate for county registrar. He will be one of the staff of campaign orators. Others who will lend their services in addressing various rallies are Roland F. Calhoun, of Elizabeth; Fred S. Taggart, of Westfield; former Mayor Moy, of this city, and W. Lincoln Phillips.

TO KEEP TAB ON JAGS.

Flemington, June 11—Mayor O. H. Sproul has appointed Stephen S. Dean, Asher R. Stryker and Jacob Rowe to constitute a Board of Protectors for Flemington to prevent drunkenness. Should it become necessary, it is expected a jag list will be prepared. The appointments have been confirmed by the Council and the Board will hold its first meeting in the Council rooms Thursday night of next week.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S MEETING.

The monthly business meeting of the Young People's Society will be held at the home of Mr. Siedentop, Dunellen, tomorrow evening. Members of the society will take the 7:45 car from the Watchung avenue trolley station.

MARKED SHINGLES FAIL TO CONVICT

Charged with the larceny of four bundles of shingles, valued at $15, from the property of Samuel M. Titus, of Dunellen, Peter Christiansen was placed on trial Monday before Judge Daly and a jury, in the Middlesex County Court. The trial occupied several hours, being finished yesterday, when the jury promptly returned a verdict of not guilty.

Witnesses for the State were, Samuel M. Titus and Norman W. Volk, and it was shown that five or six of the stolen shingles were found on the roof of a house that Christiansen erected at Dunellen. Mr. Volk is employed by the complainant in the case and told of having placed a "V" shaped mark on several of Mr. Titus' shingles and of having found some of them on the defendant's roof.

The defendant on the stand denied all knowledge of how the stolen property came to be on his property and he introduced the following witnesses to testify to his good character: George A. Lutz, Robert L. Pierce, J. D. Loizeaux, John H. Coyle, George M. Coriell and U. B. Crane.

Assistant Prosecutor Stricker represented the State, while the defendant's interests were looked after by Alfred S. March.

The following jury heard the case: James Churchill, William Romer, Andrew McCabe, James C. Sullivan, Daniel Bunting, George Griggs, Robert Tracy, John Castner, William Carberry, Mulford Casterline, Chas. Bennett, Sr., and William Sofield.

A THIRST FOR KNOWLEDGE.

Investigators making a survey of a township in Minnesota—it might just as well have been some other locality in some other state—were confronted by a spirit of indifference to citizenship and a contempt for politics. "What's the use of taking time for politics when the whole thing is run by the politicians anyway?" was the way it was put up to the probers who found themselves unable to reply to the argument.

On the other hand, there was a goodly number of people who believed that "schools run by the government should do more to acquaint the growing generation with practical knowledge about government."

Voicing a growing demand for the study of government in the schools, which the Daily Press has advocated in a plea for a course in city government in the public schools of Plainfield, these men said:

"We need young men who will understand the organization of society in government, and who clearly see the relation between the local township and the county organization, and the connections between the county, state and federal governments. Then farmers will get to see how vitally their own welfare connects up with governmental activities."

If the study of local government forms and functions is recognized by the city as a good thing, it is good for the country and the opposite also holds equally good. These Minnesota farmers, like other farmers and the average city resident, view government after all not as a political proposition, but as an answer to the demand for individual and public welfare, as it concerns society. Their plea for the education of the young generation in affairs of government is the plea of the city. The demand is being felt for a better, more intelligent and more efficient citizenship beginning with the training of the child.

The demand will be met in time by the schools of the city and probably by the rural schools as well. As vocational training is making more efficient workers and more productive citizens of tomorrow, government education will make more efficient and intelligent future citizens. Local governments are growing less and less merely political and more and more the agencies of public welfare and it requires trained citizens to carry out this ever increasing civic conscience.

WHY OPPOSE PIERCE?

After presenting creditable candidates in the past and establishing a record for supporting the best candidates available for office, the Progessive county committee has now decided to put a full ticket in the field for county offices at the fall election. Senator Carlton B. Pierce, as able a man as has ever sat in the upper house of the legislature from this county, and who will seek renomination and election on the Republican ticket, will be opposed with the others.

We fear that many who have allied themselves with the Progressive party since it was started will feel that the time has come to forget party, and cast their ballots for Mr. Pierce. When a man has as progressive and clean a record as the Union county Senator he should receive the support of all good men, regardless of party, and the Progressives would have strengthened the balance of their ticket had the county committee decided to support Mr. Pierce.

Every time anybody wants to place blame for the tax rate, they charge the increase to the Board of Education. And yet when the Board of Education needs anything to improve the school facilities, they present their case so ably that the Board of School Estimate has to admit that it is needed, and allow the increase. The latest evidence of this comes with the announcement that $100,000 is to be raised to build and equip a new school on the lot which was recently acquired on Evergreen avenue. The Board of Education is ready to show anyone that it is not extravagant in its demands, and that new schools are constantly needed to take care of the rapidly increasing number of pupils. We have yet to hear of a person who has studied the situation, who does not think the school is needed in the section which will be taken care of by the Evergreen avenue building. $80,000 will be spent on the building, and $20,000 on the furnishings, and it is expected that classes will first be held there in the fall of 1915.

Traffic regulations as laid down by the Plainfield police department at many of the principal corners of the city are splendid aids to the orderly movement of vehicles, but it seems to us that a mistake has been made in placing a post at the intersection of Park avenue and Second street, because of the narrow street leading to one side of this corner. If an automobile traveling along Park avenue from the railroad wishes to turn into West Second street, it requires skillful manouvering to get around the post, and some big cars have had to back and turn before they could clear it, according to bystanders. It is equally hard for the drivers of furniture vans and other big vehicles to round the post. Traffic has passed back and forth at this point for several years without the regulation being needed, and there have been no serious accidents there. We doubt whether one of the big fire department autos would be able to round the corner successfully without running into the post.

Possibly the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association of New Jersey is nothing more or less than a name behind which the brewers hide, but whether they are or not a statement sent out by them regarding the anti-saloon league needs explanation, or the league stands condemned as an extravagant and useless organization. The circular in question says that the league raised $143,624 from September 1, 1909, to December 1, 1913, and spent $80,575 for salaries, hotel and traveling expenses, and $63,049 for rent, debt and interest, "blue books" and sundry office expenses, during that time, and accomplished nothing after begging all this money from the churches and the friends of temperance in the state. The methods adopted by the organization in the past have subjected it to severe criticism, and if this is all that it has been able to do, the donors of the money might as well have put it in a rat hole or burned it up.

It is certainly the irony of fate to have the police start a crusade against riding bicycles on the sidewalks at just the same period of the year that the street department puts tar on the oads. However, there has been entirely too much sidewalk riding, especially by young people, and the practice should be stopped. A few warnings, with due publicity to arrests, will be fully as effective as fines.

COLORED UNIVERSITY SINGERS PLEASE LARGE AUDIENCE

The colored quartet, of Atlanta University, delighted a large audience, last evening, in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue church. After a short prayer by Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie the four students sang, "Reign Master Jesus, Reign, "Hold Out to the End" and "Swing Slow, Sweet Chariot, Swing Slow." The quality of the singing portrayed the earnestness with which they held the attention of the audience. Dr. Zelie introduced Professor G. A. Towns, a graduate of Harvard and one of the leading social workers among the colored population of the South. In a straightforward and convincing talk he describes Atlanta University, as one of the pioneer institutions for the Christian education of the Negro youth.

The University was founded in 1867 under the auspices of the American Missionary Association by Edmund Asa Ware, a graduate of Yale University in 1863. There are enrolled four hundred students, two-thirds of whom come from the city of Atlanta. There is probably no school for the negroes in the south better equipped with facilities for domestic science, for library work, or for the training of teachers. All this Professor Towns touched on in his talk.

Following Professor Town's appeal Sidney Woodward played and sang a pleasing number entitled, "The Homeland," after which the quartet, consisting of Messrs. Sidney Woodward, Benj. Graham, T. E. Covernington and B. C. Styles, sang "Ain't that Good News."

The singers left the University at the close of their college year on June the seventeenth. Tonight they sing at the Marlborough Hotel in East Orange.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The first quarterly conference of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church will be held tomorrow evening. Rev. F. J. Hubach, district superintendent, will preside.

The annual strawberry and ice cream festival of the Monroe Avenue church Epworth League will be held this evening. A concert to be given under the auspices of the cantata chorus of the church will be held next Tuesday evening. No admission will be charged, but a silver offering will be received.

Children's Day will be observed at Trinity Reformed church, First Baptist and Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. At all of these special services will be held in the morning.

The young people of the First Baptist church will give a strawberry and ice cream festival in the parlor of the church tomorrow afternoon and evening.

WHAT D'Y'MEAN "LOST DOG?"

A stray hound wandered aimlessly into a store on Watchung avenue yesterday afternoon and sent up an agonizing howl portraying the fact that he was lost. Finding no sympathy in the store the dog trotted out of the place and jumped into a mud puddle. He then entered the store again, this time to receive even less sympathy. At regular intervals he would sit on his haunches and let out a loud appealing howl. Passers-by offered plenty of sympathy but all that the dog wanted was a home. The hound has since disappeared.

POLITICS QUIET IN BOROUGH; TREMBATH MAY SEEK OFFICE

The search for available material for councilmanic timber in the borough has been started by leading lights of the Republican party. The terms of Edmund Rushmore and Julius Stahl expire on the first of next January, and there has been some doubt as to their desire to make another run. Neither, however, has made a statement one way or the other, as the season has not advanced sufficiently as yet to be seriously considered. Rumors have it that William Trembath, of Chatham street, has concluded to make a run for the Republican nomination of Councilman, should either Mr. Stahl or Mr. Rushmore decline to try again.

When interviewed on the question this morning, by a Daily Press representative, Mr. Trembath would make no statement, saying that it was too early in the season to think of loca lpolitics.

Aside from justices of the peace and constables, the two Councilmanic chairs are the only borough offices to be filled this fall, it being an "off year." Interest will be added to the campaign by the election of a State Senator from Somerset county, and a Congressman from the Fourth District.

LEADERS' MEETING TO BE HELD AT EAST ORANGE

The annual leaders' meeting of the New Jersey Y. M. C. A. Camp Wawayanda, will take place this year on Saturday, June 13, at 2:30 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Baldwin, in East Orange. The reception is given by the mothers of the boys going to camp and the women's auxiliary to the camp leaders. This meeting is the same as the one given by Mrs. G. Herbert Condit, in Plainfield last year.

The local Y. M. C. A. is to be represented by Messrs. H. W. Welle, C. H. Line and C. W. Bingaman. At the meeting, which is to be in charge of C. Scott, the State secretary for boys' work, the work of the summer camping season will be outlined. The meeting will be on the lawn of the Baldwin home if the weather permits.

This year a delegation of thirty-nine will go from Plainfield to Camp Wawayanda. The first section, which leaves for two weeks beginning June 25, has planned a social meeting for Friday afternoon, June 12, at 2:30 o'clock.

PICTURES OF ENGINE TEST.

Henry Bryniarski, the local agent for moving picture productions, which are issued each week, covering the important events of the week, took pictures this morning of a demonstration of the electrical engine which has been recently tested out by the government under the direction of Secretary of the Navy Daniels. If the picture is a good one it very probably will be shown at Proctor's Front street theatre.

DUTCH ARMS TO PLAY.

The Dutch Arms Concert Band of Trinity Reformed church, has been engaged to play at the flag raising at Mt. St. Mary College, Saturday afternoon. Mayor Percy H. Stewart, of this city, will be the speaker.

WILLIAM MEFFORD RUNYON PASSES AWAY IN BROOKLYN

William Mefford Runyon, only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Runyon, who were among the early residents of Plainfield, died at his home, 779 Carroll street, Brooklyn, yesterday. Mr. Runyon's father was a partner of Alexander M. Runyon, who died suddenly on Saturday night, in the undertaking business, the latter taking the business upon the death of the former.

While in this city, Mr. Runyon lived on West Second street. He removed to Brooklyn a number of years ago and continued his residence there up to the time of his death. He was engaged in business in New York. He is survived by a wife, who was Miss Anna Dunham. The funeral will be held at the late home in Brooklyn at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

MANY PLAINFIELDERS GOING ABROAD THIS WEEK

Among the Plainfielders who go abroad this week as reported by Estil's agency, through whom passage was secured, are the following: Mr. and Mrs. C. W. King, of Watchung avenue, left yesterday on the White Star Liner Adriatic, for a summer's visit with friends and relatives in England. Charles Clark, of East Third street, left today on the Cunard Line's new Aquitania on her maiden return trip. Mrs. C. R. Allen, who expects to visit in Sweden, will sail tomorrow on the American steamer Helig Olaf. She will be accompanied by her sister, Miss Maria Hedin. Mrs. Edward Strapp and children and niece, Miss Nee, who were to have sailed on the White Star Liner Baltic last week, but were detained on account of illness, sailed today on the Adriatic.

JOHN DAY DIES IN HIS 77TH YEAR

John Day, aged seventy-seven years, of 240 Somerset street, the borough, died at his home yesterday afternoon after a long illness. Mr. Day was a native of Ireland, and came to this country fifty-seven years ago, residing in this city practically ever since his arrival from the old country. He is survived, beside his wife, Mrs. Catherine Day, and five children, Thomas Day and Mrs. James Shelley, of Brooklyn; Mrs. Charles Johnson and the Misses Julia and Elizabeth Day, of this city. Mrs. James Reid, a sister, of this city, also survives.

Mr. Day was one of the first communicants of St. Mary's church, of which he was a faithful attendant until his health would not permit. The funeral services will be held at his late residence Saturday morning at 8:30, and at St. Joseph's church at 9 o'clock. Interment will be made at St. Mary's cemetery.

THREE STARS IN ONE

William Gillette, Blanche Bates and Marie Doro will for the first time in the careers of any of them step upon the same stage side by side next season in a play that has already run over a year in London, where it gives promise of running a year more, and is nothing less than Sardou's fine old melodrama, "Diplomacy." For more than a season Miss Doro has been playing in "Diplomacy" the role of "Dora." Miss Bates will in this country act the role of "Countess Zicka," and William Gillette will here play the part that has brought new fame to Gerald du Maurier in London. The first performance of this all star presentation of "Diplomacy" is set down for October in New York. On that night William Gillette will make his first reappearance on a New York stage in over three years.

LOCAL SCHOOL WORK IN COUNTY EXHIBIT

Specimens of work done by Plainfield school children in the manual training department were taken to Elizabeth this week where they will be placed with the work of other schools of Union county at the exhibit to be held in St. Patrick's High School, today, tomorrow and Saturday of this week. Charles R. Bostwick, supervisor of this branch of local school work, is in charge of the Plainfield exhibits and many fine articles made by local children were taken there by him Wednesday.

Mr. Bostwick, who is president of the Union County Manual Training Teachers' Association, is one of those in charge of the combined exhibit and present indications are that the experiment will prove entirely successful. This is the first exhibit of the kind to be held in this county and the innovation has met with marked response from all of the cities and towns in the county promoting this branch of educational endeavor.

Mr. Bostwick stated yesterday that the unfinished condition of the Plainfield High School addition would make it impossible to hold an exhibit here this year, but promises one of the largest in the history of the work here for next year. Heretofore it has been customary to hold the affair in the High School gymnasium, but this is at present undergoing alterations.

MRS. STEINMACKER WEDS NELSON BIRCH

Miss Katherine Steinmacher, of Milltown, was quietly married to Nelson Birch, of New Brunswick, at Somerville yesterday, by Rev. W. F. Barney, pastor of the German Reformed church, of that place.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Birch are well known to a large circle of friends in Somerville, Milltown and New Brunswick, where the bridegroom is employed in the office of William D. Nolan.

LEAL'S COMMENCEMENT WILL BE HELD FRIDAY

The commencement exercises at the Leal School this year will take place tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, at which time Professor Charles Knapp, of Columbia University, will address the graduates. The exercises will be very simple this year. Of the graduates Frederick F. Stevens, Edward S. Faber and Frederick B. Krom are going to continue their studies in higher institutions. Examinations for the undergraduates will be held all next week. The annual commencement dance at the Park Club will be held on Monday evening, June 22.

SPECIAL BOROUGH SCHOOL ELECTION SET FOR JUNE 23

A special school election will be held in the borough Tuesday night, June 23, when the school voters will be given an opportunity to cast ballots on the 1915 budget as drawn up at the last meeting of the North Plainfield Board of Education, and other annual school matters. This is one of the occasions when women are eligible to exercise a right of franchise and feminine balloting is always a conspicuous feature of these elections.

Notices of the election will be posted about the borough ten days prior to the date set. Among the other things to be decided are matters brought up by the State authorities regarding the fire conditions in the borough schools and the matter of altering the Somerset street stucture in order to make it fireproof.

WILL TALK ABOUT LINCOLN.

Evansville, Ind., June 11—Members of the Indiana Republican Editorial Association rounded up here today and began what promises to be the most notable annual meeting in the history of the association. Tomorrow the members and invited guests will go to Lincoln City, where exercises will be held in the Nancy Hanks Memorial Park, where the mother of Abraham Lincoln is buried. Addresses will be delivered by former Vice-President Fairbanks and former Governors Wilson, of Kentucky; Denen, of Illinois, and Durbin, of Indiana.

COMMENCEMENT ORACLE WILL BE THE BEST EVER

The management of the Plainfield High School senior play will submit a report on finances in the course of a few days. It is already known that the amount netted by the cast of "If I Were King" will be large enough to insure a success of the 1914 commencement Oracle. The board of editors has promised the class the best issue of the Oracle in its history.

The class book will contain nearly seven hundred square inches of engraved matter and the class picture is going to be eight by ten inches in size, which means a larger Oracle than heretofore published by a graduating class. The managing board will have the Oracle on sale by commencement day.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

Miss Marie Tempest will make a farewell American tour next season.

Eugenie Blair has a new playlet entitled "The House of Mystery."

Charles Dillingham will present Olive Wyndham in a new play next season.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell is to be seen here next season in Shaw's 'Pygmalion."

Peggy O'Neill has been selected to create the leading role in Richard Barry's new comedy, "Drenda of the Woods."

Otis Skinner has abandoned his plans for the production in the United States next season, of John Galsworthy's "The Mob."

Oliver Morosco is soon to produce in Los Angeles a modern play called "Faith," by Otheman Stevens, a dramatic critic of that city.

Annette Kellermann, the noted swimmer and vaudeville performer, is taking vocal lessons in Paris with a view to going into opera.

Robert G. Pitkin, recently seen in "High Jinks," has been engaged for the role of a young naval officer in the coming production of "The Debuntante."

Tully Marshall has been engaged for an important part in a new play written by Richard Harding Davis and Jules Eckert Goodman, to be produced next season.

When "Today" goes on tour next September the part heretofore played by Edwin Arden, will be taken by Edmund Breeze. Many other new races will be seen in the company.

The eleven recent performances of the Lambs All-Star Gambol netted more than $75,000, which sum will be added to the fund for building the Lambs' new clubhouse in New York.

"The Whirl of the World" has been transferred from the Winter Garden in New York to the Grand Opera House in Chicago. Its place at the Winter Garden has been taken by "The Passing Show of 1911."

A. H. Woods has engaged Dorothy Nord, formerly of the vaudeville team of Albert Von Tilzer and Dorothy Nord, for the prima donna role in "Mlle. Tra-La-La," now running at the Lyric Theatre in London.

William A. Brady has three new plays in readiness for the opening of the coming season. They are "The Decent Thing To Do," "When Sylvia Runs Away" and "The Elder Son." In addition, he will send on tour "The Things That Count" and "Too Many Cooks," which have not yet been seen outside of New York.

WILSON TO VISIT PRINCETON.

Washington, D. C., June 11—Arrangements have been completed for President Wilson's trip to Princeton tomorrow to meet in reunion with his old classmates of 1879. The day will mark the beginning of the university's 167th annual commencement. The President will participate in the alumni parade and in the afternoon he will attend the Yale-Princeton baseball game. The present plan is for him to return to Washington tomorrow night.

GETS BABY THAT FATHER STOLE

Mother Speeds Away In Auto With Child.

TO BARRICADE HER HOME

Woman to Prevent Common Assault, Kidnaping or Any Other Form of Siege—Father, Who Is G. J. Hattersley, Formerly Captain In Fifth Regiment, N. G., N. J.

Paterson, N. J., June 11.—Twice since Sunday, the second time being yesterday, the unwritten law of parental instinct was put into effect in this city for the possession of a girl baby of sixteen months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Hattersley, who have been living apart for a year.

The mother made the last move yesterday by going in an automobile to the house of her husband's sister, Miss Elizabeth Hattersley, in Totowa, a suburb of this city, where she suspected the child was harbored, entering without ceremony, exploring the house until successful and then speeding with her child to the home of her father, Martin J. Curley, 74 East Fifth street. She said she intended to barricade the house against common assault, kidnaping, police courts or any other form of siege.

Hattersley, who has been a captain in the Fifth regiment, N. G., N. J., had been trying for some time to become reconciled to his wife, and she would not hear of it. Sunday he went to her father's house while she was out and carried off the baby.

Mrs. Hattersley asked the police to arrest him, but was informed that as there had been no court allotment of the child nothing could be done, the father having acted within his rights. She spent two days in searching out clews and followed them up yesterday by giving Hattersley a piece of the some law he had invoked.

TO GET POWER CO. BOOKS.

New Yorkers Say International Concealed Financial Conditions.

Trenton, N. J., June 11.—Charging the International Power company, an $8,000,000 New Jersey corporation, with concealing its true financial condition, William L. Bull and others of New York city have obtained from Justice Swayze in the supreme court an order compelling the defendant company to deliver its books to the supreme court commissioner, Frank P. McDermott, at his office in Jersey City.

The books are to remain in the office of Mr. McDermott for thirty days in order to permit the complainants to examine into the condition of the corporation.

The plaintiffs are William L. Bull, Henry W. Bull, Frederick Bull, Lewis E. Waring and Louis Livingston, all of New York city, comprising the stock brokerage firm of Edward Sweet & Co. They own 500 shares of the capital stock of the corporation and charge that the affairs of the company have been so manipulated that the value of the stock has been forced from 199 down to 35.

"LADY POLICEMAN" TO QUIT.

Miss McAdie Hasn't the Heart to Stop Spooning In Parks.

Bayonne, N. J., June 11.—Bayonne's policewoman, Miss Ruth McAdie, said that she would resign.

"I don't want to watch spooners; it is a mean job," said Miss McAdie. "I wouldn't be the cause of lovers' losing their benches in the park. Let some one else do it.

"Besides, I have received too much notoriety. The position of lady policeman would be all right, but when your name gets into every newspaper in the country you strenuously object."

All the members of Bayonne's playground commission were made special policemen by Mayor Bert Daly. Miss McAdie, by virtue of her position as secretary to the commission, received the appointment of policeman. She intends to tender her resignation next Monday.

STATE NOTES.

Unless the diphtheria and scarlet fever epidemic in Jersey City is checked at once Mayor Fagan will order all victims to contagious disease hospitals.

Five boys ranging in age from nine to fourteen were arrested in Newark charged with breaking into a grocery store and stealing eight packages of cigarettes.

Frank Wilson, a young man who was arrested for burglary and was thought to be a deaf mute, talked when his past record was read to Judge Mark A. Sullivan in Jersey City.

Twenty negro and Indian students of Hampton Institute, Virginia, will give an open air festival on the estate of Decatur M. Sawyer, in Llewellyn road, Montclair tomorrow night.

Berry pickers are greatly exercised in Montague because D. C. Starcks of the department of weights and measures seized thousands of baskets, claiming they are not up to the standard measure.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

State-wide primaries will be held in Minnesota on June 16.

Governor Morehead, of Nebraska, has decided to be a candidate for renomination.

Colonel Roosevelt is to open the Progressive campaign in Connecticut with an address in Hartford, on July 23.

The death of Senator Bradley has served to increase the number of entries in the senatorial race in Kentucky.

Judge John C. Karel, of Milwaukee, again aspires to be the Democratic candidate for governor of Wisconsin.

The Democratic State Convention in Tennessee went on record as opposed to the repeal of any of the prohibition laws.

H. A. Aaker, of Fargo, has been named as the choice of the Progressive party for the governorship of North Dakota.

Not much has been heard lately of the candidacy of Charles W. Bryan, brother of the Secretary of State, for the gubernatorial nomination in Nebraska.

Louisiana Progressives plan to put a State ticket in the field. A State convention of the party has been called to meet in New Orleans on June 18.

Senator John Walter Smith, of Maryland, whose term expires next March, will have as his principal opponent for renomination, Isaac Lobe Straus, former attorney-general of Maryland.

A special election is to be held in the Third Congressional District of Alabama on June 29, to choose a successor to Representative Henry D. Clayton, who resigned recently to accept a position on the Federal bench.

It is the general belief among Minnesota politicians that Governor Eberhart, in the event of his re-election to the governorship this fall, will be a candidate for the United States senate in 1916, when a successor will be chosen to Senator Moses E. Clapp.

Solicitor Hugh M. Dorsey, of Atlanta, who prosecuted Leo M. Frank, the young factory superintendent, convicted of the murder of Mary Phagan, may decide to become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of Georgia in the primaries this summer.

Henry L. Jost, mayor of Kansas City and a possible candidate for the governorship of Missouri, was once an inmate of an orphan asylum in New York city, and in infancy was taken to Missouri with a carload of waifs who were sent to the west to find new homes.

Dr. W. Godfrey Hunter, of Lexington, Ky., former congressman and United States minister of Guatemala and Honduras from 1897 to 1902, has announced his candidacy for the nomination for United States Senator on the Republican ticket to succeed the late Senator W. O. Bradley.

Petitions have been started in circulation for a referendum upon Civil Service for county employes. Similar petitions were signed by many last year, but through technicalities the question was not allowed to be printed upon the November ballots. Several prominent Democrats are against the adoption of Civil Service, as in the event of their party capturing any of the courthouse plums next fall, there would be little for distribution among the faithful.

THREE SHERIFF SALES.

Elizabeth, June 11—Three sheriff sales were held yesterday afternoon in Sheriff Wright's office, while one was adjourned. The plot of land in Sycamore street, Plainfield, in which Eugene M. Laing was complainant and Frank L. C. Martin, et al, defendants, went to the complainant, his bid being $500. Two plots of land at Stelle avenue and Plainfield avenue, Plainfield, went to the complainant, Mary N. Esterbrook, the defendant being Henry C. Crofoot. The total price was $3,000. The sale of the plots in which John Ross was complainant and the Home Building and Supply Company, defendant, was adjourned for one week.

EXEMPT FIREMEN'S MEETING.

The final arrangements have been made for the annual gathering of the New Jersey State Exempt Firemen's Association to be held at Hackensack, Wednesday of next week. The election of officers and the regular banquet will be features of the gathering. Horace G. Adams, of this city, is the secretary of the association.

ATTRACTIVE PROGRAM FOR 'SILVER BAY PARTY'

"The Search for the Blue Bird" Will Be Among the Features.

The committee in charge of the "Silver Bay Party," to be held at the Y. W. C. A., tomorrow evening, has arranged a very attractive program. The party will be carried out on the lines of a county fair and will be held on the grounds of the Young Women's Christian Association. The proceeds will increase the Silver Bay Conference which is to be held the last week in July.

The booths will be in charge of the different clubs and departments. There will be an Indian village, a professional fortune teller and plenty of pink lemonade sold from an old rustic well. The features of the evening will be a balloon ascension, the Greek dance and a performance of the playlet, "The Search for the Blue Bird." This play is to be given by the same cast that played it last year at the Silver Bay Convention at Lake George. Special music will mark this presentation.

Those taking part in the Greek dance are the Misses Helen George, Marion Wean, Ruth Wean, Frederica Quentin, Betty Greenleaf, Gladys Chase, Nettie Steiner, Marion Mair, Lucile Ewart and Edna Green.

The cast of the playlet is Miss Edna Green as Tyltyl, Miss Terry as Mytyl, Miss Parmlee as Light (the guiding spirit), Miss Scarborough as Land of Memory (the past), Miss Evelyn Manley as Nightingale (the Glee Club), Miss Reba Kleine as Fairy (gymnasium and social), Miss Adele Herrman as Sickness (first aid class), Miss Gertrude Mair as Forest (Camp Fire Girls), and Miss Gardner as the Kingdom of the Future.

WILL CELEBRATE 101ST BIRTHDAY

One week from today Captain Bennett Britton, "Plainfield's Grand Old Man," will celebrate his 101st birthday, surrounded by his relatives and intimate friends. When Captain Britton attained the century mark last year he declared he felt "just like living fifty years more." Despite his great age the captain is as spry as a man fifty years old. He is up and about every day and is in active charge of his store in the Clinton avenue section.

Captain Britton is a native of Paterson, where he was born in 1813. Later he removed to New York and established himself in the hotel business. At the outbreak of the Civil War he enlisted with New York troops and saw three years' service. About forty years ago he removed to Scotch Plains and a few years later to this city, where he has since resided.

On Memorial Day the captain participated in the exercises conducted by Winfield Scott Post G. A. R. He is a great believer in outdoor exercises and every day he takes a walk of from four to six miles.

TAPS FROM THE GAVEL.

Lodges scheduled to meet tonight are as follows: Central Lodge, No. 48, A. O. U. W., at Firemens' Hall; Jerusalem Chapter, No. 24, F. and A. M., at the Babcock building; Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., at Junior Hall; Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., at K. of P. Hall; Trafalgar Lodge, O. S. of St. G., at Coward Hall; and Plainfield Council, No. 711, R. A., at the Babcock building.

Two of the lodges meeting tonight have initiations, Jerusalem chapter, conferring the royal arch degree on two candidates, with a social time following the business session. Franklin Council introduces a large class into the mysteries of the order.

Royal Council, No. 77, O. U. A. M., will elect officers at their meeting on June 17.

COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS MEET

Jamestown, N. Y., June 11—The annual convention of the United Commercial Travelers of America, Grand Council of New York, assembled here today for a three days' session. Large delegations, many of them accompanied by bands, are here from Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse and other leading cities of the State. A big parade of the delegates will be given tomorrow night.

SMALL STRAW FIRE.

A telephone alarm brought the fire department to the Eastern Bottling Company's plant on East Second street late Tuesday night where a pile of straw was burning near the concern's barn. The flames had been started by a locomotive spark and were put out with little damage resulting.

SCOOP GETS GOLF'S GOAT

IN THE SPORTING SPOTLIGHT

"Money or Sportsmanship"

Mediation with concessions that are a detriment to the best interests of interscholastic athletics, is the outcome of the North Plainfield-Plainfield High School baseball wrangle and the deciding contest might better remain unplayed than to be staged under the circumstances suggested by one who ought to know better. Why is it that our home league should be forced to transfer its operations to hostile territory some twelve miles from the boundaries of the Queen City? Is the terra firma in this particular locality not good enough for baseball purposes? No, the reason is obvious. Certain individuals have long been clamoring to transform the old spirit of genuine interscholastic portsmanship into a profit yielding proposition and this is their recourse.

Take the contest in which interest is known to be rife to Somerville for settlement, and you are taking an unfair advantage of your faithful schoolboy supporters. How many of these loyal youngsters, who do their part for athletics from the sidelines, can afford to squander fifty-five cents, thirty for carfare and twenty-five for admission, on a two-hours' exhibition of baseball? By an actual canvas you will find that ninety per cent. can ill-afford the luxury and forty per cent. of the remainder adopt tragic means of getting possession of the one-day fund.

And those who are looked upon to exercise a ruling hand over just such a condition are the ones who are fostering it. Is it any wonder then that interscholastic athletics are becoming corrupt and the heretofore friendly spirit of rivalry is dying a hard death? To whom should we look for a possible settlement of existing conditions? Why, to those who are forcing the regrettable state of affairs upon us.

It would be folly to concede that we have no baseball diamonds in Plainfield or North Plainfield where an interscholastic match could be decided on its merits alone. Even the schoolboys themselves admit that Parker Field and Hyde Oval are pretty fair apologies for baseball diamonds, but the Hyde Oval idea is tabooed for the simple reason that some fortunate youth might possibly get away without handing over the entrance fee. Is it necessary that the treasuries of the two institutions should be filled to overflowing by the receipts of this one contest? Coming down to real statistics the thirty cents carfare saved every individual who would have to travel to Somerville, if the contest were played at that place, would aggregate about $275. Is it not better that the school treasuries should be minus a possible twenty-five or thirty admission fees than that these several hundreds of dollars should be squandered on carfare? If the real truth were to be known we firmly believe that the school treasuries are in a pretty fair state of existence at the present time and that no immediate windfall is needed. If the contest can be decided on its merits in Somerville, why can't it be decided on its merits in this city or North Plainfield? Is there something about the environment or atmosphere in this fair city of ours that is an incentive to unfairness or unsportsmanlike spirit?

In closing we might suggest that the two managers reconsider their action and get together on that coin flipping proposition to decide whether the game shall be played on Parker Field or Hyde Oval. Otherwise, bury the hatchet and let matters rest as they now exist. Life is altogether to short to devote a period of it to wrangling over a trifling condition such as this one.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is there any accurate definition of the word "amateur" as far as sport is concerned? K. D. R.

Answer—Amateur is a pretty broad term and is taken several different ways by athletes. In a broad sense it can be referred to a person who has never taken compensation for work in athletics of any kind and you have never played with or against a professional. Professional meaning one who has received money for sports.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Will anyone be allowed to compete in the city five-mile run to be held in connection with the Parker Field meet on July 4? I have been given to understand that this is an event closed to Plainfielders. N. G.

Answer—The five-mile run is an open event. Anyone may take part who files an entry and is a registered A. A. U. performer.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is it compulsory for automobilists to have a light above or below their license tag in the rear of the car or will the usual tail lights suffice? H. S. P.

Answer—Autoists must carry a light in a position so that the license tag may be seen in the rear.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Has there ever been a lawyers' association in this city? Is there one here at the present time If so, who is the secretary? B. S. L.

Answer—As far as we can learn there never has been such an organization in Plainfield.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Are women allowed to vote in the borough school election? What questions will be decided at the election to be held in two weeks? B. G.

Answer—Women are allowed to vote in the borough school matters. The special election scheduled for Tuesday, June 23, has been called for several different purposes, among these being to ballot on next year's budget. A full list of the questions will be posted around the borough ten days prior to the election.

Sporting Editor:

Query—I have not been living with my husband for three months. Is there any way in which I can compell him by law to contribute to my support? He left me of his own free will and without provocation? L. S. P.

Answer—Consult a lawyer.

RESOLUTE DEFEATS VANITE, AND SETS A NEW RECORD

New York, June 11.—The white sloop Resolute won a glorious race sailed off Sandy Hook. She defeated the Vanitie 4 minutes 16 seconds actual time, and with her allowance by 7 minutes 29 seconds. The Defiance had a mishap and withdrew. The race was fifteen miles to windward and return. The Resolute not only won the race, but she established a new record for the course. She sailed faster than any America's cup race over a windward and leeward course has ever been sailed. Her time was 3 hours 16 minutes 41 seconds. The fastest cup race over a similar course was sailed by the Vigilant in 1893. She sailed in a strong easterly wind and her time was 3 hours 24 minutes 39 seconds. The Resolute's time is faster than this by 7 minutes 48 seconds. Her time is all the more remarkable when it is noted that the Vigilant in her race defeated the Valkyrie. The Valkyrie led at the windward mark, but on the run home carried away two spinnakers. The Valkyrie's time to the windward mark was 2 hours 6 minutes 35 seconds. The Resolute's time yesterday was 1 hour 55 minutes 15 seconds.

It was the Resolute weather, the conditions being ideal for the small sloop. The wind early in the race blew eight miles an hour and the sea was smooth. Just a little ocean roll was coming in, but not enough to bother the yachts.

P. H. S. RACQUET WIELDERS OPPONENT IN THE LIMELIGHT

Harold Throckmorton, of Princeton, who opposed Plainfield High School tennis players on the courts during the past season, the former interscholastic champion, scored a surprising victory yesterday in the New Jersey State Tennis Championship on the Englewood Field Club courts at Englewood, when he defeated Dr. William Rosenbaum in straight sets by the score of 7-5, 6-4.

It was the biggest upset of the tournament, and the youngster caught the veteran clearly off his game. Dr. Rosenbaum appeared to feel the effects of his early match with W. F. Slade, which he won easily. Throckmorton played a strong game and was at his best. His service was swift and his overhand strokes accurate, while his placing was deadly.

MISS WILDEY ELIMINATED, NEW YORKERS IN THE LEAD

Philadelphia, June 11—New York contestants demonstrated their superiority in emphatic fashion at yesterday's session of the annual tournament for the Wowen's National Lawn Tennis Championship on the courts of the Philadelphia Cricket Club.

Of the four survivors who are to meet in the semi-finals for the singles today, three are New Yorkers, and one, Miss Isabella Pendleton, comes from Cincinnati. The New York women did equally well in the championship doubles and mixed doubles, and are now practically certain to carry off a majority of the prizes.

The winner of the final round will meet Miss Mary Browne, of California, in the challenge round. Miss Wagner won from Miss Caroline Neely, of Chicago, yesterday in straight sets, while Mrs. Raymond won from Mrs. Willard Sullivan, of Richmond, Va., in a match in which she met strong opposition.

DOUBLE HONOR FOR CHAUNCEY STEWART

Leal School Athletic Association held its annual meeting and election of officers in the school this morning selecting the team managers and captains for the next school term. Graduation will not effect the athletic teams to any marked degree this year as the best talent will remain in the school for another year of scholastic work.

Chauncey Stewart, the veteran little all around athlete of the school, was chosen to head the basketball team during the 1914-15 campaign and Fred Dickerson will be the manager. Stewart was also elected captain of the baseball team with Fred Harrington as manager.

At the annual elections of the A.A. Fred Dickerson was chosen president and Chauncey Stewart was elected treasurer, to serve for one year.

Y. M. C. A. TO HAVE TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Enthusiasm Keen in New Athletic Feature Launched at Meeting Last Night.

At a meeting of the social committee of the local Y. M. C. A. last night, it was decided to hold a tennis tournament for the city championship some time this summer. All amateur tennis players of the city and borough will be eligible. Both singles and doubles contests will be held.

The winner and the runner-up of the singles title each will receive silver loving cups and the winner and runner-up teams of the doubles will receive suitable prizes.

Entries close with the Y. M. C. A. officials on June 25. The tournament will be played off during July and August on various courts in the city. The finals of both tournaments will probably be played at Parker Field. The entrance fee is fifty cents per man and one dollar for a doubles team.

TOWNLEY AND STINE END SUCCESSFUL COLLEGE YEAR

Herbert Stine, of North Plainfield, has returned from the International Y. M. C. A. Training School at Springfield, Mass., where he has been a student during the past year, pursuing a physical instructor's course. During the summer months Stine will be one of the Union county inspectors in the crusade being waged against the mosquito. During his first year at the Springfield college the borough boy made the varsity baseball team as a catcher and has been doing some good work.

George Townley, another North Plainfield athlete, who is also a freshman in the Y. M. C. A. college, twirled excellent ball for the varsity team during his first year and together with Stine formed one of the institution's most reliable batteries. Townley has gone to Portland, Me., with a college chum to work during the summer months.

SCHOOLBOYS TOOK A TIP FROM THE DAILY PRESS AND RESORTED TO "COIN FLIPPING"

Third and Deciding Interscholastic League Game Will Be Played on Parker Field Next Saturday Afternoon—Representatives of the Contending Factions Met in the High School This Morning and Arrived at a Satisfactory Conclusion.

As suggested in another column of this issue representatives of the North Plainfield and Plainfield schoolboy athletic forces met in the city High School building this morning, and took the only open course to a settlement. Principal Lindsey Best, acting as mediator, flipped the coin for the playing field and Captain Smalley, of North Plainfield, failed to call the right turn. As a result the all-important contest will be staged on Parker Field next Saturday afternoon with Billy O'Rourke of New Brunswick, as the likely arbitrator. The selection of a neutral umpire is in accordance with the agreement reached at the meeting this morning and everything is now in readiness for the staging of the conflict.

The borough delegation, taking the initiative went to the Plainfield High School this morning, entering into consultation with the representatives of that school. The Plainfielders at first stuck to their old contention that Hide Ova should not be taken into consideration for a lengthy wrangle finally brought them around and all decided that a coin flip was the only fair way out of the tangled up mess. Appearing for North Plainfield were Captain Smalley, Manager Beckman and Coach Mullin and for Plainfield were Principal Best, Coach Patch, Captain Rosenson and Acting Manager Hetfield.

Following the session in which Plainfield came out on top Coach Mullin and Captain Smalley expressed themselves as being thoroughly satisfied with the result of the coin flip taking the result in true sportsmanlike spirit. In Mullin's own words "Stahl can beat Plainfield on any field and under any conditions," but that is a matter that will be decided on the playing field Saturday. Smalley, while he wanted the game staged in North Plainfield, accepted his defeat gracefully and the schoolboy factions parted on the best of terms. Plainfield of course, is thoroughly satisfied with the result and both teams left the principal's office this morning determined to put in some extra practise sessions between now and Saturday to polish up any defects brought to the surface in the previous encounter. The probabilities are that the contest Saturday will bring out the largest crowd of baseball fans ever herded together on Parker Field.

Referring to an article published in another local paper yesterday, regarding a supposed "mediation" brought about on the quiet yesterday morning, Captain Smalley, of North Plainfield, stated this morning that it was little more than a "pipe" dream, the borough team not having been consulted in the matter. He stated that he was aware of some individual action yesterday morning but anything that was done was done with his consent or the consent of the borough school and all after announcements were unofficial. It appears that two "wiseacres" got together and decided on a little boom of their own during the early hours of the morning yesterday.

If you haven't heard anything from the training camps of the doctors and lawyers who are conditioning for that circus stunt on Parker Field June 20, it isn't because they are not still on the job. Stiffening of vocal cords and a tightening of bicuspids come with daily practise on a baseball diamond and the alleged ball players will probably not spring into the public limelight for another few days at least, when the period of soreness will have worn off sufficiently for them to let the public know what they intend to do along the line of cleaning-up.

To date the supply of talent has kept pretty well under cover and efforts to get a peek at a few of the more prominent characters have been futile. Under a circus tent that soars skyward several hundred feet "Sammy" Swackhamer is delving into the mysteries of curvology and has developed a curve ball that does the subway stunt under the home plate. The few privileged characters who have stacked their personages up against his shoots declare that what he doesn't know about the knuckler, spitball, fadeaway and trolley-dodger aren't worth knowing and with the ever-present Harry Runyon on the receiving end the legal lights' battery looks like a winner.

In a contest yesterday afternoon with a herd of juveniles the Blackstonians gave a good account of themselves, aside from making some bad boots and square muffs all of which increased the general interest. Judge William G. DeMeza has become proficient as a dodger of fly balls and has established a record for himself as a sprinter when one of the buzzers are aimed in his direction. Among the notables present on the first day were some who haven't been seen since. One of the latter is Frank Blatz who was at one time looked upon as a promising candidate for the bat-boy job. Since his first appearance Blatz has been spending his time, and incidently getting into fighting trim, by making a round of drug stores in search of a supply of linament.

Among the sawbones delegated from the hospital to hold up the pill-dispenser's end of the deal are many who have performed in previous conflicts of this nature and are pretty well hardened to the strife they are forced to undergo in benefit affairs.

THIRTY SILVER TROPHIES PLACED ON EXHIBITION

Thirty of the handsome silver loving cups, offered by local merchants and organizations as prizes to be competed for in the Parker Field meet on July 4, were placed on exhibition in the show window of the Schwed store on West Front street this noon. Ten more will probably be added to the collection prior to the date set for the field and track events.

Entries are coming in fast for the numerous events programed and the affair gives every promise of being the largest of its kind ever conducted in this section. Other meets in Central New Jersey are being run as opposition to the Plainfield affair but nevertheless little difficulty is being experienced in bringing out talent.

RIFFERT DOING GOOD WORK FOR SWARTHMORE BALL NINE

Jack Riffert, the former Plainfield High School all-around athlete, was the star of a Swarthmore College baseball contest yesterday afternoon, doing his usual good work with the willow and performing in a consistent way in the field. Riffert has developed into a mainstay with the wagon tongue and is one of the leading hitters on the college team.

Swarthmore was defeated by the University of Pennsylvania, yesterday, by a score of 7 to 4. In three times at bat Riffert cracked out a pair of hits and scored one of his team's runs. He was hit by the pitcher in his other time at the plate.

VANITIE LOSES RACE ON TIME ALLOWANCE

Crossed Line First This Afternoon, But Resolute Gets the Decision.

Sandy Hook, June 11—In the cup trials here this afternoon the Vanitie was the first to cross the finish line, but the Resolute won the race on time allowance.

Although the weather was a little hazy, the yachts in the tryout for America's cup were discernable from the shore throughout the trials today. The run for the second mark was off shore. At 1:15 the Vanitie appeared to be maintaining her lead, taken during the first stretch. She proved a better sailor in the light wind and held her lead as they neared the second mark, passing that point unofficially as follows: Vanitie, 1 hour 32 minutes 15 seconds; Resolute, 1 hour 34 minutes, 28 seconds. The Resolute on the run home went in close to shore where she found a little wind and appeared to be gaining..

Shortly after passing the second mark the Vanitie ran into a soft spot and the Resolute took the lead. Five miles from the finish the Resolute was ahead by about two minutes.

By good seamanship the Vanitie again wrested the lead from the Resolute and was ahead when the boats were about one and a half miles from the finish.

MANAGER DORFLINGER WILL PROBABLY POSTPONE GAME

Now that the Plainfield and North Plainfield High School teams have decided to use Parker Field Saturday afternoon for their deciding league game it seems likely that Manager Dorflinger will cancel the engagement he has scheduled for that afternoon on the same field with the Frankfort aggregation. It was stated on good authority this morning that Dorflinger was willing to do anything in his power for the schoolboys in their third game and he will probably notify the rival management at once of the cancellation.

A semi-professional conflict in Plainfield on the same day with the league game would undoubtedly be a failure as all local and borough fans will steer in the direction of Parker Field for the all important schoolboy clash.

AMERICANS IN BRITISH GOLF CHAMPIONSHIPS

Troon, Scotland, June 11—Play opened here today for the qualifying round of the British open golf championship. There were one hundred and ninety three entries and among them were three Americans, Francis Quimet, American open champion; John J. McDermott, former American open champion, of Atlantic City, and Harold Weber, of Toledo. The weather was perfect and the courses in good condition. Quimet did the first nine holes in 40, completing the round in 77.

EXPECT TO PASS TOLLS BILL BEFORE NIGHTFALL

Washington, June 11.—When the Senate got down to work again on the Panama Canal tolls repeal bill today, it was with the expectation of reaching a final vote on the measure some time this afternoon or tonight.

MORE UNREST IN BALKANS, SAYS DESPATCH TO LONDON

London, June 11.—A despatch to the Times says that unrest in the Balkans has become acute. Several of the states, it says, have recently been employed in clearing their newly acquired territories of undesirable elements and the Bulgarians have been the principal sufferers. The unrest is attributed to the drastic policy of the young Turks in expelling all Greeks from Asia Minor and Turkish Thrace.

OUTLINE OF WILSON'S ANTI-TRUST PROGRAM

Washington, June 1.—President Wilson's anti-trust program is outlined as follows: First, substitute the Newlands Trade Commission bill for the Covington bill and amend it by adding a provision to authorize the commission to regulate trade practices; second, pass the stock and bond regulation bill framed by Raybun and Newlands; third, pass the Clayton bill prohibiting interlocking directorates. The President will not insist upon retaining the exemption of labor unions if the judgment of Congress is adverse theerto.

REPRESENTATIVE HOBSON.

Introduces Revised Resolution on Prohibition In the House.

Nation wide prohibition through an amendment of the federal constitution will be considered at a special meeting of the house rules committee. Members of the committee were reticent regarding their action, but it is understood that they will pass upon a revised resolution proposed by Representative Hobson of Alabama to meet opposition to the amendment he submitted some time ago, on the ground that it violated state rights.

FINDING OF SLAIN GIRL'S HAT NEW CLEW

Rigid Search Is Kept Up In Winter Case.

Baltimore, June 11.—The hat worn by Miss Ella G. Winter on Thursday night, when she disappeared, was taken to the home of her mother, Mrs. Laura V. Winter, by Edward Rhodes, the caretaker of a brickyard on Curtis creek.

Rhodes said that he found it Friday morning floating near the second bridge downstream from where Miss Winter's body was found early Monday morning. The hat was identified by members of Miss Winter's family.

Earlier in the day, William Ford, captain of a scow owned by the Davison Chemical company, told Chief of Police Irwin of Brooklyn that he had seen a hat answering the description of the one worn by Miss Winter floating opposite the plant of the Standard Guano company on Monday morning, about eight hours after the body was recovered.

This statement caused Chief Irwin to say that he believed that Miss Winter went overboard at some place other than Flood's park. The situation changed, however, when the hat found on Friday was brought to the Winter home and identified.

VOTE ON SCHENECTADY STRIKE

General Electric Works Threatened With Trouble.

Schenectady N. Y., June 11.—The General Electric works here is threatened with a strike of about 12,000 employees.

Several of the labor unions represented at the works have already taken secret ballots on the proposition to strike. The final vote, it is said, will be cast tonight.

JOHN LIND IS GOING HOME.

His Mission In the Mexican Tangle Is Ended.

Washington, June 11.—John Lind's mission has ended and he is going back home to Minnesota. He acknowledged that he has done everything that he could do in the Mexican situation and said that Secretary Bryan has given him permission to return home. If the administration needs him again though he will be ready to pack his grip and hurry back to the diplomatic encounter.

GIVES LAWN FETE FOR MANY GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. William Bauer Hosts at Delightful Affair Last Night.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bauer, of Clinton avenue, gave a lawn fete at their home last night for the Sisterhood of Temple Sholem, about seventy-five guests being entertained with a pleasing program of open air amusement. Dancing was a feature enjoyed on the spacious porch of the Bauer home with excellent terpischore music, many taking advantage of this particular form of entertainment.

The lawn was attractively decorated for the occasion and illumination was furnished by Japanese lanterns of many hues. Cut flowers were also profusely scattered about the premises. Cards were played and appropriate favors awarded to the winners at each table.

During the evening Harry Blimn and Harry Weber, two well known Elks' minstrelers, appeared in a comedy skit accompanied at the piano by Miss Rae Preger. The committee in charge included Mrs. Max Tepper, Mrs. Herbert Schuldenfrei, Mrs. William Schloss, Mrs. William Newcorn and Ruth Livingston.

FUND STARTED FOR ANNUAL PYROTECHNIC EXHIBITION

The Playground Commission is arranging for a public display of fireworks and band concert to be held at Parker Field on the night of July 4.

It is estimated that this exhibition will cost $200, which must be raised by popular subscription. Chairman Mellick, of the Board of Playgound Commissioners, has started the fund with a contribution of $10. Contributions may be sent to J. Hervey Doane, 115 Park avenue.

ROOSEVELT TO KEEP PLANS DARK BECAUSE OF MILITANTS

London, June 11—There will be no public announcement of Col. Theodore Roosevelt's engagements during his stay in London through fear that the militants might attempt to attack the noted American. Except for his lecture before the Royal Geographical Society, Mr. Roosevelt will take no part in public entertainments while in London. This is in accordance with his own request.

FRACTURES ANKLE IN FALL FROM TROLLEY

Rev. Alexander Trent, pastor of the Church of God and Saints of Christ congregation, fell from a Fourth street trolley as he was alighting at Liberty street this morning. When picked up it was found he had sustained a fractured ankle and several bruises. He was assisted to the Red Cross pharmacy where Dr. J. C. Anderson gave temporary treatment after which he was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital.

The pastor is a heavy man, weighing 250 pounds, a fact which told against him in his fall. The car was in charge of Conductor Patrick Marron.

DEFENDANT REPRIMANDED.

Emanuel Kapelsohn was arraigned before City Judge W. G. DeMeza in the city court, this morning, on a complaint made by the local Board of Health charging him with allowing a cesspool to flow over in the yard at 1412 West Front street. On his promise to remedy such conditions before receiving official notification from the health authorities in the future, Kapelsohn was allowed to go with a reprimand.

STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Peter's Lutheran church will hold an ice cream and strawberry festival on the afternoon and evening of Thursday of next week. The Young Peoples' Society will entertain during the evening with singing, recitations and dialogues.

APPROACHING WEDDING.

Miss Josephine Culbertson, daughter of Mrs. Laura S. Culbertson, of 159 Crescent avenue, and Arthur Stout, also of this city, will be married Tuesday evening, June 16, at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride-elect's mother.

STRIKE IN OHIO.

Martins Ferry, Ohio, June 11.—About 1,800 employes of the Whitaker Glesner Iron Company, and of the Wheeling Corrugated Iron Company, were madeidle today by a strike of 150 laborers. The latter went out because of a reduction in wages of 20 cents a day.

SUFFRAGETTES STILL AT IT.

London, June 11—An attempt to blow up the coronation chair which has been in Westminster Abbey since 1296, was made this evening. The outrage is atribued to militant suffragettes.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

NEEDLEWORK

By

MARGARET LAWRENCE

An attractive luncheon-cloth, with napkins to match, can be made of damask or white round-thread linen and embroidered with pattern No. 14672. This design for a luncheon-cloth is 36 inches square and the pattern also includes transfers for stamping four napkins, each 15½ inches square. The design in the corners may be developed in solid work and eyelets, combined or alone. White mercerized cotton, No. 25, should be used to embroider this set. The luncheon-cloth will require 16 skeins and the napkins each 4 skeins. By omitting some of the scallops, the design for the luncheon-cloth may be used on a sideboard-cover or bureau-scarf of handkerchief linen or lawn.

Guaranteed, hot-iron transfer pattern will be supplied to readers upon receipt of price, 15 cents.

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

The loose-fitting coat, flaring widely at the bottom, with raglan shoulder and large patch pockets, is the popular model this spring for the top coat. It may be made of tweed in one of the invisible mixtures, or of black and white plaid or in one of the new colored checks which have been shown lately in some of the imported street suits. A top coat of this sort is a very practical garment in any wardrobe. It may be slipped on over the tailored suit for motoring or driving, or it may be worn with a short skirt for golf and other sports. This model, No. 8320, is a single-breasted raglan coat which may be made with or without the large pockets. It could be suitably developed in fine hard-finished serge, if tweed or plaid are not fancied. The old-fashioned tan Covert cloth too is coming back in these coats. To copy this design in size 36, 3⅝ yards of 42-inch material are needed. The pattern is cut in six sizes, 34 to 44.

This is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to give right size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions. It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

Some Cookery Suggestions

GOOSEBERRY DAINTIES.

LUNCHEON MENU.
Chipped Beef in Cream.
Escaloped Potatoes. Radishes.
Gooseberry Fool.
Cocoa.

GOOSEBERRIES, while not so popular in this country as in England, are making a place for themselves in the esteem of fruit lovers. When they are in the market try them as a dessert.

Garnished With Nuts.

Gooseberry Fool.—Stew a quart of gooseberries in half a pint of water and pass through a sieve. Prepare a custard and stir the two together. Place in a glass bowl and allow to become quite cold. Pile on top just before serving the whipped white of an egg or cream. Sprinkle with nuts.

Gooseberry Russe.—Line a pudding basin or mold with ladyfingers, placing the rounded side of the cakes toward the mold. Stew a quart of gooseberries in half a pint of water. Add to this about four tablespoonfuls of sugar to sweeten. Place the fruit mixture in the mold and cover with more ladyfingers. Turn out and serve with custard or cream.

For Lovers of Sweets.

Gooseberry Compote.—Top and tail one quart of gooseberries, drop into boiling water two minutes, drain and let them lie three minutes in cold water, containing a teaspoonful of vinegar, to restore their color, then drain quite dry. Boil for ten minutes a sirup made from a pint each of sugar and water. Drop in the gooseberries and boil them gently until just tender, about ten minutes. Pour into a dish.

Shaped In a Mold.

Gooseberry Cream.—Take half a pint of gooseberry puree, half a pint of custard, one gill of cream, a few drops of green coloring, sugar to taste and one ounce of gelatin.

To make custard boil half a pint of milk and one tablespoonful of sugar together, pour over two well beaten eggs, stirring all the time. Return to the saucepan and stir one way till the custard thickens. Strain into a basin and set aside to cool.

Dissolve the gelatin into the gooseberry puree and carefully mix with the custard. Stir in the cream, whipped and sweetened; add a few drops of green coloring and just as it begins to set pour into a wet mold. Set aside till firm.

To make gooseberry puree rub some stewed gooseberries through a fine wire sieve.

The Little Girl Wore It With Pride.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Story of The Gun Metal Watch.

EVELYN had often said she would love to have a wrist watch, and she spoke of it again to daddy because she had just seen a little girl who had a lovely bright silver one.

"You will have to ask Santa Claus about that," said daddy.

"Yes," said Evelyn, "but Christmas does seem to be pretty far away, and I like summer so much that I don't want to think of Christmas now."

"We'll be glad to think of it some months later, though," said Jack.

"Speaking about watches," said daddy, "reminds me of a very rich little girl who owned a gun metal wrist watch. It kept very bad time, and she had had it mended again and again.

"One day she went and had it fixed for the 'very last time,' she said, and several days afterward the watch would not go for more than a half hour at a time. She took it back to the watch mender and was told that the only thing that could be done would be to have new works put in it.

"But when she heard that she would have to have new works in her watch she was so annoyed that she threw the watch into the first ash can she saw.

"Well, there passed by a very poor, dirty little girl. On the top of the ash can she spied a paper with funny pictures, and she grabbed the paper out of the ash can, and then, to her amazement, she saw the little watch.

"She ran all the way home to show it to her daddy, for her daddy had often mended watches for people just as favors, as his real business was a fruit dealer.

"When her daddy saw it he said:

"'This watch has been fussed with so much that it is no wonder it refuses to go. I will see that it goes.' And sure enough he did.

"The watch went beautifully, and the little poor girl wore her gun metal watch with the greatest pride.

"Every one had to ask her the time, of course; every few minutes so she could look at her watch, and if they didn't ask her the time often enough she would tell them of her own accord.

"Now, the little rich girl was given a gold watch as a present from her daddy, but it didn't give half the pleasure that the little gun metal watch gave the little girl whose very own daddy mended the watch for her.

"Besides, the little poor girl had never been spoiled, and a watch was the last thing she ever expected to own, though her daddy always gave her everything he could."

THE STORY OF RICHARD DOUBLEDICK

By CHARLES DICKENS

CHARLES DICKENS

Twenty-four famous authors were asked recently to name the best short story in the English language. Mary Stewart Cutting named "The Story of Richard Doubledick," by Charles Dickens, as her selection for this high honor in the world of fiction.

MARY STEWART CUTTING

PART I.

IN the year 1799 a relative of mine came limping down on foot to this town of Chatham. My relative came to Chatham to enlist in a cavalry regiment if a cavalry regiment would have him; if not, to take King George's shilling from any corporal or sergeant who would put a bunch of ribbons in his hat. His object was to get shot, but he thought he might as well ride to his death as be at the trouble of walking.

My relative's Christian name was Richard, but he was better known as Dick. He dropped his own surname on the road down and took up that of Doubledick. He was passed as Richard Doubledick, age twenty-two, height five foot ten, native place Exmouth, which he had never been near in his life. There was no cavalry in Chatham when he limped over the bridge here with half a shoe to his dusty feet, so he enlisted into a regiment of the line and was glad to get drunk and forget all about it.

You are to know that this relative of mine had gone wrong and run wild. His heart was in the right place, but it was sealed up. He had been betrothed to a good and beautiful girl whom he had loved better than she—or perhaps even he—believed, but in an evil hour he had given her cause to say to him solemnly: "Richard, I will never marry another man. I will live single for your sake, but Mary Marshall's lips"—her name was Mary Marshall—"never address another word to you on earth! Go, Richard! Heaven forgive you!" This finished him. This brought him down to Chatham. This made him Private Richard Doubledick, with a determination to be shot.

There was not a more dissipated and reckless soldier in Chatham barracks in the year 1799 than Private Richard Doubledick. He associated with the dregs of every regiment, he was as seldom sober as he could be and was constantly under punishment. It became clear to the whole barracks that Private Richard Doubledick would very soon be flogged.

Now the captain of Richard Doubledick's company was a young gentleman not above five years his senior, whose eyes had an expression in them which affected Private Richard Doubledick in a very remarkable way. They were bright, handsome, dark eyes—what are called laughing eyes generally, and, when serious, rather steady than severe—but they were the only ones now left in his narrowed world that Private Richard Doubledick could not stand. Unabashed by evil report and punishment, defiant of everything else and everybody else, he had but to know that those eyes looked at him for a moment, and he felt ashamed. He could not so much as salute Captain Taunton in the street like any other officer. He was reproached and confused, troubled by the mere possibility of the captain's looking at him. In his worst moments he would rather turn back and go any distance out of the way than encounter those two handsome, dark, bright eyes.

One day, when Private Richard Doubledick came out of the Black Hole, where he had been passing the last eight and forty hours and in which retreat he spent a good deal of his time, he was ordered to betake himself to Captain Taunton's quarters. In the stale and squalid state of a man just out of the Black Hole, he had less fancy than ever for being seen by the captain, but he was not so mad yet as to disobey orders, and consequently went up to the terrace overlooking the parade ground, where the officers' quarters were, twisting and breaking in his hands as he went along a bit of the straw that had formed the decorative furniture of the Black Hole.

"Come in!" cried the captain when he knocked with his knuckles at the door. Private Richard Doubledick pulled off his cap, took a step forward and felt very conscious that he stood in the light of the dark, bright eyes.

There was a slight pause. Private Richard Doubledick had put the straw in his mouth and was gradually doubling it up into his windpipe and choking himself.

"Doubledick," said the captain, "do you know where you are going to?"

"To the devil, sir," faltered Doubledick.

"Yes," returned the captain. "And very fast."

Private Richard Doubledick turned the straw of the Black Hole in his mouth and made a miserable salute of acquiescence.

"Doubledick," said the captain, "since I entered his majesty's service, a boy of seventeen, I have been pained to see many men of promise going that road, but I have never been so pained to see a man determined to make the shameful journey as I have been, ever since you joined the regiment, to see you."

Private Richard Doubledick began to find a film stealing over the floor at which he looked, also to find the legs of the captain's breakfast table turning crooked, as if he saw them through water.

"I am only a common soldier, sir," said he. "It signifies very little what such a poor brute comes to."

"You are a man," returned the captain, with grave indignation, "of education and superior advantages, and if you say that, meaning what you say, you have sunk lower than I had believed. How low that must be I leave you to consider, knowing what I know of your disgrace and seeing what I see."

"I hope to get shot soon, sir," said Private Richard Doubledick, "and then the regiment and the world together will be rid of me."

The legs of the table were becoming very crooked. Doubledick, looking up to steady his vision, met the eyes that had so strong an influence over him. He put his hand before his own eyes, and the breast of his disgrace jacket swelled as if it would fly asunder.

"I would rather," said the young captain, "see this in you, Doubledick, than I would see 5,000 guineas counted out upon this table for a gift to my good mother. Have you a mother?"

"I am thankful to say she is dead, sir."

"If your praises," returned the captain, "were sounded from mouth to mouth through the whole regiment, through the whole army, through the whole country, you would wish she had lived to say, with pride and joy, 'He is my son!'"

"Spare me, sir," said Doubledick. "She would never have heard any good of me. She would never have had any pride and joy in owning herself my mother. Love and compassion she might have had, and would have always had, I know, but not—spare me, sir! I am a broken wretch, quite at your mercy!" And he turned his face to the wall and stretched out his imploring hand.

"My friend"— began the captain.

"God bless you, sir!" sobbed Private Richard Doubledick.

"You are at the crisis of your fate. Hold your course unchanged a little longer and you know what must happen. I know even better than you can imagine, that, after that has happened, you are lost. No man who could shed those tears could bear those marks."

"I fully believe it, sir," in a low, shivering voice said Private Richard Doubledick.

"But a man in any station can do his duty," said the young captain, "and in doing it can earn his own respect, even if his case should be so very unfortunate and so very rare that he can earn no other man's. A common soldier, poor brute though you called him just now, has this advantage in the stormy times we live in, that he always does his duty before a host of sympathizing witnesses. Do you doubt that he may so do it as to be extolled through a whole regiment, through a whole army, through a whole country? Turn while you may yet retrieve the past and try."

"I will. I ask for only one witness, sir," cried Richard, with a bursting heart.

"I understand you. I will be a watchful and a faithful one."

I have heard from Private Richard Doubledick's own lips that he dropped down upon his knee, kissed that officer's hand, arose and went out of the light of the dark, bright eyes an altered man.

In that year, 1799, the French were in Egypt, in Italy, in Germany—where not? Napoleon Bonaparte had likewise begun to stir against us in India, and most men could read the signs of the great troubles that were coming on. In the very next year, when we formed an alliance with Austria against him, Captain Taunton's regiment was on service in India. And there was not a finer noncommissioned officer in it—no, nor in the whole line—than Corporal Richard Doubledick.

In 1801 the Indian army were on the coast of Egypt. Next year was the year of the proclamation of the short peace, and they were recalled. It had then become well known to thousands of men that wherever Captain Taunton, with the dark, bright eyes, led there, close to him, ever at his side, firm as a rock, true as the sun and brave as Mars, would be certain to be found while life beats in their hearts that famous soldier, Sergeant Richard Doubledick.

Eighteen hundred and five, besides being the great year of Trafalgar, was a year of hard fighting in India. That year saw such wonders done by a sergeant major who cut his way single handed through a solid mass of men, recovered the colors of his regiment, which had been seized from the hand of a poor boy shot through the heart, and rescued his wounded captain, who was down and in a very jungle of horses' hoofs and sabers—saw such wonders done, I say, by this brave sergeant major that he was specially made the bearer of the colors he had won, and Ensign Richard Doubledick had risen from the ranks.

Sorely cut up in every battle, but always re-enforced by the bravest of men—for the fame of following the old colors, shot through and through, which Ensign Richard Doubledick had saved, inspired all breasts—this regiment fought its way through the peninsular war up to the investment of Badajos in 1812. Again and again it had been cheered through the British ranks until the tears had sprung into men's eyes at the mere hearing of the mighty British voice so exultant in their valor, and there was not a drummer boy but knew the legend that wherever the two friends, Major Taunton, with the dark, bright eyes, and Ensign Richard Doubledick, who was devoted to him, were seen to go, there the boldest spirits in the English army became wild to follow.

One day at Badajos—not in the great storming, but in repelling a hot sally of the besieged upon our men at work in the trenches, who had given way—the two officers found themselves running forward, face to face, against a party of French infantry, who made a stand. There was an officer at their head encouraging his men—a courageous, handsome, gallant officer of five and thirty, whom Doubledick saw hurriedly, almost momentarily, but saw well. He particularly noticed this officer waving his sword and rallying his men with an eager and excited cry when they fired in obedience to gesture and Major Taunton dropped.

It was over in ten minutes more and Doubledick returned to the spot where he had laid the best friend man ever had on a coat spread upon the wet clay. Major Taunton's uniform was opened at the breast and on his shirt were three little spots of blood.

"Dear Doubledick," said he, "I am dying."

"For the love of heaven, no!" exclaimed the other, kneeling down beside him and passing his arm round his neck to raise his head. "Taunton! My preserver, my guardian angel, my witness! Dearest, truest, kindest of human beings! Taunton! For God's sake!"

The bright, dark eyes—so very, very dark now in the pale face—smiled upon him, and the hand he had kissed thirteen years ago laid itself fondly on his breast.

"Write to my mother. You will see home again. Tell her how we became friends. It will comfort her, as it comforts me."

He spoke no more, but faintly signed for a moment towards his hair as it fluttered in the wind. The ensign understood him. He smiled again when he saw that and, gently turning his face over on the supporting arm as if for rest, died, with his hand upon the breast in which he had revived a soul.

No dry eye looked on Ensign Richard Doubledick that melancholy day. He buried his friend on the field and became a lone, bereaved man. Beyond his duty he appeared to have but two remaining cares in life—one, to preserve the little packet of hair he was to give Taunton's mother; the other, to encounter that French officer who had rallied the men under whose fire Taunton fell. A new legend now began to circulate among our troops, and it was that when he and the French officer came face to face once more there would be weeping in France.

The war went on, and through it went the exact picture of the French officer on the one side and the bodily reality upon the other, until the battle of Toulouse was fought. In the returns sent home appeared these words: "Severely wounded, but not dangerously, Lieutenant Richard Doubledick."

At midsummer time in the year 1814 Lieutenant Richard Doubledick, now a browned soldier seven and thirty years of age, came home to England invalided. He brought the hair with him, near his heart. Many a French officer had he seen since that day; many a dreadful night, in searching with men and lanterns for his wounded, had he relieved French officers lying disabled, but the mental picture and the reality had never come together.

Though he was weak and suffered pain, he lost not an hour in getting down to Frome, in Somersetshire, where Taunton's mother lived. In the sweet, compassionate words that naturally present themselves to the mind tonight, "he was the only son of his mother, and she was a widow."

It was a Sunday evening, and the lady sat at her quiet garden window reading the Bible; reading to herself in a trembling voice that very passage in it, as I have heard him tell. He heard the words, "Young man, I say unto thee, arise!"

He had to pass the window, and the bright, dark eyes of his debased time semed to look at him. Her heart told her who he was; she came to the door quickly and fell upon his neck.

"He saved me from ruin, made me a human creature, won me from infamy and shame. O God, forever bless him! As he will, he will!"

"He will!" the lady answered. "I know he is in heaven!" Then she piteously cried, "But, oh, my darling boy, my darling boy!"

Never from the hour when Private Richard Doubledick enlisted at Chatham had the private, corporal, sergeant, sergeant major, ensign or lieutenant breathed his right name, or the name of Mary Marshall, or a word of the story of his life, into any ear except his reclaimer's.

But that night, remembering the words he had cherished for two years, "Tell her how we became friends. It will comfort her as it comforts me," he related everything. It gradually seemed to him as if in his maturity he had recovered a mother. It gradually seemed to her as if in her bereavement she had found a son. During his stay in England, the quiet garden into which he had slowly and painfully crept a stranger, became the boundary of his home. When he was able to join his regiment in the spring he left the garden thinking was this indeed the first time he had ever turned his face toward the old colors with a woman's blessing!

He followed them—so ragged, so scarred and pierced now, that they would scarcely hold together—to Quatre Bras and Ligny. He stood beside them in an awful stillness of many men, shadowy through the mist and drizzle of a wet June forenoon, on the field of Waterloo. And down to that hour the picture in his mind of the French officer had never been compared with the reality.

The famous regiment was in action early in the battle and received its first check in many an eventful year, when he was seen to fall. But it swept on to avenge him and left behind it no such creature in the world of consciousness as Lieutenant Richard Doubledick.

Through pits of mire and pools of rain, along deep ditches, once roads, that were pounded and ploughed to pieces by artillery, heavy wagons, tramp of men and horses and the struggle of every wheeled thing that could carry wounded soldiers; jolted among the dying and dead, so disfigured by blood and mud as to be hardly recognizable for humanity; undisturbed by the moaning of men and the shrieks of horses, which, newly taken from the peaceful pursuits of life, could not endure the sight of the stragglers lying by the wayside, never to resume their toilsome journey; dead as to any sentient life that was in it, and yet alive—the form that had been Lieutenant Richard Doubledick, with whose praises England rang, was conveyed to Brussels. There it was tenderly laid down in hospital, and there it lay, week after week, through the long bright summer days, until the harvest, spared by war, had ripened and was gathered in.

Traveling with Children.

The special problem of traveling with children is discussed by Anne Guilbert Mahon in the Mother's Magazine for May. She makes the following practical suggestions:

The emergency box or bag should always be considered one of the necessities of travel. Court plaster, a small bottle of antiseptic wash, a healing salve, a roll of soft bandages, absorbent cotton for cleansing, etc., should be part of the contents of the box.

Flaxseed or other appliances for removing cinders from the eyes should be included also. A small bottle of soda mint or some other remedy should be carried in case of train-sickness.

It is not best for children to drink too copiously of the water on the train and, to obviate this, the mother should include in the lunch basket plenty of juicy fruits. These will satisfy the children's thirst to a great extent and prevent too much water drinking.

If the journey be of several hours or of a day's duration, the mother will do well to provide a lunch of wholesome brown bread sandwiches or nutritious crackers, even if meals can be obtained on the train or at some station.

Children are bound to get hungry while traveling and if this craving is satisfied by plain, wholesome food, with a little fruit to slake the thirst, and satisfy the desire for sweets, they will not be so likely to clamor for the candy which is sold on the train, an over-indulgence in which is so often the cause of illness during or after the journey. The air in the front of the car is supposed to be better than in the rear on account of the number of passengers breathing it. If it is possible to sit near enough to an open door or window to get advantage of the fresh air without being exposed to a direct draught, the wise mother will avail herself of such a location. If it is possible to include a small, soft pillow in the suit case it will be found to be a great convenience, and a warm wrap for throwing over the little sleeper will also be necessary. The limbs should be straightened out and the child placed in an easy, comfortable position, so it will awake from the nap fresh and good-natured, rather than peevish and fretful.

A pack of Old Maid cards, authors or some other games for the older children, take up scarcely any room and will keep them employed for an hour or more while they forget their cramped quarters. Several pencils and a small pad of paper will be useful in many ways. The children may draw objects which they themselves see from the car window, or others which mother may suggest, then they may color them with colored crayons or pencils taken along for the occasion, or if the children are too little to draw, nothing will keep them more pleasantly occupied than to have mother make pictures of familiar objects. This simple device has been known to keep an active group of children interested for a long time, and the pictures, crude as they were, were treasured by the little ones even after the journey was over.

Sometimes a new picture book, purchased at the ten cent store, and brought along as a surprise will keep the little ones interested and happy for some time.

Paper dolls, furniture and animals cut from magazines and newspapers with scissors offer another means for their entertainment. Mother can also introduce games to be played along the way, such as counting the number of horses, cows, telegraph poles, houses and other objects and give a small trifle as a prize for the child who counts the largest number. This game is also useful in stimulating the children's powers of observation.

There are other games, such as the color game, which can be employed while sitting still. The mother says "I see something blue in the car," and the children guess the object.

'PLAINS SOCIETY OBSERVES ITS 40TH ANNIVERSARY

The Ladies' Aid Society of All Saints' Episcopal church, Scotch Plains, celebrated its fortieth anniversary at the residence of Miss Kyte in Fanwood, yesterday afternoon. The active president and officers, members and former members were present. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. H.P.Robinson, with prayer, after which Mrs. Charles L. Sykes, founder of the society and widow of the first rector, read an interesting paper giving a graphic account of the organization of the society in the old schoolhouse at Scotch Plains with twelve charter members, seven of whom are living and five of whom were present yesterday.

The object of the society has been to help the needy and to give financial assistance to the church, which it has continued to do to the best of its ability. The society has increased and prospered, doubling its membership. The paper by Mrs. Sykes was followed by the report of the secretary which embraced the work of later years. At this rather unusual occasion all enjoyed the meeting and greeting old friends and the entertainment was a delightful one. Refreshments were served before the guests said farewell.

A few cents for a Press want ad and some one who needs the very article that lies rotting in your garret will call and pay you for it.

You are better off—new owner is pleased—and the article itself is contributing to the reduction of the high cost of living.

Experience teaches us that there is Economy in buying the best

The business-getting value of printed matter is wholly determined by the quality you buy and its suitability to your needs.

Almost anybody can print--somehow, if he has the tools and material; but it takes brains, artistic taste and long experience to lift printed matter out of the commonplace and make it attract favorable attention.

We have these qualifications backed by thirty years' practical experience.

Will you put our ability to the test?

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use tonic called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. You will also discover dandruff is gone and hair has stopped falling.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and look years younger.—Adv.

THREE GRADUATES AT LEAL'S SCHOOL

F. F. Stevenson, E. S. Faber and Frederick Krom Receive Diplomas.

HONORS ARE AWARDED

Prof. Charles Knapp, of Columbia University, Makes Address at Annual Commence Today—Yale Cup Awarded to E. F. Faber.

The commencement exercises of the Leal School were held this morning, many of the parents and friends of the graduates being present. The room was decorated with American flags and class banners. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie opened the exercises with a short prayer after which Mr. Leal introduced the speaker, Dr. Charles Knapp, Ph. D., professor of Classical Philology at Columbia University.

Prof. Knapp began by saying he regretted that he had been untrue to one of his own principles in being late, but the fault lay in the over-confidence of a Plainfield cabman. He based his address on the school and spoke of its practical meaning. He told the graduates that they should not look upon their education as over. On the contrary their education had hardly commenced with their graduation. Like the other commencement speakers Dr. Knapp took the chance to attack the present day dances.

On this point he said, "Most of the present day ambition lies in a pair of heels." Dr. Knapp, in closing, divided life into business and leisure. "The question of greatest importance is, 'What are you going to do in your spare time?' The people that insist on being idle should be killed off by the busier ones according to the law of the bees. Study every day for one half hour for a year and it will be the same as studying eight hours a day for more than a month. Life should be made perfect by the adoption of a Christian ideal."

Mr. Leal next addressed the school and showed the appreciation of the spirit of Dr. Knapp's address. He outlined the work before the undergraduates and gave a few hints to the graduates going out of his influence.

Mr. Wardlaw, one of the school's faculty, awarded the school "L" to a number of the boys who had shown ability in basket ball and baseball. He also awarded the class numerals to Duncan Mellor. The Glenney to Duncan Mellor. The Glenney Cup was presented to Edward Stewart ball team. The Yale Cup, given by the Yale Club, of Plainfield, to the student who excelled in athletics, leaderships and scholarships, did not arrive in time to be presented at the exercises, but E. S. Faber was declared the owners of the cup when it arrives. The graduates are Frederick F. Stevens, Edward S. Faber and Frederick Krom.

Mr. Leal named the honor men in the different branches of study, after which the exercises came to a close.

PLANNING FOR A "SAFE AND SANE" CELEBRATION

Plans are well underway for a "safe and sane" celebration of Independence Day, the Public Recreation Committee taking charge of the program at the local theatres, the use of which has been generously offered by Harry Sanderson, of these playhouses. The events will be arranged to appeal especially to the children of the city.

The Second Street Theatre will be the centre of activities, where the Washington Musical and Dramatic Club, one of the organizations under the Recreation Committee will present a popular playlet under the title of "Soldiers Brave and Maidens Fair." This club has presented plays upon previous occasions, and a production of merit is looked for. Several addresses of a patriotic nature are being planned for by prominent local and out-of-town speakers, among whom will be Mayor Percy H. Stewart. Moving pictures will be featured at the Front street house.

CONCERT REHEARSALS.

The Cantata Chorus which is to give a concert at the Monroe Avenue church, Tuesday night, will hold a rehearsal tonight and again on Monday night. This year's program is a attractive one. William Holmes is the leader.

GIANT THIEF NABBED BY R. R. DETECTIVES

Taken Into Custody With Stolen Wire Wrapped to Resemble an Auto Tire.

Detectives Hiney and Laverett, of the New Jersey Central force, added another wire thief to their long string of catches yesterday afternoon, when they took Ellsworth Brunner, of Elizabeth, into custody near Fanwood. The prisoner, a youth six feet, three inches in height, put up a battle royal when apprehended by Laverette, who is a foot shorter in stature, and employed pugilistic tactics in an effort to escape.

Laverette's partner, Detective Hiney, soon appeared on the scene, however, and the two placed the unruly Brunner under arrest. When taken into custody the prisoner had several hundred pounds of wire on his person wrapped to resemble an automobile tire. Laverette noticed the youth coming down the tracks lugging the burden and decided on an investigation to determine the contents of the canvas-wrapped article.

The catch, made just below the Fanwood "cut" is considered one of the best made in this section and the apprehension of Brunner may lead to the round-up of a gang that has been operating hereabouts. He was arraigned before Recorder Sheelen in Fanwood, this morning, and held to await the action of the Grand Jury.

MINSTREL TROUPE ENTERTAINED BY ELKS

Delightful Affair Marks Opening of Club's Fine Roof Garden.

The members of Plainfield Lodge of Elks 1914 minstrel troupe were accorded a reception by the house committee of the lodge, last night, at the lodge's home on Watchung avenue, the affair being in recognition of their entertaining services at the recent minstrels. The occasion was made doubly auspicious as it marked the opening of the roof garden atop the clubhouse. The service of a course dinner was one of the most enjoyable features.

Paroubek's orchestra of five pieces furnished the instrumental music and accompanied the end men and soloists of the recent minstrel show in the giving of their respective numbers Original interpolations made each contribution the more effective. Decided hits were made by Harry Blimm, Ed. J. Harding, Jr., Wm. J. Tallamy and James Stewart, the last named contributing his famous marching song, "Scavengers' Brigade."

The chorus work was very pronounced and because of being in the open air the singing was enjoyed throughout the neighborhood.

During an intermission former City Judge William N. Runyon and Harry W. Weber were made the recipients of handsome gifts in recognition and appreciation of their services in making the 1914 show the big success that it was. Judge Runyon received a solid gold match box, suitably engraved, the presentation speech being made by W. C. Mulvey. Mr. Weber's present was an elaborately mounted Elk's tooth in the form of a fob, George O. Stevens making the presentation. Both men responded with appropriate remarks and took occasion to thank the members of the troupe for their loyal support during rehearsals.

The regular house committee of the Elks was in charge of the reception and is composed of J. Fred MacDonald, C. E. Teel, John P. Wesner, W. R. Townsend and C. H. Dunham.

BOY STABBED BY COMPANION FOLLOWING PETTY ARGUMENT

A juvenile fight, growing out of a petty argument in the east end of town last night, resulted seriously for Arthur Childs of Westfield, who was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital with cuts about the face and body caused by a sharp instrument.

The wounds are said to have been inflicted by an Italian youth living in the vicinity of South avenue and Berckman street, the name of the latter being unknown to the authorities.

ALUMNAE GIVE YEARLY LUNCHEON

Charming Function at the Seminary Enjoyed by Large Audience.

AWARD GOLD PRIZES

Interesting Addresses by Miss Arnold, Mrs. E. H. Hatch and Other Graduates—Mrs. A. A. Tilney Chairman of Affair.

The Plainfield Seminary, yesterday, welcomed back to its wide lawns and vine-covered walls, ninety of its alumnae from various parts of this country, one from Syria and another from Persia. Luncheon was served in the main study hall at 1:30. Small trees formed an enclosure at one end for the musicians, and a back-ground for the tables very charmingly decorated with baskets of old-fashioned flowers.

Mrs. Eugene Hatch, president of the Seminary Alumnae Association, announced the awarding of two ten dollar gold pieces by the association, one to Miss Mary Gaston, for the best work in English in the school for the past year, and the other to Miss Dorothea Lawrence for the best work in English history.

Miss Arnold, the principal, welcomed her former students and told them of several improvements made to the school this year. Miss Elsie VanZandt, until recently connected with the Syrian Protestant College in Beirut, Syria, talked informally of the work carried on there, among one thousand students of nineteen nationalities. Mrs. Arthur Cecil Edwards then told in a very interesting manner of the life and customs of the people in Hamadam, Persia, where she has been living for several years.

The committee in charge of the luncheon consisted of Mrs. A. A. Tilney, and she was assisted by Mrs. H. D. Hibbard and Miss Elizabeth Flanders. The caterer was Mrs. Henry Johnson and VanEps furnished the music.

Among those present were the following: Miss Isabelle Arnold, Miss E. E. Kenyon, Dr. Martha Tracy, Mrs. Eugene D. LaTourette, Miss Josephine LaTourette, Miss Marguerite Carpenter, Mrs. Frank D. BORO BOY SENTENCED FOR AUTO STEALING

With Companion From Carlstad He Will Have to Serve 100 Days in Passaic.

Arraigned in Passaic this morning charged with stealing an automobile belonging to G. A. Garfmuch, of New York city, from the streets of Passaic on June 3, Howard Sachs, of 29 Harrison avenue, North Plainfield, and Henry Carry, of 86 Hackensack avenue, Carlstad, were sentenced to spend 100 days in the Passaic County Jail. The pair were apprehended by Sergeant Higgins and Roundsman Keller in Mt. Bethel Sunday night, June 5, while sleeping in the stolen machine, a car of Buick type costing $1,300.

The culprits, who are both eighteen years of age, were traced to this city by Passaic detectives and were arrested at the home of Sachs' uncle in Mt. Bethel where they had taken refuge in the car.

A reward of $300 was offered for their capture and this will probably be divided between the local and borough officers who figured in the arrest.

WEST-END STIRRED UP BY NEIGHBORS' FIGHT

Mosher and Burt Families Engage in Fracas and Fight Over Minor Matters.

Picking cherries from a neighbor's tree, the limbs of which hung over his fence got Chauncey Burt, of 912 West Seventh street, into trouble at 6 o'clock last night and incidently started a riot in the west end of the town that resulted in the arrest of three individuals. Trouble has been brewing between the families of Wendell Mosher and Burt for some time, and the matter came to a climax last night when Mosher discovered a couple of his neighbor's children trespassing on his side of the fence.

Words followed between Burt and Mosher and the fracas waxed so warm that the participants finally resorted to fistic tactics to bring about a settlement. Charles H. Rogers and Harold Rogers joined in the rumpus and residents of that vicinity foresaw a miniature war developing in the neighborhood, one of the witnesses notified police headquarters on the phone. Chief Kiely was given the impression that the whole west end was in an uproar and dispatched seven policemen and the patrol wagon post-haste to the designated territory.

When the coppers arrived on the scene Mosher and Burt were having it "hot and heavy" on the front porch and both were placed under arrest charged with disorderly conduct. Arraigned in court the three defendants were remanded in the custody of their counsel for trial next Friday morning. Burt presented a badly blackened eye, the result of a punch said to have been delivered by Mosher. John P. Owens represented Burt, while Robert Newton Crane appeared as counsel for Rogers and Mosher.

HEAVY SENTENCE FOR LOCAL WIFE-BEATER

Peter Rocco Will Have to Serve a Term of Ninety Days in County Jail.

Charged with beating his wife, Peter Rocco, of West Third street, was arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court this morning and sentenced to pay a fine of $50 or be committed to the county jail for a period of ninety days. Testifying on the stand this morning Mrs. Rocco related a tale of marital trouble that extended over a period of eight months, starting one week after their marriage.

Queried concerning his reasons for administering daily beatings to his wife the defendant had nothing to say but when being led from the courtroom after sentence had been pronounced plead for an opportunity to say good-bye to his accuser. The troubles in the Rocco house have recently been the source of much annoyance to neighbors and so bad was the condition of affairs last night that the police were called, arresting Rocco.

FLAG DAY AT MT. ST. MARY COLLEGE

MAYOR TO PRESIDE

George Reynolds to Present Flag and Pole—Judge Peter F. Daly, William N. Runyon and Father Bogan Among the Speakers.

Arrangments are about complete for the Flag Day celebration to be held at Mt. St. Mary College tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, when an attracive program will be presented under the direction of a large committee of which Father Baldwin, chaplain of the college, is the chairman. During the afternoon George Reynolds will present a pole and flag to the college. The pole has already been put in position and tomorrow afternoon the flag will be floated to the breeze.

Mayor Percy Hamilton Stewart will preside at the exercises and make an address. Other speakers will include Judge Peter F. Daly, of New Brunswick, and former City Judge Willam N. Runyon and Father Bogan. Master J. A. Peterson will accept the flag for the college and Gervace Morrison will also speak.

There will be the singing of national hymns by a large chorus in which the audience will be invited to join. The Dutch Arms Band has been engaged for the occasion and will render a pleasing program of popular selections. The public is cordially invited to attend and join in the exercises. Special trolleys and buses have been arranged for the afternoon.

The local societies participating, including the G. A. R., will assemble at East Second street and Terrill road promptly at 3 o'clock for parade to the college grounds. Robert McCormack will act as marshal, assisted by A. A. Cannon, and a prominent position will be assigned societies at the exercises. The raising ceremonies will be conducted by the G. A. R. Post, and Master Charles Reynolds, son of the donor, will unfurl Old Glory to the breeze.

Invited guests and members of the societies are requested to be on time to insure good positions. Guests from Perty Amboy, Jersey City, New York, Trenton, New Brunswick, Bound Brook, this city and vicinity have signified their intention of being in attendance.

KING'S DAUGHTERS APPEAL FOR FUNDS

Considerable Money Needed to Carry on Organization's Summer Work.

This is the time of the year that the City Union of King's Daughters need funds with which to carry on its summer work at the Day Nursery, where a diet kitchen has been established. An additional trained nurse has been employed to look after the kitchen and also visit the homes of mothers, instructing them how to prepare food and otherwise care for their children.

All of this work will require a considerable amount of money and the King's Daughters again make an earnest appeal for contributions. Any amount will be gratefully received. Contributions can be sent to the Daily Press. Prompt acknowledgement will be made and the money forwarded to the King's Daughters. There is urgent need for funds at present and it is hoped that the many friends of the charity will not fail to assist in this work before going away for the summer months. Preparations are now being made to formally open the playgrounds back of the Day Nursery. This is being equipped with swings and sand boxes which have been donated for the pleasure of the children.

ELK'S FLAG DAY EXERCISES.

The committee in charge of the Flag Day exercises to be given by Plainfield lodge of Elks, Sunday night, has decided to have them for the members only. They will be held in the lodge room of the Watchung avenue clubhouse at 8 o'clock, and will comprise addresses and music of a patriotic nature. William N. Runyon will deliver the address and Paroubeks' orchestra wil furnish music. There will also be solos and selections by the Elks' quartet.

DETECTIVE ROUTS A PROFESSIONAL GANG

Hiney, of the Central Railroad Force, Gives Evidence That Jails Last Member.

Through evidence secured by Detective Hiney, of the New Jersey Central, the last of a gang of professional wire thieves was sent to the county jail yesterday afternoon by Judge Connolly in Elizabeth and sentenced to serve a term of sixty days and pay a $300 fine. The defendants were Herman, Hyman, Simon and Frederick Spitalny, who are alleged to have been partners in a company formed for the purpose of securing copper wire, bought in wholesale quantities from wire crooks who operated along the New Jersey Central.

The indictments against Hyman and Herman were nolle prossed and Frederick's was quashed. Simon the remaining defendant, was convicted by a jury yesterday. Henry Stern, the junkman who brought the wire to the Spitalny's yard for disposition was given the jail sentence and fine for the part he played in the robberies. As evidence in the case the detective had 700 pounds of wire brought into court. The wire had been stolen from one of the Central's freight cars on January 28. It was taken to the water front and removed in a boat to Stern's place and later taken to Spitalny's.

ATTRACTIVE PROGRAM AT CLOSING EXERCISES

The pupils in the junior department of Mt. St. Mary Academy closed their year of work with an attractive entertainment given in the gymnasium of the academy today. A program consisting of songs, musical numbers, a sprightly operetta, the dancing of the Minuet, recitations and essays, was given by the pupils and enjoyed by a large audience of teachers, relatives and friends.

The program opened with a chorus by the pupils in the department. The succeeding numbers were: Essay, salutatory, Gladys Gilmartin; enchantment waltz, orchestra; recitation, the Minuet, Alice Viola Lang; dance, Minuet, by the Misses Berenice Weaver, Helen Shelley, Rebekah Lipscomb, Dorothy Shirley, Johanna Koblenzer, Isabel Noonan, Madeline Morris, Henrietta Morris and Masters Philip Hamilton, Thomas Ratigan, Charles Reynolds, Milton Gimber, Edward Morris, Edmund Noonan, Valentine Radel and Elmo Rice; Boston Beauty march, Bregenz, orchestra; recitation, "A Legend of Breezes," Augusta Flynn; operetta, "The Gypsy Prince;" carnival march, orchestra.

Honors and certificates were conferred on the following: Otto Francis Keller, North Plainfield; Mary Gladys Gilmartin, Westfield; Orfilia Lorentz, Lima, Texas; Inger Loretta Peterson, Perth Amboy; Alice Viola Lang, Chicago, Ill.; Mary Rose Walsh, Garwood; valedictory, "Drifting Away," Otto Francis Keller.

Rev. John F. Baldwin then delivered a short address to the pupils. He spoke to them on the ideals of conduct which should be theirs because of their being Mt. St. Mary pupils and the part they might play in adding to the dignity and prestige of their school by faithfulness to this ideal. The program closed with a chorus by the junior department.

FIRST ANNUAL OUTING.

The first annual outing and clambake of the East End Social Club will be held at Picton on Sunday, beginning at 10 o'clock. There will be lunch all day and dinner at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. There will be sports of all kinds, including a baseball game.

TWELVE TAKEN IN A MIDNIGHT RAID

Chief Kiely and Sergeant Higgins do Some Sleuthing in Madison Avenue.

INFORMERS GO FREE

After shadowing a suspicious dwelling at 303 Madison avenue for two hours last night Chief of Police Kiely and Sergeant Maurice Higgins swooped down on the "joint" and hustled a dozen inmates into the patrol wagon. All of the prisoners were colored, four women and eight men comprising the haul. During their two hours' of watchful waiting Kiely and Higgins saw things that made their blood boil and by 11 o'clock had collected sufficient evidence to invade the disorderly house. Once inside the door the police officers were greeted by groups of men and women carousing around tables and the inmates offered little resistance.

The place was being run by Lillian Jackson and Lillian Scudder, who had rented the rooms for questionable purposes and George Hackett was playing the role of "runner" for the house. William Marsh, another frequenter of the place, had been delegated as a "can-rusher" and was on his way for another "growler" when the "pull" was made. In his own words Marsh "was killin' a pint" when Patrolman Dennis O'Keefe invited him to take a trip to police headquarters a short time after the place was raided, Marsh being found seated on the front porch with "Zeb" Freeman.

Making a clean breast of the doings in that section during the past three months in police court this morning Matty, alias "Casey" Jones, Harry Hackett, Charles Rogers, of Newark; John Schenck, and William Marsh earned for themselves suspended sentences. The informers told of the business being conducted by the two proprietresses at the address and the part each of the prisoners played in the wrong doing. Seven of the accused were given sentences of $20 or sixty days in the county jail and the entire group will probably be transferred to Elizabeth this afternoon by Detective-Sergeant Flynn.

The sentences imposed were as follows: Lillian Jackson, 303 Madison avenue, $20 or sixty days; Lillian Scudder, 303 Madison avenue, $20 or sixty days; Myrtle McIntyre, Somerville, $20 or sixty days; Matty Jones, 541 East Second street, suspended sentence; Harry Hatchett, suspended sentence; Charles Rogers, Newark, banished from town; George Hackett, $20 or sixty days; John W. Schenck, suspended sentence; Henry Rogers, Newark, $20 or sixty days; Herbert Rogers, Newark, $20 or sixty days; William Johnson, $20 or sixty days; and William Marsh, suspended sentence.

ASKS PROTECTION FROM BOB FITZSIMMONS' SON

Mrs. John Meek, of Bergen street, Harrison, asked Police Justice Branegan in the Harrison Police Court yesterday, for protection against a son of Robert Fitzsimmons, the prize-fighter, of Dunellen, who, she alleged, had made threats to do her harm because she would not let him see his fifteen-year-old sister.

Mrs. Meek, who is the wife of Fitzsimmons' former manager, told Justice Branegan that the fighter's daughter was placed under her care by Judge Von Minden, of Dunellen, after Fitzsimmons' recent arrest. The girl was a witness against her father before the Middlesex County grand jury which indicted him.

Mrs. Meek told the court that the son takes his father's part and wants to get his sister away in order that she may not appear at the trial.

Justice Branegan told Mrs. Meek to get a copy of the order from Justice VonMinden giving Fitzsimmons' daughter in her care. Then, the court said, a complaint would be considered.

Dr. Thomas J. Hoga was a visitor in the borough yesterday.His many friends will be glad to learn that he is improved in health.

A. F. Samson, of New Market road, has sold to Abbie B. Scofield, of Yonkers, N. Y., a plot of land fronting 215 feet on Washington avenue south of Walnut street. Mr. and Mrs. Scofield will shortly erect a house and reside there. The sale was made through the agency of John Fedderman.

Miss Bessie Rentschler, of Ringstown, Pa., arrived in the borough last evening to spend two weeks as the guest of her brother, Principal Guy H. Rentschler, of the local schools.

Democratic Committeeman Willard N. Apgar, Edward Herlich, and Councilman Shively were motored to New Brunswick last evening, by Charles Wrage in his car, where they attended the Democratic get-together diner at the Hotel Kline. Assessor J. H. L. Peters and J. Y. Wilson were other leading Democrats who attended the dinner.

Oscar Winter, of Hudson, N. Y., is visiting George Zink, the North avenue grocer.

Mrs. Assemath Smith, of Burlington, is visiting her brother, David Mundy, of Front street.

Plans are out for two houses to be erected at Equator Park for Brooklyn people.

Contractor Frank Broshart has been awarded the general plumbing contract for the new house that J. Newton Apgar is erecting on Dunellen avenue for Dr. T. H. Platt, Jr.

John Dineen and Joseph Morgan have been enjoying themselves at South Beach since Wednesday.

H. C. Suydam, of Bound Brook, was a visitor in the borough yesterday.

Henry Wiedenhaupt, who for the past two years has conducted the butcher shop adjoining the library, put up a sign on the door of his quarters yesterday, reading "Closed for the summer."

Mrs. Henry Levins and children departed Wednesday for Atlantic Highlands where they are to pass the summer as the guests of Mrs. C. B. Kemper, of Sewaren, who has a bungalow at the Highlands. Mr. Levins and Mr. Kemper, who arrived in the borough yesterday, are keeping bachelor's hall at Mr. Levins' home on Railroad avenue.

Contractor Charles H. Wrage has been making such excellent progress with the bungalow that he is erecting on Whittier avenue for W. T. Piddington, Jr., that Mr. Piddington expects to be able to move into the place inside of the next two weeks.

Some excitement was created about the building being erected by Michael A. Gallagher at the corner of Washington and North avenues, yesterday, by an Italian laborer, who threatened to knife Mr. Gallagher because of some misunderstanding. The threat was made while Mr. Gallagher was sitting on the park rail opposite the building on the other side of the street near the building. Upon making the threat the Italian started across the roadway towards Mr. Gallagher. The latter, who was closely watching his every movement, with flashing eyes, said, "If you come within ten feet of me you will be a dead man." Whereupon the laborer perceiving that he could not intimidate Mr. Gallagher made his escape. He returned, however, later in the day on a bicycle, and after calling Gallagher some unprintable names he mounted his wheel in haste and sped away with Gallagher in close pursuit. The chase did not continue for any length as Gallagher was soon outdistanced.

The local baseball team crosses bats with the Cranford team on Maurer Oval tomorrow afternoon at 3:30. Percy Harney and Teeling will be in the points for the locals.

Giving Joe Holt, of Chestnut street, from whom he purchased a pair of rabbits on account of the agreed purchase price $1.50, a dollar bill and a stiff punch in the face, William Crouse, of Chestnut street, was arrested by Marshal Smalley and lodged in the borough jail last night. It seems that Crouse had purchased the rabbits from Holt on Tuesday night and had given the latter a dollar then and had promised him the remaing fifty cents later. Last evening Holt was sitting on his porch as Crouse was passing. Running out to the sidewalk Holt asked for the 50c that was due him. Crouse's reply was a punch. Recorder D. S. Campbell being ill, the defendant was arraigned before Mayor E. B. Latham in the borough hall and given the alternative of paying a $7 fine or spending a like number of days in the county jail.

The double attraction of a strawberry and ice cream festival on a warm night and the second night of the games of the Woman's Two-team Bowling Tournament, served to crowd the premises of the Presbyterian church last evening. The Ladies' Aid Society, under whose auspices the festival was conducted, made a substantial sum of money.

STYLISH RELIABLE

It is what you DO that counts—it is how much you "deliver" of what you promise that really matters.

Our success has not been built upon words, but upon deeds.

Today storekeeping is scientific as well as ethical; it eliminates the "get-the-best-of-it" spirit that prevailed twenty years ago—at least, it should.

We strive to give you better things for less money, not so much for your sake as our own. That's frankness for you!

But it is nevertheless true—and the truth wins.

Professor Charles D. Vail, of Geneva, N. Y., is visiting his brother, Sidney J. Vail, of Murray Hill.

Mrs. Mary Dillon, who has spent the past year with Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Woodruff, of Springfield avenue, left Wednesday for Bedford, N. Y., where she will visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. O'Brien.

The commencement exercises of the Columbia School, New Providence township, will be held in the auditorium of the school tonight. There wil be four graduates from the tighth grade. They are Martha Radzio, Carl Radzio, Margaret Johnson and Leo Deeny. Today is the last day of school for the township pupils.

The Diamond Hill School of the township will hold its closing exercises this afternoon. The children will give a play entitled "Hansel and Gretel."

Somerville

The Monday Evening Club has elected the following officers for the year: President, Lloyd Vosseller; vice-president, Mrs. John F. Reger, secretary, Miss Elizabeth Bagg; treasurer, Miss Ida Fleming; executive committee, Lloyd Vosseller, Mrs. Robert W. Cornelison, H. D. Evans.

Mrs. Henry T. Mundy is spending two weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Emil Beucher, in Brooklyn.

The quarterly meeting of the Somerset County Medical Society was held yesterday afternoon at the Ten Eyck Hotel, and there was a good attendance of members. There was an interesting and instructive address by Dr. Charles Hindee Smith, of New York, on "Some Observations on the Feeding of Infants," illustrated with radiographs.

The annual lawn fete for the benefit of Somerset Hospital was held last night on the spacious lawn of Councilman Richards, on South Bridge street, and was even more largely attended than last year. The treasury of the hospital will be materially increased as a result of those who so ably managed the affair.

The Somerville Theatre was reopened to the public last night by the new managers, Robinson & Burns. The interior of the lobby has been redecorated, and there have been many improvements made for the comfort of the public. The new managers will make a specialty of motion picture plays.

Owing no doubt to the many events taking place at the same time last night, the monthly meeting of the Somerville Merchants' Association was not so largely attended as it might have been. The meeting was held in Foresters' Hall, and a splendid address was delivered by W. L. Reed, a former president of the New Brunswick Board of Trade. Mr. Reed stated that any town to attract strangers desiring to locate within its borders should captain four requisites: Good churches, water, schools and a live civic organization, either a Board of Trade or a Merchants' Association. He said that during the past five years the New Brunswick organization had succeeded in inducing 12 industries to locate within the borders of the city, which had meterially added to the population and wealth of that place. He urged the members to work for the interest of the town in which they lived, and cited several advantages that could be secured through organized effort. At the conclusion of the business the members were entertained by a professional artist, and also with refreshments.

Mrs. Alexander Mc Williams is spending two week swith relatives at Middletown, N. Y.

Mrs. Jerome Brokaw has returned from Miami, Fla., where she has spent the past few months.

Mrs. Robert W. Cornelison is entertaining Mrs. John Forsythe, of New York.

Raritan

William Reynolds has returned to his home here, after an absence of three months. During this stay he visited a great many western cities.

Mrs. Mary Rogers, of New York, has been visiting at the St. Bernard's rectory.

The interior of the barn on the property of Thomas P. Gallagher, on Wall street, was burned last night, the fire being discovered shortly after 10 o'clock. Mr. Gallagher's auto and wagon were removed to places of safety, these being the principal contents. The barn was completely gutted. The building was a two story structure, and was insured. What caused the fire is not known.

Mrs. James Holman, of Plainfield, is visiting at the home of Mrs. A. R. Dilts, on Wall street.

CHARLES H. ROGERS WEDS MISS KATHRYN MANNING

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Kathryn L. Manning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Manning, of Trenton, and Charles Harold Rogers, of this city. The ceremony was performed at the Evangelical Lutheran church of the Saviour, Trenton, on Saturday, June 5, Rev. John C. Mattes, the pastor, officiating. Miss Inez Manning, sisterof the bride, was maid of honor and J. Wendell Mosher, of this city, the best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's uncle, Captain William E. Pederick, Trenton. Mr. and Mrs. Rogers are spending their honeymoon at Atlantic City. They will live on West Sixth street, this city. The bride was formerly employed in the office of the State Gazette Publishing Company, Trenton.

HUNTERDON PEACH GROWERS ANTICIPATE A BUMPER CROP

Whitehouse Station, June 12—Prospects are bright for a bumper crop of peaches this season in Hunterdon county. The growers are confident that it will be one of the largest yields in many years, unless a hail storm or some unusual happening occurs. The June drop is near at hand, but the growers declare that if it takes half of the young peaches from the trees there will still be enough left for an immense crop.

The farmers whose orchards are in the vicinity of New Germantown anticipate a crop of nearly 100,000 baskets. They are anxiously awaiting the re-opening of the old New Jersey and Pennsylvania Railroad so that they can move this big yield by rail. Otherwise they will be compelled to load them on wagons and cart them to Whitehouse Station, and as the road between the two places is being macadamized this summer it is badly torn up.

The growers of Pottersville are also expecting a great crop. Unless the railroad is then in operation it will compel the growers to transport their product by wagon to Peapack and Gladstone for shipment to the New York and Newark markets, Lebanon, Annandale, Potterstown, Stan-

THE NEED FOR PARKS.

Although the city tax rate is mounting skyward, there is one thing which should be purchased at once and held for future development. That is a land suitable to be used at some time in the not to distant future for one or more public parks. The available property for this purpose is rapidly being snapped up by real estate speculators, and before the people of Plainfield realize it, the figures at which suitable land will be held will make the purchase price prohibitive. There are tracts in the city that can be secured now at reasonable figures, and they can be held at little or no expense until the city's financial condition permits of their development as breathing spaces for the rapidly growing population of Plainfield.

There is probably no city with the wealth and population of Plainfield which has given so little thought to the future necessity for parks. A public spirited man or woman now and then has something to say on the subject, but that is as far as it goes. There are thousands of residents who can remember when any amount of land was available for the purpose. Today, now that the circus lot which was used recently by the Barnum and Bailey show has been cut up into building lots, no tract is left intact in the city, upon which this aggregation could find room to pitch their tents. That is the best illustration that we can quote to indicate how rapidly the available wide stretches of land are disappearing.

One after another the remaining bits of natural landscape within the city limits are being swallowed up, never to be reclaimed, and like other communities we are losing rare recreation grounds, which someday would prove of inestimable value to the people. The conservation of natural scenery for all, keeping it from greedy commercialism and industry is the avowed object of a society recently organized in Chicago under the name of "Friends of Our Native Landscape," and it is now enlarging its scope as a national organization. It's purpose is thus set forth in the constitution:

To secure and preserve for people of today and for all future generations typical examples of streams with their adjoining bluffs and flood plains with their native trees and flowers; woodlands of all types, including oaks of the various species, woods of white pine, yellow pine, beech, maple, swamp woods of ash, elm and alder; dunes with their rare floral carpets such as are found along Lake Michigan ond the Illinois river, the fast vanishing prarie once so characteristic a feature of Illinois; ravines and canons, ponds and swamps where water fowl make their haunts; tamarack swamps of the North and cypress swamps of the South, each with unique plant and animal life; rocks outdropping where geologists may study earth history; mounds with their mute testimony of races long since gone; native monuments of historical interest, and all places of beauty that will tie the present to the past and serve as a playground for the people and a sanctuary for the wild life of our native State.

Nature lovers in Plainfield might well form a similar organization with a lesser but laudable purpose of persuading the city fathers to provide parks in this city.

Evidently all of the buncome which was put forth by the manufacturer of a well known line of automobiles some months ago about paying every person in his employ a minimum wage of five dollars a day was done to get free advertising in the newspapers. Everyone will remember how gullible big city publishers gave columns of space to the story at the time, and incidentally advertised the cars which bore the name of the head of the corporation. Now two employes have brought suit to secure more than $500 which they assert is due them in wages under the promise made last January to pay every employe $5 a day as a minimum. They ask for the difference between what they actually received and what they would have gotten at $5 a day. A similar case was tried some time ago and the company proved to the satisfaction of the court that it had not promised such a wage, "but had only announced that it would would share its profits with such employes as it deemed worthy." Unless our memory fails us the head of the concern was quoted as saying that every person working in the plant, down to the scrub women, would get the $5 wage. It surely was a beautiful advertising scheme, for the publicity procured for the autos could not have been secured with a million dollars worth of advertising space.

Dr. Frederic J. Hughes, a member of the Board of Managers of the New Jersey Sanatorium for Tubercular Diseases at Glen Gardner, has written the editorial for tomorrow's Daily Press. He has given much valuable time to the work of the institution, and has helped materially in developing it to the high state of efficiency which has been reached in the fight by the state against the white plague. The editorial will tell the readers of the Daily Press about the splendid system which has been developed to care for the unfortunate citizens who have this dreaded disease.

The Playground Commissioners has issued an appeal for contributions to purchase fireworks for the annual display of fireworks at Parker Field on July fourth. A very satisfactory showing can be made when a number of people contribute and make the celebration a community affair, while small scattered displays about the city are very disappointing and unsatisfactory. J. Hervey Doane is acting as treasurer of the celebration, and it is to be hoped that the response will be liberal.

When you are going away for the summer don't forget that a check sent to the King's. Daughters Day Nursery will help make more comfortable many who cannot get away from the city during the heated term. The Daily Press will be pleased to receive contributions and forward them to the proper authorities of the Nursery.

MISSIONARY AND AID SOCIETY'S PICNIC

Women's Organization of Warren Chapel Enjoy Outing.

The annual picnic of the Missionary and Aid Society of Warren chapel was held yesterday at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Gavett in Washington Valley. About thirty-six members made the trip in one of the big stages belonging to Mobus Brothers. It was an ideal day for the outing and Mrs. Gavett was prepared to give her guests a fine reception upon their arrival in the morning. The spacious lawn was attractively decorated with American flags. During the day the women went through Mr. Gavett's handsome new house which is nearing completion.

The members sat down to a bountiful dinner, after which there was a short business meeting. The afternoon was spent playing games, one of the features being "The Downfall of China," in which Mrs. Theodore Martin was declared to be champion. Another game that caused great fun was that of golf, shinny sticks being used in an attempt to drive gas balloons into peach baskets. Several women were tie in this game. The picnic came to an end about 5 o'clock when the return journey was made. All declared the outing the best in the history of the society.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the coming special school election to be held in the borough, Tuesday evening, June 23, when the citizens of North Plainfield will vote on a budget which includes the following items: Current expenses, $23,900; repairs, $1,000; manual training, $1,68.

Several other matters of a financial nature will come before the voters at that meeting, including the following propositions, which are being presented by the Borough Board of Education:

To authorize the Board of Education to issue bonds in the corporate name of the district in such amounts and payable at such times as the legal voters shall direct, the proceeds of the sale of bonds to be used to take up and pay off promissory notes of the district issued October 1st, 1913, for installing a new system of toilets in the Somerset Street School and now outstanding and unpaid. The amount necessary for this purpose is the sum of $9,000.00.

To authorize the Board of Education to remodel and repair the Somerset School Building and to purchase furniture and other necessary equipment. The amount thought necessary for said remodeling, repairs furniture and equipment is the sum of $11,000.00;

To authorize the Board of Education to purchase as a lot on which to erect a school-house on the plot of land situate as follows:—On the easterly side of Harrison avenue, designated on the Borough Map as numbers 14 to 20 Harrison avenue, being a part of Section 4, Block 41, Lots 12 to 1 inclusive ;the cost of said plot shall not exceed the sum of $2,500;

To authorize the Board of Education to erect a school-house on said plot of land and to purchase for said school-house the school furniture and other necessary equipment. The cost of said school-house, furniture and equipment shall not exceed the sum of $27,500.00; the amount of money thought to be necessary for the foregoing is $30,000.00;

To authorize the Board of Education to borrow the money ordered to be raised by issuing the bonds of the district in the corporate name of the district in such amounts and payable at such times as the legal voters shall direct.

EPWORTH LEAGUE FESTIVAL WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

The Epworth League of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church gave a successful strawberry and ice cream festival in the church parlors, last evening. The Epworth house was prettily decorated in red and white by James Gilbert.

The general chairman was Miss Anna Mathews. The Misses Brouard and Randolph were in charge of the waitresses. The waitresses were the Misses Florence Brown, Elizabeth VanName, Josie Romond, Lillian Harris, Olla Cline, Marie LaPoidevin, Ethel Weekly, Alberta Oakley and Mrs. Henry Lude. The candy tables were in charge of the Misses Gertrude Gray, Anna Stafford and Mrs. James Gilbert. Harry Gilmore, chairman of the ticket committee, was the cashier. Fully three hundred people were served.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE FROWNS ON CONSOLIDATION

The regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held last night in the Babcock building. A number of the members criticised the holding of a special election in North Plainfield to vote on the matter of consolidation and the following preamble and resolution was offered and adopted:

"Whereas the Mayor and Common Council of the Borough of North Plainfield, have at the instance of the Board of Trade called a special election to be held in September for the purpose of voting on Consolidation, and

"Whereas the Chamber of Commerce of the City of Plainfield does not approve of this method of procedure and is of the opinion that the method pursued by the Board of Trade in accomplishing the desired results should be condemned.

Resolved that the Chamber of Commerce do, and it does hereby demand that a public meeting be held for the purpose of enlightening the public as to the issues involved and that a committee be appointed to await upon the President of the Board of Trade to request him to meet the President of the Chamber of Commerce in a public discussion or debate on the subject at an early date."

The committee appointed were: H. N. McMenimem, S. E. Gunnison and P. H. Burns. The committee met after the regular meeting and it was decided to arrange for the public meeting as soon as possible, to invite the Mayor and Common Council of both Plainfield and North Plainfield, all the local and civic bodies and the public generally, and that the Chamber of Commerce should itself pay the expense of such a meeting.

RESOLUTE WON CUP TRIAL EASILY IN STIFF BREEZE

Sandy Hook, June 12.—The Resolute won today's trial race preliminary to the America's cup competition, crossing the finish at 2 hours, 23 minutes and 57 seconds, unofficial time. The Vanitie crossed at 2 hours, 26 minutes and 36 seconds.

When the trials for the cup race contestants started this afternoon, a stiff breeze was blowing and the Resolute crossed the starting line first, the unofficial time being 11.01. The Vanitie was 14 seconds behind. The course for today was a triangular one, with an offshore wind, estimated at fourteen knots an hour, which gave promise that the race would be finished early.

At the end of the first five miles the Resolute was still leading the distance between the boats being about an eighth of a mile. After passing the first mark she increased her lead being fully a quarter of a mile ahead of the Vanitie when the latter was a mile past the first post.

The unofficial time at the second turn was Resolute, 1 hour, 22 minutes and 28 seconds; Vanitie, 1 hour, 27 minutes and 24 seconds. The Resolute continued in the lead when the yachts were about 3 miles from the finish.

LAWYERS' STAR MOUNDSMAN INJURED IN PRACTISE GAME

While running from second to third base during a practise game with the Plainfield lawyers on the Watchung avenue field last night, V. W. Nash, Jr., tripped over a pile of dirt and severely sprained his ankle He is confined to home on North avenue today nursing the injured member.

Nash is looked upon as a mainstay in the pitcher's box for the lawyers in their benefit game with the doctors on Parker Field, June 20 and unless his recovery is a speedy one his team's chances of winning will be seriously handicapped.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO DRAFT RESOLUTIONS

Samuel S. Swackhamer, president of the Plainfield Bar Association, has appointed a committee composed of William N. Runyon, Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., and William Newcorn, to draft resolutions on the death of George Ball, a member, who died suddenly yesterday morning.

Francis J. Blatz has been appointed a committee of one to arrange for a floral tribute. The funeral will be held from his late home in Scotch Plains, Monday afternoon, and will be conducted privately.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS FORMS MOTHERS' AUXILIARY

The Matlack Bible class of the First Baptist church, comprising young women, entertained the mothers of the members last night, at a musical and literary entertainment in the lecture room of the church, and as a result the mothers organized themselves into an auxiliary of the class, the purpose being to offer them all the privileges of the class whenever they want to take advantage of them. The membership is extended to all who have no other church conection. The auxiliary starts with a membership of forty.

During the evening there were violin solos by Miss Violetta Staples, recitations by Miss Helen Telfer and Miss Morgan, piano duets by Miss Lillian Teeter and Miss Carrie Dorman, vocal solos by Miss Helen Roseberry and songs by the class. Refreshments were served.

MORE MEN GO OUT IN STRIKE AT PITTSBURGH

Pittsburg, June 2.—Hope of an early adjustment of the Westinghouse strike was given a setback when President Herr, of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, refused to treat with a committee of three that called on him. After talking with the committee for a few minutes Mr. Herr said he could not consistently deal with it because of the declaration that the committee came as official representatives of the Allegheny Congenial Industrial Union, and not simply as representatives of the strikers as employes of the company.

Following the refusal of the Westinghouse Company to treat with the union officials of the 10,000 strikers who have walked out from the East Pittsburg plants, 1,500 employes of the Union Switch and Signal Company joined the strike today.

GREEKS MADE DEMANDS.

Athens, June 12.—A vigorous note was sent to Turkey today by the Greek government demanding the cessation of the persecution of Greeks in Turkey and the repair of damage caused to them and their interests. Public opinion in the Greek capital is excited and it demands that the government take immediate action.

G. J. WHELEN RETURNING FROM LONDON ON IMPERATOR

London, June 12—George J. Whelan, of the United Cigar Stores Company, will sail for New York on the Imperator on June 18. It is expected that announcement of the details of the plan for the United Cigar Stores to enter the London retail field will be announced soon.

Mr. Whelan is a resident of East Front street, this city.

HORSE COLLIDES WITH AUTO WHEN FRIGHTENED BY WATER

Water from a trolley sprinkling car sprayed on the feet of a horse owned and driven by Phillip Jahn, of Scotch Plains, on West Front street last night caused the animal to take fright and become unmanageable. The equine started up Front street and the wagon it was attached to collided with an automobile driven by Louis Clements.

The automobile was slightly damaged in the mixup, the mudguard being out of shape. Jahn assumed the responsibility for the accident and made a satisfactory adjustment with Clements.

THIMBLE CLUB GIVES MRS. WOODHULL A SURPRISE

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd T. Woodhull, who recently took possession of their handsome new home at Union and Stelle avenues, were given a "housewarming" by the members of the Thimble Club last night. Mrs. Woodhull is a member of the organization and the affair was in the nature of a surprise to her, the services of Mr. Woodhull and her two sons, LeRoy and Edson, being enlisted to make it more complete. The plan worked to perfection, the innocent victim being taken completely off her guard.

The club members, their husbands and their friends, to the number of fifty, met at the home of Mrs. T. R. VanZandt on Madison avenue, from which place they proceeded to the Woodhull residence. Music and dancing were features of the informal program and refreshments were served in conclusion.

Mrs. William B. Marchant had general charge of the arrangements and she was ably assisted by Mrs. L. M. Leek.

MEXICANS HOLD SERVANT OF CAPTAIN OF THE ARKANSAS

Washington, June 12.—In spite of repeated assurances that the Filipino servant, Alcaroz, of Captain Rush, of the Battleship Arkansas, has been released it was learned today that the Mexican authorities still are holding the man a prisoner in the jail at Mexico City. Just what the charges are on which he is held is not positively known.

COLORED Y. M. C. A.

A meeting called in the interests of organizing a local colored branch of the Y. M. C. A., will be held this evening at the Mt. Olive Baptist church. The committee which has been canvassing the city for subscriptions for funds with which to launch the movement will make a report at this time.

O. G. Dale, of East Sixth street, is spending the summer at Bayhead.

Mrs. C. E. Herring, of Central avenue, is sojourning at Spring Lake.

FOOD SHORTAGE AT VERA CRUZ IS BECOMING SERIOUS

New York, June 12.—A telegram received yesterday by the State Department from the American Consul at Ver Cruz states that the food supply problem is repidly becoming serious there and prices for staples are almost prohibitive. For example, potatoes are now selling at 30 cents gold per pound. Other articles are in proportion. It was respectfully suggested that arrangements be made to send to Vera Cruz large quantities corn, beans, potatoes, canned goods, ham, bacon and so forth, to be sold at normal prices. The State Department advised the Manufacturers Association today that food stuffs for consumption at Vera Cruz will be allowed to enter the city free of duty.

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a Tablespoonful of Salts if Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-know authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.—Adv.

Parker Field will be the pivot of attraction for baseball fans of every degree tomorrow afternoon when the third and deciding game between the Plainfield and North Plainfield baseball nines for the Collier trophy will be staged. The little squirming that has been done by the local and borough youngsters during the past week has helped to advertise the contest in a wide manner and when the respective forces take the field tomorrow the playground will probably be hemmed in by one of the largest mobs that ever attended a baseball contest in this vicinity. There will be no semi-pro contest tomorrow due to the large amount of interest manifest in the schoolboy attraction and the possibility of falling short in receipts.

Taking into consideration the four games played by each aggregation in the Interscholastic League race this season and eliminating the other games played by each, the forces seem to be unusually evenly matched and the contest will no doubt be a nip and tuck affair from start to finish. North Plainfield holds a slight advantage over the Plainfielders in the batting department having a percentage of .865 against the local's .833. This is so slim, however, that odds cannot be placed on the boroughites through their batting merits alone. As all around teams the scales are evenly balanced and one side's advantage in one department is made up by a surplus from the opposition in a different phase.

Stahl will be started by Coach Mullin on the mound for North Plainfield and Sminck is the popular choice for the local side. Tomorrow's game will also decide the winner of the batting trophy, Stahl being the leader at the present time with Dunning, a N. P. H. S. teammate, as the runner-up.

PLAINFIELD vs. ELIZABETH.

The Elizabeth Y. M. H. A. baseballers, who finally broke into a winning stride last Sunday by defeating the Perth Amboy association, will have the Plainfield nine at their opponents in a Y. M. H. A. State League match on the Lakeside Oval, Elizabeth, Sunday afternoon. This no doubt will be a fast game as the teams are about evenly matched. The pitching department of the Elizabeth team will be taken care of by "Mush" Shanker, and he will have Benny Berkowitz as his battery mate. Those who will also play on the team are: Harry Bloch, Julius Finkel, Alexander Marcus, Louis Feit, Seigel, "Shorty" Ettleman, David Forman and Louis Sachs.

RAHWAY TAKES TITLE.

Westfield, June 11—Rahway High School defeated Westfield High School here yesterday 6 to 1. The game decided the championship of Union county. Pearsall was an easy mark for the visitors, being touched for nine hits in five innings. Crittenden, who succeeded him, was invinsible, not a hit being made off him.

TRENTON-SOMERVILLE MATCH A GREAT EVENT

Capital City Players Score a Decisive Victory Over the Somerset Players.

Coming through victorious in six of the eight individual matches played during the morning and afternoon, the Trenton Country club golf team easily defeated the Somerville Country club golf representatives on the splendidly kept links at "The Oaklands" yesterday, in 18-hole match play.

Standing out first and foremost in the notable conquest, was the magnificent triumph of Horace Cook, the stellar light of the Trenton Country club golf firmament, who defeated Oswald Kirby, the New Jersey and Metropolitan golf champion.

The latter was selected by the Somerville delegation to tee off with Cook, and the defeat of the champion by the Trenton golfer was the real surprise and feature of the dual meet. The match was played in the morning in order to permit Mr. Kirby to return shortly after luncheon.

The members of the rival clubs, as well as the few in the gallery, followed this sterling pair of golfers over the course and saw Cook complete his mastery in the seventh hole, winning over his far-famed Somerville adversary 3 up and 2 to play. The defeat of Kirby was as welcome from a local viewpoint as it was unexpected by the visitors, and Cook was literally carried from the course in triumph by his admiring friends, who gloried in his splendid achievement.

Scott Scammell, also regarded as one of the real stars of the Trenton team, scored a decisive victory over Stearns, his Somerville opponent. Both men played excellent golf and Scammell won, 3 up and 2 to play. The defeat of Kirkby and Stearns, the real fortifications of the Somerville contingent, seemed to take the heart out of the visiting golfers, and the others, with the exception of two, went down to inglorious defeat before the superior skill and science of the local players.

Dickinson, of Trenton, won over Meserole, and Sinclair, of Trenton, defeated Bowden, while Hunt and Rockhill, both of Trenton, won over McCormick and Barcalow, respectively.

The only two victories credited to the invading team occurred when Cromwell defeated Bell, of Trenton, and Briggs won over Bagby. Without attempting to discredit the two Somerville triumphs, it must be admitted that both Bell and Bagby were off their golf or the dual meet might have resulted in a clean sweep for Trenton.

At the close of the regular matches, there were a number of friendly contests played between members of the two clubs. Among the visitors was Former Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, who played with "Jimmie" Norton, the golf instructor at the Trenton Country club. The match yesterday was the annual contest for the George R. Cook cup and last year was won by Trenton. Trenton will play a return match at Somerville in September. The summaries:

Cook, Trenton Country club, defeated Kirby, Somerville Country club; 3 up and 2 to play.

Scammell, Trenton Country club defeated Stearns, Somerville Country club; 3 up and 2 to play.

Dickinson, Trenton Country club, defeated Meserole, Somerville Country club; 3 up and 2 to play.

Sinclair, Trenton Country club, defeated Bowden, Somerville Country club; 2 up.

Hunt, Trenton Country club, defeated McCormick, Somerville Country club; 1 up.

Rockhill, Trenton Country club, defeated Barcalow, Somerville Country club; 4 up and 3 to play.

Cromwell, Somerville Country club defeated Bell, Trenton Country club; 4 up and 3 to play.

Briggs, Somerville Country club, defeated Bagby, Trenton Country club; 6 up and 5 to play.

BIG RACE MEETING.

Denver, Colo., June 12.—Everything has been placed in readiness at Overland Park for the 19-day mixed harness and running meeting, which will have its opening there tomorrow. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Denver Fair and Racing Association and will be the first to be conducted under the control and supervision of the Colorado State racing commission, which was created by legislative enactment last year. The big feature of the meeting will be a $2,000 stake for a free-for-all pace, the largest stake ever offered for a race in the Rocky Mountain region.

ANOTHER TROPHY OFFERED FOR WINNER IN BIG GAME

It was announced this morning that the Ritz Company, of West Front street, had offered a silver loving cup to be presented to the winner of the Interscholastic League baseball match on Parker Field tomorrow afternoon.

This is the second cup offered for this event Paul Collier having already donated a similar trophy. The team that comes out ahead will receive both of the awards. The management of the two teams started negotiations this morning for an umpire, Craig, the Rutgers Preparatory school's athletic coach, being the favorite for the job. It was later announced, however, that he could not be present and Manager Dorflinger, of the Plainfield team, has promised to have a competent official on hand.

J. F. VAN RIPER GIVES ADDRESS ON SUFFRAGE

At the request of Mrs. Arthur B. Jones, president of the local suffrage association, the Knights of Columbus invited J. F. VanRiper, of Westfield, to address them upon the woman suffrage question during the social hour at their regular meeting held in Columbus Hall on Tuesday evening. The suffragists believe that the presentation of their cause to organizations of men is an important step in their campaign work as the men are the ones who must pass upon the question when the constitutional amendment comes before the voters.

The knights, true to the historic spirit of knighthood, gave Mr. Van Riper a cordial reception and his address was received with close attention and hearty applause. At the end of the speech, several of the knights asked questions about points in which they were in doubt. The meeting was altogether a successful one.

VANITIE COMES FIRST; BUT RESOLUTE WINS

Loses on Time Because of Fluky Wind.

New York, June 12.—The Resolute proved the truth of the old adage "The race is not always to the swift" in the contest sailed with the Vanitie off Sandy Hook. The Resolute won because the Vanitie had to allow her 3 minutes 13 seconds, but on actual time the Vanitie beat the Resolute 1 minute 57 seconds. When the details of the contest are forgotten and the bare record is seen the Resolute will get credit for having fairly outsailed the bronze cutter instead of having won the race on a fluke.

On the first leg the Vanitie in a reach of ten miles outsailed the Resolute by 4 minutes 29 seconds. On the second leg until near the mark the Vanitie improved her position and then ran into a soft spot in the wind. The Resolute, finding a fresher wind and carrying it along with her, gained 2 minutes 54 seconds in about ten minutes of sailing. The third leg was windward work, and many who watched the race criticised the way the Vanitie was handled. Thirty-one minutes after hauling on the wind the Resolute crossed the Vanitie's bow and took the lead. Then the Vanitie was sailed as she should be. She kept moving instead of being starved and slowly but surely began to outpoint and outfoot the Resolute. She kept up this good work to the end of the race and in 1 hour 14 minutes beat the Resolute 1 minute 57 seconds. Had the race been a little longer the Vanitie would have won.

There were no flukes in this performance, and the work was very pleasing to admirers of the bronze yacht. She showed that she has it in her to defeat the Resolute on the wind in light weather, and now it is up to Captain Dennis and his crew to get it out of her. She showed, too, that she will not sail when starved or pinched close on the wind and that she wants to be kept moving when she will foot and point. William Gardner, the designer, was on the Vanitie, and he watched carefully for all little errors of rig and sail, and these errors will be corrected as fast as possible. After the race the jib topsails were set one after another, and Gardner studied each very carefully.

The Defiance did not race.

SHOT EIGHT, FINALLY KILLED

Influenced by Liquor, Southerner Starts on a Rampage.

Lexington, Ky., June 12.—While under influence of liquor at Neon, Ky., William Day shot eight persons, including Magistrate James M. Wright, M. D. Davis, hotel keeper; Victor Stamper, Roy and James Taylor, Howard Wright, Malon Hall and a small boy, Burnett Collins. Day used a shotgun.

Day himself was killed later by a posse just at sunset. One of the Stamper boys died as result of wounds. Davis, the Taylors, Wright and Collins are dangerously wounded and attending surgeons fear they may not survive. Immediately after the shooting Day secured two boxes of cartridges and, prepared for desperate resistance, fled to the mountains. Pursuit was begun by a posse man, Blaine Collins. Soon after the departure of officers a succession of shots was heard from the direction which they had taken, on returning the posse reported Day had been taken unawares and killed in his tracks. A number of bullets pierced his body.

AT 71 GETS DEATH SENTENCE

Charged With Murder, Confederate Veteran is on Hunger Strike.

Dalton, Ga., June 12.—W. I. Umphrey, seventy-one years old, a Confederate veteran, for the second time within a few months received a death sentence for the alleged murder of Joseph Pritchett, a neighboring farmer. The first sentence was appealed.

Umphrey, who has refused food for several days, was so weak he hardly could stand up in court.

SENATE PASSES TOLLS REPEAL

Puts Through Measure by Vote of 50 to 35.

SHARP PERSONAL ATTACKS

Thirty-seven Democrats and Thirteen Republicans Support Wilson—Vardaman and West Near Fisticuffs, Sergeant at Arms Called.

Washington, June 12.—The senate passed the Sims bill, repealing the clause in the Panama canal act of exempting American coastwise vessels from payment of tolls with the single amendment agreed to added by a vote of 50 to 35.

The result was not much different from estimates heretofore made as to the strength of the measure when pairs are accounted for. Had the pairs been disregarded the vote would have been 54 for the bill and 39 against.

Eleven Democrats voted against the repeal, but this loss was more than offset by thirteen Republicans who supported the president. One Democrat, Senator Walsh, was paired against the bill, and two Republicans, Lodge of Massachusetts and Stephenson of Wisconsin, were paired in favor of the bill.

The following is the vote:

For the Bill.

Democrats—Bankhead, Bryan, Chilton, Clarke of Arkansas, Culberson, Fletcher, Gore, Hitchcock, Hughes, James, Johnson, Kern, Lea, Lee, Lewis, Martin, Myers, Overman, Owen, Pittman, Pomerene, Saulsbury, Shafroth, Sheppard, Shively, Simmons, Smith of Arizona, Smith of Georgia, Smith of Maryland, Smith of South Carolina, Stone, Swanson, Thompson, Thornton, West, White and Williams.

Total yeas, 50.

Against the Bill.

Democrats—Ashurst, Chamberlin, Lane, Martine, Newlands, O'Gorman, Ransdell, Reed, Shields, Thomas and Vardaman.

Progressive—Poindexter.

Total nays, 35.

The closing hours of the debate were signalized by a near encounter between Senators Vardaman of Mississippi and West of Georgia and also by a sharp personal colloquy between Vardaman and his colleague, Senator John Sharp Williams. West and Vardaman confronted each other in a threatening attitude, and Senator Ashurst jumped between them with extended arms as if to prevent their coming together. At the same time the presiding officer, Senator Swanson, considered the situation so menacing that he ordered the sergeant at arms to the scene to preserve order.

The trouble arose while Senator West was replying to Vardaman. The Mississippi senator, who has opposed the repeal of the tolls exemption law, had just concluded a speech, in which he bitterly arraigned senators who have followed the president for repeal and had changed the views expressed by them when the tolls exemption bill was originally passed.

"The edict has gone forth from the White House," said Mr. Vardaman, and he added that this alone had saved the cause of repeal.

West Answers Vardman.

Among other things Vardaman attacked the transcontinental railroads and the Carnegie peace foundation for spending money to bring about repeal. Replying to this particular charge, West, who was standing near Mr. Vardaman's seat, as he spoke said:

"There has been much criticism indulged in on this side. I have tried to be indulgent and allowed the senators who occupied the opposite side of this question to view it as they saw fit. There has been charged here to the Carnegie foundation the expenditure of $30,000. Who knows but what the shipping interests have spent $100,000 in order to secure the defeat of this bill?"

"Have you been offered any?" inquired Mr. Vardaman, slowly rising and addressing Mr. West.

"Don't you say that to me," quickly retorted the Georgia senator.

"Well, you are making an intimation that somebody else has been influenced," retorted Vardaman, advancing with clenched fists.

"I did not say so, I said"—begun Mr. West, who was promptly cut off by Vardaman.

"Senators will please come to order. The senators will please take their seats," shouted the presiding officer.

THE ANTILLA AT TAMPICO.

Cargo For Rebels Is Believed to Be Going Ashore.

Vera Cruz, June 12.—Admiral Badger received today an official report that the Antilla arrived at Tampico and passed up the Panuco river without molestation. It is presumed that she is already landing her cargo of ammunition for the Constitutionalists.

AN ATTRACTIVE ALPHABET IN JAPANESE STYLE

Two or three letter monograms may be made from this alphabet, or it may be used for marking gifts for a number of friends. This attractive Japanese style may be used for marking household linens and fancy articles, and pattern No. 14677 includes a complete alphabet in three different sizes, ¾-inch, 1½ inches and 2¼ inches. Each letter should be heavily padded with running stitches or chain-stitch, to give a firm foundation. First go over the stamped lines with an even, close outlining, then fill in the spaces with other outline stitches running lengthwise. These stitches should be very short on the under side of the material, so that all of the padding will lie on the top and pad less heavily at the points and narrow portions, so that they will not become clumsy when worked. The covering consists of simple over-and-over-stitches taken evenly and closely together. If preferred, this alphabet may be developed in outline and seed-stitch.

Guaranteed, hot-iron transfer pattern will be supplied to readers for 10 cents.

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

8211

The cotton dress today in no way resembles its old fashioned predecessor; it shows exactly the same style feature as frocks of silk and lingerie for afternoon purposes. The small patterned cottons and voiles are very much favored, also fine stripes and harmoniously colored plaids. This dress, number 8211, is charmingly suited to any of these materials. It closes in back, has a surplice blouse in drop-shoulder style with full length sleeves, which may be cut off at elbow length if preferred, and a three gored skirt with a shaped tunic. If tunic and frill are not fancied, both may be omitted and the frock may be made absolutely plain in one of the heavy cottons or linens for morning wear. Using the tunic it is quite dressy enough for ordinary afternoon functions. This dress may be copied in size 36 with 5⅞ yards of 36-inch material.

Pattern is cut in six sizes, 34 to 44.

Be sure to give right size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions.

It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

Some Cookery Suggestions

DAINTIES FROM EARLY APPLES.

DINNER MENU.
Tomato Soup.
Shepherd's Pie.
Scalloped Onions.
Endive Salad, French Dressing.
Stuffed Apples.
Coffee.

ONE of the most useful summer fruits is the early apple, which may be served baked for breakfast, in the form of fritters or custard for luncheon or in dumplings or puddings for dinner. Apples are exceedingly wholesome in any form.

Wholesome Relishes.

Apple Salad.—Slice a rich, juicy apple or cut the flesh into dice. Take equal parts of the apple and of tender celery, also diced. Add a generous portion of hickory nut meats and just before serving toss with mayonnaise dressing whipped with equal parts of cream beaten to a stiff froth. Serve on a lettuce leaf or in shells made of the hollowed apples.

Apples With Lemon.—Take six good sized tart apples. Peel, core and quarter. Wash one lemon, slice without peeling, but remove all seeds. Put in an enameled saucepan, add water to cover and one cupful of sugar, put on lid and cook rapidly until the apples are tender, but not broken. Then add a half cupful more sugar and push back where they will cook slowly until the juice is thickened. Turn into a dish and set aside until cold and jellied. Serve with cold meats.

Served With Custard.

Stuffed Apples.—Remove the cores from some large tart apples. To each apple allow one dried fig and one cherry. Examine the fig carefully, then roll it up as small as possible and stuff it into an apple. When all the apples are stuffed bake them very slowly till soft, but not broken. Arrange them in a dish, put a cherry on each and pour over them a good boiled custard.

Apple Amber.—Take six large apples, peel, core and slice them and put in a saucepan with three ounces of moist sugar and the rind of one lemon. Let them stew till tender, then rub through a sieve. Line a pie dish with pastry. Add the yolks of three eggs to the apples, then pour into the dish and bake in a moderate oven for about fifteen minutes. Whisk the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth, then pile on the apples, sprinkling with powdered sugar. Put back in the oven for a few minutes till the whites of egg are a pale brown and quite set.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Little Pig Who Was Stung.

Snook John Was a Spoiled Pig.

JACK and Evelyn had been to a party that afternoon and were quite tired and sleepy. But they wanted their story just as soon as daddy came upstairs.

"What in the world will I tell you about tonight?" asked daddy.

"Oh," laughed Jack, "you know you have a story ready for us! Now, haven't you, daddy?"

"Well, maybe I could think up one if I tried."

"I think you could," said Evelyn.

"If Evelyn thinks I can, too, I will have to tell a story about a little pig, for I know she is very fond of little pigs.

"There was once a very spoiled little pig named Snook John. He kept all his family busy attending to his wants, and they were many, I can assure you. He thought he was very delicate and that he mustn't overexercise, so he made his family believe he was that way. In fact, after constant spoiling, he began to actually think he was a very fragile little pig. He imagined he had heart failure and indigestion and neuralgia.

"One day there was a party in the air. Great whisperings went about as to when and where the party should be and what they should do.

"Finally they decided that they would go to a nearby swamp where there was the most wonderful marshy ground to burrow in.

"And Snook John could not be persuaded to go, and he tried to make the others feel a little unhappy about going and leaving him. Of course they were used to his acting in such a way, but still it did spoil the fun a little bit to feel they were leaving Snook John all alone at home. They tried to make him go, but he said that he had such trouble with his heart that he wouldn't dare.

"'I have to look after myself, as no one else cares whether I live or die,' said Snook John in a whiny voice.

"'That isn't true,' said the others. 'But we know you would feel better if you came.'

"'That shows you don't understand,' said Snook John, trying to look abused.

"After they all had left Snook John saw, to his horror, a huge yellow jacket approaching him. The awful thing came nearer and nearer and then stung Snook John with such force that he screamed and screamed in pain.

"But it taught Snook John a lesson, for it was the first real pain he had ever had, and afterward he didn't make a fuss about imaginary pains."

THE STORY OF RICHARD DOUBLEDICK

By CHARLES DICKENS

CHARLES DICKENS

Twenty-four famous authors were asked recently to name the best short story in the English language. Mary Stewart Cutting named "The Story of Richard Doubledick," by Charles Dickens, as her selection for this high honor in the world of fiction.

MARY STEWART CUTTING

PART II.

OVER and over again the sun rose and sat upon the crowded city; over and over again the moonlight nights were quiet on the plains of Waterloo; and all that time was a blank to what had been Richard Doubledick.

Slowly laboring at last through a long, heavy dream of confused time and place, presenting faint glimpses of army surgeons whom he knew and of faces that had been familiar to his youth—dearest and kindest among them Mary Marshall's, with a solicitude upon it more like reality than anything he could discern—Lieutenant Richard Doubledick came back to life—to the beautiful life of a calm autumn evening sunset, to the peaceful life of a fresh, quiet room with a large window standing open, a balcony beyond in which were moving leaves and sweet smelling flowers; beyond, again, the clear sky, with the sun full in his sight, pouring its golden radiance on his bed.

It was so tranquil and so lovely that he thought he had passed into another world. And he said in a faint voice, "Taunton, are you near me?"

A face bent over him—not his, his mother's.

"I came to nurse you. We have nursed you many weeks. You were moved here long ago. Do you remember nothing?"

"Nothing."

The lady kissed his cheek and held his hand, soothing him.

"Where is the regiment? What has happened? Let me call you mother. What has happened, mother?"

"A great victory, dear. The war is over, and the regiment was the bravest in the field."

His eyes kindled, his lips trembled, he sobbed, and the tears ran down his face. He was very weak—too weak to move his hand.

"Was it dark just now?" he asked presently.

"No."

"It was only dark to me? Something passed away, like a black shadow. But as it went and the sun—oh, the blessed sun, how beautiful it is!—touched my face I thought I saw a light white cloud pass out at the door. Was there nothing that went out?"

She shook her head, and in a little while he fell asleep, she still holding his hand and soothing him.

From that time he recovered—slowly, for he had been desperately wounded in the head and had been shot in the body, but making some little advance every day.

One day he awoke out of a sleep refreshed and asked her to read to him. But the curtain of the bed, softening the light, which she always drew back when he awoke that she might see him from her table at the bedside where she sat at work, was held undrawn, and a woman's voice spoke, which was not hers.

"Can you bear to see a stranger?" it said softly. "Will you like to see a stranger?"

"Stranger!" he repeated. The voice awoke old memories before the days of Private Richard Doubledick.

"A stranger now, but not a stranger once," it said in tones that thrilled him. "Richard, dear Richard, lost through so many years, my name"—

He cried out her name, "Mary!" and she held him in her arms, and his head lay on her bosom.

"I am not breaking a rash vow, Richard. These are not Mary Marshall's lips that speak. I have another name."

She was married.

"I have another name, Richard. Did you ever hear it?"

"Never!"

He looked into her face, so pensively beautiful, and wondered at the smile upon it through her tears.

"Think again, Richard. Are you sure you never heard my altered name?"

"Never!"

"Don't move your head to look at me, dear Richard. Let it lie here while I tell my story. I loved a generous, noble man, loved him with my whole heart, loved him for years and years, loved him faithfully, devotedly, loved him with no hope of return, loved him, knowing nothing of his highest qualities—not even knowing that he was alive. He was a brave soldier. He was honored and beloved by thousands of thousands, when the mother of his dear friend found me and showed me that in all his triumphs he had never forgotten me. He was wounded in a great battle. He was brought, dying, here into Brussels. I came to watch and tend him, as I would have joyfully gone with such a purpose to the dreariest ends of the earth. When he knew no one else he knew me. When he suffered most he bore his sufferings barely murmuring, content to rest his head where yours rests now. When he lay at the point of death he married me that he might call me wife before he died. And the name, my dear love, that I took on that forgotten night"—

"I know it now!" he sobbed. "The shadowy remembrance strengthens. It is come back. I thank heaven that my mind is quite restored! My Mary, kiss me. Lull this weary head to rest, or I shall die of gratitude. His parting words were fulfilled. I see home again!"

Well! They were happy. It was a long recovery, but they were happy through it all. The snow had melted on the ground and the birds were singing in the leafless thickets of the early spring when those three were first able to ride out together and when people flocked about the open carriage to cheer and congratulate Captain Richard Doubledick.

But even then it became necessary for the captain, instead of returning to England, to complete his recovery in the climate of southern France. They found a spot upon the Rhone, within a ride of the old town of Avignon and within view of its broken bridge, which was all they could desire. They lived there together six months, then returned to England. Mrs. Taunton, growing old after three years—though not so old as that her bright, dark eyes were dimmed—and remembering that her strength had been benefited by the change, resolved to go back for a year to those parts. So she went with a faithful servant, who had often carried her son in his arms, and she was to be rejoined and escorted home at the year's end by Captain Richard Doubledick.

She wrote regularly to her children (as she called them now), and they to her. She went to the neighborhood of Aix, and there, in their own chateau near the farmer's house she rented, she grew into intimacy with a family belonging to that part of France. The intimacy began in her often meeting among the vineyards a pretty child, a girl with a most compassionate heart, who was never tired of listening to the solitary English lady's stories of her poor son and the cruel wars. The family were as gentle as the child, and at length she came to know them so well that she accepted their invitation to pass the last month of her residence abroad under their roof. All this intelligence she wrote messages, piecemeal as it came about, from time to time, and at last inclosed a polite note from the head of the chateau soliciting, on the occasion of his approaching mission to that neighborhood, the honor of the company of cet homme si justement celebre, M. le Capitaine Richard Doubledick.

Captain Doubledick, now a hardy, handsome man in the full vigor of life, broader across the chest and shoulders than he had ever been before, dispatched a courteous reply and followed it in person. Traveling through all that extent of country after three years of peace, he blessed the better days on which the world had fallen. The corn was golden, not drenched in unnatural red; was bound in sheaves for food, not trodden underfoot by men in mortal fight. The smoke rose up from peaceful hearths, not blazing ruins. In a softened spirit he reached the old chateau near Aix upon a deep blue evening.

It was a large chateau of the genuine old ghostly kind, with round towers and extinguishers and a high leaden roof and more windows than Aladdin's palace. The lattice blinds were all thrown open after the heat of the day, and there were glimpses of rambling walls and corridors within. Then there were immense outbuildings fallen into partial decay, masses of dark trees, terrace gardens, balustrades, tanks of water too weak to play and too dirty to work, statues, weeds and thickets of iron railing that seemed to have overgrown themselves like the shrubberies and to have branched out in all manner of wild shapes. The entrance doors stood open, and the captain walked in.

He walked into a lofty stone hall, refreshingly cool and gloomy after the glare of the southern day's travel. Extending along the four sides of this hall was a gallery leading to suits of rooms, and it was lighted from the top. Still no bell was to be seen.

"Faith," said the captain, halting, ashamed of the clanking of his boots, "this is a ghostly beginning!"

He started back and felt his face turn white. In the gallery looking down at him stood the French officer—the officer whose picture he had carried in his mind so long and so far. Compared with the remembered original at last—in every lineament how like it was!

He moved and disappeared, and Captain Richard Doubledick heard his steps coming quickly down into the hall. He entered through an archway. There was a bright, sudden look upon his face, much such a look as it had worn in that fatal moment at Badajos.

M. le Capitaine Richard Doubledick? Enchanted to receive him! A thousand apologies! The servants were all out in the air. There was a little fete among them in the garden. In effect it was the fete day of my daughter, the little cherished and protected of Mme. Taunton.

He was so gracious and so frank that M. le Capitaine Richard Doubledick could not withhold his hand. "It is the hand of a brave Englishman," said the French officer, retaining it while he spoke. "I could respect a brave Englishman even as my foe, how much more as my friend! I also am a soldier."

"He has not remembered me as I have remembered him. He did not take such note of my face that day as I took of his," thought Captain Richard Doubledick. "How shall I tell him?"

The French officer conducted his guest into a garden and presented him to his wife, an engaging and beautiful woman, sitting with Mrs. Taunton in a whimsical old fashioned pavilion. His daughter, her fair young face beaming with joy, came running to embrace him, and there was a boy baby to tumble down among the orange trees on the broad steps in making for his father's legs. A multitude of children visitors were dancing to sprightly music, and all the servants and peasants about the chateau were dancing too. It was a scene of innocent happiness that might have been invented for the climax of the scenes of peace which had soothed the captain's journey.

He looked on, greatly troubled in his mind, until a resounding bell rang, and the French officer begged to show him his rooms. They went upstairs into the gallery from which the officer had looked down, and M. le Capitaine Richard Doubledick was cordially welcomed to a grand outer chamber and a smaller one within, all clocks and draperies and hearths and brazen dogs and tiles and cool devices and elegance and vastness.

"You were at Waterloo?" said the French officer.

"I was," said Captain Richard Doubledick. "And at Badajos."

Left alone with the sound of his own stern voice in his ears, he sat down to consider. What shall I do and how shall I tell him? At that time unhappily many deplorable duels had been fought between English and French officers arising out of the recent war, and these duels and how to avoid this officer's hospitality were the uppermost thought in Captain Richard Doubledick's mind.

He was thinking and letting the time run out in which he should have dressed for dinner when Mrs. Taunton spoke to him outside the door asking if he could give her the letter he had brought from Mary. "His mother, above all," the captain thought. "How shall I tell her?"

"You will form a friendship with your host, I hope," said Mrs. Taunton, whom he hurriedly admitted, "that will last for life. He is so true hearted and so generous, Richard, that you can hardly fail to esteem one another. If he had been spared"—she kissed, not without tears, the locket in which she wore his hair—"he would have appreciated him with his own magnanimity and would have been truly happy that the evil days were past which made such a man his enemy."

She left the room, and the captain walked first to one window, whence he could see the dancing in the garden, then to another window, whence he could see the smiling prospect and the peaceful vineyards.

"Spirit of my departed friend," said he, "is it through thee these better thoughts are rising in my mind? Is it thou who hast shown me, all the way I have been drawn to meet this man, the blessings of the altered time? Is it thou who hast sent thy stricken mother to me, to stay my angry hand? Is it from thee the whisper comes that this man did his duty as thou didst—and as I did, through thy guidance, which has wholly saved me here on earth—and that he did no more?"

He sat down with his head buried in his hands and, when he rose up, made the second strong resolution of his life—that neither to the French officer nor to the mother of his departed friend, nor to any soul, while either of the two was living, would he breathe what only he knew. And when he touched that French officer's glass with his own that day at dinner he secretly forgave him in the name of the Divine Forgiver of injuries.

The time has since come when the son of Major Richard Doubledick and the son of that French officer, friends as their fathers were before them, fought side by side in one cause, with their respective nations, like long divided brothers whom the better times have brought together, fast united.

MISS VALLIE GRESHAM BRIDE OF C. W. KINNEY

Miss Vallie Gresham, daughter of Mrs. A. B. Gresham, of this city, and Charles Wadsworth Kinney, of Brooklyn, were married Wednesday evening, at the home of the bride's mother, on Denmark road, Rev. Bishop Gates, of the Presbyterian church, Flatbush, L. I., officiating. Miss Elizabeth Brewster, of Indianapolis, and Miss Lucille Johnston, of Brooklyn, were the bridesmaids. Walter Watson, of Albany, N. Y., was the best man. Helen Thomas and Rebecca Lipscomb, of this city, were flower girls.

Just before the ceremony was performed, William Holmes, baritone soloist of the First Baptist church, sang "I Love You Truly." A reception followed and later in the evening the couple left on a wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside on Helena avenue, this city. Mrs. Kinney received a large number of gifts.

ATTRACTIVE PROGRAM FOR ANNUAL MINSTREL SHOW

The Warren Chapel Athletic Association has arranged an attractive program for the second annual minstrel show tonight. For the last five weeks the black face comedians have been practising their parts and everything points toward a pleasing and successful performance. The program consists of fifteen numbers. William F. Richards is the interlocutor. The four end men, Jack Ricketts, Benj. Berse, James Goodwin and Charles Mumford, form a combination of tried end men in the city.

The program opens with a well-known selection sung by the entire chorus, which consists of the Messrs. Adams, Dawe, Hoagland, Hallard, Wheeler, Manley, Wilson, Maier, Martin, Hone, Richards, Williams, Cubberly, Schroeder, Van Winkle, Larison, O'Neill and Page.

Solos will be sung by Ralph Martin, Irving Manley, John Richards and James O'Niell. The Queen City Quartet will also be present. The first part ends with a closing chorus by the entire company and a finale by Troop 5 of the local Boy Scouts. In the second part the Messrs A. E. and C. G. Loew will render a banjo and mandolin duet. The performance closes with several songs by the quartet. This includes Tom Apgar, Chas. Creeger, Jack Hallard and Jack Ricketts, accompanied by F. A. Putnam. Others assisting are Miss Edith Wheeler, piano accompanist, Alfred Nayler, oerhestra leader, and Charles Mumford, musical director.

IRRIGATION CONGRESS.

Calgary, Alta., June 12.—From an educational standpoint the most notable convention in the history of the International Irrigation Congress will be the 21st annual meeting to be held here next October. Expert irrigationists will attend from all parts of the United States and Canada and from several countries of Europe and South America.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK.

Princeton, N. J., June 12.—Scores of banners of orange and black were thrown to the breeze to denote the opening of commencement week at Princeton University. All through the college section committees began putting up notices of class reunion headquarters, and the arriving trains brought in the first delegations of "old grads" who are to take part in the week's festivities. President Woodrow Wilson will be here tomorrow to take his place in the alumni parade and to attend the annual baseball game between Princeton and Yale. Sunday the baccalaureate address will be delivered by President John Grier Hibben. Monday will be observed as Class Day and on Tuesday the graduation exercises will be held.

ARRANGE FOR CARNIVAL.

Cranford, June 12—Plans for the land and water carnival to be held here July 4 are almost complete. The most pretentious part of the program is that for the water parade at night on the Rahway river. As in other years, banks and bridges will be festooned with Japanese lanterns, while owners of canoes and rowboats will decorate their craft in competing for prizes. The guests of honor and judges will be Governor Fielder, former Governor Foster M. Voorhees, Congressman William E. Tuttle, former Congressman Charles N. Fowler, Senaor Carlton B. Pierce and William N. Runyon.

TO ATTEND EXHIBITION.

"Doc" Doyle, Dan McCormick and James Lynch will leave tomorrow morning for Atlantic City to attend the dancing exhibition and carival on the steel pier, Saturday evening. There will be no Saturday afternoon sessin at the Doyle and McCormick studio.

NEW PLUMBING CODE.

The new plumbing code will go in effect tomorrow. The board of examiners comprise Den. J. Galbraith, Edward J. McCann and William Addis, Sr.

Experience teaches us that there is Economy in buying the best

The business-getting value of printed matter is wholly determined by the quality you buy and its suitability to your needs.

Almost anybody can print--somehow, if he has the tools and material; but it takes brains, artistic taste and long experience to lift printed matter out of the commonplace and make it attract favorable attention.

We have these qualifications backed by thirty years' practical experience.

Will you put our ability to the test?

USE FISHING ROD TO BRING UP BODY

Train Passengers Search Until It Is Found.

BOY KNOCKED OFF BRIDGE

Surgeon Says Lad Had Evidently Been Instantly Killed by Blow on Head From Train—Hook of Rod Catches His Coat and by Careful Pulling the Body Is Dragged to Bank.

Hackensack, N. J., June 12.—Using the boy's own fishing rod in grappling for his body, passengers on a Susquehanna and Western train that had knocked him from the Bellman bridge near Babbitt into the river succeeded in bringing Paul Colombo, sixteen years old, to the surface.

The lad, who lived at Twenty-third street and Palisade avenue, West New York, was sitting on the edge of the railroad bridge with John Echlar of 763 Hudson avenue, West New York, fishing when the train due at Hackensack came along. The Echlar boy just managed to escape injury, the pilot of the engine grazing his heel. The Colombo boy was struck on the side of the head as he tried to swing away from the rails.

Engineer Vrooman saw the boy fall into the river, but did not think he had struck him. He stopped the train and the passengers hurried to the scene. The water is deep and the body could not be seen. Several boys who were swimming nearby dived time and again, but without success. Then the passengers took turns with young Colombo's fishing rod and finally the hook caught in the lad's coat and by careful pulling the body was dragged to the bank. Willing hands carried the boy to the baggage car and the train continued on its way. An ambulance conveyed the boy to the Hackensack hospital, but the house surgeon said Colombo had evidently been instantly killed by the blow on his head, the skull being fractured.

The search for the body in the river lasted fully fifteen minutes, and there was no complaint from a single passenger. Several passengers say they heard the engineer blow a warning whistle as the train approached the bridge.

WILSON HERE TOMORROW.

President Will Attend Thirty-fifth Reunion of Class of '79 at Princeton.

Princeton, N. J., June 12.—President Woodrow Wilson, who is to attend the thirty-fifth reunion of his class of '79, will arrive in Princeton tomorrow between 12 and 1 o'clock. President John Grier Hibben of the university invited the president to be his guest at Prospect during his stay in Princeton, and asked whether the university might take some formal recognition of the president's visit.

The president wrote in his reply that he would like to spend the day if he were just an ordinary member of the class of '79 and that every one should forget that he is the president of the United States. He will lunch with his classmates and will march in the alumni parade and will sit with the class at the baseball game with Yale. The banquet will be held in the evening, after which the president will leave in his private car for Washington.

FIGHT ABOUT SUNDAY TENNIS

If Blue Laws Are Invoked In Rutherford Cigar Stores May Close.

Rutherford, N. J., June 12.—For several Sundays members of the Rutherford Lawn Tennis club have been playing on their grounds on Montrose avenue. These Sunday games are objectionable to some of the town officers, especially Fred W. Sheaf, a councilman, whose house adjoins the tennis courts. These players have been summoned, and there will soon be a hearing, when the old blue laws will be invoked to put a stop to the Sunday games.

Members of the club say they intend to play on Sunday until all are locked up, and they threaten to "get square" by compelling the closing of ice cream parlors and cigar stores and the shutting down of trolley car transportation on Sundays.

FIVE PINNED UNDER AUTO.

Nearly Killed When Dairymple's New Car Turned Turtle.

Pennington, N. J., June 12.—Carelessness on the part of Edward Strong of Ringoes, N. J., an automobile instructor, nearly cost the lives of himself and five other occupants of a new touring car he was driving near Pennington.

Strong, who was running at a rapid rate of speed, turned to speak to his passengers, when the car struck sand, swerved to one side, ran down an embankment and turned turtle. The driver leaped for his life, but five others were pinned beneath the car.

MEDIATORS BREAK WITH CARRANZA

Huerta Is to Select His Own Successor.

CORRESPONDENCE KNOWN.

"A, B, C" Envoys Are Tired of Waiting For a Reply From Rebel Chief. Plan Agreed Upon Provides For the Elimination of Huerta.

PLAN AGREED UPON TO ELIMINATE HUERTA.

The plan agreed to by the United States delegates to the mediation conference provides for the selection of a provisional president to take the place of General Huerta pending the holding of a constitutional election in Mexico.

The selection of this new provisional president is to be sanctioned by General Huerta.

Justice Lamar made the following announcement yesterday:

"I am authorized by the mediators to say that we have substantially agreed on the first plan, which related to the transfer of authority and the establishment of government. We have not put it into exact language, but we have agreed on the idea, which is to be reduced to writing."

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 12.—The United States government was forced not only to display its hand in the Mexican situation, but also to surrender promptly to the demands of the mediators. For about one hour it was agreed on all sides that the conference was at an end. The mediators, tired of waiting and exasperated by the long delay, decided to play their last card and to publish in full all the correspondence exchanged between them and Carranza, the Constitutionalist leader. This was done despite the earnest protest presented by the American delegates on behalf of the state department.

One hour later Justice Lamar and Frederick W. Lehmann, the American delegates, appeared at the Clifton House. Although only an informal conversation between the Americans and the mediators had been scheduled, a full conference of all Mexican and American delegates and the South American envoys was held. Justice Lamar and Mr. Lehmann announced that the United States was willing to subscribe to the first plan for the settlement of the Mexican dispute submitted by the mediators more than two weeks ago.

It was agreed on all sides here that this is a complete backdown on the part of the Wilson administration and that it was decided upon following the report sent out from here to the effect that the conference was about to be closed. The fact that the mediators decided suddenly not to wait any longer on General Carranza and to disregard all the efforts of the Washington government caused little surprise here.

It is believed that the mediators have now taken the stand that if the United States is willing to openly declare itself as favoring the Constitutionalists the conference may be continued, provided the American delegates undertake to represent the rebels. This, of course, will not be possible.

The Carranza Correspondence.

Washington, May 3.

General Venustiano Carranza, Chihuahua, Mexico, via El Paso:

We have received your courteous telegraphic message in which you inform us that you deem it inadvisable for the Constitutionalist cause to suspend hostilities against General Huerta because such suspension would benefit the latter only, and in which you state that the international conflict between Mexico and the United States, for the solution of which you accepted our good offices, is independent of the internal strife in that country.

We consider this unexpected declaration incompatible with the purpose which prompted our tender of good offices. We believe, as a matter of fact, that all difficulties which have contributed to bring about the present situation in Mexico directly or indirectly affect the solution of the conflict pending between Mexico and the United States, and consequently we understand that they must be made the subject matter of consideration in the settlement negotiations, for the full success of which we have deemed the suspension of hostilities to be indispensable.

If you should not so understand we would be compelled to withdraw as inofficious our invitation to appoint representatives of the Constitutionalist party to attend these negotiations. We greet you with all our consideration.

D. DA GAMA, Ambassador Brazil.
R. S. NOAN, Minister Argentina.
E. SUAREZ MUJICA, Minister Chile.

Weather Forecast.

Fair today and probably tomorrow; light to moderate winds, mostly north and northwest.

CORONATION CHAIR.

An attempt to blow up the coronation chair, which has been in Westminster Abbey since A. D. 1296, was made. The outrage is attributed by the authorities to militant suffragettes. The damage caused to the chair by the explosion was slight. The explosive had been placed beneath it, but its effect seemed not to reach the chair itself, which is of solid oak, covered with gilding and ornamental work. The famous old stone, however, was badly chipped.

TRAIN WITH INSANE WRECKED

Clarksburg, W. Va., June 12.—A score of persons were injured, but none fatally, when the Baltimore and Ohio limited was ditched by an open switch twenty miles east of here.

A panic occurred in a carload of insane old soldiers who were being taken from Dayton to the government hospital for the insane at Washington. They were subdued with difficulty by attendants.

Adlai Stevenson Rallies.

Chicago, June 12.—Adlai E. Stevenson, former vice president of the United States, had an unexpected rally due to a sudden drop in the temperature and was resting easier at the Presbyterian hospital.

Boy Scouts At Greenhut's

The Boy Scout Band of Lewistown, Pennsylvania, will spend next week in New York, practically as the guests of Captain J. B. Greenhut.

They come here to see the sights and when Captain Greenhut heard that New York was in their itinerary, he immediately offered to pay the expenses of their trip. In addition to having their railroad fares paid, they will have their meals during their stay of one week at the Greenhut Restaurant.

In compliment to Captain Greenhut's hospitality and courtesy, the Boy Scouts will give a series of concerts every afternoon next week in the Greenhut Store, between the hours of 2:30 and 4:30. They will be of the same character which has made the Boy Scouts' Band famous.

The boys have had an experience all over the country which has been a privilege and an education. Their playing has aroused much enthusiasm wherever they have performed. They have even crossed the border into Canada, where they were warmly welcomed. During the week of the inauguration of President Wilson they featured in the parade in Washington, where their smart appearance and the excellence of their playing evoked many compliments.

The J. B. Greenhut Company cordially invite parents to bring their youngsters to the store during the coming week. The very appearance of the Boy Scouts' Band will prove an inspiration to them. Smartly and trimly attired, well disciplined, and accomplished musicians, their performance will prove intensely interesting, not alone to youngsters who already belong to local branches of the Scouts, but as well to those who do not, and to the parents of all.

CHILDREN'S DAY IN THE CHURCHES

Elaborate Programs Arranged for Annual Observance Tomorrow.

APPROPRIATE SERMONS

Attractive Floral Decorations and Special Music Will Be Features of the Celebration in Local Edifices.

Children's Day will be observed in several of the local churches tomorrow, special exercises having been arranged for the occasion, which is marked almost universally each year. In all cases the children will take a prominent part in the exercises of the day. The programs for these observances in the local churches are as follows:

Congregational Church.

The exercises at the Congregational church will take place at 10:30, the hour of the morning service. The Sunday-school will occupy front seats of the auditorium. The exercises will include baptism of children, the graduation from the primary department, presentation of Bibles and Testaments, recitations, and a short sermon to the children by the pastor, Rev. Charles L. Goodrich. The subject of the sermon will be "Blue-jays and Song-sparrows." The names of the children on the cradle roll will be called, each child responding receiving a flower. A special service will be held in the evening, when Rev. Lewis Bond will lecture on "Salonica." Stereopticon slides will be shown.

Warren Chapel.

The exercises at Warren chapel will be held at 9:45 and will be in charge of Joseph W. Gavett, superintendent of the Sunday-school. William D Murray will be the speaker of the occasion, while music will have a prominent part in the remainder of the program. Members of the home department are especially invited to attend these exercises.

Crescent Ave. Presbyterian Church.

The hour for the services at this church has been set for 10:30, the regular session of the Sunday-school being omitted. The primary department will sit with the members of the choir in the loft. Special music will mark the occasion, while Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie will preach an appropriate sermon for the children. After the service, an exhibit of the work of the junior and senior departments will be made in the Sunday-school rooms. The members of the church and congregation are requested to visit this exhibit.

First Presbyterian Church.

SILVER BAY PARTY A DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

Liberal Patronage Given to Y. W. C. A. Entertainment for Summer Outing.

The "Silver Bay Party" was held at the Young Women's Christian Association last night, for the purpose of raising funds to meet the expenses of this year's delegation to the conference. Silver Bay is the conference grounds for all associations in the New England States, New York and New Jersey. Every year the Plainfield association has sent a delegation of at least ten members to the annual gathering of the Young Women's Christian Association of the Eastern States. The girls who attend these inter-State meetings come home filled with enthusiasm and have a new interest in their work. The admission to the party, which took the form of a country fair, was 10 cents.

The Greek dance was given by some of the gymnasium girls under the direction of Miss Mitchell, the physical director. At Silver Bay last year the local delegates presented the play, "In Search of the Blue Bird." The same cast gave it last night for the first time in Plainfield. One change in the cast had to be made. Miss Marion Mair took the part which Miss Hermann took last year.

A race track had been set up in the gymnasium upon which some exciting horse races took place. The Indian village was inhabited by Camp Fire Girls who served hot frankfurter sandwiches. The Bible class had charge of the picture gallery in which were placed a choice collection of Silver Bay photographs. The Sigma Gamma Kappa Club had charge of the refreshments. Pink lemonade was sold from a rustic well. The grounds were lighted with Japanese lanterns. The affair proved to be a great success.

WILLIAM J. WINGES DIES IN DUNELLEN

Well Known Citizen Passes Away Following a Stroke of Paralysis.

William J. Winges, aged seventy-eight years, of Lincoln avenue, Dunelen avenue, Dunellen, one of the best known citizens of that place, died at 3 o'clock this morning, following a paralytic stroke which he suffered last Sunday while sitting on the porch at his home. Since that time he had been in a critical condition and his death was expected for the past two or three days.

Mr. Winges had been a resident of Dunellen for the past quarter of a century and during the past few years he lived in retirement, having been pensioned by the Jacob Ruppert Brewing Company, of New York, by which he was employed for many years as a collector. He was widely known among the prominent Germans of the State and in New York, and during his long residence in the borough made many friends. His home was one of the most attractive in the borough. He is survived by a wife, Mrs. Gretchen Winges. The notice of funeral will be made later.

FESTIVAL WAS A SUCCESS.

The strawbery and ice cream festival held last night in the parlors of the First Baptist church proved to be a very successful affair. Mrs. Samuel Case and Herbert Cubberly had charge of the refreshments and management. The rooms were very attractively decorated. Fully two hundred people were served.

Thompson Takes on Hudson Line for 1915.

The head of the Thompson Auto Co.'s sales dept., after just having visited the leading automobile manufacturers and thoroughly investigated all the new 1915 models, selected the Hudson cars exclusively for Union and Somerset counties.. The Hudson during the past has been one of the two or three strongest contenders for the leadership in the $2,000 class, and the 1915 Hudson "six" has leaped so far ahead of its competitors that we have decided to discontinue all our other agencies including such a car as the Cadillac in favor of the Hudson. The 1915 Hudson "six" at the new price, $1550, now offers a value with which none in the class can compete, it also wipes out every reason existing for buying a Four which costs over $1,000. Deliveries of the 1915 models will commence this month, and will be made in quantities in July.—Adv. ***

HUERTA'S MAN TO BE ACCEPTED

All Hope for Carranza Has Not Been Abandoned by the Mediators.

ADJUSTMENT IN SIGHT

Agreement as to Form of Transfer of the Government Now in Writing—It is Believed That Rebel Envoys Will Have Hearing.

Niagara Falls, June 13.—The A, B, C envoys, the American delegates and the Mexican delegates drafted in the form of an official protocol the first plank of the Mexican peace agreement. This plank provided that a provisional government should be established in Mexico on a date to be fixed prior to the ending of the conference, if the A, B, C negotiations were successful.

Twenty-four hours have barely elapsed since the mediators made clear their stand through the publication of the Carranza documents, and already the first and most vital part of the peace plan evolved by the mediators has been put into writing and definitely adopted by all sides. This was done at a full conference held in the presence of all the American and Mexican delegates and the three mediators.

This first part of the plan provides for the installation of a provisional government in Mexico to take the place of General Huerta. The actual form of succession has been left open, but it has been definitely agreed by all sides that no candidate will be chosen who has not been approved by Huerta.

The mediators and delegates will take up the matter of names. A list of candidates has been prepared which includes none but men whom the Mexican delegates believe to be acceptable to the present head of the government at Mexico City. After a candidate believed to be acceptable has been agreed upon the Mexican delegates will transmit his name to General Huerta, and not before the choice has been sanctioned by the provisional president will it be adopted at the conference.

Speedy Rearrangement.

This is the point which had been most bitterly opposed by the American delegates. They yielded only after the Washington government had been informed by its representatives here that the mediators had taken a step which in the opinion of close observers of the situation meant that they were prepared to put an end to the conference rather than impair the dignity of their governments and their personal feelings.

Justice Lamar in his statement, in which he announced that an agreement had been arrived at, clearly indicated that nothing was now in the way of a speedy rearrangement of the peace plan and its adoption by all sides. Developments plainly showed that the Wilson government is prepared even to completely abandon General Carranza rather than to permit th mediation conference to fail. The agreement reached has never been submitted to the rebel chieftain, and although several press dispatches announced that Carranza representatives were on their way to Niagara Falls this plan was definitely adopted.

It is clear to those who are best informed regarding the feelings of the mediators that this attitude will be maintained throughout the proceedings and that if the Mexican rebel is to be permitted at this late hour to take part in the negotiations it will be not on his own terms, but on those formulated by the three diplomats who are conducting the proceedings. All three envoys reiterated the assertion made that the Cardanza incident is closed.

HOWARD ALLIGER HURT.

While working on the new Boy Scout Wireless station at 25 Elm street, Howard Alliger fell from the top of a cherry tree and sustained serious injuries. Alliger is employed by Paul Collier of East Front Street. The extent of his injurries is not yet known but he will be unable to be at work for several days.

"THE TELEPHONE GIRL."

Under the auspices of the Marconnier Reformed church at Oak Tree, a festival was held, last night, on the lawn. The affair was largely attended.. During the evening, A. B. Wilson, manager for the local branch of the New York Telephone company, gave an interesting talk on "The Telephone Girl."

WILLIAM LORIMER.

Three Banks of Former Senator From Illinois Closed by State.

The La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank—the Lorimer bank—and three other state banking institutions affiliated with that bank, the Illinois State Bank of Chicago, the Broadway State bank and the Ashland State bank, were closed on the order of State Auditor James J. Brady. Daniel V. Harkin, chief bank examiner for Cook county, took charge of the bank, of which former Senator William Lorimer is president. The closing of the La Salle Street bank came, it was said, when a demand was made on the officers of the bank for the withdrawal of $600,000 of school funds deposited in the La Salle Street bank by the board of education of Chicago.

AMATEUR MINSTRELS ENTERTAINED MANY

Warren Chapel Athletes Presented Second Annual Affair in Park Club.

Members of the Warren Chapel athletic association presented their second annual minstrel show in the Park Club last night entertaining a large audience with a well given production. The cast was made up entirely of local talent and the program, divided into three parts, furnished three houre of amusement to the audience.

The usual array of blackface "chestnuts" and topical hits were given by the four end men, Jack Ricketts, James Goodwin, Charles M. Mumford and Benjamin Berse, and the chorus assisted ably in the humorous numbers. Clad in white uniforms adorned by red body sashes the chorus presented an excellent appearance and the manner in which the entire show was staged reflects credit on those at the head.

Many well known local blackface and semi-circle comedians were enrolled in the chapel cast and some good vocal music was intermingled with local hits. Solos by Irving Manley, Ralph Martin and John Richards were unusually fine and the "Queen City Quartet" also gave a creditable account of itself.

In the second part a comedy sketch by Jack Ricketts, Charles Cregar, Jack Hallard and Tom Apgar brought down the house and served as a fitting finale for the evening of mirth. A banjo and mandolin duet was rendered by A. E. and C. G. Loew. Miss Edith Wheeler acted as accompanist at the piano and Alfred Naylor was orchestra leader.

MEET FOR THE FIRST TIME IN 33 YEARS

Mrs. Martin N. Hansen, of East Seventh street, is looking forward today with a great deal of pleasure to a visit from her brother, A. P. Anderson, of Chicago. He will reach Plainfield this afternoon and it will be the first time in thirty-three years that he and his sister have met. Business affairs prevented Mr. Anderson from coming east until this time and it naturally will be an auspicious occasion.

Mr. Anderson will remain in Plainfield only a few days as he leaves next Tuesday for Germany for a visit with his mother. He will make a further stay with his sister on the return trip.

CHARLES A. REED CHOSEN GOVERNOR

MAY A BUSY MONTH

Total Number of 584 Patients Are Treated, An Average of 69 Per Day—86 Operations Are Performed.

Henry L. DeForest, who recently was elected a member of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital, has been obliged to resign owing to a pressure of other business and the board has chosen Charles A. Reed to fill the vacancy. The governors feel gratified in being able to secure a man of Mr. Reed's qualifications to assist in the management of the hospital, while at the same time they regret the inability of Mr. DeForest to continue as a member of the board.

May was an especially active month at the hospital as indicated by the following report:

Patients in the hospital, May 1, 54; admitted during the month, 126; total treated during the month, 180; discharged, cured, 99; improved, 18; unimproved, 3; died, 5; total, 125; patients in the hospital at the end of the month, 55.

Total patients days' treatment 1,807; average patients per day, 58; operations, 86; average daily operations, 3. Dispensary department: Admitted during the month, 77; return visits, 291; total visits for the month, 368; average visits per day, 11. The total number of patients treated in all departments during the month was 584, making an average per day in all departments of 69. Judging by the activities in the hospital thus far this month, June will probably exceed that of May in the number of cases treated.

DISAPPROVE OF THE AUTO BUS ORDINANCE

At the monthly meeting of the West End Civic Association last night, The members passed a resolution opposing the proposed ordinance to compel auto buses to use only certain streets. It was the consensus of opinion that the motor vehicles should have the same privileges as any licensed hack or taxicab. A copy of the resolution will be sent to the Common Council.

The subject of commission form of government for the city was brought up by Jacob Sachar and discussed at some length. It was decided to take up the question more fully at a special meeting on July 12. The remainder of the business transacted was of a routine nature.

LAWYERS' PLEAS EARNS BOY A LIGHT SENTENCE

Elizabeth, June 13.—Pleas by two lawyers, both engaged as his counsel and a further suggestion of leniency by Assistant Prosecutor Martin P. O'Connor led Judge James C. Connolly to deal leniently with Edward Colfax, a twenty-year-old Plainfield boy, arraigned in the court of Quarter Sessions yesterday afternoon for robbery. The charge, it was explained, arose out of Colfax's presence with others of less favorable reputation in a house where the robbery occurred. Frank Blatz and William Mayo Atkinson asked the court to show clemency for him, as it was his first offense, and letters testifying as to his good reputation were shown the court. He was placed on probation for one year after the court had instructed his father to see that he kept better company and conducted himself well.

Thomas Johnson, colored, at first pleaded not guilty to a charge of breaking, entering and larceny in Plainfield, but later in the afternoon changed his plea to guilty and will be sentenced Friday.

STRICKLAND-BALDWIN.

Miss Mabel Strickland and Walter Baldwin, both of Washington, L. I., were quietly wedded this morning at the home of Lawrence Scheelein, a brother-in-law of the green, of Samerset street. Rev. George Hauser, of Warrenville, pastor of the German Reformed church, was the officiating clergyman. Mr. and Mrs. Scheelein were the only attendants. After a brief wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin will reside at Port Washington.

FARMERS ENGAGE IN BATTLE ROYAL

The residents of upper Watchung and Union Village, have been busy the last few days discussing the results of a battle royal which occurred in a cornfield along the Dugway road Wednesday afternoon, and which proved a Waterloo for Edward Burnett, who is known as a chronic aggressor. Bad feeling has existed between he and Walter Leffert because of a business deal and when he saw the latter hoeing corn in his employer's place he advanced with an argument. It only took a moment for a fistic encounter to start that was waging fiercely fifteen minutes later, when a brother of Ed's happened along. He separated the pair and according to the best information Burnett was only saved by the interference.

A short time later Burnett came back, and though Leffert was attending to his work, the former renewed the battle. This time the aggressor was given what is known as a "trimming." Although Burnett is a much older and heavier man than Leffert the wise ones say that he would have gone away in an ambulance, but for the timely intervention of two men from a passing lumber wagon. Leffert on the other hand appears none the worse for the encounter.

There has been lots of talk since the battle happened but as everyone says Burnett got all that was coming to him, no official action has been taken.

Campbell and Waldorf Aggregations Will Appear in a Roll-off Next Week.

By winning two out of three games rolled with the VanEmburgh team in the Elks' tournament, last night, the Campbell pinners secured a clutch on the first place position, taking the final stand dead-locked with the Waldorf aggregation. A 909 rolled by the VanEmburgh team in the last game set up a high team score for the tourney.

Vail, of Campbell's team, smashed Waldorf's high individual score mark by toppling over 247 pins in the second match. he roll-off for the championship between the Waldorf and Campbell teams will be staged some night next week on the club alleys.

The scores:

EVONA CHAPEL EXERCISES.

Recitations and songs by the members of the primary and junior departments of Evona chapel will mark Childrens' Day tomorrow. Among the children who will take part are Mary Mattox, Henrietta Knothe, Mebie Lancaster, Arthur Gray, Gladys Pennoyer, Warren Montross, Caroline Mattox, Anna and Katherine Herman, Clifford Meddick, Margaret Pennoyer, Jessie Stillman, Florence, George, Creager, Maude Lancaster, Bessie eMddick, Dorothy Lancaster, Grace Wheeler, Clarence Casnor, Olive Lancaster, Charles Lancaster, Raymond Meddick, Francis Boyle, Fred Lancaster, Ruth Holland, Ernest Pennoyer.

BURSTING OF VALVE.

The bursting of a valve in the refrigerating apparatus at W. L. Smalleys' market on Park avenue, flooded the building with ammonia fumes, late yesterday afternoon. The employees were driven from the place as it was impossible to shut off the flow without a protecting helmet for the person doing it. No one in Plainfield has one of these, and it was necessary to send to New Brunswick for one. The trouble was finally stopped before any damage occurred.

PLANNING TO HOLD PUBLIC MEETINGS

Consolidation is a Long Way Off, According to Those Who Are Interested.

WRONG IMPRESSION

Citizens of the Two Municipalities Have Been Given to Understand That No Open Meetings Will Be Held on the Proposition.

Friends of the consolidation of Plainfield and North Plainfield say that the report published recently in another local newspaper, that there will be no public meetings regarding the question, is entirely erroneous. The Borough Council at its meeting last Friday night voted to submit the question of consolidation to the people, and passed a resolution at that time directing the Mayor to appoint a committee of borough citizens for the purpose of calling public meetings and ascertaining the sentiment of the people on the subject. Mayor Clark expects to appoint such a committee within the next few days.

The proposition to consolidate does not involve any change in county lines. The plan is to follow the experience of New York city, which is a government operating in several counties and as it works successfully in a large city like New York, there should be no reason why it should not work here in a smaller community, it is asserted.

The election in the borough does not take place until September 24, almost four months away, so that there will be plenty of time for full and open discussion. Even if the borough votes for consolidation it will be necessary for the city also to take a vote before these two municipalities are united. No attempts have been made to have an election in Plainfield and, it is not intended that the matter shall be agitated in the city until after the borough puts itself on record for or against the proposition, then it will be taken up in the city, public meetings will be held and the Council will be asked to decide whether or not there shall be an election. So that it is plain that consolidation is a long way off.

JOINT SANITARY SEWER MATTER IS PROGRESSING

The sub-committee of the Joint Sewage Committee, which has to do with the contracts and recommendation of an engineer, met last night and discussed details of the matters under advisement. A recent resolution adopted by the Commission authorized the employment of George W. Fuller as engineer, provided satisfactory arrangements could be made with him. This, it is expected will be done.

It is also expected that the deal for the Darling farm will be closed before the expiration of the extension of the thirty day option which will be about July 12. The Commission does not anticipate any further trouble in putting the plans in operation.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS TO OBSERVE MEMORIAL DAY

Local members of the Knights of Pythias will tomorrow observe the Memorial Day of the order. Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, will attend divine service at the First Presbyterian church at the evening service, when Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the church, will preach an appropriate sermon.

Crescent Company, No. 13, Uniformed Rank, will journey to Portchester, N. Y., where they will visit the grave of Harvey Patterson at Rye cemetery. Memorial services will be held there. The local Knights will leave this city on the 8:52 train from the North avenue station. A communication was received from the Portchester company, stating that a parade of the Uniformed Rank would be held. After the services, the Plainfielders will be entertained at the Rye Beach Hotel, in honor of the birthday anniversary of Captain John E. Flannery, who is to accompany the members of Crescent Company.

LEAVE FOR MAINE.

Raymond Force, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Force, of Mountain avenue, who has been detained at his home for the past two months by illness, has gone to Maine in company with his father, in the hope that the change will be beneficial. Mr. Force, Sr., will be gone about a month while his son will remain indefinitely.

STYLISH RELIABLE

It is what you DO that counts—it is how much you "deliver" of what you promise that really matters.

Our success has not been built upon words, but upon deeds.

Today storekeeping is scientific as well as ethical; it eliminates the "get-the-best-of-it" spirit that prevailed twenty years ago—at least, it should.

We strive to give you better things for less money, not so much for your sake as our own. That's frankness for you!

But it is nevertheless true—and the truth wins.

We are meeting every day a number of strangers who come to our store of "Most Things Men Wear" for the first time—perhaps you'd like to come?

GUARD KING FROM MILITANT OUTRAGES

Smear Tar In Church, Then Apply Torch.

London, June 13.—Militant suffragettes set fire to Shipstead church, near Red Hill. The interior of the edifice was burned out, but firemen were successful in preventing a total loss.

The walls, floor, altar and pews of the church were smeared with tar. It appears that the torch was applied in three different places.

Suffrage handbills were strewn all about the place. Policemen saw women leaving the building a short time before the fire started.

Scotland Yard is looking for a tall woman in black, who, it is believed, is the militant who left the bomb that exploded in Westminster Abbey.

The police, pursuing their policy of seeking for names of contributors to the suffragette cause, raided the newest headquarters of the Women's Social and Political union in Campden Hill square. They seized many documents, but made no arrests. Prosecutions of wealthy contributors to the suffragette activities are expected to follow soon if the names of any such were obtained.

Double guards about King George and in the Abbey are the apparent result of the attempts of suffragettes to blow up the coronation chair in the Abbey.

Except for the Chapel of Edward the Confessor, in which the coronation chair rests, the abbey was thrown open to the public as usual, but in its every corner detectives were placed to seek a trace of those who caused the explosion or to prevent any further attempts at vandalism.

STILLWELL MUST SERVE.

Appellate Division Decides He Must Stay In Sing Sing.

New York, June 13.—Stephen J. Stillwell, former state senator from the Bronx, convicted of demanding $3,500 before having a bill reported favorably from the committee of codes of the senate, of which he was a member, must serve out his sentence of not less than four years and not more than eight in Sing Sing prison.

A unanimous decision to this effect was handed down by the appellate division of the supreme court.

DEEDS, NOT WORDS.

Plainfield People Have Absolute Proof of Deeds at Home.

It's not words but deeds that prove true merit.

The deeds of Doan's Kidney Pills.

For Plainfield kidney sufferers,

Have made their local reputation.

Proof lies in the testimony of Plainfield people.

Albert Naylor, musician, 255 East Second street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Several years ago I suffered from an ache in the small of my back and sharp pains when stooping or lifting. I took Doan's Kidney Pills, as I was told that they were good for such trouble and by the time I had finished two boxes, I was feeling better in every way. I have often recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to people I have heard complaining of kidney trouble."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Naylor had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

South Plainfield.

Children's Day will be observed in the South Plainfield Baptist church tomorrow with appropriate exercises both morning and evening. At the morning service, the pastor, Rev. J. J. Allen, will speak on 'Faith.' The Sunday-school will give a musical and literary exercise at the evening service. The service will be especially attractive because of two emblematic pieces, entitled, "Jesus, the King" and "The Water of Life." A large running fountain has been built at great labor and every effort is being put forth to make this service the best ever held on Children's Day. The public is especially invited to attend.

Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Allen will leave Monday for Boston, where they will attend the meetings of the Northern Baptist Convention. They will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Robinson, of Walton, N. Y.; and Rev. and Mrs. E. R. Allen, of Easton, Pa.

On Monday, Offerings for Summer and Suburban Home Furnishers

Simplifying the problem by making a dollar do from one-and-a-half as much to twice as much as usual

Some of the merchandise is our own, reduced in price for reasons given. Some is specially acquired. Everything is of the quality our customers wish; the only quality we care to sell.

Looking here and there; reaching out on every hand; trustees for our people, we are constantly seeking economies for them. And it takes a lot of watchfulness to find them in the crowd of manufactured "economies" with which the markets are full. These are real.

Closing Out Our Very Fine French Cane Furniture

The lowest price heretofore has been ten per cent off regular prices. That was on last year's importation, in the August Sale.

What It Is

French cane furniture is the finest in the world. The reeds come from India and China, are split and enameled before weaving; workmanship is so fine the cane looks like lace work; the enamel will not peel or crack; it is practically unbreakable. It is used in Summer living rooms and in bedrooms all the year round.

Choice Monday of blue and white, green and white, canary yellow and bronze.

Rummage Among Father's Papers Causes Discovery.

ESTATE IN PARIS SUBURB

Parent Was Accidentally Killed Fifteen Years Ago at West Kensington, England, While His Family Lived In Middletown, N. Y.—Youth Now Clerk In Paterson Drug Store.

Paterson, N. J., June 13.—Raymond Sifdoll, a sixteen-year-old clerk in a drug store, living at 133 Pearl street, has suddenly found himself well to do because he rummaged among his father's papers in an old trunk in the family garret.

Letters indicating that his father, Brehen Sifdoll, who died fifteen years ago, had been receiving drafts from abroad led to the location of the estate in a suburb of Paris that belonged to the boy's grandfather.

Raymond Sifdoll took the letters to his godfather, Hassan Ben Ali, who counted Brehen Sifdoll as one of the cleverest members of his troup of Arabian trick riders years ago.

Ben Ali left Coney Island to investigate the truth of the tidings in the letters and has just informed the boy from Paris that he is heir to $100,000. Brehen Sifdoll was accidentally killed at West Kensington, England, while his family lived at Middletown, N. Y.

Raymond said he will remain in the drug store for a time and may then go to college and study medicine.

COMMUTER DIES ON TRAIN.

Hackensack, N. J., June 13.—Julius A. Rinckhoff, aged sixty-one years, for years cashier at the Consumers' Brewing company, avenue A and Sixty-fifth street, Manhattan, died on a New Jersey and New York railroad train while on his way to his home at Monsey.

The aged commuter was overcome by the heat after leaving Hackensack, but a doctor could not be secured until the train reached Oradell. Here Dr. S. A. Vandewater got on the train and remained aboard till Westwood was reached, when Mr. Rinckhoff was taken off and placed in the depot, where he succumbed. No water was on the train, it is said, and some was procured at one of the depots. Mr. Rinckhoff leaves a widow and four sons and a daughter.

ATTACKS WIFE WITH HATCHET

Indictments Against Election Officials Are Nolle Prossed.

Mays Landing, N. J., June 13.—Before Judge Clarence L. Cole, presiding at a session of the criminal court here, Prosecutor Moore made a motion to nolle prosse a number of cases growing out of the elisor grand jury indictments of Atlantic City officials for election frauds. Included in the list was Commodore Louis Kuehnle and ex-Sheriff Enoch L. Johnson.

Russ Hall, alias Red Hall, a professional hotel thief, pleaded guilty to stealing $1,000 worth of jewelry from the Marlborough-Blenheim hotel and was sentenced to a term of not less than three years or more than seven years in state prison.

Smoke Walks In His Sleep Along the Pennsylvania Railroad Tracks.

New Brunswick, N. J., June 13.—Charles Smoke of Helmetta was killed while walking in his sleep along the tracks of the Camden and Amboy division of the Pennsylvania railroad between Helmetta and Jamesburg. Smoke was in the habit of walking to Upper Jamesburg to visit a daughter, Mrs. James Cooper, and always walked along the tracks.

STATE NOTES.

The Erie railroad was ordered by the board of public utility commissioners to maintain flagmen at all times at the crossing of the Belleville turnpike in West Hoboken.

The state bureau of statistics of labor, in accordance with an act passed by the legislature at its recent session, changed its name to the state bureau of industrial statistics.

The death of Patrolman J. Berry at the City hospital, Jersey City, resulted, his friends say, from a blow on the head with a dinner pail from a man he was arresting a year ago.

Joseph M. Palmer, tax collector of Sparta township in 1912, who was charged with embezzling $1,375.31 of tax money, was acquitted by a jury in Newton after being out several hours.

An ice wagon was used as an ambulance in Trenton when eight-year-old Mildred Loughlin stepped from the rear of that vehicle directly in the path of a motorcycle. She was knocked down and rendered unconscious. Passersby put her in the wagon, and she was taken to St. Francis hospital.

Life in the Open As Suggested in Gimbel Store

Whatever form of life in the open may appeal most to your fancy for the summer months, you'll find it enticingly suggested on the fourth and eighth floors of the Gimbel Store, New York City, right now.

Almost you can turn indoors into outdoors, so light and summery are the wicker furnishings shown in these attractive displays. One of the most inviting varieties is made of China grass, in its own natural cool, green color. It rests the eyes and it rests the body—pliable and springy, it gives with every movement, fits around the body and makes cushions a superfluity, not to be countenanced.

Reed and willow, in its natural state or stained or enameled, as you will, are shown in suitable pieces for very room in the house. Most stunning of all is a suite of black reed with flaming scarlet spindles and cushions, which would make an ideal college boy's room. This can be had in any of the college color combinations.

For yachts, launches, shore porches and other uses, fibre furniture is recommended by Gimbel Bros. for its indestructible qualities. It is light, sturdy, handsome, and said to be impervious to rain, fog, mist and other of nature's trying moods.

There is an infinite variety of lawn tables and chairs under spreading umbrellas, canopies, swings inumerable, and hammocks without end, from the gorgeous fringed affairs to the plain canvas ones "built on mission lines." Tents of every size and for every purpose.

Not the least important are the fascinating "Take-Down" houses, consisting of one to five rooms, and equipped with everything the whole family could need for a camping trip of the most extended kind. There are folding beds, folding bookshelves, folding bathtubs, and when you are tired of one particular spot you fold up your tent itself, like a very modern Arab, and steal away to pastures new.

Then there's the non-capsizable canoe, which costs but a few dollars more than the old tipsy kind. Detachable motors for your rowboat also are to be had in this corner.

Just in front of the elevators is a display, which wakes a responsive chord in every soul with a vagabond instinct, even though almost stifled by city air. Fishing tackle—fishing tackle of all the kinds you ever saw or wanted to see. Whether you love to fish or just simply love to go-fishin', here's where they supply all your wants.

Not forgetting a camera, of course, no matter whether you go away or stay at home. There'll be many a bit of a good time which you'll want to live over again next winter when the snow has buried the roses and the ice has stilled the song of the little brook where your sparkling trout leaped to your line. In the Gimbel department they can sell you anything from a dollar Brownie all the way up to an eighty-five dollar Graflex.

Indoors or out, your summer wants will be well taken care of at the Gimbel Store and delivered promptly by their own auto-trucks anywhere within a forty-mile radius of the Big City.

NOTES FROM LABOR FIELD

The city of Quebec is to have a Labor Temple.

Teamsters in LaCrosse, Wis., have won a fight for a wage increase of 5 cents an hour.

The membership of the British Amalgamated Society of Engineers has been increasing at a rate of 1,000 a month.

The latest reports show there are now more than two million members of the trade union movement in America.

The American Brotherhood of Slate Workers will hold its annual convention in Bangor, Pa., next September.

One of the richest of labor organizations is the British Bootmakers' Federation, which has $800,000 on hand.

The United Mine Workers of America are planning to unionize every large coal mine in Texas and Arkansas.

The steamfitters of New York city have finally decided to amalgamate with the United Association of Plumbers and Steamfitters.

Washington, D. C., is to be the meeting place this year of the annual convention of the Operative Plasterers' International Association.

The wages of the 87,535 men and 3,926 women in the trades unions of Missouri increased $1,245,984 during the year ending June 30, 1913.

Samuel Gompers is sixty-four years old and has been president of the American Federation of Labor for half that period, or for thirty-two years.

Winnipeg will entertain the annual convention of the International Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes, which is to meet there on September 7.

A referendum vote of the membership of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters has resulted in the re-election of President Edward Menge and other principal officers of the organization.

The printing craft is said to be better organized in Germany than in any other country of the world, more than ninety per cent. of the German printers being members of the union.

One of the largest and most important labor conventions of the year will be that of the United Garment Workers of America, which will hold its sessions in Nashville, Tenn., during the second week of October.

In its annual convention held recently in Boston the International Seamen's Union adopted a resolution declaring that the disasters to the Empress of Ireland, the Titanic and other vessels were directly traceable to undermanning and the employment of unskilled seamen.

TO ARGUE WATCH TRUST CASE.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 13.—Final arguments are soon to be heard in the United States district court here in the Government suit against the Keystone Watch Case Company, commonly known as the watch case trust. The case was on the docket for hearing today. The suit was begun by the Government on December 20, 1911. In its bill of complaint the Government charged the company and its officers with conspiracy in restraint of trade in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. According to the allegations contained in the bill the Keystone company manufactures and sells 80 per cent. of all watch cases manufactured and sold in the United States and virtually controls the remainder of the trade.

Children's Day exercises will be held at Warren chapel Sunday morning at 9:45 o'clock and the regular service will be held at 10:45 o'clock.

THE STATE TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIUM.

One of the annoying facts about Tuberculosis is that no one knows just when he or she may become a prey to it, for no age or station in life is immune. In fact, if we believe those who know the most about this too prevalent disease, the majority of us possess the disease in a latent form, ready to be fanned into a flame if the health of the individual becomes so impaired that the natural defenses of the body are removed. When discovered in its early stages, however, it is a very hopeful disease if treated under proper conditions. A regulated life and freedom from ordinary work and care are essential. This State therefore very properly in 1905 began the erection of a Sanatorium with this object in view.

Located at Glen Gardner, Hunterdon County on the slope of a mountain nearly 1,000 feet above the level of the sea and commanding one of the most magnificent views to be had in this State, the Sanatorium is ideally situated. The State has acquired over 600 acres, the different buildings representing an outlay of over $400,000, supported at an annual cost of $90,000. There is a southern exposure and protection on the north by a dense forest. Most of the buildings are of native stone and stucco of pleasing form and conveniently arranged. It is one of the largest and best equipped Sanatoria in the United States.

The institution is easily reached from Plainfield over the C. R. R. of N. J. and a three-quarter mile walk from the station. The automobilist who has never ridden through Hunterdon County with its beautiful hills and valleys to High Bridge and Glen Gardner, nor enjoyed the view of the valley from the Sanitorium, has indeed missed a treat. The distance is 36 miles and visitors are always welcome.

From the first the institution has proved the need by being continually overcrowded and maintaining a waiting list. Last year there were examined 1,251 applicants for admission, of whom 496 were admitted. The average daily patient population is 192. Two thousand six hundred and five (2,605) patients have received treatment since the Sanitorium was opened seven years ago. And with what result? Of the 1,449 discharged prior to October 31, 1912, 779 or 54 per cent. are able to earn their liehood. While the others have not for various reasons held their own or improved to such an extent as to be independent, they have been able to live longer and more comfortably and to spread less contagion. But even more than this is the fact that each ex-patient becomes a factor in spreading the gospel of good health.

No Sanitorium for Tuberculosis diseases hopes to cure every patient. It takes years to become cured of Tuberculosis. A Sanitorium is a school for instruction in correct methods of living which if continued after discharge or graduation may result in cure. If the ex-patient continues to live correctly in the manner taught in the Sanatorium, his immediate associates will soon be doing the same thing.

And please note this very significant fact; about 20 per cent. of new applications to the Sanatorium come through the recommendation of former patients. These ex-patients have learned by a sad experience the grave danger of a continued cough, a rundown condition or other early symptoms. They are only too glad to put their friends on guard. Thus the great blessing of this institution is not alone the immediate benefit each patient receives, but the benefit to the community from the information each ex-patient imparts.

Unfortunately only about 50 per cent. of the applicants to the Sanatorium are admitted. The cause for rejection is mainly the advanced state of the disease and hopeless condition of the applicants. The statute specifies that only cases of a curable nature be received and the buildings were erected and equipped with this purpose in view, so that hopelessly sick patients cannot be cared for. A building for the accommodation of fifty children will be opened very soon. There will be open-air class rooms and other modern equipment. This will make more room for adults in the general wards, and will shorten the waiting list.

Two criticisms of the institution are at times heard; the quality of the food and the work required of some of the patients. No patient unable to work is asked to work. Part of the treatment consists of a careful and individual regulation of rest and exercise. Patients, now residing in the institution have prescribed for them each week the amount of exercise for the succeeding seven days. As this necessity for graduated exercise and work is recognized by nearly every Tuberculosis institution, even the private ones, it is doubly important in a state institution, where the patients are obliged to earn their living after discharge. To send a patient into the world after a long period of rest would speedily result in break-down and relapse. The food supply is the best that can be procured. However, the best answer to these criticisms is that 87 per cent. of the patients discharged last year for instance, gained an average of 12½ pounds.

Recently the Legislature provided funds for an infirmary building, where patients failing to do well or requiring special dieting will be received. Provision has also been made for the purchase of a large herd of cows, insuring a better and adequate milk supply.

W. LINCOLN PHILLIPS WILL SEEK ASSEMBLY NOMINATION

The first of the candidates to enter the field for the nomination as Assemblyman on the Progressive ticket since the announced purpose of the county committee to run a full ticket this fall, is W. Lincoln Phillips, who represents the first election district of Roselle Park, on the county committee.

Mr. Phillips is a printer by trade, and is a member of the "Big Six" Typographical Union of New York, and is employed in that city at the plant of the M. B. Brown Printing Company. Mr. Phillips was one of those who stumped the county last fall for his party.

PIGEON BRINGS NEWS OF BALLOON WRECK

Struck by Lightning; Captain John Barry Injured.

Portland, Ore., June 13.—A carrier pigeon fluttered into the Oregon Homing club bearing this message:

"Million Population balloon struck by lightning. Berry badly hurt. Lost in woods. Morrison, Aide."

The message was the first news here that disaster had befallen the mammoth balloon of the Million Population club of St. Louis, which started in the balloon race from this city at 4 p. m. yesterday, and that Captain John Berry, the aeronaut, was injured and lost somewhere in the forests, probably of the Cascade mountains, with George Y. Morrison of Portland, who accompanied him on his flight.

It is believed that the two men are somewhere in the dense forests on the west slope of the Cascades southeast of this city.

The balloon was traveling in this direction at a high elevation when last seen by Captain Honeywell in the balloon Uncle Sam, as the last named gas bag was landing seven miles southeast of Oregon City at 7:30 o'clock last night, after having been partly wrecked by an electric storm.

Dr. W. E. Stewart, who accompanied Captain Honeywell, said today it was his opinion the disaster may have come to Captain Berry in the same storm which struck them.

Captain Berry was seen to release much of his ballast in an effort to obtain an elevation above the storm, and it is considered likely that he was unable to obtain an elevation sufficient to take him over the Cascade mountains. Messages have been sent in every direction by telephone, telegraph and every other available means of communication to all parts of the state in an effort to obtain some information regarding the location of the lost aeronauts.

JUDGE DAYTON IMPEACHED.

Resolution Charges Him With Twenty-six Acts of Misconduct.

Washington, June 13.—In a resolution charging United States District Judge Alston G. Dayton of West Virginia with twenty-six acts of alleged misconduct in office, Representative Neeley formally impeached the judge in the house and asked an investigation of his activities on the bench.

Mr. Neeley requested the appointment of a subcommittee of the judiciary committee to conduct the inquiry.

"I impeach Alston G. Dayton of high crimes and misdemeanors," Neeley formally charged. He then charged Judge Dayton with "having unlawfully conspired with certain corporations and individuals to bring about the removal of former Judge John J. Jackson in order that he (Dayton) might be appointed to the vacancy in the office."

A GIMBEL SUBWAY SALE EXTRAORDINARY

$330,000 In Summer Merchandise for $197,740

Several great Sales have been organized in the GIMBEL Subway Store since it opened, and many of our customers have cause to remember the splendid values offered, especially in the recent sale of the stock of Blum Brothers, Philadelphia, and further back still, in the fine offerings of the famous Dobson Sale and the Sale of the Blumenkron stocks, each of which made records only to be beaten by succeeding events.

Now comes the GIMBEL Sale—the biggest and most thorough merchandising effort we have yet put forth, and these values should make it a compelling invitation to shoppers to come and participate in them Monday or Tuesday.

The Subway Store is a pleasant place in which to shop in during the hot weather, for you will generally find it 6 to 10 degrees cooler even than the Main Store.

THREE LORIMER BANKS CLOSED

Grand Jury May Now Act In Case.

STATE CLOSES CONCERNS

Many Not Surprised by the Auditor's Move—Bank Examiner Takes Action Against Institution Headed by Former Illinois Senator.

Chicago, June 13.—Criminal prosecution is expected to follow the closing today by examiners of the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank, of which ex-United States Senator William Lorimer is president, and three associated banks.

Chief Bank Examiner Harkins and a score of assistants are busily engaged in trying to unravel the financial tangle which resulted in a run on the La Salle street bank.

Mr. Harkins said it would be several days before the actual state of affairs is known. In round numbers the combined deposit liabilities aggregate between $6,000,000 and $8,000,000.

The closing of the La Salle street bank came, it was said, when a demand was made on the officers of the bank for the withdrawal of $600,000 of school funds deposited in the La Salle street bank by the board of education of Chicago.

Just what the condition of the Lorimer bank is and what the chances are for depositors getting their money will be disclosed only after an examination of the assets.

Other Banks In Good Shape.

Examiner Harkin made it plain that he closed the outlying banks only because of their affiliation with the La Salle street bank. So far as is shown these three banks are all in the very best of shape. They deposited with the La Salle street bank, however, and Examiner Harkin thought it best to close them for the time being.

News of the closing of the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank spread rapidly through the financial district. Bankers and men on the inside were not surprised at the action taken by the state bank examiner.

They had expected something of the kind to happen for months. Thomas McDonald, treasurer and director of the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank, gave out the following statement following the closing of the bank's doors:

"Bank deposits to the amount of $1,500,000 have been withdrawn within the last three weeks. Our books show we owe $3,900,000 to depositors, and we couldn't pay it all at once. The bank examiner demanded that we have $1,000,000 on hand. He said we needed that much to carry on business. The bank directors didn't think so."

Excitement was high at La Salle and Quincy streets when the La Salle street bank closed. Crowds gathered in front of the building, and a call was sent to the central station for reserves to assist the policemen at the bank.

Won't Affect Other Banks.

"The closing of the La Salle street bank should not have the slightest effect upon any of the other banks in the loop district," said James B. Fergan, president of the First National bank. "The bank which has closed its doors is not associated with any other downtown bank.

"It is not a member of the Clearing House association and has had none of the privileges of the clearing house. It is impossible to say what effect the closing will have in a general way, and I would not like to say until I heard more details of the matter."

WHY READERS PREFER PHILADELPHIA RECORD

Ask a dozen readers of The Philadelphia Record why they prefer it to any other newspaper and you'll get a dozen different answers. It is the favorite of each because it is strongest in the particular news field which especially interests him. Boil down the answers and you'll find a consensus of opinion that it's a well balanced, all-around newspaper, covering with exceptional fairness and accuracy every field of human activity.

The Philadelphia Record rides no hobbies and plays no favorites. It gives all the news for just what it is worth. It steers clear of sensationalism. It is clean and wholesome. Its sporting department is a tower of strength. Its financial reports are authoritative. Producers swear by its market quotations. Its editorial policies command respect and confidence. Its good-natured cartoons inimitably hit off the leading topics of the day. Good judges deem De Mar the best cartoonist in the country.

The same reasons which make the daily issue of The Philadelphia Record a favorite have popularized the Sunday issue. The Sunday Record includes, besides the usual daily features, a live Magazine Section devoted to women's interests, science and invention, the entertainment of the little folks, special articles of news interest and humor. There is also a four-page section of colored comics and a weekly fiction magazine.

The daily issue and the Sunday issue of The Philadelphia Record, appealing as they do to every member of the family, are leaders in their respective fields, and deserve the popularity they have achieved.

"FUZZY" FIRSTBROOK CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY.

"Fuzzy" Firstbrook, building editor and cub reporter of the Daily Press, is today observing his first anniversary as a news reporter. Cigars were passed around, and the following anniversary oration was delivered before the Fourth Estate of Plainfield, on "The Third Floor, Front."

Fuzzy's Filosofy.

While Shakespeare said it was a wise man who knows his own son, I say he is a wiser man who knows his own business—and minds it.

Many a young man has been advised to marry and settle down, while several of my creditors have advised me to stay single and settle up.

Reporters may come and reporters may go, but first brook flows on forever.

Every man can do three things, and do them much better than the people who are accomplishing the things: viz., run a railroad, run a hotel, and run a new paper. I know of several who could run the Daily Press—into debt.

Ford, of auto fame, is paying his floor sweepers $5 a day, but I am not employed in Detroit.

If the by-words of a few business men of this town should be published in any given almanac, Ben Franklin would be put to shame.

A horse may be led to water, but—A town may be a good town,, but the outside world will never know it if you don't inform them of the fact.

Many a paper has but seven columns on the front page. Those who desire free advertising will kindly take note.

If it were a question of "Plainfield or Bust" with some people I know, Plainfield would have been busted long ago.

A man dies but once. Don't put him six feet beneath the sod before his body is cold.

In its final analysis, philosophy is nothing more or less than common horse sense. Therefore, use common sense, and your name will go down into the pages of history as a philosopher.

If your town isn't worth a boost now and again, and is entirely lacking in virtue, why do you continue to hang around? And remember that one good boost deserves another.

The fact that our nation could have but one father is no reason for your not gathering something for the betterment of your fellow man.

"Boost, and the town boosts with you, Knock, and you knock alone."

There is no need for one being a foolish virgin because they have but one talent. The majority of the people which you and I meet have but one talent, but they are far from being all fools.

A man's native town as a general rule appears to him as the best ever. If it doesn't, look out for him; there is something radically wrong with his makeup.

All men are created equal, according to one of our public documents, while the Good Book informs us that we find our common level in the grave. Whether we remain even with, fall behind, or leave them in the rear, depends upon our use of equal opportunities.

Modern thought tells us that there is as much hell in this world as in the next; but this should not hinder us from equalizing the amount of heaven in this and the next world. How much of the hereafter one enjoys or suffers in this world depends largely upon himself, and it does not take a preacher to prove that statement.

Josh Billings says, "Consider the postage stamp, it's ability to stick to one thing until it gets there." He said more about the stamp in that one sentence than could be said about some Plainfielders who have started to do something, but fell by the wayside because their vision failed them.

Faint heart never won fair lady; neither has it been instrumental in building up the community, the State or the nation. It has been more in the nature which tears down good works, rather the building up of laudable institutions.

When one talks of a town, he talks of the people in the town. Therefore, if you knock Plainfield, you knock yourself and your family as part and portion of the town.

Knocking, like dirt, is cheap. If your wealth is measured only in the number of knocks you hand out, you are far from being a millionaire.

It is easy to go with the tide, but he is, indeed, a man who boosts the town where others are prone to knocking.

GOOD GAME BOOKED FOR SUNDAY FANS

Gerard, of High Bridge, Will Not Appear on the Mound Until Next Saturday.

The Plainfield Sunday Baseball Club will take on the Mauers, of Staten Island, at South Park tomorrow, in the second game of a series of three. The locals were defeated in the first game but expect to get on even terms tomorrow.

The pitcher for tomorrow's game has not been decided on, but next Sunday, Gerard, of Lafayette College, will be in the box as regular pitcher. The lineup: Jaeger, ss; Garretson, 1b; L. Dixon, c; Martin or Grimes, 2b; Coyle, 3b; Wilson, lf; Miller, cf; Alberts, rf.

LOCAL PLAYER LOST IN DOUBLES FINALS

Miss Edna Wildey and Partner Nosed Out for United States Championship.

Philadelphia, June 13.—For the second consecutive year Miss Mary Browne and her sister, Mrs. Robert Williams of California, won the woman's doubles championship of the United States by defeating Mrs. Edward Raymond, of New York, and Miss Edna Wildey of Plainfield, in the final match of that section of the woman's national lawn tennis tournament played yesterday on the courts of the Philadelphia Cricket Club. The score was 8-6, 6-2. This makes the third consecutive time that Miss Browne has had a share in winning this title, for, paired with the then Miss Dorothy Green, of Philadelphia, she won that title at the annual tournament in 1912.

The first set today was hard fought, as the score indicates. Mrs. Raymond and her partner had a good chance to win but let it slip by and were utterly routed in the second set, the smooth team play of the champions, backed up by deadly accuracy in their placing, proving too much for the contenders.

DOCTORS' POSTPONEMENT OFFER IS TURNED DOWN

Those at the head of the doctors' baseball team which is scheduled to lineup against the lawyers' combination on Parker Field next Saturday afternoon have offered to postpone the match until some future date owing to the injury sustained by V. W. Nash, Jr., one of the lawyers' most promising pitchers. Considering the fact that the opposition would be materially weakened by the loss of Nash, a representative of the doctors' nine called at his home yesterday and offered the postponement.

Nash would not agree to any change in date inasmuch as all arrangements had been previously made and requested that the contest be staged as announced. He is suffering from a badly sprained ankle, but expects to be back in the game prior to Saturday.

NEW BALL TEAM IN NORTH PLAINFILED

Organized to Play Summer Baseball During the Coming Diamond Season.

Some of the former students and athletes of North Plainfield High School are contemplating organizing a baseball team to play Saturday afternoons during the summer months. Carrol Taylor, the instigator of the plan, has a fine bunch of material in view and a fast nine will undoubtedly be formed. Taylor will probably captain the team and Charles Beckman will do the booking. He would like to hear from teams in this vicinity such as the Klinkers, Park Avenue Baptist, Hope Chapel and the Y. M. A., games to be played on opponents field.

Seven of the players on this year's borough team will play with this new aggregation and several of those who played a few years ago. Smalley will do the catching and the pitching staff will consist of Stahl, Denny and Percy Bailey, the latter being the mainstay of the borough school team during the championship series of 1911. First and second bases will be taken care of by Taylor and Burner, Warren Townley will play the difficult corner and his brother George will probably play shortstop. Dunning will play in left field and Hebert will cover center. The right garden has not yet been filled. Some of the games will probably be played on Hyde Oval. The schedule will start as soon after school stops as possible.

TANG TAKEN OUT OF TANGO.

Dancing Masters Remove Exotic Movements From Maxixe Also.

Cleveland, O., June 13.—Disciples of the tango and the maxixe managed to obtain approval of certain forms of these dances at the convention of the National Dancing Masters' association However, tango fields will hardly recognize the denatured tango approved. and lovers of the maxixe will look in vain for its more exotic movements.

Ten steps of the tango as presented by J. E. Miles of New York and five steps of the maxixe shown by J. G Keane of Chicago were approved.

Ballroom dances approved were Prince's Hesitation, the American Grapevine, the Twinkle waltz, the Scroll Hesitation, the Canter twostep, the canter waltz, the Exeter caprice, the Blue Danube waltz and Sobey's Hesitation.

BALLOON HIT BY LIGHTNING.

Carrier Pigeon Brings Call For Aid From Aeronauts.

Portland, Ore., June 13.—A carrier pigeon taken up with the balloon Million Population when it ascended in yesterday's races arrived with a message saying that the air craft had been struck by lightning and that Captain Berry, the pilot, was seriously injured.

The message added that the balloon was lost in the woods and asked immediate aid.

MEADOW RECLAMATION WOULD BOOM TRADES

Activities in the industrial, building trades and real estate lines may be expected in this country, should the plans for reclaiming of the meadow land along Newark Bay as advocated by the Newark City Planning Commission come to pass. This county has 8,000 feet of meadow land or that section which runs up as far as Bound creek, which would be benefited to a great degree if the plans of the Newarkers be carried out.

This would, no doubt, be the means of a great boom for Elizabeth, but the rest of the county would, undoubtedly, reap a portion of the benefits to be derived from the reclamation of that stretch of land. It is the aim of the Newark Commission to develop the meadow land, and in order to accomplish this, the co-operation of Elizabeth and Union county would be an essential feature of the program.

as directed and required by the Ordinance of the City of Plainfield, entitled "An Ordinance Concerning the Construction and Repair of Sidewalks and Curbs," approved July 15, 1910, as amended, not having been completed, the Common Council of said City has directed such improvement to be made under the direction and supervision of the Street Commissioner, and further directed notice of such contemplated improvement to be given to the owner or owners of any lands thereby affected, and further directed that if such improvement shall not be completed within the time and in the manner directed in this notice, the Street Commissioner shall thereupon forthwith proceed to cause such improvement to be made by the city under his direction, as authorized by said Ordinance and the Act of the Legislature hereinafter referred to. The foregoing is a description of your property affected, sufficiently definite in terms to identify the same and the following is a description of the required improvement, viz., on George Street, Columbia Avenue, Leland Avenue, St. Mary's Avenue, Belvidere Avenue, Sycamore Street, Randolph Road and Morris Street, the construction adjoining said property, of a sidewalk to be laid as directed in said Ordinance (to which ordinance and the record thereof in the City Clerk's Office reference is hereby made for greater certainty), at the expense of the abutting land owners, composed of concrete to be laid in conformity with the specifications for cement sidewalks as set forth in "Standard Specifications for Portland Cement Sidewalks and Curbs," filed in the office of the City Clerk, April 11th, 1910. On Lenox Avenue and Webster Place the construction of a curb, said curb to be of concrete, conruction in conformity with specifications for curbs as set forth in the above mentioned specifications, and laid under the direction of the Street Commissioner. That all return curbs shall have a radius of six feet, no piece to be less than three feet two inches in length.

The Street Commissioners shall give the correct lines and grades in all cases.

Notice is further given that unless said improvement shall be completed within thirty days after the publication of this notice, it is the intention of said City, to make said improvement or cause the same to be made, pursuant to the authority of the Act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, entitled, "An Act to authorize cities to construct and repair sidewalks and curbs, and to provide for the payment of the cost thereof," approved April 13, 1908, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

Proof under oath of the publication or service of this notice will be filed within two days thereafter in the Office of the City Collector, being the officer charged with the duty of making searches for liens.

Said Act of the Legislature provides that in case of non-payment of the charges authorized thereby, the land and real estate subject to the liens of such charges may be sold in the manner provided for the sale of lands for the non-payment of assessments.

News of Interest in Building World

HANDSOME HOME FOR MRS. HUNTSMAN, JR.

Begins Work on $17,000 House on Cedarbrook Road—$1,100 Garage.

The spurt experienced in the building trades last week was no continued to any great extent during the current week. Only one permit was issued, the Second Ward drawing the prize.

Inspector T. O. Doane granted to Mrs. J. F. Huntsman, Jr., a permit for the erection of a two-and-half story frame dwelling on Cedarbrook road south of Watchung avenue, and an eighteen by twenty-five foot frame garage in the rear of the same lot. The dwelling will be a modern structure in every detail, the architecture being in harmony with other dwellings in the vicinity. The heating system will be of the hot-water type and the floors throughout of hard wood. The cost of this house is estimated at $17,000. The house will be situated on a lot containing many trees, and is one of the prettiest home sites to be found in the city. The garage will cost in the vicinity of $1,100. A. L. C. Marsh is the architect, William Pangborn's Sons, the masons, and Wyman & Haberle the carpenters. Work began on Tuesday.

A number of permits are still pending at the office of Inspector T. O. Doane, one of which calls for the erection of a $2,500 dwelling on Bergen street. Another calls for the erection of a dwelling on West Seventh and Division streets for William H. Abbott.

The permits thus far this month aggregate $72,900, as against $113,238 for the entire month of June of last year. It is worthy of note that eight permits have been issued this month for new buildings, and only one for alterations having been granted since June 1. This condition appears to indicate that the money market locally has become somewhat easier, and a better feeling exists in the industrial world.

REALTY RECORDS AT CLERK AND REGISTER OFFICES

Building trades throughout the county continue to make strides in re-gaining normal conditions, and should this action be maintained for any length of time, operations will be on a par with the records of previous years. During the course of last week, copies of fourteen building contracts were filed with the county registrar, calling for the expenditure of $30,784. The largest of these contracts is the one calling for the erection of the St. Vladmir's Catholic church at Elizabeth at a cost of $19,500. Local contracts filed are as follows:

Lucy Van Boskerck with Edwin A. Craig, electric work, new building, Hillside avenue, Plainfield, $372.

Realty transfers recently filed at the office of the county clerk which record transactions of this end of the county are as follows:

William E. Moore, et ux. to Irene DeFerenczy, lot 8, block 32, map of Fanwood Fanwood, $1.

BIG FARM DEAL AT SOUTH STIRLING JUST COMPLETED

One of the largest deals in farm land in this section of recent date, was the transfer of the William Mernagh farm, at South Stirling, to Dr. Edward Schmalz, of Brooklyn, who intends to establish a model dairy at that place. The older buildings are to be replaced by structures of a modern type, which add much to the attractiveness of the establishment. A large concrete cow stable has already been contracted for, and the erection of this and other buildings will be started within the near future.

M. F. GANO'S COMPANY IS DEVELOPING DUNELLEN

What appears to be a shortage of houses which attract the investment on the part of the average skilled mechanic and workman seems to have developed in Dunellen during the past few months, as the vast majority of dwellings erected in the borough in recent years are of a type that put a prohibitive price on the working man home seeker. The development of a tract of land between the tracks of the railroads in the western section of the town by the S. P. Q. R. Company, of which M. F. Gano, of this city is president, has largely overcome this difficulty.

Many of the 400 lots have been sold comparatively recently, especially in the immediate vicinity of the Levgar plant. Mr. Gano reports that $7,000 worth of lots have been sold in the tract during the past two months, and that number of a smaller type of houses to accomodate the mechanics working in the Dunellen shops, are now in the course of erection. Several Plainfield contractors have purchased lots in this tract, and expect to erect dwellings for investment purposes. Mr. Gano also states that the realty business in the neighboring town has been exceptfonally brisk, and he expects to sell the majority of the lots during the year.

MAKING ALTERATIONS.

Former Councilman Duncan W. Taylor, of West Seventh street, is having extensive alterations made about his dwelling on that thoroughfare, the contracts for the work, which improve the property as well as add to its attractiveness having been awarded to Stahl & Kinney, carpenters, of the borough; B. F. Tallamy & Brothers, masons, and E. F. Dorman & Brother, plumbers. This is but one of the several alteration jobs being done in different sections of the city.

REALTY CONDITIONS UNSUALLY DULL

Local Architects Have Little to Do—Few Tracts of Land Sold.

While the building trades of the city and vicinity have been experiencing an upward trend during the past few weeks architects and real estate men claim their business has not, as yet, been awakened from inactivity. This statement is unusual, for the building trades and the architects' work, as a general rule, go hand in hand.

It was said during the week, that the more expensive dwellings for which permits have been issued recently were drawn by out of town architects, while only the minor work was put into the hands of the local men. The records as they appear in the office of Building Inspector T. O. Doane bear out this statement.

A local architect is responsible for the statement that this spring has been the worse season since he came to this city fifteen years ago. The past two weeks, however, seems to indicate that the slack times in the building lines is practically over, and conditions will soon adjust themselves if the upward trend continues for any length of time.

Reports from the office of the Register at Elizabeth bears out the statement of real estate men that the past six or eight months have been months of stagnation as far as conditions in this city are concerned. There have been few realty transfers during the course of that time, and those few have amounted to little insofar as the exchange of money is concerned. Four real estate men interviewed during the past week said that all find the land market very slow at the present time, and unless something of a radical nature occurs, it is probable that the market would remain so for an indefinite time. During the two realty auction sales conducted in this city less than fifty twenty-five foot lots were disposed of although these brought fair prices considering the present industrial conditions.

IN THE SUBURBS

Dunellen.

The property of Augustus F. Sampson, of Washington avenue, has been sold through the agency of John Fedderman to M. F. Scofield, of Yonkers, N. Y. A large dwelling is to be erected on the property after the first of the month.

Herman B. Eckert has started the erection of a dwelling on Third street for investment purposes.

Samuel M. Titus has the carpenter contracts for dwellings to be erected by Charles Smith on Columbia street and Walter Mueller on New Market road. Joseph E. Tetlow has the plumbing contracts for both dwellings.

Henry Wrage, of Walnut street, exchanged eleven lots located in the Netherwood section of Plainfield, for two houses, one on West Third street and the other on Monroe avenue, Plainfield. William Olsen was the second party to the contract.

C. D. Nonemaker, of the borough, has been awarded the contract calling for the concrete work on the new buildings for the Second National Bank, of Somerville.

Warrenville.

H. P. Wood, of New York, has sold his farm on Coontown road to Robert King, who has already taken possession. The greater portion of this farm of eighty acres consists of woodland. The tract also contains a new concrete dwelling, barns, and poultry yards. It is understood that the consideration was $18,000.

Fanwood and Scotch Plains.

Fanwood borough has been enjoying a fair portion of building and realty business during the course of the spring, H. C. Lockwood, of Westfield, developing a large tract and erecting a number of dwellings. The feature of the building trades has been the $14,000 dwelling now in the course of construction at Midway and Hunter avenue. Mr. Minnzebeck, of Richmond Hill, N. Y., is the owner. The house is to be a two and half story, stucco structure. S. E. Ostline, of Brooklyn, is the general contractor.

The Borough of Metuchen has under consideration the erection of a new school house to care for the increase in population.

Carwood will hold an election July 21, to vote on the $9,000 bond issue to care for the proposed new fire house. The Bell Electric Company, of the same place, has recently erected two large additions to their plant.

Margaret A. Harkins has bought at Sheriff sale lots in Beechwood Heights, Piscataway township for $100.

Lincoln Building Syndicate has purchased from Matt Bradley lots in Lincoln for $300.

Samuel Schwartz has bought of Emily Kelly house and lot on west side of Main street, Metuchen.

Rodena Morrison has bought of Wm. B. McLain Realty Co., a plot in Lincoln.

Irene Schellander has bought of the McLain Realty Co., a lot in Lincoln.

Harold M. Dyer has bought of W. M. Ostrander four lots in Lincoln.

George Horney has bought of the Metuchen Realty Improvement Co. a plot in South Plainfield, Maper.

Antonetta Salomone has bought of Abel S. Holcombe lots on the east side of Centre street in the Borough of Metuchen.

Elmer Sofield has bought of Albert H. Sadler a lot in Piscataway township.

R. R. CHANGES AFFECT REALTY.

Dunellen realty agents have received numerous inquiries during the course of the past week for houses and home sites from the employes of the Central Railroad, who were transferred from New York to Philadelphia a few years back, when several of the offices were shifted from Manhattan to the Quaker City. The recent shift of the offices back to the metropolis leads the former residents of the borough to seek quarters in their old home town, and it is anticipated that many of them will again locate there.

Certified Pure Natural Ice

Freezing Purifies Water

Nature's process of crystalization is perhaps not generally known to the consumer of ice. It will no doubt be welcome information that crystalization is the greatest purifying process known to mankind. ICE IS CRYSTALIZED WATER. Nature, in forming these minute crystals of water, selects only one material, water; foreign substances are eliminated to the extent of 90 per cent. leaving the ice chemically on a par with distilled water.

Our ice comes from the POCONO MOUNTAINS from water which is free from contamination and equal to drinking water. Such water crystalized must surely be pure and wholesome.

By Alice Gibson

This design, No. 7445, is an attractive little model for linen, serge or any of the summer wash materials favored for children's dresses. Blue chambray washes well, does not fade and is an excellent material for general wear. If this little dress were made of blue chambray, as a relief, collar and cuffs might be of white eyelet embroidery and white bone buttons could be used to close it. The sleeves are set in to the normal shoulder and may be full length or cut off at the elbow. There is a broad tuck over either shoulder, a pointed collar and a narrow stitched belt. The skirt is in five gores, has an inverted box plait on each side and a panel back. For the child of twelve, this dress requires 3 yards of 36-inch material with ⅜ yard of 27-inch material for collar and cuffs. The pattern is cut in four sizes, 8 to 14.

This is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to give right size, passing the tape around the widest part of the breast, well up under the arms. It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

Some Cookery Suggestions

GREEN PEAS.

WASH the pods of peas before shelling them. Then the peas need not be washed. When crisp and plump peas are delicious.

Put them into a colander and sift out the fine particles before boiling.

Old peas may be made tender by extra cooking, or they may be rubbed through a sieve before serving.

Always break the hulls of peas with the teeth before swallowing them. Otherwise they are indigestible.

Cooked With Cabbage.

Green Peas and Cabbage.—Wash a new cabbage and a few lettuce leaves, a handful of parsley and three or four green onions. Cut into shreds and put into a saucepan with a pint and a half of green peas and a piece of butter. Cover the pan and allow to cook over a slow fire, stirring occasionally to prevent burning. A double saucepan is the best for this. When well cooked season with pepper and salt and serve on a hot dish.

Peas With Mint.—Drop fresh young peas into boiling water with sprigs of mint. Cook, uncovered, until tender. Add half a teaspoonful of powdered sugar, butter and salt to taste and cream if desired.

Green Pea Salad.—Drain liquid from a cupful and a half of well seasoned cold cooked green peas and chill them. When ready to prepare the salad mix with the peas half a cupful of carrot, grated raw, reserving a little to garnish the top. Cover with mayonnaise or a cooked dressing. Serve at once on crisp lettuce leaves.

A Nice Salad.

Vegetable Salad.—Take one cupful of cold peas, one cupful of cold beets, cut in cubes; two cupfuls of boiled potatoes, half of a small onion, chopped fine; six small cucumber pickles, sliced fine; one dozen olives, cut in small pieces; one teaspoonful of salt, the whites of two hard boiled eggs, cut fine. Put all together in a large bowl.

Make dressing as follows: Take two mashed yolks of hard boiled eggs, one yolk of a raw egg and two teaspoonfuls of well mixed mustard. To these add gradually half a pint of olive oil, a spoonful at a time, mixing well with a silver spoon. When mixed it should be the consistency of whipped cream. Thin with one tablespoonful of vinegar. Turn on vegetables, mix lightly with spoon and set on ice until ready to serve.

The Puppy Refused to Eat.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Homesick Puppy Goes Back to Mother.

DADDY had a story about a little dog which he knew would please both the children.

"Would you like to hear of a little dog who was homesick?" he asked.

"Yes," said Evelyn; "we would love to hear about it—that is, if he didn't die of homesickness."

"No, indeed," said daddy; "this little dog didn't die of homesickness, for he was sent home again and then was perfectly happy.

"He was the pet puppy of his mother, and he had told the man who had sold him to a little girl that he didn't want to go.

"The man who sold him thought that the little girl would give him such a nice home, and so she did, but the little puppy wanted more than just a nice home. He wanted his mother.

"Of course the little girl hadn't hesitated a moment about buying him, for he was a beautiful little Boston bull, and she promised him that she would make him so happy.

"He cried piteously at leaving his mother, and she whined and whimpered and begged that he might be allowed to stay. She licked her master's hand, but nothing seemed to do any good.

"Now, when the little girl reached home with her puppy she gave him a great big bowl of the most delicious warm milk and a good puppy biscuit. But the puppy wouldn't touch the milk and biscuit.

"At bedtime the little girl showed the puppy his basket, which was nice and soft and comfortable. She thought that after a good night's rest he would be hungry for his breakfast and feel better.

"But morning came, and the puppy still refused to eat. And, would you believe it, hours passed, and the puppy still would not eat.

"And the little girl decided that the only thing to be done was to take her beautiful puppy back to his mother.

"She ordered her pony cart to be ready for a certain hour, and off she started, holding the puppy by her.

"When the puppy came near his home, and began to see familiar sights it was all she could do to keep him in the cart, and when they were right by his home she could not hold him, for with a bound he was out and frisked and jumped over his mother, and she did the same, looking as if they would almost kill each other in joy.

"'I guess he had better stay home,' said the man.

"'Yes,' answered the little girl; 'this is where he belongs.'"

THE OUTCASTS OF POKER FLAT

By BRET HARTE

BRET HARTE

RICHARD HARDING DAVIS

Twenty-four famous authors were asked recently to name the best short story in the English language. Richard Harding Davis and Wallace Irwin named "The Outcasts of Poker Flat," by Bret Harte, whose complete works are published by the Houghton-Mifflin Company.

PART I.

AS Mr. John Oakhurst, gambler, stepped into the main street of Poker Flat on the morning of the 23d of November, 1850, he was conscious of a change in its moral atmosphere since the preceding night. Two or three men, conversing earnestly together, ceased as he approached and exchanged significant glances. There was a Sabbath lull in the air, which, in a settlement unused to Sabbath influences, looked ominous.

Mr. Oakhurst's calm, handsome face betrayed small concern in these indications. Whether he was conscious of any predisposing cause was another question. "I reckon they're after somebody," he reflected, "likely it's me." He returned to his pocket the handkerchief with which he had been whipping away the red dust of Poker Flat from his neat boots and quietly discharged his mind of any further conjecture.

In point of fact, Poker Flat was "after somebody." It had lately suffered the loss of several thousand dollars, two valuable horses and a prominent citizen. It was experiencing a spasm of virtuous reaction, quite as lawless and ungovernable as any of the acts that had provoked it. A secret committee had determined to rid the town of all improper persons. This was done permanently in regard to two men who were then hanging from the boughs of a sycamore in the gulch and temporarily in the banishment of certain other objectionable characters. I regret to say that some of these were ladies. It is but due to the sex, however, to state that their impropriety was professional and it was only in such easily established standards of evil that Poker Flat ventured to sit in judgment.

Mr. Oakhurst was right in supposing that he was included in this category. A few of the committee had urged hanging him as a possible example, and a sure method of reimbursing themselves from his pockets of the sums he had won for them. "It's agin justice," said Jim Wheeler, "to let this yer young man from Roaring Camp—an entire stranger—carry away our money." But a crude sentiment of equity residing in the breasts of those who had been fortunate enough to win from Mr. Oakhurst overruled this narrower local prejudice.

Mr. Oakhurst received his sentence with philosophic calmness, none the less coolly that he was aware of the hesitation of his judges. He was too much of a gambler not to accept fate. With him life was at best an uncertain game, and he recognized the usual percentage in favor of the dealer.

A body of armed men accompanied the deported wickedness of Poker Flat to the outskirts of the settlement. Besides Mr. Oakhurst, who was known to be a coolly desperate man and for whose intimidation the armed escort was intended, the expatriated party consisted of a young woman familiarly known as "The Duchess;" another, who had won the title of "Mother Shipton," and "Uncle Billy," a suspected sluice robber and confirmed drunkard. The cavalcade provoked no comments from the spectators, nor was any word uttered by the escort. Only when the gulch which marked the uttermost limit of Poker Flat was reached the leader spoke briefly and to the point. The exiles were forbidden to return at the peril of their lives.

As the escort disappeared their pent up feelings found vent in a few hysterical tears from the Duchess, some bad language from Mother Shipton and a Parthian volley of expletives from Uncle Billy. The philosophic Oakhurst alone remained silent. He listened calmly to Mother Shipton's desire to cut somebody's heart out, to the repeated statements of the Duchess that she would die in the road and to the alarming oaths that seemed to be bumped out of Uncle Billy as he rode forward. With the easy good humor characteristic of his class he insisted upon exchanging his own riding horse, Five Spot, for the sorry mule which the Duchess rode. But even this act did not draw the party into any closer sympathy. The young woman readjusted her somewhat draggled plumes with a feeble, faded coquetry. Mother Shipton eyed the possessor of Five Spot with malevolence, and Uncle Billy included the whole party in one sweeping anathema.

The road to Sandy Bar—a camp that, not having as yet experienced the regenerating influences of Poker Flat, consequently seemed to offer some invitation to the emigrants—lay over a steep mountain range. It was distant a day's severe travel. In that advanced season the party soon passed out of the moist, temperate regions of the foothills into the dry, cold, bracing air of the Sierras. The trail was narrow and difficult. At noon the Duchess, rolling out of her saddle upon the ground, declared her intention of going no farther, and the party halted.

The spot was singularly wild and impressive. A wooded amphitheater surrounded on three sides by precipitous cliffs of naked granite sloped gently toward the crest of another precipice that overlooked the valley. It was undoubtedly the most suitable spot for a camp had camping been advisable. But Mr. Oakhurst knew that scarcely half the journey to Sandy Bar was accomplished and the party were not equipped or provisioned for delay. This fact he pointed out to his companions curtly, with a philosophic commentary on the folly of "throwing up their hand before the game was played out." But they were furnished with liquor, which in this emergency stood them in place of food, fuel, rest and prescience. In spite of his remonstrances it was not long before they were more or less under its influence. Uncle Billy passed rapidly from a belligerent state into one of stupor, the Duchess became maudlin and Mother Shipton snored. Mr. Oakhurst alone remained erect, leaning against a rock calmly surveying them.

Mr. Oakhurst did not drink. It interfered with a profession which required coolness, impassiveness and presence of mind and, in his own language, he "couldn't afford it." As he gazed at his recumbent fellow exiles the loneliness begotten of his pariah trade, his habits of life, his very vices for the first time seriously oppressed him. He bestirred himself in dusting his black clothes, washing his hands and face and other acts characteristic of his studiously neat habits, and for the moment forgot his annoyance. The thought of deserting his weaker and more pitiable companions never perhaps occurred to him. Yet he could not help feeling the want of that excitement which, singularly enough, was most conducive to that calm equanimity for which he was notorious. He looked at the gloomy walls that rose 1,000 feet sheer above the circling pines around him, at the sky, ominously clouded; at the valley below, already deepening in shadow. And, doing so, suddenly he heard his own name called.

A horseman slowly ascended the trail. In the fresh, open face of the newcomer Mr. Oakhurst recognized Tom Simson, otherwise known as "the Innocent" of Sandy Bar. He had met him some months before over a "little game," and had, with perfect equanimity, won the entire fortune—amounting to some $40—of that guileless youth. After the game was finished, Mr. Oakhurst drew the youthful speculator behind the door and thus addressed him: "Tommy, you're a good little man, but you can't gamble worth a cent. Don't try it over again." He then handed him his money back, pushed him gently from the room, and so made a devoted slave of Tom Simson.

There was a remembrance of this in his boyish and enthusiastic greeting of Mr. Oakhurst. He had started, he said, to go to Poker Flat to seek his fortune. "Alone?" No, not exactly alone. In fact (a giggle), he had run away with Piney Woods. Didn't Mr. Oakhurst remember Piney? She that used to wait on the table at the Temperance House? They had been engaged a long time, but old Jake Woods had objected, and so they had run away and were going to Poker Flat to be married, and here they were. And they were tired out, and how lucky it was they had found a place to camp and company. All this the Innocent delivered rapidly, while Piney, a stout, comely damsel of fifteen, emerged from behind the pine tree, where she had been blushing unseen, and rode to the side of her lover.

Mr. Oakhurst seldom troubled himself with sentiment, still less with propriety, but he had a vague idea that the situation was not fortunate. He retained, however, his presence of mind sufficiently to kick Uncle Billy, who was about to say something, and Uncle Billy was sober enough to recognize in Mr. Oakhurst's kick a superior power that would not bear trifling. He then endeavored to dissuade Tom Simson from delaying further, but in vain. He even pointed out the fact that there was no provision, nor means of making a camp. But, unluckily, the Innocent met this objection by assuring the party that he was provided with an extra mule loaded with provisions and by the discovery of a rude attempt at a loghouse near the trail. "Piney can stay with Mrs. Oakhurst," said the Innocent, pointing to the Duchess, "and I can shift for myself."

Nothing but Mr. Oakhurst's admonishing foot saved Uncle Billy from bursting into a roar of laughter. As it was, he felt compelled to retire up the canyon until he could recover his gravity. There he confided the joke to the tall pine trees, with many slaps of his leg, contortions of his face and the usual profanity. But when he returned to the party he found them seated by a fire—for the air had grown strangely chill and the sky overcast—in apparently amicable conversation. Piney was actually talking in an impulsive, girlish fashion to the Duchess, who was listening with an interest and animation she had not shown for many days. The Innocent was holding forth, apparently with equal effect, to Mr. Oakhurst and Mother Shipton, who was actually relaxing into amiability. "Is this yer a d—d picnic?" said Uncle Billy, with inward scorn, as he surveyed the sylvan group, the glancing firelight and the tethered animals in the foreground. Suddenly an idea mingled with the alcoholic fumes that disturbed his brain. It was apparently of a jocular nature, for he felt impelled to slap his leg again and cram his fist into his mouth.

As the shadows crept slowly up the mountain a slight breeze rocked the tops of the pine trees and moaned through their long and gloomy aisles. The ruined cabin, patched and covered with pine boughs, was set apart for the ladies. As the lovers parted they unaffectedly exchanged a kiss, so honest and sincere that it might have been heard above the swaying pines. The frail Duchess and the malevolent Mother Shipton were probably too stunned to remark upon this last evidence of simplicity, and so turned without a word to the hut. The fire was replenished, the men lay down before the door, and in a few minutes were asleep.

Mr. Oakhurst was a light sleeper. Toward morning he awoke benumbed and cold. As he stirred the dying fire the wind, which was now blowing strongly, brought to his cheek that which caused the blood to leave it—snow!

He started to his feet with the intention of awakening the sleepers, for there was no time to lose. But, turning to where Uncle Billy had been lying, he found him gone. A suspicion leaped to his brain and a curse to his lips. He ran to the spot where the mules had been tethered. They were no longer there. The tracks were already rapidly disappearing in the snow.

The momentary excitement brought Mr. Oakhurst back to the fire with his usual calm. He did not waken the sleepers. The Innocent slumbered peacefully, with a smile on his good humored, freckled face; the virgin Piney slept beside her frailer sisters as sweetly as though attended by celestial guardians, and Mr. Oakhurst, drawing his blanket over his shoulders, stroked his mustache and waited for the dawn. It came slowly in a whirling mist of snowflakes that dazzled and confused the eye. What could be seen of the landscape appeared magically changed. He looked over the valley and summed up the present and future in two words—"snowed in!"

A careful inventory of the provisions, which fortunately for the party, had been stored within the hut and so escaped the felonious fingers of Uncle Billy, disclosed the fact that with care and prudence they might last ten days longer. "That is," said Mr. Oakhurst sotto voce to the Innocent, "if you're willing to board us. If you ain't—and perhaps you'd better not—you can wait till Uncle Billy gets back with provisions." For some occult reason Mr Oakhurst could not bring himself to disclose Uncle Billy's rascality and so offered the hypothesis that he had wandered from the camp and had accidentally stampeded the animals. He dropped a warning to the Duchess and Mother Shipton, who, of course, knew the facts of their associate's defection. "They'll find out the truth about us all when they find out anything," he added significantly, "and there's no good frightening them now."

Tom Simson not only put all his worldly store at the disposal of Mr. Oakhurst, but seemed to enjoy the prospect of their enforced seclusion "We'll have a good camp for a week, and then the snow'll melt, and we'll all go back together." The cheerful gayety of the young man and Mr. Oakhurst's calm infected the others. The Innocent, with the aid of pine boughs, extemporized a thatch for the roofless cabin, and the Duchess directed Piney in the rearrangement of the interior with a taste and tact that opened the blue eyes of that provincial maiden to their fullest extent. "I reckon now you're used to fine things at Poker Flat," said Piney. The Duchess turned away sharply to conceal something that reddened her cheeks through its professional tint, and Mother Shipton requested Piney not to "chatter." But when Mr. Oakhurst returned from a weary search for the trail he heard the sound of happy laughter echoed from the rocks. He stopped in some alarm, and his thoughts first naturally reverted to the whisky, which he had prudently cached. "And yet it don't somehow sound like whisky," said the gambler. It was not until he caught sight of the blazing fire through the still blinding storm and the group around it that he settled to the conviction that it was "square fun."

Do these headings refer to the acts of acknowledged maniacs and criminals who are supposed to be behind the bars? Not at all, they merely refer to the mildest acts of the fanatics who have been for many months slashing paintings, destroying mail, committing arson at every opportunity, exploding bombs, destroying property, both private and public, distributing vile, immoral literature, desecrating the house of God by howling down services, destroying old Bibles and burning the churches.

All this done to prove their fitness to handle the ballot, to frame and pass laws, to enforce order. Women supposed to be representing the power and ability of their sex to improve upon the work of men in every detail of government.

To work for universal peace, purity and the general uplift of humanity.

How much better methods could they be expected to employ in the exercise of the ballot than those being employed in the effort to get it.

What have we in this country to do with these existing conditions in Great Britain?

How does all this effect the Suffrage question here? It affects it thus: The leaders of these women who founded Militancy, who investigates and plans by act and precept, the violence and depredation of which they are guilty is the dear admired friend, the honored guest of the suffrage leaders in the United States.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, be it not forgotten, declared she was going to study Militant methods with Mrs. Pankhurst that she might be equipped with the necessary knowledge if the Suffragists desired to institute it over here.

She fought the admission of Emmeline Pankhurst to this country. She declared that Militancy would draw the audiences, to Militancy must go the receipts. She engineered Mrs. Pankhurst's movements and tour so as to enable her to take back to the Militants $20,000 to aid them to carry on their "reign of terror."

What would not that $20,000 put through proper channels have done to alleviate the suffering of the poor during the past hard winter. Let any organized institution for the care of the poor, the sick or the helpless answer that question and shame the women who are pretending that their whole desire for the vote is merely as an instrument to be used for the good of humanity in general, women and girls in particular.

Even in Plainfield is the recognition of Militancy—through recognition of its leaders and instigator—when a prominent Suffragist declared that "even is we did not wish to follow Militancy methods Mrs. Pankhurst must be allowed to land and explain them and the reasons for their existence."

If the words of some of the Suffragist leaders are true there is lacking but one thing among their followers to establish Militancy in this country and that one thing is physical courage.

HOAGLAND NAMED AS POSTMASTER

Appointment Confirmed by the Senate Late Saturday Afternoon.

BEGINS TERM JULY 1

Appointee the Fourth Democrat to Hold Office in its History—Succeeds E. H. Bird Who Has Served Sixteen Years.

Alvin E. Hoagland, who was the choice of United States Senator James E. Martine for the appointment of postmaster to succeed Elias H. Bird, as stated exclusively in the

A. E. Hoagland.

Daily Press of May 30, was confirmed late Saturday afternoon, and just as soon as he receives his commission from Washington and qualifies according to the rules of the postal department, he will assume the duties of office. This will probably not be before July 1, as that much time will be required for Mr. Bird to wind up his affair preparatory to retiring from the office he has held for sixteen years.

Since the announcement of the appointment and confirmation of Mr. Hoagland, he has been receiving congratulations from many friends, both Democrats and Republicans. The selection of Mr. Hoagland brings to an end a political contest that was begun almost immediately after the election of Senator Martine. There has been no less than "57" candidates who, through their own efforts as well as those of friends, have sought the coveted prize.

Early in the contest it was expected that Congressman W. E. Tuttle, Jr., would make the recommendation, but later he retired, owing to some differences of opinion, putting the whole matter up to Senator Martine. It was generally understood that Mr. Tuttle intended naming John A. Gaffney for the office, and had it been left to him he doubtless would have sent the latter's name in for the appointment.

Former Councilman Patrick J. Reville was also an aggressive candidate and he became such a strong factor that he succeeded in setting the wheels of the government in motion in his behalf to the extent of having a special investigation made of his record while employed as a letter-carrier here.

At the conclusion of the investigation it was announced that the charges against Mr. Reville which caused his removal from his position were sustained. This eliminated him as a possibility. In the meantime, Senator Martine stated that he would make no recommendation until the Reville case was disposed of. Throughout the whole matter the Senator declined to even intimate who he was likely to name and this kept many candidates on the anxious seat for several months.

More recently those interested in the matter became convinced that Mr. Hoagland would be the man, notwithstanding many rumors to the effect that if named the Senate would not confirm. Questions were raised as to the "regularity" of the candidate as a Democrat, but this appeared to have little weight only in certain quarters.

Mr. Hoagland will be the third Democrat to hold the office in the history, those preceding him being the late William L. Force and John M. Hetfield. Mr. Bird was appointed by President McKinley and entered upon his duties May 28, 1898. He succeeded Mr. Hetfield, who was appointed by President Cleveland, May 11, 1894.

Mr. Hoagland was born and always lived in Plainfield. He attended the local public schools. In later years he succeeded his father in the express business which was established by the latter. He is an active

DEATH OVERTAKES LEGAL FORMALITIES

Charles Robinson Passes Away in State Prison Before Pardon is Received.

Death overtook the slow process of legal formalities, last week, and before the necessary papers could be signed by the Governor bringing release to Charles Robinson colored, of this city, from State Prison, the ravages of pulmonary troubles had accomplished their worst and the prisoner passed away on Saturday, heartbroken over the fact that he had to die in prison.

Robinson was committed to State Prison a year and a half ago on a serious charge. Recently former Mayor G. W. V. Moy, through friends learned that Robinson was dying with tuberculosis. He became interested in the case and last week made every effort to secure the release of the man before he passed away, knowing that he could not live long. All of the legal steps were taken up to securing the actual signature of the Governor granting the man a pardon or parole. There was some delay in getting hold of the Governor and on Saturday the word came that Robinson had passed away.

SERVANT GIRLS BOUGHT MONATON STOCK

Pierre M. Looker, president, and D. Maujer McLaughlin, a director in the Monaton Realty Investing Corporation of New York, appeared Friday before Judge Grubb in the Federal District Court and pleaded not guilty to an indictment charging conspiracy to use the mails to defraud.

The Monaton company is now in the hands of Max Morgenthau, Jr., receiver appointed by Justice Bijur, in the New York State Supreme Court.

The company was incorporated in 1907 by McLaughlin and E. J. McCormack. The latter retired, and Looker became president. It is capitalized at $1,000,000. It then issued a number of different kinds of securities and it also sold its preferred stock on the installment plan.

In marketing these securities the company said it was using its funds to purchase New York real estate, and was earning good profits. It professed to own a number of apartment houses which it is alleged by the Federal authorities were mortgaged to the limit, and could not possibly be run at a profit.

By such representations as these, it is alleged, the company attracted many small investors. Postoffice Inspector Mayhew said that two of the most successful canvassers among persons of small means were Rev. John C. Chapman, a Presbyterian minister, and Rev. Charles E. Nash, a Baptist preacher, who lives at Watchung. They and other canvassers are alleged to have worked through the churches, the fraternal organizations and the Christian Scientists. They are said to have induced servant girls to part with their savings and talked over fathers who were struggling to get together a little money to send their sons to college.

ARRESTED FOR REMOVING BUILDING WITHOUT PERMIT

L. B. Goldstein, of Grove street, the borough, was placed under arrest yesterday by chief Marshall Weiss, for moving a building through the borough streets without the permit. The building was being moved from a lot 300 feet below his place at 196 Grove street, the structure having reached the driveway at the latter point when Chief Weiss reached the scene of the activities, and stopped further progress of the work.

Mr. Goldstein was arraigned this morning before Recorder Fred Hand, and sentenced to pay a fine of $10. The building will have to be moved to its original site, or be torn down. In the meantime, Goldstein's delivery wagon is blocked in the rear yard, and the delivery of orders will be at a standstill until Mr. Goldstein determines as to whether to tear down the structure, or move it back from whence it came.

James Anderson, of Elm place was also before the court, on the charge of being drunk and disorderly. A fine of $5 was imposed. Arthur Jeness, of Bound Brook, was placed under arrest for speeding a motorcycle along Mountain avenue, and was fined $5 when arraigned in court this morning.

"NEVER AGAIN," SAYS JONES TO THE COURT

"Never again," declared Gifford Jones in the city court this morning when arraigned on a complaint filed by his wife, and asked by Judge W. G. DeMeza if he would return home and live with his accuser. According to Mrs. Jones her husband created a rumpus in their home last night following their return from an excursion and she called an officer to have him placed in custody.

Evidence brought out in court showed that one was as much at fault as the other and Judge DeMeza made efforts to satisfactorily adjust the differences. Mrs. Jones expressed a willingness to "give her husband another chance" but the latter couldn't be made to see it. He agreed to provide for the support of Mrs. Jones and their sixteen months' old child.

PISTOL SHOT STOPS BOY LUMBER THIEF

Patrolman Craig Nabs Sixteen Year Old Culprit in the West End.

Charged with stealing lumber from the premises of a building in the course of construction on West Fourth street, Michael Brocco, a sixteen-years-old Italian youth of Watchung avenue, was arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court, this morning, and remanded until Saturday morning, when an accomplice will be brought into court.

Young Brocco was detected in the act of stealing some new lumber by Patrolman Craig and when the culprit found out that he had been discovered he proceeded to make a hasty getaway. Craig gave chase but the boy did not stop until the officer had fired a pistol shot into the air. This brought the fleeing offender to a halt and he was taken into custody.

DECISION RESERVED ON FELLMAN CHARGE

Samuel Schwartz Hailed to Court to Answer Allegations of Competitor.

Samuel Schwartz, of Arlington avenue, a real estate dealer, appeared in the city court this morning, to answer to charges preferred against him by Henry Fellman, of New York city, who alleged that the defendant attacked him on Watchung avenue one afternoon last week. Many witnesses were called by both sides in the matter and evidence brought out showed that the cause of the fued existing between the men was produced by jealousy as the result of real estate transactions.

According to Fellman, the Plainfield man met him at the trolley depot on Watchung avenue and addressed him in an insulting manner. Fellman claims that Schwartz assaulted him when he resented the remarks injuring him so as to necessitate a visit to a local physician.

W. A. Coddington appeared as counsel for the complainant while William Newcorn represented Schwartz. Decision in the matter was reserved until a later date. Schwartz has filed a counter complaint against his accuser and this will be tried in the city court Thursday, July 2.

MISS COHEN BRIDE OF JACOB ABRAMS

Many Guests Witnessed the Wedding of Two Popular Young People.

In the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends, Miss Lillian Cohen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Cohen, of Brooklyn, and Jacob Abrams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Abrams, of Grove street, the borough, were united in marriage last night. The ceremony was performed in Willoughby Mansion, Brooklyn, by Rev. Leventhal, pastor of the Beth Israel Congregation, assisted by Rev. Puscan, of the Ninth Avenue Synagogue, of Brooklyn. The guests in attendance were from Brooklyn, New York, Plainfield and other places within the metropolitan district.

Miss Cohen was attired in a beautiful gown of panpeoria satin, trimmed with imported lace. She also wore an imported Duchess veil. Miss Molly Silverstein, of Brooklyn, acted as maid-of-honor. Her gown was of white material and she carried a shower bouquet of pink roses. The Misses Josie Housman, Jennie Livingston, Essie Housch and Rose Becker, all of whom wore white gowns and carried pink roses were the bridesmaids.

Mr. Abrams was attended by Samuel Cohen, brother of the bride, as best man, while his brother, Hyman Abrams and Louis, James and Henry Cohen acted as ushers.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, an elaborate wedding supper was served during which the young couple were showered with congratulations. In the course of the festivities, Samuel Rothberg, of this city, called the bride and groom before the gathering and made a presentation to each as an evidence of their popularity. Mr. Abrams received a massive silver loving cup from the Children of Israel Congregation of Plainfield, while Mrs. Abrams was given a beautiful solid silver candlebra, the gift of the Beth Israel congregation, of which she is a member. The recipients responded fittingly to Mr. Rothberg's congratulatoryr remarks.

The wedding presents bestowed upon the couple were as numerous as they were beautiful, embracing gold and silver ornaments, cut glass, furniture and checks. At the close of the reception Mr. and Mrs. Arrams took their departure for a three weeks wedding trip to the Thousand Islands. On returning they will reside in a new home on West Front street, opposite Waynewood place, which the bridegroom recently purchased.

Mr. Abrams is considered one of the best known and most popular young men in the city and borough. He was graduated from the North Plainfield High School, class 1911, where he was active in athletics. Since concluding his studies he has been associated with his father in the large shoe business which the latter has conducted on West Front street for many years. Mrs. Abrams is a very charming young woman who is held in high esteem by all who know her. Although always living in Brooklyn, she has many friends in Plainfield and her coming is welcomed by all.

BOYS UNFURL "OLD GLORY"

Son of Donor Given Signal Honor at Mt. St. Mary College.

G. A. R. POST ASSIST

In the presence of a large crowd of invited guests and Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R., thirty-eight in number, the flag presented to Mt. St. Mary College by G. F. Reynolds, of Perth Amboy, was unfurled to the breeze Saturday afternoon at Mt. St. Mary. A pleasing program of musical numbers was rendered by the Dutch Arms Band, of this city, who marched in procession from the entrance of the college grounds to the stand where the exercises were held. The guests of honor early assembled in the spacious reception parlor and the G. A. R. Post was assigned to the lower balcony. Promptly at the appointed hour the processional began around the west wing of the college building, headed by the band after which came in order following, the school children, guests of honor, boy guards and Grand Army veterans, making an imposing sight.

The stand erected near the pole in front of the college arcade was filled with guests and special stand with the G. A. R., the school children filling the highest balcony. The opening numbers of the pleasing order of exercises was the singing of America by the children with band accompaniment. The presiding chairman, Percy H. Stewart, Mayor of Plainfield, was then introduced by the chairman of the committee in charge. The Mayor after expressing the honor he felt in presiding over this patriotic occasion amid such inspiring surroundings delivered a brief and eloquent discourse on "Patriotism and Education." The presenation address and speech of acceptance follows:

Master Morrison, representative of the college of Mt. St. Mary, "I, in behalf of one of its generous benefactors and friends, George F. Reynolds, of Perth Amboy, N. J., present this staff and flag to this worthy institution of religion and learning—with the fond hope that virtue, valor, freedom and space may dwell upon this spot where it may long wave and ever symbolize as it has in the past our devotion to duty and loyalty to our God, our freedom and our native land."

"So ring the bells and fire the guns,
And fling your starry banners out,
Shout Freedom till your lisping ones
Give back the cradle shout."

Master Peterson: "With sincere gratitude and unfeigned joy, I, in behalf of Mt. St. Mary College accept Mr. Reynolds' noble gift and admire the patriotic spirit that prompted his generosity that makes possible the exercises held here today in response to the proclamation of His Excellency Governor Fielder.

"We raise here today the flag of our imperishable Union. The emblem of liberty that we lift aloft is one of the most beautiful ensigns that floats over the earth. That old flag stands for what, after God is dearest in life to us, our friends and our native land. Dear to the heart of every son of liberty are the folds of Old Glory' and long may it wave in unchallenged victory over land and sea and the pride of the American people ever united with one flag—one country—one God and Father of all—Liberty and Union forever."

The flag was then blessed by Rev. Father Baldwin and borne by Masters Reynolds, Radel, Lorenz, Gannon to the staff where the Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R., assisted in raising it to the summit, where its was unfurled by the son of the donor, Master Reynolds amid cheers and pealings of the college bell. The salute and singing of the Star Spangled Banner followed. The Mayor then introduced the Flag Day orator, W. N. Runyon, who after alluding to a "rare day in June," brought his audience to the splendor surrounding them on this June day. He then launched into a brilliant history of the glorious old flag and the sacrefices made to keep it aloft and the blessings it shed from its historic folds, and closed with an exhortation to be loyal to "Old Glory," this above all.

To thy ownself be true,
And it must follow as night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man.

After a patriotic selection by the band, Judge Daly, of New Bruns-

Somerville

John B. Parmelee, aged 45 years, formerly a resident of this place for many years, died suddenly on Friday afternoon at his place of business at Patterson, from acute indigestion. He left here about five years ago to accept a position as secretary and assistant treasurer of the Hamilton Trust Company, at Paterson, his brother, H. H. Parmelee, being the president and treasurer. He is survived by a wife and three children. His wife is the daughter of William C. Hendrickson, of Belle Mead. Mr. Parmelee had a host of friends in this place.

The Children's Day exercises at the several churches all drew large attendances, and the excellent programes prepared for the occasion were all well rendered. The threatened weather of the morning no doubt kept many of the out-of-town people from attending the afternoon services at the Second Reformed church, although the attendance seemed to lack nothing on this account. In the evening the children of the Baptist, First Reformed and Methodist churches held their special services, and all were well attended. Music was the principal attraction at each church, the singing by the children being exceptionally good.

A barn on the rear of the Cornell property on West End avenue, and rented by John Shinkos, was burned to the ground about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and but for the timely work of the fireman another barn, which was threatened, would probably have shared the same fate. Mr. Shinkos succeeded in getting out his horse and carriage, and a few other articles, but the fire had gained such headway when discovered that it was impossible to save the structure, which was a two story frame building. Just what caused the blaze is not known. It was insured. While going to the fire in an auto belonging to William S. Vroom, James V. Smith, a member of Somerville Engine Company, attempted to jump from the machine before it had stopped. He missed his footing and fell, the rear wheel running over him. He was considerably bruised, but not seriously injured. A collision between the Central Hook and Ladder truck and the West End Hose wagon, at the corner of Doughty avenue and Main street, was only averted by the narrowest margin, the horse attached to the latter apparatus being pulled up just in time, but as it was slid for a considerable distance and just missed the rear end of the truck The fire alarm brought out one of the largest crowds to witness the blaze.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Hooey have returned from their wedding trip, and will make their home on East High street.

A meeting of the several committees appointed to undertake the work of "clean-up" week will be held at the engine house, Maple street, tomorrow evening, at 8 o'clock.

William L. McMahon was a visitor in New York city yesterday.

A fellow who gave his name as Frank King and said he hailed from Jersey City, was arraigned before Recorder David S. Campbell in the borough hall on Saturday on the charge of being drunk, and was given a suspended sentence of $5 or ten days in the county jail. King was arrested by Marshal Tarpey in front of the Linke building on North avenue at 11 o'clock Friday night.

Walter Elliott, Jr., the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Elliott, of Center street, has been ill since three weeks or more ago. His parents are inclined to think that the nature of his trouble was caused by playing baseball.

Charles B. Lake, of Jersey City, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dodwell, of Jackson avenue, at whose home his wife and son have been staying for the past month.

Robert F. Bogardus of New Market road, entertained his sister, Mrs. Cora S. Hawley and nephew, Arthur S. Hawley, of New York city, over the week-end.

Eddie Hannon returned on Saturday night from Gloversville, N. Y., where he was playing first base for the crack Danforth nine. Eddie returned because the money that he was getting for playing ball was insufficient to cover his expenses. The players on the Danforth nine outside of the battery are all paid a certain per cent. of the net gate receipt basis. The Danforths have been playing big league clubs this year and after a large guarantee has been paid to these clubs little has remained to be divided among the players. During the two weeks that Hannon was at Gloversville he played six games. He walloped the "pill" for the grand average of .471 during these games and accepted 65 chances out of 66 at first base for an average of .985. A week ago Sunday the Danforths played the Chicago Cubs. Pierce and Needham were in the points for the Cubs. Six hits were obtained off of Pierce, Hannon obtaining one of them. After the game Heinie Zimmerman, the famous third sacker of the Cubs, walked up to Eddie and after shaking hands with him said: "You played a good game, kid, keep it up." Eddie will resume his trade of plumbing and play ball hereabouts, presumably on the local team for a while at least.

Mrs. Frank Broshart, of Front street, is recovering from an attack of chills and fever, but her baby has been taken ill now.

A large congregation that overflowed into the gallery greeted the children in their celebration of Children's Day at the Presbyterian church yesterday morning. The church was decorated with flags, ferns and flowers, the work of the decorating committee of the Christian Endeavor Society of the church. The children of the junior department under the direction of Mrs. C. B. Mattis, showed evidence of the careful training they had received in the excellent way they rendered the various parts assigned to them. The intermediate department under the direction of Mrs. George Caskey had more difficult pieces than ever before, and yet all were perfect in them. A very pleasant feature of all the Children's Day services is infant baptism. Four of the parents of the church presented their children in this holy ordnance. Brief addresses were made by the superintendent, George Cameron, and the pastor, Rev Ernest R. Brown. At the evening service the pastor to still carry out the thought of the morning, preached from the text, Matt. 18;2-3, and Jesus called a little child unto him, and set him in the midst of them, and said, Verily I say unto you except ye be converted, and because of little children, ye shall not enter into the Kingdom of Heaven.

There was a good sized attendance at the Children's Day service in the First Baptist church, of New Market, last evening. What attracted the eye of all who attended was the appearance of the pulpit which had been artistically decorated by the members of the John M. Dayton Sunday-school class. Among the children who took part in the exercises were Bertram Voorhees, who recited "When I Grow;" Evelyn Smalley, who recited "Outgrowing Her Clothes," and Amy Williams, who recited "We Givers." Towards the close of the exercises Rev. T. R. Vassar gave a short but exceptionally excellent talk. The music was beautiful. Miss Edith Giles, the pianiste, was accompanied by Archie LaRue, son of Tax Collector and Mrs. W. R. LaRue.

The Children's Day exercises in the Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning, were very well attended. The services consisted of recitations by the children, songs by the school, selections by the choir and a duet by the Misses Lillie Kennedy and Florence Smalley, interspersed by the pastor's short address of welcome. The district superintendent, Rev. F. J. Hubach, of Plainfield, surprised the school by making an unexpected visit during the service. He was called upon for a few remarks and responded in a very pleasing manner. The church was decorated with various kinds of flowers. A novel feature was the innovation of canary birds into the service. Two cages were hung in the front of the auditorium on either side. The birds sang almost continually and made the occasion more joyous than ever.

The Fourth of July celebration committee of the Board of Trade meets in the borough hall this evening.

This evening the two class plays, "Friday Afternoon in a Village School" and the "Gift Horse," will be given by the graduating grade of the Whittier School in that school at 8 o'clock.

THE WANAMAKER SILK ROTUNDA ANNOUNCES

The Most Important Sale of Summer Silks

(In Full Pieces, By the Yard)

Presented in New York This Season

It opens tomorrow, Tuesday, June 16, at 8.30 in the morning.

It covers the regular Silk Rotunda, the lower Silk Rotunda, the Main Aisle and space at the Subway Entrance.

It involves about one-fourth of our stock—presenting 101,000 yards, of which 38,950 yards are black silks.

It Is a Typical Wanamaker Sale

The silks are Wanamaker standard. Where they are not from our regular stocks they are from our regular manufacturers.

No "auction" silks, no tender silks; nothing that we cannot guarantee to give satisfaction.

The Weaves and Patterns Are Those Wanted Now

With the exception of a few high novelty silks (offered greatly below their original prices) every yard of the 101,000 yards in the sale is brand-new this season.

Plenty of Cool Silks

There are cool tub silks for as little as 75c a yard, 33 inches wide, of a grade that goes into $5 silk shirts.
Last week this same quality sold here for $1.25 yard.

Up to last week this quality sold here for $1.10, $1.50 and $2.

Until recently this grade sold here and elsewhere for $1 and $1.50.

Stripe habutai from Japan—$1.15 a yard—cool, brilliant and durable, nine and ten-momme weave.
Imported and sold by us at $1.50 this past week.

Earlier these same foulards were $2 and $2.50.

Plenty of Crepes

Double width—colored crepes at $1.25 yard, that the French call "Everlasting" because they wear so well—variously termed cascadeuce, ripple crepe or crepe ruisselet.
Our lowest price until now has been $2.50 yard.

Crepe craquelle at $1.10 yard, in a complete range of 50 colors specially dyed for us.
These are arranged in dress-lengths, and the nearest comparison we could find in the market today was one a little heavier at $2 and $2.75, and one a little lighter at $1.25.

American crepe chinois, silk and wool, $1.68 yard—in 20 popular colors, 40 and 44 inches wide, a weave well adapted for tourists wear.
We ourselves sold this silk for $2.50 yard so late as last week.

The Novelty Silks Are In Wrap and Dress Lengths

Three lots:

1. One group of Lyons novelties now marked $3.85 and $5.50 yard and called last week of a well-known New York woman of fashion; "irresistible"—the most charming silks I have seen."
The nearest we could find Saturday by shopping around the city were marked $6.50.

2. A collection of French and American printed crepes, chantungs and fleur de soie, 75c yard.
The nearest we could find—perhaps a little better patterns—at one store were $2.97, at another $1.55; at a third, $1.49—the same.

3. Imported broche crepes, $5.50 yard.

The Black Silks Are Remarkable, Indeed

When a third of the women abroad and in America are wearing cool black gowns we offer these standard staple black silks at wholesale prices and less.

Black voile nippon, 38c yard, a cool American silk specially designed for the hot days of July and August.
It has been sold here until now for $1.25 a yard.

Black suiting silks for distinguished gowns.

Cote de cheval at $2.50 a yard especially designed for us. Earlier it was $4 here.

Imported tussah at $1.85 a yard. Earlier it was $3.50.

Satin-back poplin, $1.65 a yard. Until recently it was $4.50 here.

Moire velours at $1.95 and poplin matellasse at $1.85—both excellent for tailored gowns.
The former sold here recently for $3, the latter from $2.50 to $4

Even more durable black silks in the sale are:

Meteor Kasimir at $1.68 a yard.
Sold here until recently for $2.25.

Drap Liberte at $1.45 a yard.
Sold here until recently for $2.

French fleur de soie at $1.45 a yard.

India twill, American-made, 90c a yard.
Both the latter less than wholesale price.

Black crepes are even more popular than colored crepes—these are in the sale:

Black ripple crepe, $1.25 a yard; imported crepe Seduisant, $1.85 a yard; crinkle crepe, $1.35 a yard; Canton crepe, $1.95 a yard; French crepe chinois, 95c a yard.
All these by actual comparison are shown to be lower in price than similar grades in other stores today.

Black Cape Satin, $2.45 a Yard

—so popular today for capes and wraps—is an excellent silk at $2.45 yard—actual comparison shows that other stores are selling this quality for $4 and $4.75.

This is the Silk Rotunda's Third Birthday

Three years ago silks moved down from upstairs and assumed the prestige that begun as far back as A. T. Stewart's day.

Then began a new era in silks. Then began a distribution of silks that exceeded anything so far known.

The silk eye of New York and vicinity was focused on this store.

To show our appreciation of the great patronage that has come to us in these three years we have inaugurated this birthday sale—to continue all week.

After careful comparison with what other good retail stores are offering, we announce, with full knowledge, that this is the most important sale of summer silks this season.

It is only fair to add that we could not quote the extremely low prices were not the silk market in a condition for favorable operations.

K. OF P. ATTEND DIVINE SERVICE

Perseverance Lodge Hears Eloquent Discourse at First Presbyterian Church.

SERMON ON "CHARITY"

Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring Bases His Talk on the Principles of the Order and Points Out True Meaning of Charity.

Members of Perseverance and Unity Lodges, No. 74, Knights of Pythias, of this city and other lodges in district No. 20, attended divine service at the First Presbyterian church, last evening, it being the annual memorial service of the order. There was a large delegation present to hear an appropriate sermon by Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, the pastor.

Dr. Herring took for his theme the second of the great principles of the order, "charity," the three being friendship, charity and benevolence. In part, the speaker said:

"True Pythian charity I learn consists in construing the words and acts of another in the least unfavorable light and in not rejoicing in the faults and weakness of those whom we call our brothers.

"There are so many people who regard themselves as Christians have cultivated in themselves a spirit of unfairness in dealing with their fellows so that they are ready to pass judgment upon them without complete evidence and it is well therefore to hold up this ideal of Charity for our daily mediation. In other words that I will put my friend's words and deeds in the most favorable light.

"This is Charles Kingsley's description of a friend. A friend is,

"One human soul whom we can trust utterly. Who knows the best and worst in us. Who loves us in spite of our faults. Speaks honest truth to us while the world flatters us to our face and laughs behind our backs, counsels and reproves our doings in the days of prosperity and conceit, comforts and encourages us in the days of difficulty and sorrow when the world leaves us to battle as we can.

"Such a friend as this will possess this noble virtue of charity. Why is it not possible for all of us to emulate these great ideals. The world is dying for this charity which is but another name for Christian love.

"One of the great causes of unhappiness in the world is the tendency of humanity to construe the words and deeds of our friends in the most favorable light. It may start with something like this, 'Mr. So and So said this about you.' Well the remark is by no means commendatory, but it may be that the remark if told with all the attendant circumstances would not be quite so disparaging. The conveyor of the bit of gossip has probably presented the matter in the most unfavorable light.

"It is so frequently the case in life that we see as we want to see. Charlotte Corday, one of the great characters of the French Revolution was said by one of her critics to have possessed a skull which indicated that she was a debased character, while Lamartine the historian called her the angel of the Revolution."

CHARLES D. CLEVELAND TO LECTURE ON POULTRY

Charles D. Cleveland, secretary of the Madison Square Garden Poultry Show, will be the speaker at the monthly meeting of the New Jersey Association for Poultry Improvement, Wednesday evening. Mr. Cleveland is a well known authority on poultry, and his address should be a profitable one as well as interesting.

Several matters of importance are to come before the formal session of the association, among which is the setting of the date and place for the annual demonstration of caponizing. All interested in poultry are invited to attend this gathering.

BOROUGH STUDENTS WILL TAKE EXAMS THIS WEEK

The final examinations of the year for the North Plainfield High School started this morning and will end Thursday morning. As was the case in the mid-year, two exams will be given the first two days, and one on Wednesday and Thursday. The entire school will assemble each morning as usual and regular recitations will take place for one hour. Then all will be excused from school except those who have to go through the tests. The afternoon examinations will begin at 1:30 o'clock.

An exceedingly small percentage of the students have to take the exams this half and there were only four seniors out of twenty-five who were not totally exempt. The senior exams took place last week.

—If you have a really desirable house or apartment to rent, your "ad" will constitute GOOD NEWS to some anxious people in this city.

as directed and required by the Ordinance of the City of Plainfield, entitled "An Ordinance Concerning the Construction and Repair of Sidewalks and Curbs," approved July 15, 1910, as amended, not having been completed, the Common Council of said City has directed such improvement to be made under the direction and supervision of the Street Commissioner, and further directed notice of such contemplated improvement to be given to the owner or owners of any lands thereby affected, and further directed that if such improvement shall not be completed within the time and in the manner directed in this notice, the Street Commissioner shall thereupon forthwith proceed to cause such improvement to be made by the city under his direction, as authorized by said Ordinance and the Act of the Legislature hereinafter referred to. The foregoing is a description of your property affected, sufficiently definite in terms to identify the same and the following is a description of the required improvement, viz., on George Street, Columbia Avenue, Leland Avenue, St. Mary's Avenue, Belvidere Avenue, Sycamore Street, Randolph Road and Morris Street, the construction adjoining said property, of a sidewalk to be laid as directed in said Ordinance (to which ordinance and the record thereof in the City Clerk's Office reference is hereby made for greater certainty), at the expense of the abutting land owners, composed of concrete to be laid in conformity with the specifications for cement sidewalks as set forth in "Standard Specifications for Portland Cement Sidewalks and Curbs," filed in the office of the City Clerk, April 11th, 1910. On Lenox Avenue and Webster Place the construction of a curb, said curb to be of concrete, contruction in conformity with specifications for curbs as set forth in the above mentioned specifications, and laid under the direction of the Street Commissioner. That all return curbs shall have a radius of six feet, no piece to be less than three feet two inches in length.

The Street Commissioners shall give the correct lines and grades in all cases.

Notice is further given that unless said improvement shall be completed within thirty days after the publication of this notice, it is the intention of said City to make said improvement or cause the same to be made, pursuant to the authority of the Act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, entitled, "An Act to authorize cities to construct and repair sidewalks and curbs and to provide for the payment of the cost thereof," approved April 13, 1908, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

Proof under oath of the publication or service of this notice will be filed within two days thereafter in the Office of the City Collector, being the officer charged with the duty of making searches for liens.

Said Act of the Legislature provides that in case of non-payment of the charges authorized thereby, the land and real estate subject to the liens of such charges may be sold in the manner provided for the sale of lands for the non-payment of assessments.

CLASS DAY AT YALE.

New Haven, Conn., June 15.—Class day, the most conspicuous social event of the college year, was observed at Yale today. Beginning with the Class day exercises of the Sheffield Scientific School seniors this morning, the members of some department of the university in the class of 1914 were in the campus spotlight throughout the day. At 2 p. m. the graduates of the college proper assembled to listen to the final declamations of their members as students of the university, to hear the class oration and poem and to witness the planting of the Class Ivy. Later in the afternoon the Medical School celebrated its centenary in Woolsey Hall, with addresses by President Hadley, Dr. Walter R. Steiner, of Hartford, and Prof. William H. Howell, of Johns Hopkins University. At the anniversary exercises of the Law School the principal address was delivered by Judge Alton B. Parker, of New York.

CLASS DAY AT PRINCETON.

Princeton, N. J., June 15.—The week of festivities and ceremonies incident to the commencement season at Princeton University was ushered in today by the class celebration. The principal events of the day, following the program prescribed for the occasion by the custom of many years were the planting of the Class Ivy in front of Nassau Hall, followed by the Ivy oration, and the cannon exercises in the quadrangle.

PRESSMEN IN SESSION.

Rogersville, Tenn., June 15.—Delegates from many parts of the United States and Canada assembled here today for the annual convention of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union of North America. The sessions are being held at the home maintained by the organization here and will continue for a week or ten days. Among those in attendance at the opening session was G. A. Isaacs, general secretary of the Operative Printers and Assistants of Great Britain, who was present as a fraternal delegate from his organization.

BROWN CELEBRATES CLASS DAY.

Providence, R. I., June 15.—Tocay the third of Brown University's commencement, was marked by Class Day exercises by the class of 1914. The exercises were held on the campus this afternoon and consisted of an address by Robert S. Holding, Jr., of Lewiston, Me., president of the senior class; the class oration, by Nahum Merrill of Chicago, and the class poem, by Allan L. Langley, of Newport.

THE DAY NURSERY FUND.

The King's Daughters' Day Nursery for children is founded upon human sympathy. The heart must ever go with the purse; love for brother and consideration for the suffering and unfortunate temper the giving. For another summer season, the work has been started and, as human sympathy ever grows greater, new records are being set.

Twenty-four years ago, an Indianapolis editor, moved by the sufferings of his own child despite its fashionable surroundings, considered the condition of youngsters less happily situated and wrote an editorial —"Lord who is my neighbor?" Four days later, the Summer Mission for Sick Children was established in that city and has flourished ever since with ever growing success and enlargement of work. The work has spread until every city in the country has some institution of the kind.

The Day Nursery in Plainfield is a hospital, dispensary, home and playground, where sick babies may be rescued from death, nourished back to health and given an opportunity to better brave the battles of life. Hundreds of little lives have been saved as a result of its work. Many fathers and mothers declare the Nursery has made their homes happy for the future years. The Nursery has a splendid permanent building and a playground well equipped, trees and lawns. Visitors always are welcome, and every citizen by aiding the movement shares in the credit for it and for the lives it preserves in summer.

This year the response to appeals for funds to aid the work have neither been as frequent or as liberal as in the past. Surely no Plainfielder can begrudge the few dollars which will do so much toward building up the weaker tots, who are unable to help themselves. The Daily Press will gladly receive and acknowledge all contributions to the cause, and forward them to the proper authorities at the home.

After long and vexatious delay, so far as the large number of candidates for the place were concerned, Senator Martine has at last had Alvin E. Hoagland appointed and confirmed as postmaster, to succeed Elias H. Bird. While there will be some carping critics, as there always are, the appointment is a good one. Mr. Hoagland has been a resident of the city all his life, is well known to hundreds of residents, and enjoys a personal reputation second to none. One argument which was given as a reason why he should not be appointed, we are told, was because he has never taken an active part in politics, and therefore was not entitled to the place. That sort of an argument is really in his favor. It shows that Senator Martine was determined to have a business man in the place, and one who would not under any circumstances be swayed by political considerations. We extend our congratulations to the new postmaster, ane hope with hundreds of other citizens that he will have as successful an administration of the office as has been the case with his predecessor.

In reporting a speech made by Rev. Charles A. Eaton at the Seminary commencement last week, the Daily Press made it appear that the speaker attacked woman suffrage. His remarks were directed entirely at the militants, whose methods he opposes, as do thousands of other Americans who believe in votes for women. Dr. Eaton is not opposed to the women having the vote where they secure it by peaceful means, but he did vigorously condemn militancy.

At the same time that Plainfield gains a new postmaster, it loses a very valuable and faithful public official in Elias H. Bird. Whatever he may decide to do in the future he will carry with him the friendship and good wishes of thousands of Plainfielders.

Judging from the vaporings appearing on the sporting page of a local newspaper the sporting editor is a great deal lighter in his head than he is on his feet.

FIREMAN ROBINSON IS BADLY BURNED

Fire, the origin of which is a mystery was discovered in the upper part of C. C. Burke's large barn on Ravine road, at 6 o'clock, yesterday morning, and despite the prompt response of the fire department, the entire roof and upper flooring of the structure were destroyed. Three valuable horses, wagons, harness, etc., were rescued before the flames had a chance to reach the lower part of the barn.

Mrs. Fred Winn, of East Sixth street, who first learned of the fire, telephoned to Captain Fitzpatrick at No. 4 house on South avenue, informing him that Mr. Burke's barn was in a blaze. The apparatus from that house was sent to the scene and in the meantime Fire Chief Doane dispatched No. 2 apparatus there.

The long distance from the barn to the nearest hydrant is so great that the firemen were handicapped to some extent. Neighbors turned out and joined in the rescue work. Joe Robinson of No. 4 house, and William Jaeger of No. 3 house, who was on his way to breakfast, had narrow escapes, the former being badly burned about the face and hands with a back draft while standing on a ladder with Jaeger and holding a line of hose. He was treated by Dr. Pittis and will be off duty for a few days. Fire Chief Doane estimated the total damage on the barn at $500

VISIT GRAVES OF DEPARTED MEMBERS

Crescent Company, No. 13, Uniformed Rank, Knights of Pythias, thirteen strong, journeyed to Portchester, N. Y., yesterday, where they decorated the graves of William E. and Harvey Patterson, two departed brothers of the local company.

The Plainfielders were met by a delegation of the Portchester Lodge, No. 8, who escorted them to the lodge rooms, where lunch was served the visiting company. A parade followed, the fraternity men being headed by Marshal Charles E. Weir, Captain Laten, and Chief of Police Edgar Lancing. The trip to Rye cemetery was made by special trolley. Here, the ritualistic work over the graves of the former Plainfielders was conducted by Captain J. E. Flannery and Oliver O. Peirson.

After the ceremonies at the cemetery, the local men were entertained by the Portchester Lodge at a shore dinner at the Rye Beach Hotel in honor of Captain Flannery's birthday.

Crescent Company, No. 13, will conduct the memorial day exercises at the local cemeteries next Sunday afternoon, at which time the Portchester Lodge, together with a K. of P. band of twenty-five pieces will return the visit of yesterday.

BALL PLAYERS INJURIES.

Albert Tucker and Herman Stein, a pair of baseball players who were playing with the ball team representing the Jersey City Lodge of Moose, were taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, yesterday afternoon, as the result of slight injuries. Mr. Tucker was taken to the institution as the result of a shock brought about by another of the players running into him but was discharged shortly after arriving at the hospital. Mr. Stein had a finger sprained, and after the member was dressed he was also discharged.

A. H. STIGLITZ A GRADUATE.

Andrew H. Stiglitz, of the Plainfield Trust Company, was graduated last Wednesday from the commercial department of New York University, receiving the degree of bachelor of commercial science. He also made the Delta Sigma Pi, being a professional fraternity. Mr. Stiglitz has been employed at the Plainfield Trust Company for some time, completing his studies out of regular business hours.

EMPLOYE'S ANNUAL OUTING.

Councilman Theodore Martin gave the annual outing to his employes yesterday, a trip being made to South Beach in Mr. Martin's large automobile van. There were thirty-nine in the party, including the men and their wives. At South Beach a fine shore dinner was enjoyed, after which the afternoon was spent playing games. The return was made early in the evening.

GOING TO TRENTON.

Members of the Jr. O. U. A. M., of this city are planning to go to Trenton on Saturday to take part in a big patriotic demonstration of societies from all parts of the State. The Plainfielders will make the trip to and from Trenton in Councilman Theodore Martin's large automobile van, making a stop at Princeton, en route to visit the college buildings.

HEARING ON HOOD ALIMONY PETITION

Counsel for Mrs. Hood Made Application This Morning at Newark in Case.

Testimony is being taken in the Court of Chancery in Newark today before ViceChancellor Stevens in Mrs. Richard Haden Hood's suit for temporary alimony from the time she was first separated from her husband until the court makes an order compelling Hood to supply a stipulated sum at regular intervals. An opinion offered to the court by Judge Whittemore placed Hood's assets at the present time at $330,235, less a possible $153,103.32. The latter amount is a judgment found against him in a suit brought by his former partner, Charles Meade.

Robert H. McCarter, counsel for Mrs. Hood, contended in court this morning that the Meade judgment was an illegal one, being brought merely for the purpose of defrauding Mrs. Hood. He claimed that the former partner and Hood conspired to make it appear as though the defendant was insolvent, and making it impossible for the court to grant Mrs. Hood any large alimony. Mr. McCarter attacked the character of Mr. Hood's former partners and suggested that some action be taken to determine the legality of the suit. The appraisal of the defendant's estate by Judge Whittemore is based on statistics of 1912.

Chauncey G. Parker, counsel for Hood, contends that inasmuch as Mrs. Hood was able to conduct the large estate here without alimony up to this time she is not entitled to any back money.

ELKS HOLD IMPRESSIVE FLAG DAY EXERCISES

Plainfield Lodge of Elks held a beautiful and impressive Flag Day service in the clubhouse last night. It was for the members only, but on account of the inspiring nature of the program and the excellent result of the ideas they will probably be of a public nature next year. Paroubek's orchestra furnished patriotic music and former Judge William N. Runyon delivered an excellent oration on "Old Glory." The history of the country's flag was read by Frank Rowley. The audience also sang national songs and "Uld Lang Syne."

The committee in charge of the exercises was composed of V. W. Nash, Jr., S. P. T. Wilbur and Fred Masker.

LOCAL CONCERN WINS.

Announcement was made by the Chilian government, Saturday that the first prize of $20,000 in the recent international contest conducted by the country's president for the best design of a work shop had been awarded to the Niles-Bement-Pond Company, of New York city, of which the Pond shop of this city is one of the plants. Second and third prizes were awarded to English and Belgian concerns, respectively. The first prize design will be used in the construction of Chile's new government railroad shops.

WALPOLE SENTENCED TO TERM IN ELMIRA

Arraigned on Naylor Charge Before Judge Rosalsky in New York Today.

Lynus Walpole, Jr., the Scotch Plains youth who was implicated in the Ruth Naylor abduction case in this city recently, was sentenced to the Elmira reformatory by Judge Rosalsky in Part IV, General Sessions this morning. Arraigned in the New York court Walpole pleaded guilty to charges of assault and abduction, two of the three counts brought against him by the Grand Jury in an indictment.

Walpole's term, taking good behavior into consideration, will probably extend for fourteen months.

CHANGE POSITIONS BUT NOT PLAYERS IN POLO

Official Announcement That Rene La Montague Will Play Tomorrow.

New York, June 15—Official announcement was made at the office of William A. Hazard, secretary and treasurer of the Polo Association that the lineup of the American team for tomorrow's contest would be: No. 1, Rene La Montagne; No. 2, J. M. Waterbury; No. 3, Lawrence Waterbury; back, Deveroux Milburn. The committee discussed the question of playing Mr. Stevenson at No. 3 position, but Mr. Milburn was of the opinion that it is better to play Lawrence Waterbury there. The committee was fully convinced that retaining Mr. La Montagne in No. 1 position was better than any other selection that might be made for the position.

BAD FAITH IN PEACE NEGOTIATIONS DENIED

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 15—Various accusations of bad faith on the part of the Americans were met today by the following statement dictated to a represenative of the Central News by Mediators Naon and Gama. "The mediators cannot consider the imputation of bad faith on the part of either the American or Mexican governments since both have conducted themselves, during the whole mediation, in the most correct and honorable manner." Senor Naon will leave tonight to attend to some personal matters.

PHILLIPS A DELEGATE.

President James H. Dahm, of Typographical Union No. 6, of New York City, has appointed W. BOYS UNFURL "OLD GLORY"

wick, gave a dedicatory address. He showed in his own forcible manner how the liberty for which the flag stands is as old as the human race then coming to the establishment of this, our own nation, he portrayed the advantages and blessings our forefathers enjoyed and told his audience in unmistaken word the heritage of the present generation was more priceless than all. He alluded to elements at work to destroy this heritage and the answer tonununu who would so depreciate and belie the grand meaning of Old Glory was found in eloquent terms in the remnant of the veterans of the civil strife before Him, who without distinction of race or creed made untold sacrifices to keep the Stars and Stripes unfurled over the nation. The time was also given then in the band of consecrated women under whose auspices and over whose institution Old Glory now was raised. Flag raising differs with surroundings and he felt the environment blending with today's ceremonies made an occasion that was sublime and inspiring beyond measure.

After the exercises the college entertained at a light luncheon, the G. A. R. Post and the invited guests, among whom were the Mayor of Plainfield and members of the Common Council, Fire Chief Doane, of Plainfield fire department; Chief McCullough, of the borough fire department; Mayor Gannon, of Perth Amboy; Judge Daly, Judge Runyon, D. T. Kenney and members of the committee.

DEATH OF PROMINENT SOMERVILLE MERCHANT

J. B. Losey, for Thirty-two Years Resident of That Town, Passes Away.

Joseph B. Losey, aged seventy-one years, long a prominent resident of Somerville, and a member of the well-known firm of Tunison & Losey, last night. He had been detained at home for a month with heart trouble. He became a resident of Somerville thirty-two years ago. He accepted temporary employment with Tunison & Kuhl, at that time located in the building on South street, now occupied by W. M. Hoey.

A little later Mr. Losey purchased the interest of M. Kuhl and the firm became Tunison & Losey. On the death of Mr. Tunison the firm changed to Losey & Maxwell. On October 1, 1902 Mr. Losey sold out but again assumed the business in February, 1903, and on March 4, of that year the firm became Losey & Alpaugh, and following the death of Mr. Alpaugh, on March 1, 1905, Mr. Losey again became sole owner, continuing up to the time of his death.

Mr. Losey was born in Hunterdon county, where he spent his early life. He is survived by a wife, his daughter dying a few years ago. The funeral will be held at the Baptist church, Somerville, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. For many years he was connected with the social and civic life of Somerville.

WAWAYANDA LEADERS' MEETING LARGELY ATTENDED

C. W. Bingeman, of the local Y. M. C. A., attended the Camp Wawayanda leaders' meeting in East Orange on Saturday. The meeting was given by the mothers of the East Orange boys, who had been at the camp, at the home of Irving Baldwin. About thirty delegates were present representing the Y. M. C. A.'s of the northern part of New Jersey. Charles T. Kilbourn, chairman of the Boys' Work Committee, presided.

The leaders outlined the program for the summer at Wawayanda and considered other questions concerning the camp. The meeting was held on the beautiful Baldwin lawn and refreshments were served, following the speeches, under the trees. Fourteen boys in charge of Carrol Taylor and A. W. Hauck will leave for Camp Wawayanda July 9th with the first section.

FUNERAL OF JOHN DAY IS LARGELY ATTENDED

The funeral services of the late John Day of the borough were held Saturday morning at St. Joseph's R. C. church where a solemn requiem mass was offered. Rev. CANVASS A SUCCESS.

The every member canvass was made yesterday at Trinity Reformed church, and was a complete success in every way. While the reports of the twenty-five two-men teams have not been compiled as yet, informal returns from several of the teams indicate that sufficient subscriptions have been received to wipe out the small deficit from last year, as well as meet the budget of the present fiscal year of the church. The committee of the canvass is more than pleased by the responses made by the congregation.

1,000 FANS SEE TEAMS BATTLE TO A TIE IN GREATEST SCHOOLBOY GAME EVER PLAYED ON A LOCAL FIELD

For enthusiasm a world's series ball game had nothing on the all-important contest staged on Parker Field, Saturday afternoon, before a cosmopolitan gathering of baseball fanatics of every degree, size, shape and nationality. As if to demonstrate and prove their reasons for fighting for every little advantage that has arisen during the time that has intervened between the second and third North Plainfield-Plainfield High Schools' Interscholastic League meetings, the contending forces battled on an even keel, kiving and taking during the first six rounds and then relapsing into a coma that was relieved only by the darkness that appeared in the heavens around the seventh hour. During the fifteen long innings the fued reigned, 1,000 curious onlookers followed with an eager intentness every move made by the eighteen players.

A resounding whack from the bat of a player was the cause of wild shouting, the tooting of automobile horns and the breaking of hats, while a snappy play in the field was likewise given its just dues. Closing the seventh stanza of the long engagement with seven runs each, the rival nines shifted their activities to the defensive department, depending upon the strength of their moundsmen to pull them through the harrowing moments that arose. Many there were in the vast mob that lined the bleachers, grandstand and terra firma in right field, who had never witnessed an exhibition of the national pastime and the impressions they received during their initial visit to a sport rendezvous of this nature would be hard to describe. Women, as well as men and children, rose and fell in their seats with every happening that marked the long encounter. Momentary lulls were followed by prolonged dins of horns and voices. Students of the two institutions, lining the extremeties of the field, came away from the place minus hats, neckties and collars, but when the battle was finally concluded by the official's annoucement few ventured to comment on the fracas.

Considering the importance of the game the players were steady and performed consistently from start to finish. As the overtime rounds were tolled off the participants appeared to be gaining in confidence and when the fifteenth session was ushered in phenomenal baseball was being portrayed. Displaying a degree of speed and exhibiting remarkable aggressiveness, the two teams performed in a manner that was a surprise even to their own cohorts. Outdoing all their previous efforts in fielding, batting and baserunning, the High School youngsters treated the fans to entertainment that would pass with favor in the big leagues. Experts who witnessed the conflict could unearth little in the way of adverse criticism.

North Plainfield, groomed by the originator of the "pep" in interscholastic baseball hereabouts, had its litle trainer ever on the sidelines crouched over one player or another in an effort to inject the final punch into a tiring body. Plainfield, though trained weeks prior to the engagement, was minus a director. The local schoolboys, fighting their way to the front unassisted by the trained sideline guardian and with their coach many miles from the scene of the battle, won the admiration of the crowd.

Donald Sminck, the red and blue's most popular moundsman, and holder of the well deserved title of "best," was in better form Saturday than ever before in his varied career of baseball. Going through the fifteen cantos without faltering or relaxing for an instant, Sminck was the one big obstacle in North Plainfield's path. Six times after the seventh inning he ended rallies by fanning the last one or two men to face him in each round. In each instance anxious runners clung to the hassocks ready to make a wild dash for the scoring station. With these nervous figures prancing on each side of him the Plainfield youth calmly delivered his curves, drops and speed balls, growing more puzzling as time progressed. The gruelling contest became a school of learning for Sminck and when taken from the field by fellow players in the darkness of the evening he was a wiser twirler, profiting by his long siege in the rifle pit.

Starting for North Plainfield, Ernie Stahl loomed up as a monster in the opening rounds. Although he apparently had everything with him for the occasion, Stahl experienced difficulty in locating the right station and at the crucial moment Coach Mullin derricked him. The move came at the right time and gave Dan Denny an opportunity to enter the limelight as a rescue artist. Fit and ready for the emergency Denny at once took up the burden where it had been abandoned by his predecessor and to him may be credited the honor of saving the day for the boroughites.

In the early stages the Queen City youngsters cherished a tantalizing lead over their North Plainfield rivals, but never did a whimper emerge from the "Canadian" territory. Although in the rear the visitors displayed a rare degree of confidence and appeared to have an understanding among themselves that baffled their own supporters. Brilliant flashes of heady field work evenly divided between the respective players who adornd the four corners of the infield supplied the crowd with fuel for thunderous applause. A crowd that was equally as generous in its loudly expressed appreciation to North Plainfield as to the home team spurred the fighters on to the last notch, drawing from the youngsters everything that was in them along the baseball line.

Outhit by a margin of fifteen to eight, the boroughites might well be commended for their stand. Lacing out their limited supply of bingles at opportune moments the North Plainfielders registered the same number of tallies as their slugging rivals. Leading the Plainfield swatsmiths were Captain Rosenson with four and Bill Peacock with three. Then came O'Leary, Butler and Kyle with two apiece. Dunning and Hebert clouted out braces for the boroughites.

THREE PLAINFIELDERS ENTER "MET" JUNIOR

The entries received from the New York Athletic Club and the Irish-American Athletic Club for the junior metropolitan championships, to be held at Travers Island, N. Y., next Saturday, is the largest ever received for such an event.

The New York Athletic Club has entered sixty men and the Irish-American A. C. fifty-five, among whom are inter-collegiate and scholastic stars. In the 100 and 200 yard run the New Yorks have J. Kelly, W. E. Story, D. Kuhn, F. P. McNally, R. Daisley, S. V. Aldridge, G. Nobach, W. Moore, A. VanWinkle and E. Madden. The Irish-Americans have E. Coyle, B. Levinson, D. J. Ferris, J. Onken, L. Harper, I. Summergrade, R. Hillman, J. Gardner and F. Kaufmann.

In the half mile and three miles there will be J. Myer, G. J. Critchley, H. Honohan, R. Rigby, L. Longfield, J. O'Neill, R. Poucher, of Plainfield; A. G. Cadiz, D. S. Cobb and O. Gibbons for the New York A. C., and J. McDermott, E. S. Fraser, M. J. Hayes, A. J. Fogel, J. Dennelly, T. E. Nelson for the Irish-American A. C.

Jack Fritts, another Plainfield athlete, will compete under the colors of the Pastime A. C. in the javelin throw. Fritts is out for the junior title and has been practicing for the event on Parker Field during the past two weeks. Ralph Runyon, the Plainfield High School pole vaulter, will compete under the colors of the Pastime Club in the pole vault.

DR. H. K. CARROLL WINS SEMI-FINALS

Will Meet Royle T. Phillips for Spring Championship Cup.

Dr. H. K. Carroll beat W. E. Lough, 2 up in the one remaining semifinal match for the Spring championship at the Park Golf Club, Saturday, and will meet Royle T. Phillips, the winner of the other match, in the finals next Saturday. As both players are at the top of their game just now, a fine match should result.

The other event of interest on the course Saturday was the weekly competition for the President's Cup. William H. Nischwitz won the first three points, while Royle T. Phillips won two points and J. V. Beekman took the remaining point. These cards were returned:

William H. Nischwitz, 91, 12-79; Royle T. Phillips, 93, 12-81; J. V. Beekman, 106, 17-89; O. B. Hill, 114, 24-90; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 100, 8-92; W. E. Lough, 105, 12-93; C. J. Hand, 119, 18-101.

GOLF COMPETITION ATTRACTS BIG FIELD

Arthur Murphy and W. M. Alling Make Tie Score at Country Club.

Although the Yale-Princeton game took many members to Princeton on Saturday, there was a good sized field out at the Plainfield Country Club to take part in the weekly competition for the Golf Committee Cup and the sweepstakes event. The scores generally were low, showing that the contestants are in excellent form for this time of the year. The play for the championship, first round, was postponed until next Saturday, because so many entrants wanted to go to Princeton.

Arthur Murphy and W. M. Alling tied for first honors for the Golf Committee Cup, each returning a net score of 72, while S. H. Patterson, T. S. Wheeler, C. B. Morgan and Will T. Glenney divided two points and S. T. Perrin, C. E. Lipscomb, D. O. Rogers divided one point. These scores were returned:

Arthur Murphy, 81, 9-72; W. M. Alling, 89, 17-72; S. H. Patterson, 86, 12-74; T. S. Wheeler, 92, 17-74; C. B. Morgan, 81, 7-74; Will T. Glenney, 78, 4-74; S. T. Perrin, 90, 14-76; C. E. Lipscomb, 97, 12-76; D. O. Rogers, 86, 10-76; W. Lester Glenney, 82, 5-77; R. G. Morse, 88, 11-77; Charles A. Reed, 90, 13-77; B. C. Kenyon, 98, 20-78; A. J. Watson, 84, 6-78; W. G. Cooke, 98, 20-78; P. J. McKeon, 95, 13-82; H.T. Eaton, 96, 13-83.

W. M. Alling won the sweepstakes with a net score of 72. The scores: W. M. Alling, 89, 17-72; T. S. Wheeler, 92, 17-74; S. H. Patterson, 86, 12-74; D. H. Rowland, 91, 16-75; C. E. Lipscomb, 97, 21-76; D. O. Rogers, 86, 10-76; R. G. Morse, 88, 11-77; B. C. Kenyon, 98, 20-78; A. J. Watson, 84, 6-78; W. G. Cooke, 98, 20-78; H. T. Eaton, 96, 13-83.

BASEBALL NOTES

Effa Rixey, who has been attending college in Virginia, has joined the Philadelphia Nationals.

Pitcher Hoff, the New York Yankees' discard, is doing sweet flinging for John Ganzel's Rochester Hustlers.

Joe Tinker's Crifeds look to be the team able to give the Baltimore Terrapins a real fight for the Federal League pennant.

The slump of the Pirates was caused by Clarke's pitchers being unable to pitch and Clarke's hitters unable to hit. Very simple.

While Detroit lost first place during the absence of Ty Cobb, the Tigers are still very much in the American League race.

Gus Williams, of the Browns, who was leading the American League in batting a few weeks ago, has dropped out of the .300 class of batsmen.

While pitching in the Virginia League last season, Doc Ayers, who is now with Washington, pitched six double-headers and won all twelve games.

Alfred H. (Fritz) VonKolnitz, utility outfielder of the Cincinnati Reds, has been sworn in as a member of the Ohio State bar by Chief Justice Gary.

It is said the Pat Ragon, of the Brooklyn Superbas, holds the championship among ball players in the matter of consuming eating tobacco.

After years of the watchful waiting stuff, St. Louis fans can now sit tight and smile while their three first division teams perform in a regular manner.

Outfielder Burns has displayed considerable prowess with the war club this season. His timely hitting has placed several games on ice for the Giants.

Cleveland fans have given up all hopes of the Naps finishing in front. Their interest now lies in watching Joe Jackson's struggle to win the American League batting honors.

Manager George Stallings, of the Boston Braves, has decided to try out some talent from near his home town. He has signed Brooks Ellison, a catcher from Milledgeville,Ga.

"Gavvy" Cravath, the Philly slugger, is still able to hit out the long distance clouts. Nicking "Rube" Marquard for two home runs in one game is a fair sample of "Gavvy's" hitting ability.

Vic Saier, the Cubs' first baseman, is a big favorite with the home fans in Chicago. Vic is a "silent" player, with little to say, but one of the hardest working players in the game.

Philadelphia fans are rejoicing over the news of the early return to the game of Jack Coombs. In the world's series of 1911 between the Athletics and the Giants, Coombs ruptured himself and has been on the hospital list ever since.

Harry Lord, who recently "blew" the White Sox, is figuring on buying an interest in the Portland club of the New England League. It was while playing with Worcester in the same league that Harry first attracted the attention of big league scouts.

Jim Delehanty, now with the Buffalo Feds, is enthusiastic over the success of the Federal League. Jim believes it is only a question of time before many stars will be found in the Federal ranks.

TABLES TURNED BY ENGLISH POLOISTS

Invaders Spring a Big Surprise by Overwhelming the Americans.

FINAL POLO SCORE.

First Game.

Final Score—England, 8½; American, 3.

By earned goals—England, 10, America, 4.

Time of match—1 hour and 31 minutes.

Riding to what was considered almost a forlorn hope, Lord Wimborne's British polo four Saturday afternoon surprised 40,000 spectators packed about Meadow Brook Field by playing America's best team off its feet.

The final score, 8½ to 3—the most overwhelming defeat suffered in International Cup play since 1909, when Great Britain lost a game by 8 to 2—tells the story. The Hurlingham Club team outrode, outshot and outgeneraled the Americans.

The invaders—lean, hard men and demons on horseback—flung themselves into the game pell-mell at the opening of play, and had scored two goals before the defenders were thoroughly awake. Thereafter they were not to be headed, although the Americans rallied gamely and played with desperation to the end.

HOPE CHAPEL DEFEATS MONROE AVENUE NINE

Superior ball playing won the baseball game for Hope Chapel over the Monroe Avenue nine Saturday afternoon in North Plainfield. The game was closely contested in the last few innings, but Monroe was unable to overcome the early lead of the Hope nine. Luthman was the mainstay of the winning team, getting two singles and a double. Berkman, of the losing aggregation, also played a consistent game.

GOOD COMPETITION IN SOMERVILLE FIELD MEET

Some excellent sport was witnessed on the old fair grounds in Somerville Saturday afternoon, a five-mile foot race being run by members of the Redfern Athletic Club. The prizes, a gold and bronze medal, for first and second winners, being provided by J. H. Cox and Ernest Hall. It was a handicap race, and the runners were: E. Hall, scratch; R. Fletcher and Hardgrove, 1 min.; J. H. Cox, 1.30; T. Anderson, 2.00; W. Stafford and T. Strubble, 2.45; Hartalanzo 3.00; E. Fletcher, 3.30; D. Daniels, 5.30. The limit man, Daniels, was started on his journey at 5.30. The first to drop out was E. Fletcher and Hardgrove, at one and a half mile, followed by Cox, 1 3-4 miles, Bartalanzo, 3 1-4 miles, Strubble and E. Hall at 3 1-2 miles. This left R. Fletcher, Daniels and Anderson, and Stafford, who finished in the order named at intervals of a quarter of a mile. The surprise of the race was the work of Daniels, though not expected to go anything like the distance, finished with a great burst of speed, that would have done credit to some of the so-called sprinters. The medals were afterwards presented by C. H. Bodell, the genial foreman at the Redfern Lace Works. The starters and judges were C. H. Torbett and H. Frettingham; timer, C. H. Bodell; clerks of the course, William Dunnicliffe, J. Allen and J. Harrison. It is intended to hold further races over long and short distances in the near future.

THIRD ROUND FOR CLUB TITLE AT WESTFIELD

Westfield, June 15.—The third round of the club championship contest was played at the links of the Westfield Golf Club Saturday afternoon, with the following results: W. B. Meble beat J. Yamowkie, 2 up; J. B. Mallerfort beat L. J. Dietz, 3 up and 2 to play; A. E. Kaller beat A. R. Whitman, 6 up and 5 to play, and Ray Carroll beat J. B. Barr, 3 up and 1 to play. In the cup championship, the third round resulted as follows: C. E. Halstead beat W. E. Brown, 5 up and 4 to play; W. R. Davis beat Paul Revere, 4 up and 3 to play; J. Fukin beat J. W. Hutting, 2 up, and C. Graham beat Stacy Bender, 4 up and 2 to play. The winners of the sweepstakes for the day were as follows: F. C. White, 60, M. B. Mallerfort, 67, and L. J. Deltz, 69.

TENNIS TOURNEY AT AUGUSTA.

Augusta, Ga., June 15—Many high ranking lawn tennis players are competing in the seventeenth annual South Atlantic States Tournament, which opened on the courts of the Country Club here today under conditions that promise one of the most successful meets in the history of the association. The chompionships in men's singles and men's doubles, women's singles and mixed doubles will be decided at the tournament, which will continue for six days.

DECIDING GAME ON BOROUGHITES' FIELD

Hyde Oval Selected as the Playing Scene for the Interscholastic Match.

Representatives from the North Plainfield and Plainfield High Schools met in the borough this morning and decided upon Wednesday afternoon as the date for the second playoff of the final interscholastic league baseball match. Hyde Oval was selected as the scene for the encounter Plainfield yielding to the boroughites inasmuch as the game Saturday, which resulted in a fifteen inning no-decision was staged on the locals' grounds.

The Ritz Company, donors of the cup offered for the most number of hits made by a team in Saturday's game, was presented to Plainfield and it has put another trophy for the contest Wednesday to be awarded under the same conditions. The hits made in Saturday's contest will go on official record in the league race.

EXCITING GAME WON BY DUNELLEN TEAM

Winning Streak of Home Club Resumed at the Expense of Cranford Clan.

Dunellen continued its winning streak on Saturday afternoon by taking Frank McMahon's crack Cranford team into camp on its home grounds by the score of 9-8. Although the contest was losely played, it was nevertheless interesting as its result was in balance until Dunellen's half of the ninth, when with the sacks loaded, one down and one run needed to tie the game and two to win, Teeling, the stocky little Dunellen catcher, singled along the right field foul line scoring two runs and ending the game. Harvey, Dunellen's giant twirler, had a decidedly off day both in twirling the horsehide and in fielding his position. His support was also poor, three errors being made by his battery mate and six by those behind him. Of the six errors Joe Alberts contributed two. There was some excuse for Joe's miscues, however, as he was playing with a bandaged finger. Hess the Cranford twirler pitched a good game but poor base running by his teammates and the poor support tendered him made his battle an uphill one. An instance of the poor base running of the Cranfordites occurred in the fifth. In runs already registered and two of runs alread registered and two of his teammates on second and third respectively, C. Schnarr caught one of Harvey's benders on the end of his bat and sent it way out into deep left for what would have been an easy two base hit if he had but taken the time, which he had loads of, to touch first base. This he failed to do by a full six feet and he was called out as he was resting on second by Umpire Burnbrauer, canceling the tallies of the two base runners who had crossed the plate on his hit and putting the quietus on a regular batting bee.

Gas Ranges in your kitchen will add very much to your comfort during the hot weather.

If you have no Gas Range, ask any one of your neighbors that has one how much better they are than the hot, smoky, dust-making coal stoves.

There is no dirt or disagreeable odor about a Gas Range and you do not have to do any filling to keep it supplied with fuel.

Turn a valve and light a match and your fire is ready. It will be a fire that will do your cooking or baking without heating the whole house.

Gas Ranges with 90 Cent Gas are most satisfactory and more economical than any other cooking service.

We have Gas Ranges in many styles at reasonable prices and sell them on easy terms.

JEFFERSONS ADD ONE MORE TO THEIR LIST

The Jefferson Democratic Club won another baseball game by defeating the All-Stars of Ponds, Saturday, at Pond's Oval by a score of 7 to 5. Pond's started off like a winner, scoring three in the second and two in the third inning, but from then on they were checked from scoring.

Laskoski pitched better as the game went on, striking out ten of the opposing batters and allowing but six bingles while the Jeffersons gathered thirteen.

PLAINFIELD BALKS AT PATCH'S PLAN

Players Say They Will Not Play on Hyde Oval Against North Plainfield.

DECLARE ACTION VOID

Members of the Local Team Say Patch's Presence in the Borough Meeting Was Unauthorized—Hitch May Occur.

It was stated on good authority this afternoon that the Plainfield High School baseball team had balked on the arrangements made with North Plainfield by Coach Ralph Patch this morning and would not play the deciding game on Hyde Oval Wednesday afternoon. It is a known fact that the stand is a definite one and the players say they will take no part in the game under the negotiations entered into by Patch.

The Plainfield boys feel that the contest is a continuation of the fifteen inning battle on Parker Field Saturday afternoon and want it to be played as such under the former arrangements.

Patch went to North Plainfield this morning and agreed to bring his team to North Plainfield for the game Wednesday afternoon. The boroughites, therefore, have a right to force the Plainfielders to keep the agreement as Patch represented himself as their delegate with full power to act. Whether or not the players decide to stick with their own representative, of course, is a matter for them to decide but under the conditions North Plainfield can claim a forfeit if the demands are not met. Those interested in Plainfield baseball contend that Patch should have sent Manager Williams to the meeting but this was not done.

P. H. S. CLASS DAY IN NEW AUDITORIUM

Interesting Program of Events Arranged for Commencement Week.

The commencement activities at the High School with which this week is filled, will begin tomorrow at 8 o'clock with the Class Day exercises ,in the new auditorium, which Contractor Dahl has pushed to completion in time for commencement.

This morning the hall is being tastefully decorated by Laggren & Greene under the direction of George Fisher, of the Alumni Association, class '08, and when the curtain goes up tomorrow night it is expected that 1,200 residents of Plainfield will fill the splendid auditorium, pronounced by experts to be the best in this locality. Nearly everybody in town has hustled to get the room ready in time to hold the closing exercises of the school year.

The program for the week is as follows: Tuesday night, at 8 o'clock, Class Day; Wednesday at 3 p. m., commencement of the Stillman School; Thursday night at 7:45, High School commencement; Thursday at 10:30 p. m., commencement dance given by the Alumni Association.

The Class Day exercises tomorrow night are in the hands of the following committee: Mabel Loizeaux, chairman; Esther Philips, Jennie Peacock, Constance Veysey, Lorraine Dunn, Robert Gavett, Kenneth McKenzie, Schuyler VanderVeer, Harold Williams, Elston Hoagland.

The following program will be rendered, after which the chairs will be removed from, what experts have pronounced the best dancing floor in Plainfield, and the gradusting class and their friends will dance until midnight. The program:

Opening song written by one of the members of the class, introduction, class history, statistics, class poem, last will and testament, closing song. Tickets may be procured from members of the graduating class or at the door. The class numbers seventy-one members and is the second largest class ever graduated from the local institution.

SERGEANT HIGGINS IS APPOINTED ACTING CHIEF

Police Chief P. S. Kiely left yesterday for Grand Rapids, Mich., where he will attend the annual convention of the International Police Chiefs' Association which will continue in session for a week. Before leaving the city, Chief Kiely, by order of Mayor Percy H. Stewart, appointed Sergeant Maurice Higgins acting-chief during his absence, and the latter is filling that position.

It is understood that the Council manic Police Board will hold a meeting tonight to take some action regarding the oppointment of a captain to succeed Christian Frederickson, and that the matter will be decided at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council on Wednesday night.

NEEDLEWORK

THREE DAINTY BORDERS FOR EMBROIDERING TOWELS

12267-12242-12265

These warm summer afternoons need not be wasted, while one is enjoying the cool breezes on the veranda, if one has a small piece of embroidery to do. A towel, such as these, may be easily worked without much exertion, as the stitches are very simple and easy to do.

The first design, No. 12267, is a flowered scalloped border which is 2¼ inches wide. This may be developed in heavily padded solid work and eyelets, in white mercerized cotton. There are three yards in the pattern which may also be used on sheets, pillow cases and bureau-scarfs.

Solid work and eyelets also are used for the flowered scalloped border, 12242. This design is two inches wide and there are three yards in the pattern. This makes a lovely trimming for underwear, negligées and dresses as well as towels.

A bit of color may be introduced into the shamrock design, No. 12265, which is 2½ inches wide. The leaves may be outlined and the spaces filled in with seed-stitches. There are three yards of this border which may also be used for embroidering underwear, negligées and dresses of lawn, handkerchief linen, batiste or crêpe de Chine. The scalloped edge should be developed in white or the color of the material used.

Either fine huckaback or damask should be used for making these towels which may be made in guest size or larger.

Guaranteed, hot-iron transfer patterns will be supplied to readers upon receipt of price, 10 cents each.

Practical Fashion Hints

Dark blue taffeta has become, within the last few weeks, even more popular than black, although black and white combinations are still very strong. This little afternoon frock, 8294, is a charming model for either blue or black taffeta, silk poplin or one of the cotton materials, crepe or voile. The bodice is cut with a drop-shoulder and a full-length sleeve which may also be cut off at the elbow if preferred. An inverted "V" in the front of the blouse displays an under-bodice which may be attractively made up in white organdy or soft ecru batiste, lace or net. The skirt is a two-gored model having a two-piece yoke and a slightly gathered tunic. A wide sash of black satin whose luster offers a pleasing contrast to the dullness of the taffeta, completes the costume. As illustrated here, neck and sleeves are finished with a frill of shadow lace. Taffeta and all the foregoing materials are wide, averaging 38 to 40 inches. Taffeta and poplin range in price from about $1.25 a yard and up. The cottons may be purchased as low as 75 cents a yard. To make this costume in size 36, 5¼ yards of 36-inch material is needed. The pattern comes in five sizes, 34 to 42.

This is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to give right size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions. It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

Some Cookery Suggestions

SUMMER SAUCES.

SIMPLE sauces may be made by the most inexperienced cook, and by varying these the plainest foods may be served in apparently a great variety of ways. In summer it is well to have at one's command a number of reliable sauces for both meats and vegetables.

Made In a Double Boiler.

Drawn Butter Sauce.—Cut up a quarter of a pound of best butter and mix thoroughly with two teaspoonfuls of flour. Put in a double boiler and add two teaspoonfuls of cold water. Have the water in the outside pan boiling, and stir the butter gently until it is melted and begins to simmer. Then let it cook until it boils up. Too much water will make a poor drawn butter, and if the butter and flour are not thoroughly mixed it will be lumpy.

Piquant Sauces.

Bechamel Sauce.—Take two tablespoonfuls each of hot butter and flour or arrowroot, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, dash of nutmeg and cayenne, one cupful of hot white stock, one-half cupful of hot cream, one egg yolk, one tablespoonful of lemon juice. Cook, butter, flour or arrowroot and season until smooth. Add the hot stock and hot cream gradually. When boiling add egg yolk, beat one minute, then add lemon juice, beat again and use as required.

Caper Sauce.—Stir two large tablespoonfuls of capers and a little vinegar into half a pint of thick melted butter. If no capers are available chop a cucumber fine.

With Fish or Veal.

Parsley Sauce.—Wash a bunch of parsley in cold water, boil it for six or seven minutes in salt and water, then drain and, after removing the stalks, chop the leaves fine. Stir this into melted or drawn butter, allowing two even tablespoonfuls of leaves to half a pint of the butter.

This makes a nice sauce to serve over boiled fresh fish or over veal.

Tartar Sauce.—Take one teaspoonful of vinegar, one teaspoonful of lemon juice, one-third cupful of butter, one-quarter teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce, one tablespoonful of chopped capers or olives. Mix vinegar, lemon juice, salt and Worcestershire sauce in a small bowl and heat over hot water. Brown butter in an omelet pan and strain into first mixture.

Silver Wings Won the Prize.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Little Lizards' Rainy Day Party.

IT had been such a rainy day, but Jack and Evelyn had been for a walk in spite of the weather.

"Where did you go?" asked daddy.

"We had a splendid walk," said Jack. "We went through the woods. We had on our oldest clothes, high boots and rubbers, so we didn't care how wet we got."

"We certainly did get wet, though," said Evelyn, "but just the same we had lots of fun. The woods looked so pretty all wet and green."

"The red lizards gave a party this afternoon in the woods, and I thought maybe you two children might have seen them," said daddy.

"We didn't see them having a party," said Evelyn, "but we saw just ever and ever so many lizards hurrying along, and probably they were on their way to the party."

"Yes, that must have been it," said daddy. "You see, they wanted to give a party for the fairies.

"The fairy queen and all the fairies thought it was fine of the lizards to give them a party, and they liked being invited out on a rainy day because it wasn't every one who wanted to give a party on a rainy day.

"When they got to the side of the mountain all the lizards were in line ready to receive the fairies very formally. They made low bows and twisted their tails as well as wiggled their little legs, which in lizard talk meant:

"'Good day, fairies. We are happy to see you.'

"The first thing the lizards had arranged for the amusement of the fairies was a wading contest.

"Near by on the mountain side there was a little brook with mossy, slippery rocks in it. The fairy who could wade for the longest time without slipping was to win a prize.

"The lizards, of course, thought it was lots of fun to watch the fairies slip, because the more rain there was the easier it was for the lizards to hurry along, and the fairies thought it was lots of fun too. Of course, as they had come out with the intention of getting wet, they didn't mind falling on the mossy stones at all. And such laughter as there was! And the lizards wiggled so with glee and amusement!

"The little fairy named Silver Wings won the prize, as she didn't fall at all, and the lizards were very pleased that she had won, for on the tip of her right wing she had a little rosette made of moss which she had put on in honor of the lizards' party. That pleased the lizards so much that it was with the greatest enthusiasm they presented the prize to her."

THE OUTCASTS OF POKER FLAT

By BRET HARTE

BRET HARTE

Twenty-four famous authors were asked recently to name the best short story in the English language. Richard Harding Davis and Wallace Irwin named "The Outcasts of Poker Flat," by Bret Harte, whose complete works are published by the Houghton-Mifflin Company.

PART II.

WHETHER Mr. Oakhurst had cached his cards with the whisky as something debarred the free access of the community I cannot say. It was certain that, in Mother Shipton's words, he "didn't say cards once" during that evening. Haply the time was beguiled by an accordion produced somewhat ostentatiously by Tom Simson from his pack. Notwithstanding some difficulties attending the manipulation of this instrument, Piney Woods managed to pluck several reluctant melodies from its keys, to the accompaniment of the Innocent on a pair of bone castanets. But the crowning festivity of the evening was reached in a rude camp meeting hymn, which the lovers, joining hands, sang with great earnestness and vociferation. I fear that a certain defiant tone and Covenanter's swing to its chorus, rather than any devotional quality, caused it speedily to infect the others, who at last joined in the refrain:

I'm proud to live in the service of the Lord,
And I'm bound to die in his army.

The pines rocked, the storm eddied and whirled above the miserable group and the flames of their altar leaped heavenward, as if in token of the vow.

At midnight the storm abated, the rolling clouds parted and the stars glittered keenly above the sleeping camp. Mr. Oakhurst, whose professional habits had enabled him to live on the smallest possible amount of sleep, in dividing the watch with Tom Simson, somehow managed to take upon himself the greater part of that duty. He excused himself to the Innocent by saying that he had "often been a week without sleep." "Doing what?" asked Tom. "Poker!" replied Oakhurst sententiously. "When a man gets a streak of luck—nigger luck—he don't get tired. The luck gives in first. Luck," continued the gambler reflectively, "is a mighty queer thing. All you know about it for certain is that it's bound to change. And it's finding out when it's going to change that makes you. We've had a streak of bad luck since we left Poker Flat—you come along and, slap, you get into it too. If you can hold your cards right along you're all right. For," added the gambler, with cheerful irrelevance,

"I'm proud to live in the service of the Lord,

The third day came, and the sun, looking through the white curtained valley, saw the outcasts divide their slowly decreasing store of provisions for the morning meal. It was one of the peculiarities of that mountain climate that its rays diffused a kindly warmth over the wintry landscape, as if in regretful commiseration of the past. But it revealed drift on drift of snow piled high around the hut—a hopeless, uncharted, trackless sea of white lying below the rocky shores to which the castaways still clung. Through the marvelously clear air the smoke of the pastoral village of Poker Flat rose miles away. Mother Shipton saw it and from a remote pinnacle of her rocky fastness hurled in that direction a final malediction. It was her last vituperative attempt, and perhaps for that reason was invested with a certain degree of sublimity. It did her good, she privately informed the Duchess. "Just you go out there and cuss and see." She then set herself to the task of amusing "the child," as she and the Duchess were pleased to call Piney. Piney was no chicken, but it was a soothing and original theory of the pair thus to account for the fact that she didn't swear and wasn't improper.

When night crept up again through the gorges the reedy notes of the accordion rose and fell in fitful spasms and long drawn gasps by the flickering campfire. But music failed to fill entirely the aching void left by insufficient food, and a new diversion was proposed by Piney—story telling. Neither Mr. Oakhurst nor his female companions caring to relate their personal experiences, this plan would have failed, too, but for the Innocent. Some months before he had chanced upon a stray copy of Mr. Pope's ingenious translation of the "Iliad." He now proposed to narrate the principal incidents of that poem—having thoroughly mastered the argument and fairly forgotten the words—in the current vernacular of Sandy Bar. And so for the rest of that night the Homeric demigods again walked the earth. Trojan bully and wily Greek wrestled in the winds, and the great pines in the canyon seemed to bow to the wrath of the son of Peleus. Mr. Oakhurst listened with quiet satisfaction. Most especially was he interested in the fate of "Ash-heels," as the Innocent persisted in denominating the "swift footed Achilles."

So with small food and much of Homer and the accordion a week passed over the heads of the outcasts. The sun again forsook them, and again from leaden skies the snowflakes were sifted over the land. Day by day closer around them drew the snowy circle until at last they looked from their prison over drifted walls of dazzling white that towered twenty feet above their heads. It became more and more difficult to replenish their fires, even from the fallen trees beside them, now half hidden in the drifts. And yet no one complained. The lovers turned from the dreary prospect and looked into each other's eyes and were happy. Mr. Oakhurst settled himself coolly to the losing game before him. The Duchess, more cheerful than she had been, assumed the care of Piney. Only Mother Shipton—once the strongest of the party—seemed to sicken and fade. At midnight on the tenth day she called Oakhurst to her side. "I'm going," she said in a voice of querulous weakness, "but don't say anything about it. Don't waken the kids. Take the bundle from under my head and open it." Mr. Oakhurst did so. It contained Mother Shipton's rations for the last week, untouched. "Give 'em to the child," she said, pointing to the sleeping Piney. "You've starved yourself," said the gambler. "That's what they call it," said the woman querulously as she lay down again and, turning her face to the wall, passed quietly away.

The accordion and the bones were put aside that day, and Homer was forgotten. When the body of Mother Shipton had been committed to the snow Mr. Oakhurst took the Innocent aside and showed him a pair of snow shoes, which he had fashioned from the old pack saddle. "There's one chance in a hundred to save her yet," he said, pointing to Piney, "but it's there," he added, pointing toward Poker Flat. "If you can reach there in two days she's safe." "And you?" asked Tom Simson. "I'll stay here," was the curt reply.

The lovers parted with a long embrace. "You are not going, too?" said the Duchess, as she saw Mr. Oakhurst apparently waiting to accompany him. "As far as the canyon," he replied. He turned suddenly and kissed the Duchess, leaving her pallid face aflame and her trembling limbs rigid with amazement.

Night came, but not Mr. Oakhurst. It brought the storm again and the whirling snow. Then the Duchess, feeding the fire, found that some one had quietly piled beside the hut enough fuel to last a few days longer. The tears rose to her eyes, but she bid them from Piney.

The women slept but little. In the morning, looking into each other's faces, they read their fate. Neither spoke, but Piney, accepting the position of the stronger, drew near and placed her arm around the Duchess' waist. They kept this attitude for the rest of the day. That night the storm reached its greatest fury, and, rending asunder the protecting pines, invaded the very hut.

Toward morning they found themselves unable to feed the fire, which gradually died away. As the embers slowly blackened the Duchess crept closer to Piney and broke the silence of many hours, "Piney, can you pray?" "No, dear," said Piney simply. The Duchess, without knowing exactly why, felt relieved, and, putting her head upon Piney's shoulder, spoke no more. And so reclining, the younger and purer pillowing the head of her soiled sister upon her virgin breast, they fell asleep.

The wind lulled as if it feared to waken them. Feathery drifts of snow, shaken from the long pine boughs, flew like white winged birds and settled about them as they slept. The moon through the rifted clouds looked down upon what had been the camp. But all human stain, all trace of earthly travail, was hidden beneath the spotless mantle mercifully flung from above.

They slept all that day and the next, nor did they waken when voices and footsteps broke the silence of the camp. And when pitying fingers brushed the snow from their wan faces you could scarcely have told from the equal peace that dwelt upon them which was she that had sinned. Even the law of Poker Flat recognized this and turned away, leaving them still locked in each other's arms.

But at the head of the gulch, on one of the largest pine trees, they found the deuce of clubs pinned to the bark with a bowie knife. It bore the following, written in pencil in a firm hand:

Beneath This Tree Lies the Body of
Who Struck a Streak of Bad Luck on the 23d of November, 1850, and Handed In His Checks
on the 8th December, 1850.

And pulseless and cold, with a Derringer by his side and a bullet in his heart, though still calm as in life, beneath the snow lay he who was at once the strongest and yet the weakest of the outcasts of Poker Flat.

A Scene Not In a Play.

An extraordinary scene took place in the Princess theater, London, on the night of the first production of Charles Reade's great play, "Never Too Late to Mend," Oct. 4, 1865. During the prison scene a large quantity of water was thrown over Miss Moore, who took the part of Josephs, the character done to death by the warders. One of the critics, Mr. Tomlin of the Morning Advertiser, rose from his seat and publicly protested against the unnecessary cruelty. This aroused almost a riot among the audience, and the action of the play was stopped for some considerable time. Fuel was added to the fire by George Vining, the lessee of the theater, who was playing the part of Tom Robinson and who made a most imprudent speech, in which he practically insulted every critic present, with the result that the theater was left severely alone by the press for many months. The play, however, turned out to be a popular success and had, for those days, the phenomenal run of 140 performances.

Trapped by Its Portrait.

If an old English writer be true in his observations the pheasant must be a very simple bird, for he declares that it puts its head in the ground and thinks that all its body is then hidden. The same author says that it was also captured by another curious plan. A picture of the bird was painted on cloth and then placed in a spot where it was sure of being seen. By and by a silly pheasant coming along catches sight of the portrait and goes up to have a close view of the new neighbor. While engaged in inspecting the canvas the fowler draws near from behind and throws his net over the unwary art student.

UNION COUNTY COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

Notice of Hearing Objections to Assessments for Street Improvements in the City of Plainfield.

Harry C. Runyon, Michael D. O'Keeffe and Andrew J. Gavert, the Commissioners appointed by the Union County Court of Common Pleas, by order entered on the ninth day of January, 1914, to estimate and assess benefits conferred by the permanent street improvements in the City of Plainfield, under the ordinance of said city specified in said order, said ordinance being also hereinafter specified and the character of the work and improvements for which said assessments have been made and a description of the sections of the particular streets and avenues thereof which are included in said assessment, being as follows, viz.:

Wallace Place, from the macadam on Spooner Avenue to the southwesterly end of Wallace Place;

Manson Place, from the macadam on South Second Street to the macadam on West Fourth Street;

McDowell Street, from the macadam on West Third Street to the macadam on West Fourth Street;

South Second Street, from the macadam on Clinton Avenue to the macadam on Rock Avenue;

Pond Place, from the macadam on South Second Street to the macadam on West Third Stret; under the ordinance of said City entitled: "An Ordinance for the Permanent Improvement of Certain Streets and Portions of Streets of the City of Plainfield, with permanent and durable Macadam Pavement, and to provide the Necessary Funds in Advance of the Collection of Assessments for Benefits." Approved April 7, 1913, which ordinance was adopted under and by virtue of the Act of the Legislature entitled. "An Act to authorize the improvement of streets and highways in cities of this State, and to provide for the payment of the expense of the same, and for the assessment of the benefits of such improvement upon the land and real estate benefited thereby," approved June 12th, 1898, and the amendments and supplements thereto, having made and filed in the office of the clerk of said court, a report in writing of their estimates and assessments, accompanied by surveys and maps prepared by the City Surveyor under their direction, showing lots or parcels of land and real estate peculiarly benefited by such improvements, respectively, the total cost of the whole work upon each of the sections of said streets or avenues improved as aforesaid, under the aforesaid ordinance, the portions assessed upon the City at large, and the names, so far as ascertained, of the owners of the said lots or parcels of land and real estate, and the amount of the assessment to each owner for each of said lots or parcels of land and real estate for the said benefits, and the excess thereof to be paid by the City at large, and raised by general tax, and the other matters required by said acts of the legislature, as by reference to said report and maps will more fully and at large appear.

Notice is hereby given, that said Union County Court of Common Pleas has fixed the 19th day of June, 1914, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, or as soon thereafter as the Court can attend to the same, at the Court House in the City of Elizabeth, as the time and place for hearing before said court any objections that may be made to such assessments, when and where all parties may be heard, and has directed the publication of this notice.

JAMES C. CALVERT,
Clerk of the Union County Court of Common Pleas.

Dated May 21, 1914.

FLAG DAY COMBINED WITH CHILDREN'S EXERCISES

Flag Day and Childrens' Day exercises were combined at Grace M. E. Sunday-school yesterday when the church auditorium was prettily decorated with flowers and national colors. The instrumental music and singing was led by the regular Sunday-school orchestra of five pieces. During the course of the service the following infants were baptised. Francis Regis Tranchard, Grace Florence Thain, William Charles Nichols, Gwendolyn Louise Kretzel, Harold Foster Coddington; older children, Florence Marie Conroy, Douglas Andrew Maltby.. Miss Edna Mantz sang solos .

The following children took part in the exercises: Andrew Vanderbeck, Albert Monck, John Bamberger, Ruth Winkler, Marion Trenchard Florence Garretson Bessie Monck Mary Nichols, Alice Conover, Ruth Nichols, Mildred Bamberger, Ella Schuck, Adelaide Jones, Clifford Nelson, Robert Winckler, Irving Dodge, Myrtle Jones, William Schuck, Kenneth Lippen, Edna Jones, Marrietta Coddington, Dorothy Dealman, Mabel Voorhees, Marjory Cowling, Madeline Uhrhan, Doris Elliott, and Doris Nichols. The congregation present was one of the largest in the history of the church.

N. P. H. S. REHEARSAL.

There will be a rehearsal of the North Plainfield High School commencement in the Plainfield Theatre on Wednesday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock. It has been stated that the baseball men can come to this rehearsal in their suits since they would not have time to dress before the game following the rehearsal. Tickets for commencement will be given out to the members of the Senior class on Thursday at 2:30. North Plainfield High School commencement falls this year on the 19th of June.

FIRE DID LITTLE DAMAGE.

The packing around a new motor on the second floor of the Service Motor Company caught on fire about 11 o'clock Saturday night and the employees of the place sent in an alarm. There was a quick response but it was found that the blaze could be extinguished with a chemical stream. The firemen were careful to use as little water in order not to injure the motor any more than possible. The damage was slight.

PLEASING SOPRANO SOLOIST.

Mrs. Frank, soprano soloist at the Washington Heights Baptist church, Brooklyn, sang at the First Baptist church, yesterday morning, where she delighted large congregations with solo numbers at both services. Miss de Ahna, contralto soloist at the church, has gone to Germany to visit her mother during the summer. She will return in the fall.

NOTICE TO ABSENT DEFENDANTS.

In Chancery of New Jersey.

To William M. Harrison, Ella Harrison, Sarah Idell Smith and Louis Morrell, Jr.

By virtue of an order of the court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof in a cause wherein J. Clark Prall is complainant and William M. Harrison and Ella Harrison and others are defendants. You are required to plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainant on or before the fourth day of August next or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by William M. Harrison and wife to J. Clark Prall, dated May 7th 1909, on lands in the town of Westfield, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey, and you William M. Harrison and Ella Harrison are made defendants because you own said lands and made and executed said Mortgage, and you Sarah Idell Smith are made a party because you held or now hold a mortgage on said lands and premises, and you Louis Morrell, Jr., are made a party because you filed a lien claim on the building on said property and claim some interest in the lands it is alleged. Dated June 2, 1914.

CELEBRATES HIS 101ST BIRTHDAY

Bennett Britton, Plainfield's Oldest Citizen, Observes Unusual Event.

HEALTH IS EXCELLENT

Born in Paterson of Holland Stock—Served in Civil War—Resident Here for Nearly Forty Years—Old Veteran Fireman.

Bennett Britton, one of the best known residents of the city, is today celebrating the anniversary of his 101st birthday in a quiet way, which is entirely in keeping with the nature of the man. No special observance was arranged, but during the day Mr. Britton has been receiving congratulations and best wishes from his neighbors and other friends. Although having passed the century mark, Mr. Britton retains an active mind and he is just as keen as ever regarding the world's happenings.

With advancing years Mr. Britton has been compelled to abandon his customary daily walks. It used to be his pleasure to walk four or five miles every day for the exercise, but there is now a slight faltering in his step and he is not quite so spry as formerly.

Mr. Britton was born in Paterson, June 16, 1813, of old Holland stock. With the exception of the time he spent in the Civil War, he has been engaged in the hotel business the great part of his life. At the outbreak of the Civil War he was conducting a hotel at Sixth avenue and Forty-first street, New York. He enlisted in Co. B, First New York Cavalry. He was then forty-eight years old.

After the war he located at Scotch Plains, where he remained until he removed to this city nearly forty years ago. Since then he has lived at West Front street and Clinton avenue, conducting a cigar and confectionery store. Mr. Brittton is one of the oldest members of the Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association, of New York, being an enthusiastic vamp in his younger days. He is a member of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73 G. A. R., and turned out as usual on Decoration Day with the veterans. He is also a member of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, Knights of Pythias. During his early life, Mr. Britton used tobacco, but he has not touched it for a quarter of a century.

CLOSING EXERCISES AT DIAMOND HILL SCHOOL

Attended by many parents and friends, the closing exercises of the Diamond Hill School, at Berkley Heights, were held Friday afternoon. An entertaining program was presented by the children of the school. Possibly the most interesting feature of the exercises was the three act playlet entitled "The Ginger Bread Witch," in which Irving Young Mary Jems, Mary Duffy and Joseph Galbraith took the various parts.

After the short program, certificates of graduation were presented by the teacher, Miss McDonald, to the following pupils: Louis Shultz, Mary Jems, Mary Galbraith, and Joseph Galbraith. S. P. Debbie, of the Board of Education, made a short address appropriate to the occasion, after which the children adjourned to the lawn where refreshments were served. Among the visitors present were Supervising Principal Woodruff, Councilman Young, of New Providence, and others from Murray Hill, Scotch Plains, and Westfield.

REVISE DELINQUENT LISTS EVERY THREE MONTHS

Much interest was reported in the lists of delinquent accounts at the monthly meeting of the Business Men's Credit Association last night. These lists are now furnished to all members and kept at their places of business for reference. As they are revised every three months they are sent to the members, showing a record of all claims handed in for collection

This and other information is always at hand in the secretary's office so that any member may know how many accounts and the amount each delinquent owes in Plainfield. This was the principal matter discussed last night, although there were several other things of interest to the association discussed.

O. F. FREDERICKSON WEDS MISS M'INERNEY

Miss Anna Elizabeth McInerney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. McInerney, of Park avenue, and Otto Francis Frederickson, son of former Captain and Mrs. Christian Frederickson, of Leland avenue, were married in St. Mary's church at 6 o'clock last evening. The nuptial ceremony was performed by Rev. Father John Butscher, rector of the Sacred Heart church, of Newark, who is a native Plainfielder and a life-long friend of the bride's family. A large gathering of relatives and friends from this city, New York, Paterson and other places were in attendance.

Miss McInerney was attended by Miss Grace Varian, of New York, as maid-of-honor, while Miss Sadie Lee, of Scotch Plains, and Miss Jane DeLaney, of New Brunswick, were bridesmaids. Miss Irene Foley, of Paterson, a cousin of the bride, made a charming flower girl, clad in white lingerie and carrying a basket of floral beauties. The best man was Wilbur DeMilt, of Fanwood, and Frank T. McInerney, Jr., brother of the bride; Irving DeMilt, Richard Harrigan and Herman Kling were the ushers. Miss Mary Smith presided at the organ.

The bride wore a charming gown of white crepe de chine, trimmed with Quaker lace. Her bouquet was of roses and lilies-of-the-valley. Miss Varian's gown was of pink crepe de chine and she carried blue corn flowers. The bridesmaids wore blue crepe de chine and carried baskets of pink roses. The maid of honor and bridesmaids also wore Vernon Castle caps of white and gold.

Following the ceremony, a reception for the relatives and a few intimate friends was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McInerney. The house was attractively decorated daisies, evergreens and spring flowers forming a color scheme of green and white. During the reception the bridal couple was showered with congratulations and later received all manner of well wishes when they departed for a wedding trip of two weeks, the destination of which was not made known. On returning they will make their home at 1232 Park avenue. They were the recipients of numerous handsome presents as an evidence of the esteem in which they are held. Mr. Frederickson is a draughtsman in the employ of the Bliss Company, of Brooklyn, and enjoys prominence as a baseball pitcher.

ANSWER APPEAL OF KING'S DAUGHTERS

"Well-Wisher" and Mrs. Louisa L. Riley Start Fund With $30.

Responding to the urgent appeal for financial aid to operate the diet kitchen and carry on the other summer work of the City Union of the King's Daughters, The Daily Press today received two contributions, one of $20 from a "well-wisher" and another of $10 from Mrs. Louisa L. Riley. Now that the fund has been started so auspiciously, it is hoped that the many other friends and supporters of this deserving charity will respond promptly to the appeal and give all the aid possible.

Since the Day Nursery was started the work for children has grown rapidly until today it has reached large proportions. An additional tranied nurse has been employed for the summer to look after the diet kitchen and also visit the mothers and instruct them in preparing food for their children. The employment of the nurse as well as the expense of the diet kitchen will require a considerable sum of money and it is only through the generosity of Plainfield people that this work can be carried on successfully. Today's contributions:

"Well-Wisher" $20.00

PLANNING FOR BIG CELEBRATION

Dunellen Board of Trade Completing Details for Observance of July 4.

PARADE AND FIREWORKS

New Jersey Central Seeks Boards Co-operation for Mutual Benefit—Company's Employes Invited to Make Their Home in Dunellen.

An interesting resume of the work of the Fourth of July celebration committee was given by President Drussel at the June meeting of the Dunellen Board of of Trade, last night. He reported that a number of applications had been received from organizations and merchants who desire to be represented in the parade. Arrangements have been made to secure the Dutch Arms Band, of Plainfield for the day at a cost of $125, and the contract has been signed for the large firework's display to be given in the evening.

The president stated that a fine display of fireworks had been arranged for. While only a tentative program for the day has been compiled it will include an address by Mayor E. B. Latham, reading of the Declaration of Independence and an address by an out of town speaker.

The finance committee reported that about $200 has been collected to date and a large number of persons are yet to be heard from. Four applications for membership were presented and the applicants were elected they being C. W. Blaine, George Meyers, J. M. aBrto and John Henderson.

A letter from W. G. Besler, president of the New Jersey Central was read inviting the board to co-operate with the company in a 'get-together" movement for the mutual benefit of the towns along the line of the railroad. The secretary was instructed to express the willingness of the board to do its part and to also convey to Mr. Besler the hearty appreciation of the board for starting a movement of this character.

The board voted in favor of joining the Commercial Agricultural and Civic Federation of the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce and the treasurer was instructed to forward the necessary initiation fee. The president appointed Mayor Latham and himself as delagates to the dinner to be given by the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce on June 22 at "The Washington," in Newark. Frank Vanderlip will be the principal speaker.

The secretary gave an account of the impressions and enjoyment of the members of the affiliated Boards of Trade during their recent visit to Dunellen. Several matters were discussed and referred to the borough Council for action, including the repairing of the walks on the Hardingham property, the widening of the foot path at the Prospect avenue railroad crossing and the leveling of the new stone placed on Prospect avenue near Center street.

Charles Johnson proposed that letters be written by the board to certain officials of the New Jersey Central located in Philadelphia, extending to them and their employes an invitation to make their homes in Dunellen when the company's offices are removed to New York. This proposition was enthusiastically endorsed.

Following the transaction of the business the meeting was thrown open for discussion of the Fourth of July celebration. It was decided that the members of the board should parade in white hats and carry canes similar to their attire of last year and the president urgently requested all members to take part in the parade. eH also requested that citizens display the American colors on that day.

The board endorsed the movement of the Hbrary committee to make July 4 "tag day" for the benefit of the Free Public Library.

D. A. R. LUNCHEON.

The members of Middlesex Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will hold their annual luncheon today at the Bound Brook Country Club. Several guests from this city will be in attendance.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Irvon B. Seevers of 1125 West Front street, of the engagement of their daughter, Miss S. Prudence Seevers to William Williams, also of Plainfield.

HEBREW CHARITIES TO MEET.

SEE INSIDE OF 'PHONE PLANT

One Hundred Local People Guests of Company Officials Yesterday Afternoon.

HOW OPERATORS WORK

18,000 Messages Handled Daily, and 4,557 Telephones in Plainfield District—Takes 36 Operators in Day Time and Four at Night.

One hundred men and women visited the telephone building on East Fourth street, yesterday, upon invitation of the New York Company and saw how their telephone service is furnished.

The heavy outlay entailed in the establishment and maintenance of a central office is little realized, but those who visited the plant yesterday gained a new insight into the project, when they learned that a switchboard such as is used here can be built only in six months time, and that it represents an expenditure of approximately $84,000. There are 449 miles of wire and 48 miles of cable devoted to the use of telephone users in Plainfield.

The excnange handles approximately 18,000 messages each day, and is connected with 4,557 telephones in this central office district. Thirty-six operators are required in the daytime and four at night. These operators are watched by three supervisors, and are in charge of the chief operator, Miss Doeringer. A force of 120 people is needed to conduct all the departments of the telephone system in Plainfield.

The visitors first were shown through the cable vault, gas engine plant and the room for strong equipment in the basement. They were most interested in the cable vault, where the cables carrying the wires of all telephones served by the exchange are housed.

From the cable vault, the wires go

FOURTH CONCERT BY CANTATA CHORUS

Attractive Program Will Be Given at Monroe Avenue Church This Evening.

The fourth concert by the Cantata chorus of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church will be held at the church, this evening, and promises to be one of the best yet given by the chorus. The final rehearsal was held last night and was very satisfactory. The concert will be given under the direction of William Holmes with Mrs. F. J. Hubach accompanist. The assisting artists will be Mrs. Royle T. Phillips, impersonator, and Clarence Heaume, violinist. There will be no admission fee, but a silver offering will be received. The program will be as follows:

"Over the Hills," Geibel, Cantata chorus; violin solo, "Barcarolle," Dancla, Mr. Heaume; soprano solo, "Good Night Little Girl," Macy, Mrs. Edward Sweetman; reading, "Hannah the Quakeress," Anon, Mrs. Royle T. Phillips; duet, "Life's Dream is O'er," arr. Asher, Mrs. Albert Flood and Louis V. Tallamy; "Love and Summer," West, Cantata chorus.

RESIGNS AS MANAGER OF BOUND BROOK CONCERN

Frederick O. Ball, of Washington avenue, has tendered his resignation as general manager of the American Engine and Electric Company, of Bound Brook, to take effect July 1 next. Mr. Ball has been connected with this concern for a number of years and will in the future be associated with his father.

Mr. Ball and his father will have their headquarters in Detroit, Mich., but the families will continue to reside in North Plainfield. They will engage in the manufacture of carburetors.

DIPLOMAS FOR A LARGE CLASS

North Plainfield High School Will Graduate Twenty-five Friday Night.

PLAN COMMENCEMENT

Program as Arranged—Miss Jennie Sears the Salutatorian and Estes Sall the Valedictorian—Class Day Exercises Combined.

Twenty-five diplomas were signed by the members of the North Plainfield Board of Education at the meeting held in the Somerset School last night, and this number will be graduated from the borough High School next Friday night. This is considered an unusually large number for the borough. The complete program for the commencement exercises has been drawn up and Dr. Charles M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church will be the speaker.

The resignation of Miss Atner, a teacher in the history department of the North Plainfield High School, was received and accepted last night but no successor was appointed at the meeting. She will take a position next year with the Board of Education in East Orange. The salaries of the teachers were ordered paid last night and the Board adjourned to meet June 29.

Part one—Overture, "Sar!" Kalman, orchestra; Invocation, Rev. Dr. Charles Anderson, of First M. E. church; chorus, "Song of the Vikings," Faning, High School Glee Club; salutatory address, "Lafayette in the American Revolution," Jennie A. Those who will be graduated are: Charles Beckman, Mary Bennett, Sadie Bornman, Ashley Burner, Edith Dalley, Frank Dunning, Lucile Ewart, Kathleen Hanlon, Flora Krausse, Virginia LaPorte, Roy Love, Franklin Lowe, Mary Martin, Robert McGunnell, Gibson Fairman, Elva Force, Aline Giddes, Atwood Giddings, Edna Green, Lois Peck, Beatrice Pope, Jennie Sears, Estes Small, Anna Warnock, Helen Woodruff.

C. O. S. PLANS FOR SUMMER CAMPAIGN

The Charity Organization Society has planned another summer campaign to give the poorer people of Plainfield short vacations during the hot months. The society has sent out letters to the people of this city asking for their co-operation in getting ice and milk for the babies, for day's trips for mothers and children, for trolley rides and for vacations in the country for boys and girls.

The suggestion has been made that the owners of automobiles when they leave the city should give over their automobiles as a treat for some of the oldest people who cannot otherwise get out. This would give some of them the greatest amount of pleasure.

Last year the organization sent 450 women and children to the seashore for the day. Besides this three deserving families receiced ice daily all summer and twenty-six young people were given a week or more in the country. Since the regular income of the society cannot be spared the funds for this purpose must be raised by special subscriptions. Contributions for the vacation fund should be sent to J. Albert Lane, treasarer, 323 Babcock building.

SHIRTWAIST DANCE TO BE BIG AFFAIR

Second Night Club Promises Many Novel Features at Its Banner Event.

The various committees aranging for the Second Night Club's shirtwaist dance to be given in Columbus Hall next Monday night, held a joint meeting last night, and made final plans for the big affair. It was positively announced that Ed. Brown's full stringed orchestra would furnish music, both singing and playing. These are the same musicians who are all the rage at dance affairs among the elite of Fifth avenue and Newport and have been secured at great expense. They are a distinct novelty in themselves.

The Second Night Club's chorus of trained singers will do some delightful vocal work during a special dance number which is to be known as a novelty. William N. Runyon has consented to coach the participants, while Edward Harding, Jr., and Thomas Connolly will lead the singing. Henry Bryniarski will operate the lantern for an original shadow dance and there will be several surprise features during the evening that are being kept secret. Refreshments will be served by the Kandy Shope. The proceeds from the affair will be for the benefit of the Columbus Club, with which the Second Night Club is allied.

The different committees in charge of the dance are as follows: Financial committee, H. J. Pasch, T. J. Meaney, Frank Burke, W. H. Brown, Frank Briscoe, Joseph Murray; singing committee, Ed. J. Harding, Thos. Connolly; shadowgraph committee, Thomas C. Harding, C. Regan; F. V. Donnelly; floor committee, M. T. Moynihan, "Doc" Doyle, D. J. McAffee, G. A. Bailey, H. J. Forristel; reception committee, Jos. Gren, John McCarthy, James J. Kyle, William V. Sullivan, John T. Caulfield, L. R. Harding, James M. Cullen, G. A. Keating, J. J. Coffey, J. Traynor, Vincent Meaney, J. P. Lynch, J. G. Carty, John Kyle.

COUPLE SURPRISED ON WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. John Walsh Greeted by Large Company of Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John Walsh, of 307 Madison avenue, were given a pleasant surprise at their home last evening in honor of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. Earlier in the evening Patrick Melvin took the couple to Westfield in an automobile, and when they returned were completely surprised to find their home filled with friends. Fully sixty guests greeted Mr. and Mrs. Walsh, and as the couple walked into the house a wedding march was played, the same one that was played when they were married a quarter of a century ago. The guests danced to the music of an orchestra until the early hours of the morning.

Mr and Mrs. Walsh received many handsome presents from their guests who came from cities in New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania. The house was beautifully decorated in silver tinsel and red roses. Miss Helen Walsh and Patrick Melvin of thic city, were mainly instrumetnal in making the surprise party such a success. During the course of the evening Father Freeman, who married the couple at St. Joseph's church in North Plainfield, presented them with their marriage license which was in a silver frame. The party broke up at 4:30 in the morning. Mr. Walsh has lived in Plainfield for forty-three years. He is a charter member of the T. A. B. Society.

LIGHT FROST IS THE PREDICTION FOR TONIGHT

The month of June thus far has been a month of variable weather conditions. Last week the extreme heat was entirely unseasonable, and broke records on two or three days, while just prior to that a dry spell was threatening the berry crops in this vicinity. Yesterday experienced a drop in temperature, and this morning at 6 o'clock the mercury had reached fifty degree in this part of the state. The local forecast indicates a possibility of frost tonight, with rising temperature tomorrow.

FOWLER'S HAT IS IN THE RING

WANTS TARIFF REVISION

Also Favors New Banking and Financial System—Candidacy Adds Interest to Already Complicated Situation in Party.

Added interest in the political campaign was given today when former Congressman Charles N. Fowler threw his hat in the ring, as a candidate for nomination for his former position on the Republican ticket. While not entirely unexpected, Mr. Fowler's announcement gives a new turn to affairs, and it may have some bearing on whether or not former Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, of this city, will seek the place. Mr. Ackerman sailed for Japan two weeks ago, and before leaving Plainfield did not give out any formal statement as to what he would do about running, but it is said that he left the decision to Republican County Chairman Frank H. Smith. Fowler is the second man to declare himself a candidate for the place, as William C. Stuchell, a Rahway minister, has declared his intention of seeking the honor.

Mr. Fowler has a large following in Union county, although he has incurred the opposition of the powers-that-be in the Republican party. He was a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor last September at the primaries, his opponents being Edward C. Stokes and Carlton B. Pierce, of Cranford. Mr. Fowler surprised his enemies by securing the highest vote in Union county, defeating Stokes, and running 350 ahead of Mr. Pierce, who had the backing of the Republican organization. Here in Plainfield he secured a total of 385 votes, while Stokes had 485 and Pierce 308. In the county Mr. Fowler secured 1,705, while the vote for Pierce was 1,364 and for Stokes 1,660. It is reasonably certain, say the political wiseacres, to assume that Mr. Fowler will secure as large a vote this fall, and if he can do as well in Morris county, he will, of course, receive the nomination easily.

His formal statement given for publication this afternoon was as follows:

"Yes, I have decided to become a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in this district.

"I am particularly and most deeply interested in those two great questions which will first engage the next Republican Congress as they did, in the first instance, engage the attention of the Democratic party when it came into power—a revision of the tariff and a financial and banking system.

"I am in favor of a broad tariff commission, but first of such a revision of the tariff laws as will breathe the breath of life, hope and opportunity into our prostrate industries and that will bring back labor to our workingmen. I am in favor of having Americans do the work for America and as much work as possible for the rest of the world, and the rest of the world do as little work as possible for us.

"I am utterly opposed to the Wilson-Glass-Owen, politically-managed flat money scheme; but I am in favor of a sound, scientific financial and banking system worthy of a country representing nearly 50 per cent. of the bank resources of the entire world.

"In 1894 Thomas B. Reed said of the Democratic members of the House, 'Of course you can't run the country. You can't even run yourselves. You are simply incompetent.'

"Today Congress, which the New York imes, the leading Democratic paper in the country, pronounced conspicuous for mental pauperism, is being run by one man who is an over-trained theorist, a man who is intoxicated with himself, besotted with political power and temporarily, at least, suffering from a psychological aberation.

"The press of the country quoted the President as saying shortly after assuming the duties of his office: 'There is now in Washington the most powerful and insidious lobby that has ever existed there.' We now know that the President knew exactly what he was talking about, for the whole country has observed and noted the goods delivered and prices paid, expressed in the terms of favors and patronage.

"In the meantime the country has again learned what our older citizens already knew, that 'Democratic rule stands for doubt of the future, disturbance of trade, depreciation of values, depression of business, destruction of credit, disaster and des-

STYLISH RELIABLE

"In Swimmin"

Have you ever watched boys "in swimmin'?" One lad finds himself in the water. He frolics, splashes and plays. Soon another joins him. The first becomes ambitious. He strikes out listlessly at first. So does the second lad. Then both strike out with main and might, strain strength and ability to "be first."

That is COMPETITION—clean, honest and beneficial competition which AMBITION has created.

Arrested for selling liquor on Sunday without a license, Mattio Ponzio, of Scotch Plains, was brought before Recorder Jahn of that place last night and pleaded guilty to the charge preferred against him. His defense was that he was ignorant of the law which forbids him to sell linquor and as it was his first offense he was let off with a suspended sentence. Ponzio is an Italian and it seems he has been in the habit of selling liquor to his countrymen. It had escaped the notice of the 'Plains officials until Sunday, when Marshal Ashton noticed an Italian going away from Ponzio's place carrying a jug and on closer inspection it turned out to contain hard cider. Both men were arrested and held in bail for appearance in court last evening.

There was a capacity audience in the upper room of the Whittier School last evening to witness the two eight grade class plays, "The Teeth of the Gift Horse" and "Friday Afternoon at a Village School." The acting in both of the plays was good, reflecting credit upon the efforts of the coaches. Miss Mabel Bennett was the coach for the "Gift Horse," and Alfred Naugle the school play. The school play was especially funny, the natural antics of the pupils, an old-fashioned spelling class and, thesises on varicus subjects by Clara Louise Kellog Smith (Priscilla Pennock) and others, keeping the audience in an almost continuous uproar. In "The Teeth of the Gift Horse" the casts were: Richard Butler, Robert Stryker; Florence Butler, his wife, Sarah Watson; Marietta Williams, his aunt, Doris Vander Veer; Anne Fisher, Marguerite Gray; Devlin Blake, Howard Bloomfield; Mrs. Blake, his wife, Amy Richards; Katie the ward, Tessie Hannon; Bernice Walsh, Winnifred Schenck. Those who took part in the school play were teacher, Ruth Eder and pupils Hazel Humble, Agnes Ronayne, Jesse Hayes, William Mundy, Priscilla Pennock, George Zink, Edward Reusch, Josephine Hague, Michael Forgach, John Movencik, Mona Roskell, Maud Whitford and Ethel Lewis. The funds obtained will be used for the purchase of a memorial to be left by the class in the school.

The closing exercises of the Whittier School took place at the schoo yesterday. The upper room f th school in which the exercises were held was crowded to its capacity by the pupils of the school and their parents. The exercises commenced with the singing of "The Song of Joy" by the school. Then during the course of the program other songs were sung by the school and there were recitations by Margaret Quinn, Everett Ayers, Evelyn Smalley, Jessie Sutphen, Alice Jones, Elizabeth O'Leary; a solo entitled "the Secret," by Margaret Dean; an exercise "Lena's Dream," by six pupils of the 2nd and 3rd grades; another exercise entitled "Vacation" by eight pupils of the receiving and first years; a song entitled "The Contented Bird," by Joseph Forgach; a piano solo "Evening Chimes," by Dora Whitford; "Echoes on the Lake," beautifully and sweetly rendered by a trio composed of Naomi Snyder, Ellen Harris and Deveral Apgar; the presentation of medals and prizes; a short and complimentary address to the pupils by County Superintendent H. Brewster Willis, during which he incidently lauded the Parent-Teacher Association, and as a fitting conclusion to the splendid exercises the assembly arose to its feet and sang the "Star Spangled Banner." The pupils who were awarded prizes for scholarship and deportment, a girl and boy being picked out from each grade, are as follows, together with their respective grades:

Reception grade, Evelyn Smalley and George Young; first grade, Grace Pierson and Walter Schneiderwind; second grade, Betty Carpenter and Joseph Forgach; third grade, Nancy Johnson and Harry Spurdle; fifth grade, Marion Houghtaling and LeRoy Walters; sixth grade, Jessie Sutphen and Elmer Swackhamer; seventh grade, Dora Whitford and Morris Stites.

The pupils who received books for the most improvement in penmanship during the school term, one being selected from each grade, are as follows: Reception grade, Anna Movencik; first grade, Tessie Napwikoski, second and third grades, William Murphy; fifth grade, John Pierson; sixth grade, John Doyle; seventh grade, Alfred Spurdle. The pupils who received books for a clear record as to attendance are as follows: Reception grade, none; first grade, James Costello, Edwin Williams and Evelyn Smalley; second and third grade, Wilha Kohlwers, and Harry Spurdle; fifth grade, Marie Bernard, Elizabeth Young, Ralph Humble, Charles Johnson, and Clarence Tinsman; sixth grade, Lillian Johnson, Margaret Quinn, Jessie Sutphen and John Smith; seventh grade, John Maskell, Morris Stites, Emily Williams, Kathryn Maier and Sadie Kuntz.

GERARD NOT A CANDIDATE.

Denies He Will Enter Senatorial Race to Succeed Root.

Berlin, June 16.—James W. Gerard, American ambassador to Germany, denies the report that he is tiring of the diplomatic service and is considering entering the race for the Democratic nomination for United States senator from New York. When Ambassador Gerard was shown the report he said:

"I am not a candidate for any office unless President Wilson should draft me for it. Otherwise it would be unfair to him and to Secretary of State Bryan for me to accept the appointment to Berlin and then, after having spent a year in getting into a position where I can help his administration and American business allow my personal political ambition to send me rainbow chasing after the senatorship."

WILSON CHARGES BUSINESS PLOT

Finds Big Scheme to Halt Pending Trust Bills.

DEMANDS PASSAGE AT ONCE

Produces Letters to Show Pressure Against Trust Legislation—Holds Big Business Responsible For Psychological Depression—Says Exposure Will Defeat Plans of Conspirators.

Washington, June 16.—President Wilson laid upon big business the responsibility for creating depression which he had described as "psychological."

He virtually charged that an organized campaign had been waged to shake public confidence in the business outlook and force the adjournment of congress before the completion of the anti-trust legislation.

In setting forth his views the president asserted with great emphasis that all the influences he possesses will be exerted to keep congress in session until "business" legislation is enacted.

In support of the president's view, copies of letters and telegrams circulated among business men calling for an adjournment of congress without completion of the trust bills, praying for the freight rate increase that the railroads ask from the interstate commerce commission and calling for a halt on the "attacks on business" were made public at the White House.

President Wilson made it clear to his callers that the campaign—if such it may be called—would have no effect upon him and that it was his plan to push the trust program through the senate with the aid of all the means at his command. He expressed the view that business now is as good as if not better than it was awhile ago and that it would be less harmful to the business of the country to have the trust legislation program completed than to be confronted with a period of uncertainty which would accompany delay.

E. C. Simmons Involved.

One of the circular letters which came into possession of the White House was circulated by the Simmons Hardware company of St. Louis. E. C. Simmons, head of the company, had been selected for a member of the federal reserve board under the new banking law, and his nomination was to have gone to the senate.

It was announced at the White House, however, that Mr. Simmons had declined the place and that Charles S. Hamlin of Boston, now an assistant secretary of the treasury, would be nominated in his place. But White House officials emphatically denied that the circular letter sent out by the Simmons company had any connection with his declination.

Another circular letter made public, purported to have been sent out by the Pictorial Review company of New York, was signed by W. P. Ahnelt as president. It was dated May 1 and inclosed a draft of a letter "which embraces the views of a majority of the thinking business people of our section of the country and which should be addressed to the president of the United States and the congress and members of the interstate commerce commission, respectively."

DISMISSED, TRIES SUICIDE.

Former Captain of Marines Blames Secretary Daniels.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 16.—Captain Ernest E. West, recently dismissed from the United States Marine corps for conduct unbecoming an officer, shot himself in a hotel here. The bullet was fired into his head, and doctors say he has a chance to recover, though he will probably be blind.

Before shooting himself West mailed letters to Atlanta stating his life was ruined, and these letters were received just as the telegraph brought the news of his attempt at suicide. He is a Georgian and graduated from the Naval academy in 1888. He resigned from the service, but he enlisted during the Spanish-American war and made a fine record.

"I have been greatly wronged," says West in one letter. "I am not morally bad. But, my God, a man can be killed, and I have been. The court which tried me first acquitted me and then changed its decision for some unknown reason, and Secretary Daniels with his new policy finished me. I lost the income on $50,000, my health is bad and life is impossible."

FIANCE AND GIRL ARE "KIDNAPED"

Whisked From New Brunswick to Newark.

ONE, FREED, CALLS POLICE

Otherwise Ida Gordon Might Now Be Bride, For She Was Willing—Friend Guides Chum's Parents and Number of Detectives to House Where Girl Was Held.

Newark, N. J., June 16.—Miss Ida Gordon and Miss Ida Salutsky were walking along a deserted street in New Brunswick, chatting as old chums do chat, when a big touring car whizzed up to the curb beside them and three men leaped out.

Miss Gordon screamed. A heavy overcoat was thrown over her head, her arms were pinioned to her sides and one of the men, lifting her bodily, carried her into the automobile. Miss Salutsky was so dazed that she stood stock still and was brought to the point of resistance only when two of the men grabbed her and pulled her also into the tonneau.

In another instant the auto was going at a great rate. Two of the men were in the tonneau with the girls; the other drove. Miss Gordon was still muffled up in the overcoat. Miss Salutsky, seeing that there was nothing to be gained by struggling, began to look about her in earnest.

"Why, Frank!" she exclaimed. The man thus addressed was Frank Lewis, twenty-five years old, of 68 Albany street, New Brunswick.

But Frank made no reply to the exclamation. Looking at Frank's companion Miss Salutsky was able to discern through the darkness that he too was an acquaintance. Then she caught a closer glimpse of the driver and recognized him as well.

The touring car raced into Newark and pulled up in front of the house at 110 Nassau street. The two girls were bundled out and taken indoors. That was the last Miss Salutsky saw of her companion. Her own protestations became so vehement and her threats so terrific that at last it was agreed to take her back to New Brunswick.

A very little while after Miss Salutsky's arrival at the Gordon home she had started again for Newark, this time in a police automobile with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon and a number of detectives. She guided them to the house at 110 Nassau street, which belongs to Lewis' brother.

Newark detectives already had arrived and Miss Gordon was safe. She was found in the front parlor smiling and clinging to Lewis' arm, and trying to make the detectives understand that a pretended abduction was really the best way of effecting an elopement.

AVIATOR FALLS INTO OCEAN.

Fishermen Rescue Atlantic City Flier From Top of Machine.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 16.—Edward K. Jaquith, the young New York aviator who has been startling crowds here with his flights in a Curtiss hydroaeroplane, spent an hour bobbing up and down on the ocean when his gasoline gave out, and he was forced to drop into the water.

Jaquith climbed on top of his planes and waved his coat as a signal for nearly an hour before help reached him. In that time he had drifted over a mile out to sea. Fisherman towed the flying boat to the end of a pier. The aviator started again and when up 100 feet something went wrong. He came down in a sudden flop and received a bad shaking up.

Morristown Woman Ends Life as Child Lies Nearby.

Morristown, N. J., June 16.—Believed to have been temporarily deranged because of illness which would have necessitated an operation within a few days, Mrs. Alice Lawless, thirty-nine years old, the mother of two small children, committed suicide at her home on Elm street by firing a bullet from a revolver into her brain.

Her husband was away from home with the other child at the time. The body was found by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Dennis Lawless. An infant child of Mrs. Lawless was lying on the bed in the room where the suicide took place.

BABY KILLED BY TROLLEY.

Father Collapses at Sight of Toy Which Child Had.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 16.—Paul F. Gerhart 2d, two-year-old son of Charles Gerhart of East Orange, strayed from his father's side and was struck and killed by a trolley car at New York and Atlantic avenues.

Mr. Gerhart reached the scene just after the body had been taken away. He collapsed at sight of a little toy house lying crushed in the street. He had bought it for his son a few minutes before they were separated.

Operating Room, Plainfield Central Office, Showing Chief Operator's Desk in the Foreground.

INSPECT 'PHONE PLANT

to the "main distributing frame," where they are re-arranged in order of calling numbers, protected by various special devices and sent on to the switchboard.

Before seeing the exchange room, the visitors were shown the wire chief's desk, which is equipped with apparatus which enables the wire chief to detect trouble on any telephone line and to locate where the fault is almost instantly.

When telephony was still in its infancy, telephone employes used to call up each subscriber regularly to ask if the telephone was working well, but today such action is unnecessary. The wire chief does this work. His fingers are constantly upon the pulse of the system and he is able to detect and locate trouble on any line before the subscriber does, and to start the work of repairing within a few minutes.

The exchange room is a marvel of efficiency. One sees blinking lights, a long board of polished mahogany, intent young women, whose tongues and hands are never idle, and silent supervisors. One hears a low drone of conversation, and the click, click, as brass plugs, attached to cords, are shoved into litle holes on the board in front of the operators. There is no confusion, just the whir and hum of business action.

Just lifting the receiver starts a telephone conversation. The simple movement causes a tiny light to flash on the switchboard before an operator, notifying her of your desire to make a call. The operator inserts a "plug" in a little hole on the switchboard called a "jack," directly above the flashing light and connects with the calling subscriber's line. Almost at the same time, she pushes a listening key on the board, connecting here telephone set with the line. "Number, please?" she calls.

The number is given the operator

The number is given; the operator mistakes, places another "plug" in a "jack" corresponding to the number wanted and completes the connection. This is the procedure when the conversation is between subscribers in the same exchange.

Each switchboard has what are called "A" and "B" positions, and from either all the lines in the central office may be reached. At the "A" positions all calls made by Plainfield subscribers are answered. If the calls are for other Plainfield subscribers, the operator who answers the calls can make the connection at the board in front of her.

All calls for Plainfield subscribers from other central offices are answered at the "B" positions. If Westfield No. 1 is calling Plainfield No. 1, the Westfield subscriber lifts her receiver and is answered by an "A" position operator at her central office. The operator learns the number and calls the Plainfield "B" position operator, who assigns a trunk line from Westfield to the Plainfield central office, and makes the connection with the line to the Plainfield central office.

The visitors were greatly interested in the provisions for caring for the health and comfort of the telephone operators.

In every telephone building, the operators have a locker room, a cosy, sunny rest room, and a dining-room for their use. They are served with coffee, tea, milk and cocoa without charge. The rest room in the Plainfield exchange is decorated attractively with rugs and suitable wall decorations, and is furnished with easy chairs, a reading table well supplied with current literature and a couch.

All employes are beneficiary under a pension plan, which provides for old age pensions, accident, and sick benefits and life insurance. Four international expositions have awarded medals to the Bell system for its welfare work for employes.

Assisting E. L. Wilson, the local manager of the telephone company in making the guests comfortable were Frank W. Warnke, district commercial manager, Richmond and South New Jersey divisions; F. W. Foottee, district traffic manager, and his assistant, Mr. Williams, of the Southern New Jersey division; S. L. Leeds of Elizabeth; J. J. Carty, of Plainfield; J. B. Hoff, of Jersey City and W. H. "After the election of a Republican Congress in the coming November, all business and laboring men will take heart, patiently bear their losses and suffer their misfortunes until they can drive the Democratic party completely out of power, in 1916, when under a constructive Republican leadership, the American people will sweep on to greater and greater achievements, surpassing anything yet recorded in the onward and upward movement of our National life."

GREASING THE WAYS.

Senator Martine, it appears, put through the confirmation of Mr. Hoagland as postmaster about as smoothly as anything he has done since going to Washington. Some of the opponents of the new appointee were so sure that a fight would be made on the confirmation of Mr. Hoagland that they made bets against it on Saturday afternoon, after they learned the name had been sent in by the President. But "our Jim" was not asleep, by any means, and while he may have made trouble for himself when the confirmation of an appointee in another State comes up, he certainly had the ways well greased in Mr. Hoagland's case.

The story is told by the Washington correspondent of the Newark Evening News, who explains that the "elastic institution known as senatorial courtesy made it possible for Mr. Martine to act with such unusual dispatch." The story of how it came about is well worth retelling, for by the action the doors have been closed for any controversy over the matter, although the speedy action may cause the Senator some embarassment from Michigan. As the News man tells it:

It appears that Senator William Alden Smith, the wily standpatter from the Wolverine State, has been chuckling up his sleeve at the expeditious Senator from New Jersey ever since the latter expedited the Plainfield appointment.

Grand Rapids has had a Republican postmaster. It is the home town of Smith, even as Plainfield has the distinction of being Martine's abode. Some time ago Postmaster-General Burleson removed the Republican postmaster of Grand Rapids as unfit. The nomination of Charles Hogadone, one of the few Democrats in Michigan, was sent to the Senate to take the Republican's place.

Immediately Smith started a filibuster against the confirmation. Smith has based his fight on the premises that a Senator has some voice in the selection of postmaster of his home town, be he Democrat or Republican. The Hogadone appointment has been in the custody of a sub-committee of the postoffice committee, the sub-committee consisting of Senators Martine, Smith, of South Carolina, and Smith of Michigan.

The Plainfield appointment reached the Senate about 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon. After a bit, the Senate convened in executive session. In ordinary procedure the Plainfield nomination would go to the Senate committee on postoffices and post roads for consideration. But Senator Martine asked that the custom be waived and that the nominee for his home town be confirmed forthwith. Senator Martine is said to have observed that it was Senatorial courtesy to allow a Senator wide latitude regarding selection of his home postmaster, and he urged that his friend be confirmed immediately without any ordinary red tape.

Inasmuch as Senator Martine is a member of the committee on postoffice and post roads himself, and is one of those sitting in judgment on Senator Smith's own action in delaying confirmation of Hogadone at Smith's home city, it gave the senior Michigan Senator an opening which he instantly seized.

Taking the floor Senator Smith observed that the New Jersey Senator was citing a well recognized custom and he added that he took pleasure in approving and supporting Senator Martine's request in every particular. Senator Martine bowed very low, as did Chairman Bankhead, of the postoffice committee, and the Plainfield man was immediately confirmed.

Now, Senator Smith believes he has the upper hand on the Democrats as to the Grand Rapids fight, thanks to Senator Martine's insistence as to the individual right of a Senator to exercise wide latitude toward "home town" appointments.

So it will be seen that Senatorial courtesy landed Hoagland without a struggle, and at the same time helped one of Senator Martine's associates in his home town. Truly the Senator is some diplomat.

The Daily Press, in its issue of Friday, May 29, announced EXCLUSIVELY AND CORRECTLY that Alvin E. Hoagland would be named as Plainfield's postmaster to succeed Elias H. Bird. No other local paper had any references to the fact until Monday, June 1. This was following the usual custom of the Daily Press of being the first local paper to give news of interest to all of the people. On Saturday last the appointment was made, being sent to the Senate according to news dispatches at 1 p. m., after the Daily Press had gone to press, following its usual custom on Saturday's during the summer, which is done by most real newspapers. Any claim by another local ppaer that it first told Plainfielders that Mr. Hoagland was to be the appointee is pure "bunk" as the small boy would say. Mr. Hoagland was first apprised of the fact that he would be named by this newspaper, and it has printed the first news regarding every phase of the appointment, except the actual sending of the name to the Senate. And the only reason that the actual sending of the name Saturday did not appear then was because the Press believes, with the College Club, that employes should have a half holiday on that day during the heated term.

There are mighty few people who do not at times get impatient at the telephone service, and the operators are frequently the targets for unkind remarks. Few have an opportunity to visit the central offices and see the task which confronts these young women. The New York Telephone Company, through A. B. Wilson, the local agent, is trying to show users of the telephone some of the problems and troubles incident to the operating work, through a series of visits to the local central office, and yesterday afternoon many local business men and women saw the inside of the Fourth street plant. Delegations will continue to be taken through until all phone users in the city who wish to have inspected the operating department. Probably no other task requires more patience and self control than working at a telephone switchboard, and it is a safe prediction that no one who watched them work will ever again become impatient. The Telephone Company has extended a public invitation to all who wish to visit the plant to do so, and the trip is well worth taking.

Trenton merchants are talking about a series of "suburban days" for the stores of that city, the plan being one which might well be worked out by Plainfield business men. The plan provides for the setting aside one day each week, to be known by the above title, and upon that day to extend special invitations to residents of the suburbs of the capital to visit the city and shop. Bargain attractions are offered through advertising made to appeal to the residents of the suburbs. It might be a good idea for the Plainfield business men to investigate the matter, and perhaps work out some plan by which one day could be set aside each week this summer to try out the plan.

Senator Martine's consistent stand in opposing the repeal of the canal free tolls bill has made thousands of new friends for the senior member of the upper house from this state. His determination to stick to what he believed was right, and his refusal to be swayed by the President have convinced the people that they have an honest representative who will not be influenced by anyone at any time. "Our Jim" has certainly a great hold on the common people of the state, and he will make those who are poking fun at him sit up and take notice when he goes into the primaries to seek re-election.

EUGENE P. EDWARDS PATENTS ROLLER BEARING DEVICE

Eugene P. Edwards, of West Front street, is the inventor of an improved roller and ball bearing type of universal joint patent having been secured recently, patent serial number 1,098,101, being assigned to the mechanism. A model of the new patent was recently tested out at 2,500 revolutions per minute, the instrument working without vibration. The joint is of the ball and socket type, self contained, and water and dust proof.

Mr. Edwards is a skilled mechanic, and is employed at the local plant of the Spicer Manufacturing Company. Mr. Edwards has not as yet completed his plans for putting the invention upon the market.

SETS FORTH ADVANTAGES OF A CITY DIRECTORY

The Board of Trade has undertaken to interest the merchants and business men of the city and vicinity in lending their aid to the publication of the new city directory. Lamar VanSyckel, the secretary has sent the following communications to business men in the city.

"Throughout the country the Merchants and Business Men of various cities are giving their support in the way of advertising in the local city directory not only because of the value of such advertising but primarily because of their civic pride as pertaining to the localities in which their places of business are located.

"The city directory is in its nature a quasi-public proposition, and as such should receive your support. We would greatly appreciate it, if you would grant the courtesy of an interview to the bearer. William A. Sexton.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 16.—The crisis in the Mexican peace negotiations has become more acute. A two hours' conference between the American and Mexican delegates in the presence of the mediators failed to bring about an agreement on any point, and especially on the vital question of the man to be made provisional president. Unless there is a change from the present situation before the end of the week the mediators will inform the two sets of delegates that it is useless to proceed with the negotiations.

It became known that the mediators were inclined to regard their efforts as at an end. They find satisfaction in having brought the American and Mexican governments together and in getting their assent to the principle of a plan for the pacification of Mexico. Believing that they have exhausted every argument to persuade the representatives of President Wilson and President Huerta to perfect the details of the plan, they are now almost ready to notify the contending parties that the point has been reached where the mediators feel that they must withdraw from the proceedings.

Decisive Developments Expected.

Washington, June 16.—The action of the mediators in turning down Carranza again was regarded by officials here as marking a crisis in the Mexican situation.

Decisive developments are expected quickly now or not at all. President Wilson and Mr. Bryan remained in the closest touch with the American delegates at the conference throughout the day. They watched every development with the keenest interest, feeling that any hour might bring news concerning the selection of provisional president.

The American delegates, acting under instructions from Mr. Wilson, have submitted the list of Mexicans who are acceptable to this government for the provisional presidency. The list, which is said to include more than half a dozen prominent Mexicans, is understood to be acceptable to the Constitutionalists. It does not include General Carranza himself. In the American list are:

General Felipe Angeles, chief of artillery of the Constitutionalist army and acting minister of war in the Carranza cabinet.

Pedro Lasourein, minister of foreign affairs in the Madero cabinet, who resigned under duress following the murder of Madero.

Luis Cabrera, one of the Constitutionalist representatives in Washington, who is expected to be one of the representatives of this faction at the Niagara Falls conference, had the mediators agreed to receive them without an agreement for an armistice.

Facing the crucial stage of mediation negotiations, President Wilson and Secretary Bryan upon resuming communication with the American delegates took up the question of selecting a provisional president acceptable to all factions in Mexico.

CLIFFORD CAUSEBROOK SURPRISED BY FRIENDS

Clifford Causbrook was pleasantly surprised at his home last night, by a number of his classmates and friends of the borough High School. Supper was served by the host's mother and dancing and singing were enoyed until a late hour.

Those who were present are the Misses Helen Hand, Dorothy Crane, Emma Manly, Rose Cooper, Marion Chandler, Marjorie Chandler, Helen Ryno, Grace VanDemburg, and Vincent LaPorte, Daniel Denny, Robert Hebert, James Goodwin, Grant Boos, Roy Force, John Dawe, Edson Day and Alfred Willett.

BOY ACCEPTED DARE THAT CAUSED SERIOUS INJURIES

A dare on the part of one of his companions nearly cost the life of Peter Nagel, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Nagel, of Dunellen, yesterday afternoon. Young Nagel accepted a challenge to walk across the New Market dam near the bridge. The current proved too much for the lad who lost his balance and fell eight feet to the rocks below.

He sustained severe cuts about the face and was badly bruised. The doctor who attended him said that the boy would have broken his neck if he had landed just a little further along the dam. Today it is reported he has completely recovered from the shock.

SHAMROCK IV. IS SPEEDY.

Portsmouth, Eng., June 16.—(Central News)—Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger for the America's cup, Shamrock IV, was placed in dry dock today. It is understood that the yacht is to be considerably lengthened, and that four tons of lead are to be taken from her keel. Yesterday over a 15 mile course, the new challenger again demonstrated her remarkable powers when sailing to the windward. In racing against the old Shamrock III, the new craft raced away and over the windward turn of 4¾ miles showed a gain of about 6 minutes.

George B. Wilson, of Mountain Top, Warrenille, has sold his farm for $5,000 and will give up farming.

LONG DISTANCE WALKERS ATTRACT MUCH ATTENTION

Excitement is foreign to the little village of Dunellen, but when it comes the inhabitants let the whole world know it. The tiresome routine of suburban life in that hamlet was rudely interrupted yesterday afternoon, when two comfortably attired "hikers" entered unheralded and later beat a hasty retreat. The pair, a man and his wife, were passing through Dunellen enroute to Philadelphia from New York, where they will deliver several lectures on "back to nature" subjects.

In response to a fulisade of queries launched at them by curious bystanders in the main street of that town the long distance walkers claimed to have left the Metropolis Sunday night, and expected to arrive in the Quaker town Friday morning. They had spent the night in Arlington and intended to pass last night with friends in Bound Brook.

Neither could be induced to divulge their names and would give out no information that would serve to fix their identification. The man claimed to have walked the distance a year ago in three days, but had planned on completing the tour this time in five, the presence of his wife slowing up the trip considerably. The walkers were scantily attired and attracted a large following of the juvenile character while passing through the village streets.

BOY SCOUTS' EXCURSION POSTPONED BY GOVERNMENT

Although complete arrangements had been made for an observation tour to Sandy Hook for Plainfield and Dunellen Boy Scouts next Thursday afternoon under the supervision of government officials, the excursion had to be postponed and the boys were acquainted with the news this morning. Scoutmaster E. O. Spurdle, of Dunellen, was in charge of the arrangements for the trip and he received word from the war department yesterday of the fact that the steamer that had been placed at the disposal of the boys had been placed in dry dock until after June 28.

The troop musicians who had been designated to go on the trip from this city will be advised as to the date on which the trip will be made. Mr. Spurdle is at present negotiating with the government officials in the matter and expects to arrange for another day in the near future.

DIVORCE DECREE SIGNED.

Dr. Ellis W. Hedges, of Watchung avenue, has been granted a divorce from his wife, the decree being signed recently. Mrs. Hedges has been making her home in California for several years. The divorce was granted on the grounds of desertion.

TEMPERATURE REPORT.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 61 degrees; 11 a. m., 68 degrees; 1 p. m., 71 degrees.

Benjamin Borman, of this city, has returned home from a visit to Richard Faulkner, of Mt. Horeb.

Mrs. Fred Porter, of this city, is spending a part of the week with her mother, Mrs. Mary Giddis, of Bound Brook.

DIFFERENT STATIONS IN HEAVEN DESCRIBED

"Death Bed Penitents Will Occupy Place Suited to Their Lives Here.

Rev. C. H. Mallery, rector of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, preached an interesting sermon at that church on Sunday, on the subect of "Heaven" He chose as his text, "In My Father's House for Many Mansions, I Go to Prepare a Place for You," St. John 14-2.

The preacher said that notwithstanding the prevalent unconcern on the part of many people as to spiritual things and the future life, yet there were reflective periods in every life, notably at the time of some great crisis when almost everyone gave place to some thoughts of eternity.

Taking up his theme, Mr. Mallery said the prevalent notion concerning Heaven was that it was above all things a place and state of unrest. This was correct, but not the rest of mere inactivity, rather was Heaven a place of intense activity, but a harmonious activity suited to one's being and which did not weary as the activities of this world do. It was the harmonious and restful activity of the swiftly gliding current.

In support of his contention concerning this active life of Heaven the preacher drew attention to St. John's revelation of the Heavenly choir which "Rest not day nor night saying Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God Almight." Heaven was also pictured by the speaker as a place in which there would be different stations or states of life suited to the characters of those who occupied them. It would seem to be unjust said Mr. Mallery to draw any other conclusion. Why should a person who had earnestly tried to live the Christian life all his days have to occupy the same station in the great hereafter as those who may be classed among the "death-bed penitents?"

Reason and justice demanded that persons should only enjoy in the other world the position which their lives in this fitted them for and entitled them to. Moreover the "many mansions" of the text seemed to imply that this was the teaching of Christ. In conclusion the sermon was illustrated by a synopsis of Dr. Van Dyke's booklet entitled "The Mansion" and which Mr. Mallery urged all the congregation to read.

Certified Pure Natural Ice

It used to be urged that the drinking of ice water is a dangerous practice.

Statistics of the State of New York show that for the past ten years the number of deaths from typhoid fever have been 40 per cent. less during May, June, July and August, when more of the ice is consumed.

Dr. W. T. SEDGWICK, says--

"The principal physiological effect of ice water is that of a powerful and, when one is habituated to it, a most agreeable stimulant. I have never heard or seen any good evidence that this stimulus was harmful."

"SPORTDOM TIPS"

When it comes to angling for free advertising the Ford Automobile Company has nothing on those Plainfield-North Plainfield High School baseball managers. As a means of stimulating a dying interest in interscholastic league sport last week the schoolboys launched a controversy that secured for them many dollars worth of advertising in the sporting columns of the local papers and swelled the gate receipts at Parker Field Saturday afternoon to record proportions. Not satisfied with the result of the issue Saturday, which culminated in a tie, the schoolboy athletes now come across with a second discussion for solution. It's a case of Parker Field or bust, with the local players, and the North Plainfielders likewise cling to their home diamond.

There appears to be a missing cog in the machine that operates the sport curriculum in the Plainfield High School. Coach Ralph Patch has been scored for his stand in the arrangement of details for the third game and Manager Harold Williams has been referred to as a "figure head." Now we'd like to know just who is going to foster the interest of the Queen City youths and if anyone on this side of the brook has ever been vested with the proper authority to "flip a coin" or answer either in the affirmative or negative for the Plainfielders. It is time to act and unless something is done in the very near future we're going to have war. Yea bo!

Saturday's contest brought about a whole lot of things for the national pastime in this section that came rather unexpectedly to all concerned. Few there were among the Queen City's "real" fans who knew that we had future Mathewson's, Cobbs, Chases and Wagners garbed in schoolboy regalia. Much favorable comment was expressed following the all-important contest regarding the qualifications certain individuals have for faster company and the encounter may lead to the placing of some of our schoolboy friends in semi-pro circles during the summer months.

Manager Ernest Dorflinger, of the Plainfield Pets, was one of the interested spectators. Dorflinger commented enthuiastically on the work of Denny, Sminck, Victorson, Burner, Peacock, Smalley and Apgar and intends to keep an eye on all of these youths during the remainder of the season.

The wide divergence in the scoring of hits between various local tally keepers is pretty likely to make trouble in the awarding of the trophy for individual batting at the conclusion of the race. Plainfield High School was minus four safe bingles and the boroughites happened to get one too many in Saturday's issue, according to one account. Manager Dorflinger, of the Plainfield Pets, the official Plainfield High School scorer, and the sporting editor of this paper kept the official hit tally Saturday afternoon, at the request of the Ritz store management, donors of the batting trophy, and are the most accurate.

Speaking of Dorflinger we are forced to light a couple of seconds on the name of Brannigan, the umpire. Dorflinger brought the arbitrator to Plainfield and he gave the finest exhibition of handling the diamond sport that has been seen in this city for many moons. Both teams were exhaustive in their praise of the "ump" after hostilities had been concluded.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—What is the value of a half cent dated 1853?—E. F.

Answer—Your coin, if dated 1852, would be worth $2, but the 1853 half cent is worth but two cents just at present.

INTEREST INCREASES IN FEMININE GAMES

Dunellen Bowling League Attracting Considerable Attention at Present.

The Woman's Two-team Bowling Tournament continues to be of interest, despite the waning of the bowling season, to the residents of Dunellen, the Presbyterian alleys being lined again last evening with spectators. The Miss Josephine Dealaman and Mrs. H. A. Wickham combination won all the games that they bowled and are now leading the tournament with a percentage of 1,000. The Mrs. Albert Russell and Mrs. Paul Carpenter duo broke even and the Miss Alice Apgar and Mrs. H. E. Nelson team lost all four games. Mrs. H. A. Wickham obtained the high score of the evening, 90, and Mrs. H. E. Nelson in her first game of the evening was unable to knock the pins over for a higher score than 20, which was the low score of the evening.

The scores:

BOX SCORE PUBLISHED BY THE DALIY PRESS THE OFFICIAL RECORD OF SATURDAY'S INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH.

Following the request made by Stephen Haff, manager of the Ritz Company, donors of the Interscholastic League batting trophy, this paper made arrangements to have experts score the Saturday contest between Plainfield and North Plainfield High Schools and although the scores published in the two local papers were widely different the Daily Press records have been accepted as official Plainfield High School is credited with fifteen hits and North Plainfield with eight. Each team had three errors charged up. These records will be used as a basis for figuring the percentages of individuals for the Hirsch-Mann trophy to be presented at the conclusion of the league race.

CAPTAIN BARRETT.

English Polo Star Who Gives Trouble to the Americans.

LINEUP OF POLO TEAM IS CHANGED

Personnel the Same; Great Interest in Game.

New York, June 16.—The American polo team enters the second game with England more determined than ever to win the next two matches and keep the cup on this side of the Atlantic. The defeat of Saturday did much to remove any feeling of overconfidence, and the Americans now realize that it will be a bitter battle to the end to keep the polo cup in the United States.

Belief that the American polo team had received its baptism of fire in the defeat of the first game of the cup series and that the players will redeem themselves in the next game was the factor which induced the polo committee to retain Rene La Montagne in his position as No. 1.

At the same time the committee decided to shift Devereux Milburn to back, the position in which he had made a splendid reputation in the last three cup series, and to place Lawrence Waterbury at No. 3.

There had been some discussion as to the advisability of substituting Malcolm Stevenson for Rene La Montagne, with a general shifting of position, but Mr. Milburn urged that it would be folly to put a new man in the team, inasmuch as the players had experienced their test in the first game and, he believed, would do better.

William L. Hazard, secretary of the Polo association, said that Mr. La Montagne should not have been so severely criticised as he was and that he believes the player will give a better account of himself in the next game.

MAY I HAVE THE THIRD?

The dancing fad that's all the rage, no longer is discreet
For now it's hesitating on the C-N sporting sheet
With this dope at your command
You can quickly understand
Why the brains of little ed, the cub, have settled in his feet.

And Milly's trying hard to make a change.

Plainfield Accepts Hyde Oval for the Third Game You Never Can Tell.

WILL PLAY TOMORROW

North Plainfield and Local High Schools Will Clash for Four Silver Loving Cups on Borough Field, According to One Announcement.

10:30—NO THIRD GAME.
11:30—WE WILL PLAY.
P. H. S. REPRESENTATIVE.

This was the last report received at this office but there is no telling what might happen between now and 3:30 tomorrow afternoon. As changeable as the weather, the schoolboys are giving the newspaper scribes all kinds of trouble just at present. After grinding out a column or so on the meeting this morning when the Plainfield representatives swore that they would never place a foot on Hyde Oval terra firma, we receive a 'phone call from Ninth street at 11 o'clock announcing that the Plainfielders were willing to yield to their borough rivals.

Representatives of both schools attended the conference this morning, the full Plainfield High School nine invading the "Canadian" territory in an effort to have Coach Patch's arrangements made yesterday at a similar session, laid aside. Those who took an active part in the meeting were Captain Benjamin Rosenson, Manager Harold Williams and players Harry Brick, Bill Peacock and Warren Butler, of the Plainfield High School, and Principal Albert Earley, Coach Thomas Mullin, Captain Ralph Smalley and Manager Charles Beckman, of North Plainfield High School.

Although they turned down the Hyde Oval proposition this morning the Plainfielders held a meeting upon their return to the school this morning and rather than forfeit the contest and all that goes with it accepted North Plainfield's plan.

The boroughites demanded that the original agreement made with Coach Patch be respected and their right cannot be questioned. All are ready to admit that the diamond at Parker Field is the better of the two and that the facilities at the latter place are by far the best. On the other hand North Plainfield was rightfully entitled to its contentions, Coach Patch placing himself on record yesterday morning as "being entirely in favor of playing the game on Hyde Oval." In the event of Plainfield's refusal to play off the tie Paul Collier, the donor of the championship trophy, announced he would present the cup to North Plainfield.

TWO HOURS OF FUN FOR THE BIG GAME

Doctors-Lawyers Representatives Complete Final Details for the Side Show.

Plans have been completed for the fun making program at Parker Field next Saturday afternoon when the doctors and lawyers will meet in a benefit "baseball" contest. V. W. Nash, Jr., who has charge of the committee on stunts, has had plenty of time to meditate during the last few days while laid up with a sprained ankle sustained while practising, and has drawn up plans that will eclipse any that have ever before been mapped out for a similar occasion. The fun making will begin at 2:30 when the respective forces meet at the hospital to form a line of march to the playing arena.

Led by a band the parade will proceed to Parker Field where the game will start promptly at 3 o'clock. With the band in front the nurses will come next, followed by the "old guard" of the doctors, then the lawyers, and last but not least, the doctors. Prior to and during the hostilities a special program of merriment will be in full sway. Many local characters and several professionals from out of town have been engaged as entertainers and the round of jolliment will be a continuous one.

A breathing spell will be given the doctors and lawyers who will perform in the main attraction, provisions having been made for substitute teams in the middle of the contest. In this one inning the hospital nurses will try conclusions with the "old guard" of doctors. This scene will be a novel one, special equipment of an original nature being brought into action. For bats the players will use frying pans, tennis racquets, lacrosse racquets, broom handles, wooden legs, discarded splints and various other similar devices. A rubber ball, used in the game of volley ball, will be substituted for the five-ounce sphere of horsehide.

The doctors held their final meeting before the game last night and everything is now in readiness for the throwing out of the first ball, an honor which will probably be bestowed on a city official.

The Way That Polo Is Played

Each team has twenty to thirty ponies, allowing the four players to change mounts at the end of each of the eight periods and leaving a margin to provide against accidents.

Mallets are five feet long, made of bamboo or wrapped rattan, with cigar-shaped or square heads.

The ball is of willow root, painted white, is three and one-eighth inches in diameter and weighs five ounces.

The field is 900 feet long, 450 feet wide, and has ten-inch boards along the side.

Goal posts made of papier mache or light wood, so they will break easily if bumped by a player, stand at the middle of the field ends. The posts are 24 feet apart and 10 feet high.

There are four players on each team. No. 1 leads the attack and is assisted by Nos. 2 and 3. The back defends the goal.

The game is divided into eight periods of seven and one-half minutes each. There is a rest of three minutes between the periods, except between the fourth and fifth, when an 11-minute rest is allowed.

Time is taken out for accidents to players or ponies, but not for broken mallets or change of mounts not necessitated by injury.

A referee and two judges, assisting him, superintend the playing, they are mounted.

A goal—knocking the ball between or directly over the other side's goal posts—counts one point.

A ball knocked across the end of the field at either side of the goal is said to be out of bounds. This is followed by a "knock in" by the goal defenders, the other side being at least 50 yards away in the field.

When a player knocks the ball through his own goal it is called a safety and is penalized one-quarter of a point.

A foul is penalized one-quarter of a point or more if it was a deliberate and serious violation of the rules.

Striking another player or his mount with the hands or mallet is a foul. Violating another player's "right of way" is also a foul. So is the cruel use of spurs.

If a ball is broken or lost, the referee starts the play again by tossing a new ball to the centre of the field.

MANY MOTORISTS ON MIDLAND BEACH RUN

Nineteen Went From Plainfield on Outing Sunday Morning.

Nineteen members of the Plainfield Motorcycle Club went to Midland Beach, Sunday, indulging in one of their best spins of the summer months. A feature of the occasion was a basket luncheon served at the beach and many of the motorists who took the trip took advantage of the bathing facilities offered them. The water was cold and the dips were of short duration.

No trouble of any nature occurred on the round trip to mar the day's sport and two side-cars lined up for the start at Jack Horner's place of business on Somerset street. One of the motorists took three besides himself on his machine, two in the side car and one in the rear. This is considered an especially big load for a vehicle of this nature and a driver seldom attempts to take this number of passengers on a trip similar to this one. The machine was piloted by Al Hansen.

Returning from Midland Beach a stop was made at the "Pines" where dinner was served, the repast resulting in the unearthing of a new name for Jim Conway. He exhibited a marked liking for "chickun'" of the feathered variety and the handle was bestowed on him by fellow clubmates. The party arrived home at 11 o'clock.

Those who went were the Misses Higgins, Ball, Thompson, Johnson, Wakefield, and Mrs. Horner and Mrs. Hansen, and Ralph Auerbach, H. Alberts, H. Rupert, James Conway, E. S. Bird, L. Hansen, Master Hansen, Al Bowlby, C. Giles, J. Jacot, P. Newman. The club will go to Lake Hopatcong next Sunday. The entertainment committee for June 18 has aranged for a luncheon at Hotel Nelson, New Market. Music and dancing will be features.

EXPECT A HOT TIME AT LEAGUE MEETING

Sunday School Teams Will Act on 1st Baptist Amendment at Next Session.

First Baptist Sunday-school league team managers are leading a movement which will be introduced to the baseball organization at its meeting this week and all interested in the matter are looking forward to a big time when the matter comes up for settlement. The proposition is in the nature of an amendment to the league's constitution making provision for college players who have returned home for the summer vacationns only to find themselves barred from competition in the league.

A number of First Baptist players of last year, as well as several of the other schools, have recently returned to their homes and made application for reinstatement in the organization. The constitution at the present time makes them ineligible as they have not been present at the respective Sunday-school a sufficient number of times. Thus they are barred from playing in the league and will be for the rest of the season under the present rulings.

The amendment which the First Baptist players advocate makes provision for this case and it is understood that the other two managers are ready to oppose the action. A hot fight will probably be the result and the teams will have their representatives on the job when the meeting is called.

PARKER FIELD OR HYDE OVAL? PATCH OR WILLIAMS?

Plainfield, N. J., June 16, 1914.
Sporting Editor, Plainfield Daily Press.

A spectator at the stirring baseball game between the teams of Plainfield and North Plainfield High Schools, last Saturday, as well as a daily reader of your interesting column, naturally, was attracted by the article bearing on the postponed game scheduled for tomorrow afternoon and the controversy growing out of the field upon which it shall be played.

For many years a close follower of sports, I was surprised to see that Mr. Patch, athletic director of the Plainfield High School, had agreed to pitch the next struggle on Hyde Field. In the first place the High School team has a manager and seemingly he was not consulted in the scheme. It is within the province of the student manager to veto any and all arrangements Mr. Patch might make, especially when the former is backed by the student body. Saturday's game was an incomplete contest, and by all the rules of big and little leagues, and collegiate baseball, the contest must be finished on the field where it originally was staged. Every argument favors Parker Field for this game. There the many spectators who might be attracted to the game can be comfortably accommodated. The best one can get at Hyde Field is a perch on a clay hillside for from the field and commanding a poor view of play. The street car facilities to the North Plainfield diamond are poor and from any part of Plainfield a long walk must ensue.

Since Mr. Patch left his team in the lurch on Saturday and found it necessary to absent himself when so important a game was under way, one can't figure why he should take so arbitrary and palpably unjust a stand in the approaching game. The lack of coaching was glaringly manifest on aSturday. The errors of omission rather than those of commission on the part of the Plainfield boys permitted the game to drag into extra innings. Had this team been thoroughly drilled in the rudiments and fundamentals of baseball, such as getting rid of the ball as soon as a play is made, and above all keeping the ball always just ahead of the baserunner, the score would have been a one sided affair with Plainfield an easy winner. Let Patch run the team on the field if he sees fit, that's what he's paid to do, but at the same time permit the team manager to perform his functions, for I am sure the results will be more sanguinary.

FAIR PLAY.

FRAUD AT CADET QUIZ?

Annapolis Officers Looking Up Alleged Substitutions.

Annapolis, Md., June 16.—It became known here that there is suspicion that some fraudulent work was done by one or more candidates for the academy who took the examinations under civil service rules last April and that a thorough investigation is going on. It is believed that one and possibly others procured some one else to impersonate them and take the tests.

This deceit was not difficult, as the examinations are held in various places in the country, and the candidates are not specially identified by the examiners. Under the former system where the candidates were examined in Annapolis such a trick was impossible. It is reported that a bright youth who took the examination for another in a southern town received $500 for the work.

FOUR CUPS AT STAKE

Incentives to Competition in Interscholastic Match Are Many and Handsome—Various Phases for Which Special Awards Are Made.

TROPHIES AT STAKE.

Silver Trophy for Base Running. (Presented by the Men's Shop)

Silver Trophy for Individual Batting. (Presented by Hirsch and Mann)

When the North Plainfield and Plainfield High School baseball teams meet on Hyde Oval tomorrow afternoon to play off the tie for the Interscholastic League championship there will be four silver loving cups for the contending forces to battle for. A. H. Osmun, of the Men's Shop, announced this morning that he would give a silver loving cup to the player on either side making the most number of bases during the game. Mr. Osmun's offer is a generous one and comes at a time when it can be most generally appreciated by players and fans of the two institutions. The individual trophy is a beauty and is now on exhibition in the window of his store on Park avenue. The cup will be awarded to the player making the most number of bases on errors, base hits, wild throws, bases on balls or in any other way that may be unearthed.

Fans are familiar with the Collier, Ritz and Hirsch-Mann trophies, these having been placed on exhibition in Saturday's game. The Ritz management announced yesterday that the cup won by Plainfield Saturday for pounding out the most number of hits would be awarded to that institution and another trophy will be purchased for tomorrow's game.

MAKE YOURS A PUBLIC SERVICE STORE

This is the age of service. The rewards of today go to the men who give the most in return.

Translated for you, Mr. Merchant, this means that the customers are certain to patronize the store that will give them what they want when they want it.

Cut prices may bring some trade, but better service will bring more.

This is the age when people are reading the advertising in their daily newspapers because they are finding it a distinct part of the service they expect their newspapers to give.

When a nationally distributed article of merit is advertised in the newspapers a demand for it sets in right away.

People want to see it and, if satisfied, want to buy it.

They are going to turn to the store that lets them know it has the article. That store will be giving them the service they want at that particular moment.

If it is a good article they are going to remember the store where they got it and will come back to that store again.

Co-operate with the manufacturers who come into the newspapers of your town to exploit their goods and you will be building business for yourself.

Kidnaped Child For Whose Recovery $10,000 Is Offered

Little Beryl Meredith (Miss Joyce Fair), the kidnaped child for which a reward of $10,000 is offered in "The Dummy," the new detective comedy success by Harvey O'Higgins and Harriet Ford, is one of the most appealing and lovable child characters in the whole range of plays in which childhood is an element exploited. Beryl is a delicately nurtured child of fortune, the daughter of the Trumbell Merediths, who is suddenly spirited away from her home and her mother, stolen for ransom, concealed at first in a New York gambling house, where she finds "the dummy," Reginald, who is Barney in disguise, and later abandoned in a lonely bungalow in the Catskills in the night, but with brave Barney as her safe protector to lead her down the mountain side, his lantern to show the path and the old musket along to shoot any "wild animals" that Beryl is afraid may come out of the woods or

Just the thing to take with you on your boat trip this summer, as soft pillows, which may be constantly used without fear of soiling, add greatly to the comfort. Especially suited for the summer cottage is this lovely pillow embroidered with the iris design from pattern 14674. It may be made of inexpensive, durable material such as burlap, crafts canvas, Monk's cloth, rep or dark colored linen. The design may be developed in outline-stitch and darning or it may be stenciled with oil paints. If the paints are mixed with gasoline or with a preparation of turpentine one pint, acetic acid, one ounce, oil of wintergreen, one ounce, the pillow-cover can be washed when soiled.

This iris design is 16 by 16 inches and the pattern also includes a rose corner the same size.

Guaranteed, hot-iron transfer pattern will be supplied for 15 cents.

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

While the new blouses are charmingly simple, there are many odd little touches that make them distinctive, for instance, a cut of the shoulder, a point on the collar or an unusual way of closing it down the front. The woman who makes her own blouses has a free hand in selecting these touches and it is an easy matter for her, by a clever little arrangement all her own, to make them charmingly individual. This design 8254, has a raglan shoulder, an unusual little collar, forming a double point in the back and a full-length sleeve, gathered in at the wrist by a narrow band of material. Cotton crepe or voile showing one of the quaint, old-fashioned flower designs or a plain voile in white biscuit color or one of the new soft yellows that are so much favored just now, could be used with this design most effectively. The collar could be of white or a contrasting plain material and the frill, finishing the sleeves might be of net, finished at the top with a narrow black velvet ribbon and a tiny bow which could easily be removed when the blouse is laundered. As illustrated here, six large buttons serve to close the waist, set on in groups of three. Novelty buttons with shanks could be used pinned on from the under side with small safety pins. These also could be removed at will making washing and ironing much simpler. To copy this blouse in size 36, two yards of 36-inch crepe or voile is sufficient. The pattern comes in seven sizes, 30 to 42.

This is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to give right size measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions. It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

Some Cookery Suggestions

CHERRIES IN PASTRY.

EVERY one is happy when cherries are in season and the housewife is able to provide desserts in which they are featured. Pies, puddings, tarts, rolls, etc., may be made to advantage with this fruit.

Cherry Cobbler.—Line a small double loaf bread pan with good short pie crust. Put in fresh stoned cherries with all the juice that escapes in stoning. Add three cupfuls of granulated sugar mixed with a little cornstarch. Put on a top crust with slits cut down the middle and bake until done.

A Favorite Pastry.

Cherry Roll. — Mix two cupfuls of flour, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of sugar. Sift these together. Add one-fourth cupful of butter or lard and three-fourths cupful of milk. Work the butter in with the tips of the fingers and gradually add the milk. Roll this on a floured board. Make it about one inch thick. Strain the juice from one quart of cherries or use fresh cherries. Spread the cherries on this dough, sprinkle with sugar and bits of butter. Roll up and place in the pan. Sprinkle sugar and small bits of butter over the top and bake twenty minutes. Serve with any sauce. Use the juice to flavor the sauce.

Cherry Dumplings.—Make a thick batter of two cupfuls of flour, two eggs, two teaspoonfuls of butter, one tablespoonful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of baking powder, one cupful of water and one cupful of stoned cherries. Drop the mixture by tablespoonfuls into boiling salted water, being careful not to add the batter fast enough to stop the water from boiling. Cover the kettle and cook the dumplings. Take the dumplings from the water, place them on a hot dish and serve.

For the sauce cream one tablespoonful of butter with one cupful of powdered sugar and add gradually one well beaten egg and one-half cupful of cherry or lemon juice.

Made With a Cereal.

Rice and Cherry Dumplings.—Cook a half pound of rice in boiling salted water for five minutes. Then drain and rinse with cold water. Put into a double boiler with two cupfuls of milk, a half teaspoonful of salt, a tablespoonful of sugar, a teaspoonful of butter and cook until thickened. Take from the fire and add two beaten eggs.

Have six or eight dumpling cloths, made of squares of thick cheesecloth. Wring out of hot water, sprinkle with flour and place in the center of each a portion of the cooked rice, spreading out smoothly. Place a tablespoonful or two of pitted cherries in the center of each rice cloth and sprinkle with sugar according to the acidity of the fruit. Draw the corners and sides of each cloth together and tie securely. Drop into boiling water and cook half an hour without allowing the water to stop boiling. Turn out of the pudding cloths and serve with sauce.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — The Elves Have a Flower Battle.

The Battle of Flowers Began.

JACK had suggested that the next day they should go for a walk and get lots and lots of daisies and buttercups and make chains with them.

"That would be a fine plan," said daddy. "And now you remind me of the battle with daisies and buttercups which the elves had the other morning very early while the dew was still on the flowers.

"The elves arranged it all, but they invited the brownies to come. They told the brownies that they were planning to have a battle and that they were to use daisies for their guns and that the brownies must use buttercups. They told the brownies to be sure to bring with them all the buttercups that they possibly could and that they would gather daisies for themselves.

"At last the time came, and the brownies arrived, carrying just as many buttercups as possible. In fact, they were almost completely hidden by the flowers they carried.

"'What a delightful idea this is,' said one of the brownies to one of the elves.

"'Yes; we thought it would be nice,' said the elf, 'and, besides, it will be nice for the guests we have invited to see the pretty yellow and white flowers being scattered about. We have selected two brownies and two elves to act as judges. All the brownies are to stay on one side of the field and the elves on the other.

"'Each brownie is to throw one daisy at a time just as fast as he can to the side where the elves are, and each elf is to do the same thing. They must throw the flowers as quickly as they can, but only one at a time.'

"'Hurrah,' said the brownies, who had listened carefully to the directions; 'we will do as you say! Let's begin!'

"So the judges were chosen, and the battle of flowers began.

"The ones who were allowed to look were greatly impressed with the sight before them, for it looked very lovely to see the bright yellow and white flowers being thrown about, and the brownies and elves had lots of fun.

"They tried to be just as quick as they could, but it did seem to take them a long time, especially with the rule of only throwing one flower at a time. But at last they almost reached the last of their flowers.

"Then the excitement that followed! The audience could hardly wait to see which side would win, as they seemed so very even.

"But soon only three buttercups remained on the side of the brownies and four on the side of the elves. And, sure enough, the brownies won. For a prize they were given a most beautiful bunch of buttercups and daisies and also a great big basketful of the most delicious wild strawberries."

TAILORED SUITS.

In Navy Blue Serge They Are Ultra Stylish.

BLUE SERGE SUIT.

All the suits now, whether for best or otherwise, are invested with a certain feminine touch that is indescribably charming.

A very effective arrival upon the early spring scenes is jacquard cheviot, a fine woolen and, as its name denotes, figured fabric, that ranges through all the fashionable colors.

Moire, broche and a certain souple taffeta are well to the fore, and there is every indication that navy serge in the finer makes will play an important part in the tailoring world. Last, but by no means least, in importance and charm is a black and white check woolen material that is presenting insistent claims for consideration.

This last, however, is usually employed in conjunction with a plain material, when the result is extremely smart.

The leading characteristics of the season's coat models are an exceedingly flat shoulder line and a belt, placed somewhere about the region of the waist. The belt is sometimes wide, sometimes narrow, while frequently the waist line is indicated by a sash either of satin or crepe de chine, especially with coats and skirts of moire, broche and the like dressy materials.

The navy blue serge tailored suit shown here is one that illustrates many style points. It has one of the new yoked skirts, the tunic suggests the pannier, and the coat is a short bolero model.

For Fancy Work.

A new notion in painting or in fancy work, as you will, comes from England. It is called "pen painting" because of the process involved. By this process a special kind of oil paint is applied to fabrics, and on gowns produces an entirely different effect from the hitherto seen stencil work.

On fans, particularly of gauze, the result is very pretty. This seems the best of the sugestions given for it, though picture frames and book covers are done by the same method. Book covers of satin might be successfully decorated in this way for special occasions; that is, presentation books, books for the bride, etc.

In applying the paint a pen point is used to pick up the small, previously divided particles of prepared paint and to place them on the satin. A complete outfit for the work costs $3.50, the colors are $2 a dozen, and the necessary ingredients for mixing are $3 a dozen each. Patterns for the work are also to be had if one is not clever at drawing one's own.

Make a Note of These.

If mirrors are very dull and speckled the following method is excellent: Take a small portion of whiting and add sufficient cold tea to it to make a paste. Rub the glass with a soft cloth; then rub a little of the paste well on the mirror and polish dry with tissue paper.

To make cabbage digestible, when half boiled pour off the water and place in fresh boiling water.

Cut squares of white oilcloth and put under the children's plates and save the tablecloth.

Putting a coat of varnish on the linoleum yearly will make it last for years and look bright and new.

Tea Leaves Useful.

It seems a shame to throw out tea leaves when they can be used in so many ways. If one does not own or has not the use for a vacuum cleaner tea leaves are useful in laying dust.

When removing ashes from the stove or cleaning ashes from a grate, tea leaves are a very efficient preventive of flying dust.

In the house heated with a furnace tea leaves sprinkled over the ashes as they are being removed from the furnace will help to eliminate the dust in the cellar.

RICHARD L. METCALFE.

Refuses $10,000 Position to Run For Governor.

The tangled political situation in Nebraska has been further complicated by the decision of Richard L. Metcalfe to try again for the governorship. He will contest with Governor Morehead, George W. Berge and John G. Maher for the Democratic nomination. Mr. Metcalfe to make the race will give up a government position in connection with the coming opening of the Panama canal which pays $10,000 a year. It is rumored that Mr. Metcalfe will not depend on the support of the two Bryans, with whom he has been identified so long, and that he may even form a combination with some of William J. Bryan's most ardent political enemies. Political sharps say that Metcalfe's candidacy eliminates Berge and Maher and that the fight will be between Metcalfe and Morehead, as two years ago.

FUTURE OF FLAG TO SERVE, SAYS WILSON

Asserts This Country Should Lay Aside All Bluster.

Washington, June 16.—President Wilson in an address before the employees of the state, war and navy departments, made an attack on those who, he said, use the American flag to inflame prejudice.

"It is my privilege and right," he said, "as the representative of a great nation which does what it pleases with its own affairs to say that it will always stand before the world for the rights of men wherever human liberty is at stake.

"This nation is too great to be feared by any other, but it is not too great to do right. It would be a pitiful thing to have to make an apology and explain anything which we did with this flag carried in the van.

"No nation is ever going to doubt our power to assert our rights, but we must put that knowledge only to the highest uses. This nation stands for self possession and the dignified assertion of the right of one nation to serve the other nations of the world. The American flag must not condescend to be used for aggression or for self aggrandizement, and we must see that it is not.

"I sometimes wonder why men even now take this flag and flaunt it. If I am respected I don't have to demand respect. If I am feared I don't have to demand fear. If I have power I don't have to demand power. And I don't understand, and the nation doesn't unerstand, the temper of men who use this flag boastfully.

"We have had the deepest experiences that a race could have. We realize that this nation will always make a just use of its undisputed national power, and it will always be found on the side of humanity. The future of this country is safe, its ability undisputed, and its national power beyond question. It must ever be found standing on the side of the many on every national or international issue."

BOY DEAD IN AUTO CRASH.

Son of Prominent Baltimore Man Pinned Beneath Machine.

Baltimore, June 16.—Eyre Wright, the fourteen-year-old son of De Courcey Wright and a grandson of Judge D. Giraud Wright of this city, was killed when an automobile turned turtle on the State boulevard near Annapolis.

The chauffeur, Henry Hough, was probably fatally injured and Mrs. Wright, the grandmother of the dead boy, suffered a broken ankle.

All three were pinned under the car for nearly an hour before they were found.

The Wright family is prominent in the professional and social life of Baltimore.

Chase to Desert White Sox.

Chicago, June 16.—Hal Chase, White Sox first baseman, will jump to the Buffalo Federal League club, according to a Chicago paper, which prints what purports to be Chase's own admission to that effect.

as directed and required by the Ordinance of the City of Plainfield, entitled "An Ordinance Concerning the Construction and Repair of Sidewalks and Curbs," approved July 15, 1910, as amended, not having been completed, the Common Council of said City has directed such improvement to be made under the direction and supervision of the Street Commissioner, and further directed notice of such contemplated improvement to be given to the owner or owners of any lands thereby affected, and further directed that if such improvement shall not be completed within the time and in the manner directed in this notice, the Street Commissioner shall thereupon forthwith proceed to cause such improvement to be made by the city under his direction, as authorized by said Ordinance and the Act of the Legislature hereinafter referred to. The foregoing is a description of your property affected, sufficiently definite in terms to identify the same and the following is a description of the required improvement, viz., on George Street, Columbia Avenue, Leland Avenue, St. Mary's Avenue, Belvidere Avenue, Sycamore Street, Randolph Road and Morris Street, the construction adjoining said property, of a sidewalk to be laid as directed in said Ordinance (to which ordinance and the record thereof in the City Clerk's Office reference is hereby made for greater certainty), at the expense of the abutting land owners, composed of concrete to be laid in conformity with the specifications for cement sidewalks as set forth in "Standard Specifications for Portland Cement Sidewalks and Curbs," filed in the office of the City Clerk, April 11th, 1910. On Lenox Avenue and Webster Place the construction of a curb, said curb to be of concrete, conruction in conformity with specifications for curbs as set forth in the above mentioned specifications, and laid under the direction of the Street Commissioner. That all return curbs shall have a radius of six feet, no piece to be less than three feet two inches in length.

The Street Commissioners shall give the correct lines and grades in all cases.

Notice is further given that unless said improvement shall be completed within thirty days after the publication of this notice, it is the intention of said City to make said improvement or cause the same to be made, pursuant to the authority of the Act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, entitled, "An Act to authorize cities to construct and repair sidewalks and curbs, and to provide for the payment of the cost thereof," approved April 13, 1908, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

Proof under oath of the publication or service of this notice will be filed within two days thereafter in the Office of the City Collector, being the officer charged with the duty of making searches for liens.

Said Act of the Legislature provides that in case of non-payment of the charges authorized thereby, the land and real estate subject to the liens of such charges may be sold in the manner provided for the sale of lands for the non-payment of assessments.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.

UNION SERVICES FOR THE SUMMER ARRANGED

Pastors of Four Churches Announce Schedule for July and August.

The pastors of the four churches interested, namely Trinity Reformed, First Presbyterian, First Methodist and First Baptist, at a recent meeting, arranged the following schedule for Sunday evening union services during the months of July and August:

July 5 at the First Baptist church, Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring preacher; July 12 at the First Methodist church, Rev. J. Y. Broek preacher, July 19, at Trinity Reformed church Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson preacher; July 26, at the First Presbyterian church, Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong preacher.

During August, when the pastors are absent on their vacations their supplies will take their places at the various evening services, each supply preaching in his own church. The services will be as follows: August 2, First Presbyterian church; August 9, First Methodist church; August 16, First Presbyterian church; August 23 Trinity Reformed church; August 30, First Baptist church.

This arrangement for the summer between the four churches, which has been in existence several years, has brought these organizations into delightful fellowship and the various congregations heartily support the service. It is expected that the attendance this summer will be even better than usual.

A Rug Sale Which Presents Rare Attractions

"Why doesn't everbody buy their rugs at Sloane's, no matter what they want to pay?"

That is what a woman spontaneously exclaimed the other day when looking over the stock especially priced for the W. & J. Sloane Pre-Inventory Sale.

And if you chance to be one of the fortunate who get there before all the bargains are gone, you will not wonder at her enthusiasm.

For example, among the sale rugs is one which is an exact reproduction of a glorious $1,000 Chinese rug. There's a hint of the Confucius design in the pattern of it and the coloring is that rare combination of real Chinese yellows and blues which only grow mellow and more lovely with age. In texture it is soft chenille, seamless, and is reduced greatly from its original price.

Among the Wiltons at attractive Pre-inventory prices are many handsome Oriental and two-tone effects in dull blues, browns or greens and a few fainty numbers which are distinctly French.

All are perfect, bought in the usual way to sell at usual prices. Included in the sale to lessen the work of July stock-taking.

An uncommon assortment, combining excellent service with most artistic designs, is shown in the pile of Scotch Wool Art Rugs in sizes for all purposes, and at 20 per cent. reduction in prices. prices.

Many are in netural tones, soft browns, moss green and dull blues. Some have plain color centres in glowing rose, light blue and lavender with lovely floral borders and are perfectly adapted to bedroom use. The sturdy roughness of texture gives these rugs a very smart look.

In this collection are a few typical Indian designs with all the dull glow of color which makes Indian Art so attractive.

The one strikingly delightful thing about the Sloane show rooms is the utter absence of anything which could offend *the most cultured taste. The atmos*phere is one of artistic decoration, developed to the highest degree and is assuredly very satisfying. One who was entirely color blind and quite devoid of any artistic sense might go in and purchase a Sloane rug with no misgivings. Each one is chosen with the utmost regard for harmony, both of design and coloring.

Another desirable lot is a pile of seamless Reversible Wool Rugs, very heavy and full of wear. These are mostly mottled effects in good shades, and are said to be most satisfying for blending with cretonnes and chintzes for summertime use.

On the street floor are several very alluring piles of Turkish and Persian rugs in sizes from 4 to 6 feet long.

These are imported and hold all the lure of the colorful Orient and more especially when you find they are prices 25 per cent. less than you would expect. These rugs are the fruit of the labor of a skillful buyer who knows his East and searches the nooks and corners for its treasures.

THE DAILY PRESS IN BOUND BROOK will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon by Hoagland Union News Stand at station, and A. Aaron, newsdealer.

—If you have a really desirable house or apartment to rent, your "ad" will constitute GOOD NEWS to some anxious people in this city.

AN ATTRACTIVE HOME WEDDING

Miss Margaret V. Leggett Weds Albert I. Codington.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

Rev. John Y. Broek, of Trinity Reformed Church, Officiates—Receptions Follows—Couple Take Auto Trip.

Miss Margaret Virginia Leggett, daughter of Mrs. Harles Place Leggett, of Madison avenue, and Albert I. Codington, son of Judge and Mrs. William R. Codington, of Sandford avenue, were married at 8 o'clock last evening, at the home of the bride's mother, by Rev. J. Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, in the presence of about one hundred and fifty relatives and friends of the couple.

Miss Helen Besler, of this city, was the maid of honor and the ribbon girls were Miss Helen Paul, of Newark; Miss Esther Barton Crompton, of Baltimore; Miss Barbara Fleming, Miss Marion Snyder, Miss Elizabeth Chickering and Miss Bessie Alpaugh, of Plainfield. George and William Besler, sons of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Besler, were pages. Malcolm H. McClew, of New Fane, N. Y., was the best man, and the ushers were Charles E. Loizeaux and Russell P. Morris, of this city.

The bride's gown was of white charmeuse, trimmed with princess lace, court train. She wore a tulle veil, princess lace cap, with orange blossoms and carried bride roses. The maid of honor wore a gown of pink chiffon taffeta, trimmed with cream lace over blue and carried pink roses. The ribbon bearers were gowned alternately in pink and white and carried a chain of daises. The pages wore white linen sailor suits with blue collars.

The wedding march was played by Westervelt's orchestra, as the bridal party descended the stairway and entered the parlors. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, C. Bertram Leggett. After the ceremony there was a reception, during which congratulations were offered and supper was served. Later the couple left on a wedding trip in a handsome touring car, the gift of the groom to the bride.

The house was elaborattely decorated with a profusion of roses and palms the scheme being especially attractive inthe parlors and dining room and the halls. The bride was the recipient of a large collection of costly gifts, including a chest of silver from Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Besler, and many other useful presents from relatives and friends.

The bride is a graduate of the Plainfield High School, class '10, and is popular in a large circle of acquaintances. The bridegroom is a graduate of Cornell University, class '13. He is a secretary-treasurer of the New Jersey silk mill, of which his father is one of the largest stockholders. Upon the return of the couple from a trip they will reside in a new home purchased by the groom on Osborne avenue, in the Netherwood section.

MAXIMUS REMOVES TO GROVE STREET IN BOROUGH

Maximus, who has been living in Plainfield for about two years, during which time he has worked some wonderful cures by his course in physical training, has closed his house at 1203 Putnam avenue. He is now living at 69 Grove street, where he will continue his splendid work in the city. George C. Brown, the borough tax collector, who is one of his patients, is a near neighbor. Mr. Brown has been greatly inproved in health under the instruction given him.

Maximus found that because of the large number of calls away from home, he was unable to properly carry on the work and give correct attention to his patients, and therefore sought smaller quarters, and has given up the sanatarium feature. He will continue however, to practice in this city where he will permanently make his home.

MISSION BAND MET.

The Young Women's Foreign Missionary Society met Monday evening and held their last meeting for the summer, at the home of Mrs. Thorne. Reports received indicated that a successful season had been experienced by the organization. Among the works accomplished was the raising of the annual tuition of Pearl Cheing, a Chinese, whom the society is educating.

SECOND SUICIDE EFFORT A SUCCESS

Emil Hansen, Who Once Failed to Kill Self, Found Hanging in Barn.

H. E. Hansen, of Orchard place, who has been missing from his home since Monday, was found hanging dead this afternoon in his carpenter shop in the rear of Hogan Hansen's bakery at 132 Park avenue. It is the belief of the police that the man has been dead since Monday. The body was found by William Neilson, a son-in-law, who notified the police at once. The body was removed to George W. Cole's undertaking parlors and Dr. F. W. Westcott, county physician, was notified.

The continued absence of Mr. Hansen had alarmed the family and this morning Mrs. Hansen went to Perth Amboy thinking that possibly her husband had gone there to visit friends. Mrs. Hansen was notified this afternoon that he had been found.

Several months ago Mr. Hansen disappeared from home and was missing for several days. He was found near the Battery, New York, attempting to commit suicide. He was removed to the Hudson Street Hospital.

Mr. Hansen was about sixty years old, and had lived in this city for many years. He was a carpenter by trade. He is survived by a wife and two daughters, one of the latter being married.

SENIORS MEET IN NEW AUDITORIUM

Plainfield High School Assembly Hall Thrown Open to Public Last Night.

THE ANNUAL EXERCISES

Members of the Plainfield High School graduating class fittingly dedicated the new auditorium of the school last night when the annual class day exercises were conducted with an appropriate program in which various students took part. This was the first public affair to be held in the new structure and a large audience greeted the class.

Elston Hoagland, president of the senior class, presided at the meeting and the usual disposition of senior activities was made at that time after which dancing was enjoyed until midnight, many of the alumni being present at the event. The class history, presented by the Misses Jennie Peacock, Mabel Loizeaux, Loranie Dunn, Bessie Morris and Esther Phillips, and Harold Williams, Eynon White, Robert Gavett, Andrew Hetfield and Warren Butler, took the form of epochs in the world's history and was uniquely presented by the student characters garbed to represent the different ages.

Cortland Fleming read the class will, Miss Mary Hunting recited the class poem, which was of her own composition, and Miss Esther Phillips and Robert Gavett gave the class prophecy. The officers of the class are: President, Elston Hoagland; vice-president, Miss Ruth Maguire; secretary, Miss Esther Brownlee; treasurer, Harold Williams. The class day committee included Miss Mabel L. Loizeaux, chairman; Miss Celia Cottrell, Miss Constance Veysey, Miss Esther Phillips, Miss Jennie Peacock, Miss Loranie Dunn,

WILL OF LATE A. M. RUNYON IS ADMITTED TO PROBATE

The will of Alexander M. Runyon, who died in this city June 6, was admitted to probate in Surrogate Parrott's office in Elizabeth this morning.

The estate is divided as follows: $2,000 to Mrs. Elmer Runyon, $2,000 to Mrs. Frank Runyon, and the remainder, estimated to be about $75,000 in real estatte, etc., goes to Kenneth Runyon, a grandson of the testator. Included in the latter is the undertaking establishment at 402 Park avenue which will be conducted in the future by Kenneth Runyon.

—Never were better quality strawberries, pineapples and cherries offered to their trade for canning and preserving than are now being displayed at Neuman Brothers' Watchung avenue market.—Adv. ***

MISS CULBERTSON A CHARMING BRIDE

Weds Arthur Stout, of Watchung, at Home of Her Sister.

UNDER FLOWER BOWER

Rev. Dr. John Merritt, of New Brunswick, Officiates—Bride Graduate of Muhlenberg Hospital Training School.

Miss Josephine Culbertson, daughter of Mrs. William Culbertson, of Arlington avenue, and Arthur Stout, of Watchung, were married last evening at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. George D. Herring, on Crescent avenue, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Dr. John Merritt, pastor of the Livingston Avenue Baptist church, New Brunswick.

The bride was gowned in white taffeta trimmed with lace and she carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. She wore a tulle veil caught up with orange blossoms. She was attended by her sister, Miss Nina Culbertson, who was gowned in yellow taffeta, trimmed with lace. She carried yellow roses. The best man was Gail McLauray of New York, an intimate friend of the bridegroom.

The ceremony was performed in the living room, and the wedding march was played by former City Judge William N. Runyon. Paroubek's orchestra played several selections during the reception which followed. The bride received a large number of handsome and useful gifts. She is a graduate of the training school of Mulhenberg Hospital, class '10. Mr. Stout is a graduate of Brown University and is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Following the reception last evening the couple left for Point Pleasant where they will spend their honeymoon. Upon their return they will reside at Watchung, where Mr. Stout owns a large poultry farm. They will be at home after September 1.

CAPT. H. B. KITCHELL RESIGNS FROM CO. F

Action Comes as a Surprise to Those Interested in Military Affairs.

It became known yesterday in military circles that Harry B. Kitchell, formerly of this city, had tendered his resignation as Captain of Company F, Second Regiment, National Guard, the resignation having been sent to Adjutant General Sadler. The announcement came as a surprise to many, as he was restored to the command of his company last week, following the story that he was relieved of his command pending the outcome of charges made against him by an Elizabeth officer.

Those on the inside of military affairs in this city see the reported resignation in another light, however. The fact that the charges against Kitchell were not carried out is regarded with significance. It carries more than appears on the surface, it is declared. Kitchell was returned to command to allow him the privilege of resigning without the stain of a court-martial.

Military matters have been agog since the charges were registered against Kitchell. Just when word was expected that he would be court martialed, it was announced that he would assume command of the company. This was taken to mean that Kitchell had explained satisfactorily to Colonel Horace Reading. On the other hand, there were some who contended that those who preferred the charges had sufficient evidence to warrant a court martial, and that Kitchell's resuming command was only another way of making his dignified exit from military circles. The announcement today that he had resigned sustains this argument.

Kitchell's resignation will mean that First Lieutenant H. Clifford Robins will be promoted to the captaincy. Robins acted in the capacity of acting captain during Kitchell's retirement from authority.

Captain Kitchell's resignation now throws Company F to the rear of the battalion, and Company K, of the city will become the first company in the organization.

LIZETTA SCOTT.

Miss Lizetta Scott, aged thirty-eight years, died yesterday morning after a short illness. As far as can be learned, Miss Scott had no near relatives. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon, at 2:30, from the undertaking parlors of George W. Cole, 200 West Second street, while the interment will be made at Hillside cemetery.

MANY SIGN PETITION CIRCULATED BY COSE

Local Councilman Out for Sheriff in Coming Union County Primaries.

A petition for the nomination of Councilman John H. Cose for the office of sheriff at the coming primaries has been in circulation throughout the city the past two days. Although the law requires but 100 signatures, more than five times that number have been secured and many other voters have signified their intention of appending their signatures. A positive fact of the popularity of Mr. Cose's candidacy is shown by the appearance on the petition of practically every business man on East and West Front streets and Park avenue who is a voter in Union county.

Councilman John H. Cose.

Petitions in favor of the well-know councilman are being circulated in Elizabeth, Summit, Rahway and Westfield. The response in each of these places is equally as spontaneous as in Plainfield and the friends of the candidate regard it as a good omen.

In an interview with Mr. Cose today by a Press reporter, he said he had entered the shrievalty fight in earnest and that he intended to see it through. The hearty pledges of support that have been accorded him come from men of influence and integrity, all of whom assert their belief in his ultimate success. Many local voters are open in the statement that Plainfield is entitled to the shrievalty nomination and will do all in their power to see that it comes to Mr. Cose.

CONGRATULATES THE NEW POSTMASTER

Congressman Tuttle Hopes That Hoagland's Administration Will be a Success.

Alvin E. Hoagland, who, on Saturday was appointed postmaster upon the recommendation of United States Senator James E. Martine, received the following note of congratulation from Congressman William E. Tuttle, yesterday afternoon:

"I beg you to accept my heartiest congratulations upon your appointment and prompt confirmation by the Senate. I trust that you will find the office congenial and that your administration will be a successful one. You will have a great opportunity for service not only in conducting the important business of the postoffice department, but during your incumbancy the new Federal postoffice building will be completed and you will have charge of the transfer from the old to the new building."

ENGAGEMENT OF MISS ZETA VOORHEES ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin H. Rugg, of Mercer avenue, North Plainfield, have announced the engagement of their ward, Miss Zeta Bruce Voorhees, to Frederick VanHosen, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. VanHosen, of Fanwood. The couple will be married on Tuesday evening, July 7, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rugg.

Miss Voorhees has been a resident of this city practically all of her life and has a large number of friends. Mr. VanHosen is a graduate of the Plainfield High School, Class '11, and is now employed by the Public Service Corporation in this city. After a short wedding trip the couple will reside in Plainfield.

MISS OVERTON A JUNE BRIDE

REV. KUES OFFICIATES

Wedding and Reception Which Followed Attended by Large Gathering of Society Folks—Couple to Live in the South.

Miss Florence Lauray Overton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Chalmers Overton, of Rockview avenue, North Plainfield, and Albert Eli Crane, of Augusta, Georgia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Crane, of Hawarden, Iowa, were marrid at 7 o'clock last evening, in Holy Cross Episcopal church, the borough. Rev. Charles H. Kues, the rector, performed the ceremony in the presence of about three hundred relatives and friends of the couple.

The bride was gowned in white brocade satin. She wore a tulle veil with Duchess lace and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The maid of honor was Miss Katherine Overton, sister of the bride, who was gowned in blue, trimmed with gold lace. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The bridesmaids were Miss Marjorie Banks, of Brooklyn; the Misses Kate Barlow, Mary Barlow and Ray Pla de Villars, of the borough. They wore Nell rose gowns and carried pink snap dragons. Miss Penelope Overton, the flower girl, wore a dress of white material, trimmed with pink ribbons and carried flowers. The best man was T. Reginald Fawcett, of North Plainfield, and the ushers were T. Eckford Rhodes, Wolf Tone Overton, Alan Overton, of the borough, and Christian Huth, of New York.

The bridal party entered the church led by the ushers, bridesmaids, maid of honor and flower girl and then the bride accompanied by her father, who gave her in marriage. The wedding march was played by Charles Davis, organist of the church. The church was attractively decorated for the occasion.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, there being about one hundred guests. Congratulations were offered and supper was served. Later the couple left on a wedding trip and upon their return will reside at Augusta, where Mr. Crane is engaged in business as a civil engineer. He is a graduate of Iowa State College and has been at Augusta for some time.

The bride is popular in the younger social set of the borough and city. She received a large collection of gifts from relatives and friends. The home was attractively decorated for the reception, being converted into a bower of American beauty roses and palms. The color scheme was red and green, effectively arranged throughout the parlors, reception hall and dining-room. During the reception an orchestra gave a popular program.

"A FRIEND" ADDS $5 TO KING'S DAUGHTERS' FUND

The Daily Press received $5 today from "a friend" for the fund to aid the diet kitchen and carry on the other summer work of the City Union of the King's Daughters. There were two contrbutions received yesterday, one for $20 from "a well-wisher" and another from Mrs. Louisa Riley for $10, so that the fund has now reached $35. Owing to the increased work of the society, since an extra trained nurse has been employed, more support from friends and supporters of this deserving society is needed. This work can only successfully be carried on through the generosity of Plainfield people. The contributions to date:

CONCEALMENT OF ASSETS CHARGED

HEARING AT NEWARK

Many Witnesses Called in Efforts to Prove That the Brothers Were Guilty of Conspiracy After Going Into Bankruptcy.

Newark, June 17.—Acting United States District Attorney W. H. Bacon today put a number of witnesses on the stand before United States District Court Judge Haight to prove the charges of conspiracy against Louis Steigman, of Plainfield, and his brother, David Steigman, of New Brunswick, both of whom were indicted on a charge of attempting to conceal assets. Louis Steigman formerly conducted the Surprise Store on West Front street, and went into bankruptcy in October last.

It was charged that during three months between September and December, 1913, the firm bought goods amounting to $8,700, while it was stated that there had come into the hands of the trustee, Francis J. Blatz about $1,800. In March, 1913, Louis Steigman is said to have stated that the assets were $5,500.

Samuel Satterstein, a New York merchant, testified that he received two orders from the Steigmans for $416 worth of goods, but the order was only filled to the extent of $259. An inspection showed that the largest order previously placed was for $88 worth of goods.

Other witnesses called were David Peristein, an employe of Satterstein, Charles B. Clark, a U. S. Express Company agent; John J. Winzenreid, an expressman in Plainfield, who testified as to the shipment of goods between New York and Plainfield and this city and New Brunswick. Mr. Blatz was on the stand at the noon recess. The case is going on this afternoon and will be continued tomorrow.

HORSE TRIED TO COMMIT SUICIDE

Leaped Into Water in Watchung Pond This Morning.

Excitement prevailed in Watchung this morning following the attempt on the part of an equine, attached to a delivery wagon owned by Abram Newmark, of West Third street, to commit suicide in the McDonough pond on Somerset street. The horse was left standing near the curb while the driver, Joseph Diver, was delivering an order of groceries to a customer.

On coming from the house Diver beheld his trusty steed dashing at break neck speed in the direction of the water and was horrified to see the animal take a "header" into the pond dragging the wagon after him. A rescue party was immediately formed and after considerable trouble the animal was hauled to the surface. The horse, when rescued, was little the worse for his experience but the groceries in the wagon were destroyed.

WILL OF FRED SANDFORD OFFERED FOR PROBATE

Somerville, June 17.—The will of Fred Sandford, of North Plainfield, who died some time ago, was offered for probate in the surrogate's office this week. According to the provisions of the document, the widow was made the executor of the estate, and will hold the estate until her death, when it goes to the brother and sisters of Mr. Sandford, or their children. The personal estate has an estimated value of $75,000.

FIREMEN'S CONVENTION.

The annual gathering of the New Jersey State Firemen's Association is being held today at Hackensack, where delegates from all portions of the state are in attendance. A party of North Plainfield left this morning to attend the concention, among them being Councilman Julius Stahl, William Ricketts, Bert Bodine, August Feiring and Harry Coddington. The trip was made by Councilman Stahl's automobile.

FIRM DISSOLVES.

The firm of Prudhon & Runyon has been dissolved, Mr. Prudhon having taken over all assets and liabilities of the firm and will continue the business under the name of A. A. Prudhon.

CHAOS REIGNS AS AUTO IS DITCHED

VILLAGERS IN A PANIC

School Exercises Interrupted—Fire Alarm Sounded—Police Force on the Alert—Inhabitants Still Suffering From the Shock.

Too many stops where the amber fluid flows freely it is said, while en route from Duke's Farm to Dunellen in an automobile, last night, got John F. McMurray, of Newark, into no end of trouble and turned that borough into a state of turmoil for a period of two hours. In fact many of the residents are still trying to ascertain the exact cause for the breaking up of the school exercises, the ringing of the fire alarm and the retention of a carload of witnesses in the Dunellen police headquarters, last night. Those who have undertaken to solve the mixup have obtained meagre information of the disaster that swooped down on the ordinarily peaceful town, but few are willing to let the investigation rest where it now stands.

McMurray, who has been engaged in the butcher business in the New Jersey metrolopis for the past thirty years and who is well known in that place, took Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCann to the country-famous-farm at Raritan, yesterday on a sight-seeing trip in his automobile. According to McMurray, who was the pilot of the machine, all went well until he took one too many drinks at the road houses along the thoroughfare leading to Dunellen and by the time he had reached the latter place it was dark. Even the driver with the trained hand and clear head experiences considerable difficulty in rounding the "S" shaped curve that exists in the road directly opposite Taylor's Hotel in Dunellen and by the time McMurray reached that juncture he was having his own troubles trying to keep his vehicle in the road, it is said.

One of the back wheels of the automobile caught in the car tracks and when the driver attempted to take a diagonal turn the machine turned turtle. Luckily, the occupants were thrown clear of the wreckage and escaped with a few cuts and bruises. McMurray was on his feet in an instant, attempting to right the car, and with the help of several spectators who had been drawn to the scene by the resulting noise, soon had it in position.

During the time it took to pick up the occupants with their belongings, someone in the vicinity started to shout "fire" thinking the overturned vehicle had become ignited. An obliging neighbor sent in an alarm to fire headquarters, the village bell tolling off the rings that aroused the seldom active fire laddies to action. Half the town was attending the Grammar School graduation exercises in the Presbyterian church, when the fire bell sounded. The Rev. Dr. J. H. Ingham, of New Brunswick, was delivering the oration on "Preparation and Achievement" when a curly headed youth stuck his face through the vestry door and shouted "fire."

Doubly apprised of the fact that fire was lurking somewhere in the village the audience began to see visions of the edifice being consumed by flames. A stampede resulted, women shouting and men yelling for quiet, and everyone beating a hasty retreat toward the doors. Officer John McGauley, of the Dunellen force who was one of the attendants at the exercises together with Adam Dealaman and Richard Pennock, the ushers, held forth at the doors of the church and after considerable trouble finally succeeding in persuading the people that everything was all right in the immediate vicinity of the edifice.

Some there were, however, who refused to take the officer's word for the fact and decided that it was far safer in the open air than it was in the interior of the structure. Accordingly a flock of the men, women and children hastened to fire headquarters to learn the location of the fire. The person who telephoned headquarters had announced that a conflagaration was raging near "Moynihan's" house but the attendant at the station understood it as "Hardingham's." Accordingly the fire laddies were dispatched to a place in the opposite section of the town only to find that there was "nothing doing."

On the way back to headquarters they happened to come upon James W. Moynihan and James Hannon arguing with the excited McMurray Hannon was endeavoring to persuade the owner of the car that he was in no condition to pilot the machine but McMurray evidently thought differently and was not backward in saying so, intermingling a volley of forceful expressions to impress his contention on his wouldbe benefactor.

The yearly meeting of the Willow Grove Sewing Circle of Willow Grove chapel is being held in that edifice today. Besides the election of officers the annual report of the secretary and committees will be read. This afternoon and evening the sewing circle will conduct a strawberry festival for the benefit of the chapel. It will be held in the grove near the chapel which will be decorated for the occasion.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the All Saints' Episcopal church is holding an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. George Kyte, on Martine avenue, today.

The Plainfield-Union Water Company has finished the installation of three new hydrants in the borough which were recently authorized by the Council. All of the houses are now within reach of the fire hydrants in case of need and with the new hose the fire company is ready for any emergency.

The class of '14 of Public School No. 1, will hold the graduating exercises in the assembly room of the school this evening. Although the class is not as large as that of last year it is one of the largest ever turned out from the local school and is composed of fifteen students, there being eight girls and seven boys. The names are as follows. Katherine Horak, Fannie Williams, Olive Garda, Minnie Frazee, Mary Saurmilk Esther Meyer, Lillian Denison, Katherine, Hann and John Meggy, Russell Johnston, Frank Dower, Frank Surgent, Arthur Barry, William Lincen and George Dunn. Rev. J. Madison Hare, pastor of the Baptist church, will deliver the address and the presentation of diplomas will be made by Dr. F. W. Wescott, president of the Board of Education, if he is able to be present.

Drs. F. W. Wescott and Ray Munger, the two local doctors, are announced to appear in the Doctor vs. Lawyers' game on Parker Field, Plainfield, on Saturday afternoon. Dr. Munger used to be something of a ball tosser in his college days and will try to repeat on Saturday.

The June session of the Fanwood Fire Company was held in the firehouse last evening. Only routine business was transacted, including the payment of the monthly bills, and the meeting adjourned at 8:30.

Mr. and Mrs. William Terry, of Terrill road, left yesterday to spend the summer months at Asbury Park.

Dunellen & Vicinity

Miss Sarah Dayton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel R. Dayton, of New Market road, is substituting in the postoffice during the absence of Postmaster Henry S. Garretson.

Borough Engineer Churchill gave the line and grade yesterday for a new crosswalk to be laid across Grove street at its juncture with New Market road and began the line and grade for 1,600 feet of concrete walk to be laid along both side of North avenue from Chestnue street to the westerly end of that avenue.

Miss Ella Sutton, of Raritan, spent yesterday with Mr. and Mrs. George Meyers, of Prospect avenue.

Mrs. Charles Dodwell, of Jackson avenue, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. J. W. Van Houten, of Manasquan, since Friday of last week.

Mrs. Thomas Beck, of Jackson avenue, was operated upon for appendicitis at Muhlenberg Hospital, Plainfield, Monday night.

Miss May V. Day, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Day, of Dunellen avenue, has returned from Smith's College at Holyoke, Mass., where she is a student, to spend her summer vacation with her parents.

A. B. Rumsey, a former resident, has returned to the borough from Dayton, Ohio, and is at present boarding with Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Carmen, of Jackson avenue. Having secured a position with the Pond Machine Tool Company, Mr. Rumsey is considering making his home permanently in the borough.

The first quarterly conference will be held in the lecture-room of the Methodist church on Friday evening. The newly appointed district superintendent of the Newark Conference, Rev. F. J. Hubach, will preside. This will be his initial official appearance in Dunellen. Proceedings of the church will be reviewed and reports of the heads of the various departments presented for approval. The board of trustees of the church has purchased a vacuum cleaner for the use of the sexton. There will be a meeting of the Epworth League cabinet immediately after the prayer service next Wednesday evening. Next Sunday evening there will be a special service in conjunction with the installation of the newly elected officers of the Epworth League. A special program will be followed and an appropriate sermon preached by the pastor.

Mrs. George Voehl, of Washington-avenue, was taken ill yesterday while spending the day with her husband at the home of the latter's father, Henry Voehl, of Plainfield. Mrs. Voehl showed no improvement by night and she was obliged to remain in Plainfield.

Councilman William Shively pulled a lad out of Newark Bay, near the lumber yard of the Central Railroad at Elizabethport, yesterday. The boy was fooling around one of the numerous logs that lay near the water's edge when the log slid down the embankment into the water, pulling the lad with it.

A reception will be given this evening in the Whittier School to the eighth grade, former pupils of the school and the general public under the supervision of the Parent-Teacher Association.

T. W. Day, Jr., of North avenue, who has had a long siege of muscular rheumatism, was able to be out of doors for the first time yesterday.

Mrs. George W. Churchill, of Washington avenue, is recovering from an attack of bronchitis.

The closing exercises of the Lincoln School pupils were held in the Whittier School yesterday. There were songs by the school and various grades; recitations by Helen Osmun, Charles Wilcox, Mary Flaherty, Madalene Fenner, Wemer Snyder, Vendela Enander, Helen Whitford, Verna Fromeyer, Edna Day, Myrtle Vossler, Billy Breyer, Elizabeth Hipp, Doris Deering, Edward Wrage, Mildred Deering, Margaret Vail, Luella Apgar, John Wilcox, Gilbert Bolard, Ronald Hamley and Helen Titus; an exercise, "Closing Day," by a number of the pupils of the first grade; flag drill by a number of third grade pupils, and a piano solo by Ronald Hamley. After the singing of the last hymn, "O Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," the exercises were closed with the presentation of books and medals. Those who received medals for excelling in scholarship and deportment, a girl and a boy picked from each grade, were according to their respective grades as follows: Reception grade, Hedrin Goldie and Wilbur Emery; first grade, Cornelia Craig and Alfred Enander; second grade, Madeline Fenner and Vincent Mahan; third grade, Marion Higgins and Billy Breyer; fourth grade, Hazelle Apgar and Stanley Field, Howard Dayton being a close second. The pupils receiving books for a clear record as to attendance were as follows: First grade, Walter Harrison, Margaret Ronayne, Elmer Mingle and William Tinsman; second grade, Louise Humble and Gordon Smith; third grade, Ronald Howley, Marion Higgins and Joseph Liebel; fourth grade, Hazelle Apgar, Agnes Costello, Mildred Deering, Garfield Hunt, Lucien Merle, Francis Quinn and Edwin Terry. Those who received books for the most improvemen in penmanship during the school term, one pupil being chosen from each grade, are as follows: Reception grade, George Liebel; first grade, Clifford Apgar; second grade, Dorothy Shively; third grade, Billy Breyer; fourth grade, Adolphus Hoffman.

Somerville

The firemen of the borough were called out last night for a drill at the school house. The water pressure was not very good at any time during the drill, and the town will still have to depend upon the old reliable steamer in suppressing fires. The members of Central Hook and Ladder Company practised in putting up the new 75-foot extension ladder. It was put up against the new school building without mishap, but in taking it down the ladder fell for a considerable distance, breaking the side guide poles. Fortunately, no one was inured.

Invitations have been issued for the Senior class dance of the Somerville High School, which will be held in the DeForest House Casino, on Tuesday evening, June 26. The committee in charge has about completed all arrangements. The music will be an important feature. The patronesses are Mrs. W. A. Ackerman, Miss R. Anna Miller and Mrs. W. G. Hawley.

Justice Charles W. Parker has given notice that he will sit at his chancery chambers, Jersey City, on June 27, instead of July 4, the usual date to hear motions.

Frank E. Field, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Field, of this place and a graduate of Rutgers College Class of 1913, has received the degree of Electrical Engineer from the Pennsylvania State College. Mr. Field has been teaching in the Pennsylvania institution during the past year, and has now been made instructor in electrical engineering. He is spending the summer vacation with his parents here.

The "Clean-up" movement in the borough is rapidly taking definite shape, and at the meeting of the general committee, at the engine house last night, it was stated that the town had been districted for the better prosecution of the work. Street Superintendent Klotz will have general supervision of the collection of the garbage and other refuse after it has been gathered for removal. There will be six districts to be attended to for each of the six days of the campaign. A number of ladies have also signified their willingness to assist in the work, and it is also intended to enlist the help of the children in the "clean-up." Mayor Steele will issue a proclamation in regard to the matter in a few days.

A substantial concrete retaining wall has been erected in front of St. Thomas' A. M. E. Zion church property, on Davenport street. The Board of Education is also erecting a similar retaining wall on the Cliff street side of the colored school property.

The work of moving the old Second National Bank building to the east side of South Bridge street is progressing slowly, and if no accident prevents will be safely placed on the new foundations the latter part of the week. Excavation is almost completed for the new structure on Main street.

HEBREW CHARITIES SOCIETY PLAN FOR SHELTER HOME

The Hebrew Cahrities' Society, which was organized April 11, held a special meeting in Abrams' Auditorium last evening. Two committees were appointed by President William Newcorn. Dr. Raphael Yood was placed in charge of the medical committee and Mrs. William Newcorn was appointed chairman of the relief committee which consists of Mrs. Morris Abrams, Mrs. Kalman Rothberg, Mrs. Leon Livingston, Mrs. Victor Drellish, Mrs. Oscar Victorson and Mrs. Louis Schiff. The members outlined the work to be accomplished among the poorer families of Plainfield and other business of importance was discussed.

The organization will probably take charge of the Hebrew School and it expects to establish a sheltering home for the poor people that are passing through the city. The society is organized on the same basis as the charity organization, but the social work will be carried on among the Hebrew population alone. The support of the organization is entirely through voluntary subscriptions. All those desiring to join in the movement can communicate with the secretary, Miss Elizabeth Rosenson, 205 Spooner avenue. Other officers of the society are William Newcorn, president; Herman Schwed, first vice-president; Jacob Sachar, second vice-president; Morris Abrams, third vice-president. The next meeting will be held in Abrams' Auditorium, Tuesday evening, June 30, at 8 o'clock.

REPORTED BREAK BETWEEN VILLA AND CARRANZA

New York, June 17.—An El Paso Tex. despatch says that Villa has broken with Carranza and is practically in military control of Northern Mexico.

Washington, June 17.—Although both the White House and the State Department insisted today that they had received no word of the reported break between General Carranza and General Villa in both departments of the government, there was a distinct air of foreboding. Constitutionalists agents here declare that they have no official advices of the reported break between Villia and Carranza.

"I can neither affirm nor deny the truth of the despatches regarding the trouble between Villa and Carranza, said Secretary Bryan today. He added, however, that frequent later despatches had failed to bear out those sent first.

Washington, June 17.—Nicaraguan Treaty. Secretary Bryan was before the Senate foreign relations committee today to explain the treaty with Columbia and the tentative draft of a treaty with Nicaragua. He did not complete his statement to the committee and will be heard later.

Vera Cruz, June 17., (via. Galveston).—A train arriving here today brought the news that Guadalajar capitulated yesterday to the rebels under Gen. Louis Blanco.

While members of the committee refused to discuss in detail the conference, it is understood that Bryan threw down the gauntlet to former President Roosevelt in the matter of the Columbian treaty, and that he was asked a number of questions by the Senators. It is said that some opposition to the treaty quickly developed.

EXPERT RATE DEISION.

Washington, June 17.—While it was unofficially stated today at the offices of the Interstate Commerce Comission that the decision in the percent rate advance case would not be made public today, it is evident the announcement is not far off. It is possible that the decision may be handed down tomorrow late in the afternoon. Members of the commission have no comments to make on the many published speculations as to the nature of the forthcoming decision. So far the accounts have merely created smiles. It is a significant fact that no official of the commission yet has seen occasion to charge that any newspaper has obtained a leak on the decision.

COTTAGE PRAYER MEETING.

SCHOOL CLUB GIVES A PLEASING PANTOMIME PLAY

What proved to be one of the most enoyable and interesting events of the season under the direction of the Public Recreation Committee, was presented last evening at the auditorium of Washington School, when the Stillman Social Club produced the royal pantomime of "Dornroschen." The play was presented in such a way that it showed the results of careful training on the part of those who directed the rehearsals from time to time.

The cast was well balanced, and included thirty-two of the members of the organization, the cast having been picked by the boys and girls themselves. A large number were in attendance.

H. L. HALL ADDRESSES NURSES ALUMNAE ASS'N

Henry L. Hall, of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital, addressed the members of the Alumnae Association of Muhlenberg Hospital Training School, at its meeting in the Nurses' Home yesterday afternoon, on the new rules and regulations for the graduate and undergraduates nurses. Mr. Hall spoke of the big things expected of nurses and gave several valuable suggestions which should prove a help to the women in their chosen profession.

During the afternoon there was a short business session, and following this and the talk by Mr. Hall there was a social hour which was enjoyed by all present. Owing to the fact that a number of the nurses are busy, the attendance at the meeting was rather small.

C. M. NAGLE RETIRES FROM DRUG BUSINESS

Clayton M. Nagle, who has been engaged in the drug business at West Front and Grove streets for nearly fifteen years, has sold his business to Frederick Zeller, of Brooklyn, who has taken possession. Mr. Zeller is a nephew of former Judge Zeller, of New York, and has been in the drug business for twenty-six years, eleven of which were in his last store.

A rather peculiar co-incident is that it was on December 15, eleven years ago, that Mr. Zeller purchased his last store. He sold that business on May 15 last and purchased Mr. Nagle's store on June 15. Mr. Nagle retires because of ill health. During his business career he has made many friends. He will continue to live in this city.

FORMER BOROUGH RECORDER THROWN FROM P. A. Y. E. CAR

Former Borough Recorder Thomas Doud, but more recently of Westfield, was severely injuried last evening by being thrown from a Main Line trolley which he had boarded at Westfield preparatory to coming to this city. The back of one of his hands and one foot were injured as a result of the accident.

A woman had boarded the trolley ahead of Doud, blocking the entrance into the car while she was securing the necessary change to drop into the pay-as-you-enter box. The conductor gave the signal to start and the sudden movement of the car threw Mr. Doud to the road, injuring his foot after the shoe had been torn from his limb by the contact with the street pavement. Mr. Doud continued his journey to this city dispite his painful injuries.

MANY PHONED FOR RESULTS.

Local interest in the international polo game played yesterday afternoon, was manifested last evening, when this office answered several hundred telephone requests for the scores. Many inquiries were also received relative to the final outcome of the Yale-Harvard baseball game, as well as the results of the big league scores. One man was kept busy from shortly before 6 o'clock until after 8:30 answering questions.

GOING ABROAD.

Rev. and Mrs. Gabriel Reid Maguire and daughter, Miss Ruth Maguire, will sail on the Cunarder Lusitania, June 25, for Europe. They will visit Mr. Maguire's mother in Belfast and while abroad Mr. Maguire will preach on several occasions. The family will be away a month, returning on the Baltic in July. Passage was secured through Estil's agency.

ALEX KANE RETURNS.

Alex Kane, who formerly lived in Plainfield for a number of years, where he was engaged in the building wrecking business and general contracting, has returned here and taken up his residence at 304 West Second street. As soon as possible he will open a second-hand lumber yard.

Mrs. John Benedict, of New York, has returned after spending a few days with Mrs. Horace C. Huff, of Codington avenue.

THE WHY OF WIDOWHOOD.

Comparatively recent passage of the widow's pension law in New Jersey, and the subsequent working of the act in Union county, has focused attention on the subject of widowhood from a different viewpoint than ever before. When such a condition results, requiring money, the general public always starts to ask questions and investigate, and usually such investigation should have been started years before, with an idea of seeking a remedy or reducing the cost. The people begin to wonder if the need cannot be diminished by resorting to the proper safeguards and expediences. As a result it can be said that when a state decides that it will pay pensions to mothers it is a good thing in more ways than one.

Over in Pennsylvania they are a little ahead of us here in New Jersey. The payments have been going on there for some time, and as a result the public has awakened. Years ago widows and unfortunate mothers could have told the public that an investigation ought to be made, but the public was not interested then. Conscience is aroused to action only when we become concerned in a proposition. Now Pennsylvania is to have more or less complete data to determine the cause of its widowhood. Once discovered, this cause may be used by the public and state collectively and individually to prevent widowhood and this it can be depended upon to do.

In several counties in the state, the processes of investigation already are at work. When a mother applies for a pension—and everyone knows she often deserves it and it is a good and far-seeing law which gives it to her—the board is wise in seeking the real, under-lying cause for her widowhood and dependency. At a recent state conference held in Pittsburgh, the machinery of investigation was set in action with the result that there may be expected compilation and comparison of important statistics to cast a real light upon bereavement and dependency. It will be determined how far industry is the cause and likewise how much intemperance, indulgence, disease and bad housing are to blame.

Show the cause, and the remedy will be forthcoming. Mothers pensions in Pennsylvania, and in other states, promise to do much more than merely to keep families intact and relieve suffering; they are going to play an important part in widowhood prevention which is infinitely more important.

WHAT ONE SCHOOL BOY DID.

Theodore Desforges, a school boy, has been declared the most useful citizen in the whole city of New Orleans. Theodore won his title by making a garden of flowers bloom and vegetables grow where there had been an unsightly waste spot of ground made barren by ashes. This mere lad has made a great city talk and, what is of more importance, he has set an example by his work and aroused a new civic pride. His own neighborhood, where once were bleak, unsightly dooryards neither conductive to health or pleasure, has been converted into a locality of gardens of fragrant flowers and high cost defying vegetables.

Theodore's usefulness has been recognized by the New Orleans Nature Study Club which has voted him a medal. The pioneer boy gardener in his part of the city, he had nothing to work upon except a waste spot of barren ashes. These he raked off and carted away at a big cost of labor, after which he so beautified the plot of ground with vegetation that it attracted the attention of his playmates who set about to imitate him. Back yards began to bloom where only his had bloomed, and the idea began to spread over the city as well. Flowers and vegetables now grow in profusion.

No wonder Theodore Desforges has won recognition. His elders and those more wealthy in money and influence, may have established libraries, free schools, charitable homes, erected monuments and given liberally to worthy causes for the public welfare, but none has done as much real good for New Orleans as this boy of neither riches nor rare learning, who has laid hold on a practical art and is teaching those about him the secret of city life.

There are other boys in American cities who are just as bright and who can do just as much for their neighborhoods and their communities as Theodore Desforges has done. There is a waiting opportunity wherever one goes. But the greatest lesson of all is this: That one requires neither wealth, influence or power to become the most useful citizen in one's community. One may be man or boy, woman or girl. The idea set to the music of achievement is the all-powerful thing after all.

Saturday's contributed editorial has been written by a local lawyer, who has gained for himself a place in the profession in this state. He discusses a topic which is timely, and takes a broad and liberal view of it. Like all of its predecessors it is unusual, and will prove to be the best kind of reading for the Daily Press family.

The assessors are busily at work in the city. They are going at their task carefully and conscientiously, and with the splendid body of men who have been selected this year, it is safe to predict that the Plainfield assessments will be fairer and better equalized than at any time in the history of the city.

THE FORUM

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:—

As the daughter of an Englishman, who never foreswore his allegiance to his country or to quote Dr. Eaton "to the dear good woman at Windsor"—and having lived several years in England myself, I am possibly over-sensitive when excuses are made for militancy by persons in this country who have only hearsay knowledge of the position of "Woman under the Law" in Great Britain.

Taken law by law it is difficult to find wherein there is any appreciable difference between the status of women there and here until we come to old divorce laws, which it is realized by thinking conservative people over there are in need of revision and revocation.

To those who feel that the fanatics who are working destruction in every possible form, by way of demonstrating their ability to uplift and upbuild, are entitled to one iota of sympathy I would say that the following should prove that not because of, but in spite of them, men in England are working for different, just laws.

Thanking you for the courtesy of your space,

Yours very truly
R. A. LAWRENCE.

The article referred to was as follows:

London, May 29.—The text is issued of the bill introduced by Lord Sorell, formerly president of the Divorce Court, to give effect to the findings of the Royal Commission on Divorce. The principal enacting clause provides that "any married person may apply to the probate, divorce and admiralty division of the High Court of Justice to dissolve his or her marriage on the ground that the other party has committed adultery."

Any of the following is to constitute an absolute defence to any proceedings for divorce: "That the facts alleged are denied; that the applicant has been accessory to or conniving at the adultery alleged; that the applicant has condoned the adultery alleged; that the application is made or prosecuted in collusion with any defendant or codefendant.

"Provided an agreement honestly and properly made as to the course to be taken in any proceedings shall not be treated as conclusive proof of collusion if there existed previously to such agreement any adequate and good ground for divorce."

A discretionary defence to any proceedings may be provided by any of the following circumstances: "That the applicant has during the marriage committed adultery, has been guilty of cruelty toward the defendant, has deserted the defendant, has been guilty of unreasonable delay in presenting or prosecuting the application; has been guilty of such wilful neglect or misconduct as has been conducted to the adultery alleged."

It is further provided that the High Court may pronounce a decree for a judicial separation on the ground of habitual drunkenness.

William Butler Hornblower, associate judge of the New York court of appeals, died at Litchfield, Conn., of myocarditis. He had been ill for a long time, and several times in the past few weeks his condition was so grave that death was expected. A wonderful vitality, however, helped him to stave off what the doctors believed was inevitable. The body was taken to New York for burial.

CONGRESS MAY CLOSE AUG. 1

Nearly $170,000,000 Voted for Pension Fund In Two Minutes.

Washington, June 17.—Senator John W. Kern, majority leader of the senate, predicted that the trust legislation program would be passed by congress in time to permit an adjournment in the first week in August.

Progress was made with the general appropriation bills in the senate. The diplomatic and consular bill passed appropriating $4,380,986.

The consideration of the bill was taken up following the passage of the legislative, executive and judicial bill it provoked little debate. As it passed the bill reduced the aggregate of appropriations carried by the house measure from $4,445,873.

The passage of the diplomatic bill was followed by the passage of the pension appropriation bill. This bill, making appropriations for the payment of pensions aggregating $160,150,000, passed the senate in two minutes.

Immediately the pension bill was out of the way Senator Ashurst, chairman of the Indian affairs committee, called up the Indian appropriation bill. It was expected that this bill would occupy the senate several days.

MISS EMMONS BRIDE OF HAROLD H. MILLAR

Miss Myra Emmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Emmons, of Prospect place, was married to Harold H. Millar, son of Alexander Millar, of Madison avenue, Monday night. The Rev. C. L. Goodrich, of the Congregational church, officiated at the ceremony which was performed in the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Emmons was attended by her sister, Mrs. Arthur C. VanArsdale, who was matron of honor. Miss Jean Vail, a niece of the bride, was flower girl. William Bradley, of Newark, was best man. The bride was gowned in a dress of crepe de meteor and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and lilies-of-the-valley. Mrs. VanArsdale, the matron of honor, was attired in her wedding gown, this being also the occasion of her third wedding anniversary.

Classmates of the bridegroom in Swarthmore College acted as ushers. They were Whitmer Atkinson, of Morristown, and Fred Blatz, of Wilmington Del. Following the ceremony the couple tendered a reception to their friends at the home of the groom's father. The bridegroom is a graduate of Swarthmore college and the bride is a North Plainfield High School graduate. Following their return from a short honeymoon trip the couple will reside in Boston.

Mrs. Levi Cole, of Stanton, has returned after spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Levi Kline, of Somerset street.

Mrs. E. A. Sprout and daughters, Helen and Margaret, of Marion avenue, have left for Spring Lake, where they will spend several weeks.

U. S. ENVOYS SEE CARRANZA'S MEN

Conference Fails to Bring About Any Agreement.

NAME HUERTA'S SUCCESSOR

End of Mediation Conference Only a Few Days Off—To Submit Proposition to Dictator Whereby He Resigns. Believed That He Will Accept—Bold Step Is Now Planned.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 17.—In an earnest desire to save the Mexican peace undertaking from failure, Justice Joseph Lamar and Frederick L. Lehmann, the American delegates to the conference, went to Buffalo to confer with Rafael Zubaran Capmany and Luis Cabrera, two of the three men appointed by General Carranza as his delegates.

The meeting of the American delegates and the emissaries of General Carranza lasted four hours. While all parties concerned were reticent as to what took place between them, it is understood that the situation is as critical as ever and unless a radical change for the better comes within the next few days the mediation effort will end in failure.

Justice Lamar said after the meeting: "We met and conferred with the official representatives of the Constitutionalists, who were not authorized to come to Niagara Falls, but who, in their desire to state their position to us for use before the mediators, came to Buffalo, which was as far as they were allowed to go. After conferring with Washington we came to Buffalo to hold this conference. The Constitutionalist representatives with whom we have conferred are Rafael Zubaran Capmany and Luis Cabrera."

Both Justice Lamar and Mr. Lehmann refused energetically to make any further statement. It is believed, however, that their discussion with the Carranzistas was most satisfactory from the viewpoint of the Wilson administration.

Rebels Submit Name.

Persons who are best in a position to know declared that the Constitutionalists submitted the name of one candidate for the provisional presidency of Mexico whom the United States government believes to be acceptable.

The belief is expressed here that this move on the part of the United States is the last card in the mediation game. The American delegates will probably present to the Mexican mediators, Minister Naon of Argentina having left Niagara Falls, the name agreed upon by the Americans and the Carranzaistas.

It was freely predicted here that the Wilson government is now prepared to announce openly its sympathy for the Mexican rebels and possibly to recognize them at once if the candidate now to be suggested is rejected by Huerta's delegates.

That the conference will come to a sudden end within a few days is now admitted by almost all those who have figured prominently in the proceedings. The mediators make no secret of the fact that they are keenly disappointed over the results of their efforts. They declare that their work is practically at an end, inasmuch as they have done everything in their power to bring the contending parties together. At least two of the South American diplomats take the stand that further efforts would be useless and that they have exhausted every means in their power to bring about an understanding and a final agreement.

The report that the American delegation had left Niagara Falls to confer with the representatives of General Carranza was received with amazement here. Great secrecy was observed regarding the trip, and when the announcement was made by H. Percival Dodge, diplomatic secretary to the American delegation, he expressed the belief that Justice Lamar and Mr. Lehmann already had returned from their mission.

Indians See Great Spirit's Anger In Mount Lassen's Eruption.

Redding, Cal., June 17.—Fearing a widespread disaster as the result of an eruption of Mount Lassen, settlers in the territory about the mountain are leaving by scores.

Forest Supervisor W. J. Rushing issued a formal notice warning visitors against approaching the craters. The supervisor admits he was mistaken in supposing the eruption only the manifestation of a geyser. He said Lassen is a genuine active volcano which may burst into greater violence at any moment.

The last eruption was not violent. Subsequent rumblings, however, indicate more outbreaks are coming.

Ferry Capsizes, Thirteen Drown.

St. Petersburg, June 17.—Thirteen persons were drowned by the capsizing of a ferry while crossing the river Dneiper. Six hussars were drowned while swimming their horses across the river Duna.

Former Mayor, Mentioned as Bull Moose Possibility, Says No.

Since it was announced last week, following a meeting of the county committee of the Progressive party that that party would put a full ticket in the field this fall there has been more or less talk about who the candidates will be. An Elizabeth paper last night suggested a number of names of men who have been active in the new party, as prospective office seekers, and among others named former Mayor George W. V. Moy of Plainfield as one who might seek the Senatorial office, now occupied by Carlton B. Pierce, of Cranford a Republican.

When Mr. Moy was seen this morning by a reporter for the Daily Press he said that he had not been approached about the matter, and had not given it a thought. He said that he had made a fight on the Progressive ticket for two years, once for Mayor of Plainfield and once for Assemblyman, and that this year he probably would not be a candidate for any office. Further than that he had nothing to say for publication.

It is said that Charles W. Ennis, of Morristown, is a likely Congressional aspirant, as Bull Moose leaders at Elizabeth are desirous of having him throw his hat into the ring. Mr. Ennis made the race two years ago against William E. Tuttle, Jr., the present congressman, and William N. Runyon, of Plainfield.

John K. English is being urged to run for State Senator. Mr. English is an excellent campaigner, and it is believed his candidacy would greatly strengthen the ticket.

The party will go after the three Courthouse plums hotfoot, it is evident. Fred S. Taggart, of Westfield, is suggested for the shrievalty nomination. Mr. Taggart made a good run as a candidate for surrogate in 1912, and has always been a Bull Moose leader.

Ex-Mayor James B. Furber, of Rahway, who was a candidate for the Assembly two years ago, is mentioned incidentally for the county clerk nomination as well as for the Assembly. There has also been some little talk of Mr. Furber for the Congressional nomination, should it appear later that Dr. William T. Stuchell, of Rahway, may be the G. O. P. candidate.

For registrar, Charles A. Trimble and Mayor Harwood Fish, of Roselle Park, are being considered. One or the other may drop out before the primaries however, and seek the county nomination instead.

Romeyn Berry, of Summit, who was a candidate two years ago, is a likely aspirant for the Assembly, as is W. Lincoln Phillips of Roselle Park. Another Assembly possibility is Charles A. Howard, of Rahway, son of former County Clerk William Howard, of Elizabeth.

That every effort will be extended toward avoiding another primary fight with its far-reaching effects is believed. The list of candidates already mentioned indicates this, for Progressives who were in the Colby faction last year are declared to be anxious to support Messrs. English and Taggart, who were leaders on the Osborne side in 1913, while Osborne adherents are agreeable to the candidacies of Colby adherents. In other words, "harmony" is to be the keynote of the campaign.

VOLUNTEER FORCE AGAINST MILITANTS

King Guarded at Races Like the Russian Czar.

London, June 17.—As a means of circumventing the militant suffragette "arson squads," the county authorities throughout England have started the organization of volunteer civilian patrols, whose first duty will be the protection of churches.

The volunteers are to be sworn in as special constables, and will be armed and accompanied by dogs.

Great precautions were taken to shield King George and Queen Mary from the militant suffragettes when they attended the opening week of the Ascot races, which is one of the fashionable events of the season. There were over a thousand policemen scattered along the six mile route from Windsor castle to the race course and inside the course there was another batch of policemen in addition to numerous Scotland Yard detectives in plain clothes. These were all London policemen who were sent out to assist the regular Berkshire constabulary which had been re-enforced by many extra men.

The steps taken by the police to guard royalty from the wild women who have threatened repeatedly to insult the king and queen on every possible occasion were not unlike the arrangements of the Russian police to protect the czar from assassins. There was great anxiety that the royal family should not be subjected to further insults, as the queen had threatened to cancel all the rest of her social engagements for the season if she should be again annoyed.

The race track itself was heavily guarded, as people remembered the fatal dash of Emily Wilding Davison in front of the king's horse during the running of the Derby last year and the crazy act of a madman who jumped on the track and grabbed and threw August Belmont's horse Tracery during the running of the race for the Ascot Gold cup on the third day of the meeting last year.

VIVIANI STANDS THE TEST.

Paris, June 17.—The cabinet formed Saturday by Rene Viviani successfully withstood the test of a vote of confidence in the chamber of deputies. The ministry was upheld 370 to 137.

Viviani formed a cabinet after Felix Ribot, with his cabinet, had resigned after one day of incumbency. Ribot did not get a vote of confidence.

"SPORTDOM TIPS"

Recent controversies in interscholastic athletic circles indicate that something is lacking in the management of this organization which promotes basketball and baseball. Something definite will have to be done in the near future if the schools intend to preserve the leagues. There has been a noticeable display of inefficieney in the manner in which certain routine work has been conducted and this is going to corrupt the league if preventative steps are not taken in the near future. What is needed is an iron clad set of rules and regulations by which the affairs of the organization may be governed. If this code was in vogue during the last two weeks the petty arguments arising between the two factions would have been eliminated without discussion. It might be well to get together on this proposition before the basketball season rolls around.

As the time draws near for that July 4 athletic meet on Parker Field we note some increasing interest among the younger generation of athletes hereabouts. A flock of youngsters have made application for entry blanks at this office during the past three or four days and all are enthusiastic over their chances of landing one of the many awards. Plainfield boys should have enough civic pride to enter the events and make an effort to keep some of the awards donated by local merchants within the confines of the city. Conditions at the present time indicate that there will be a big invasion of outsiders here on that date and the Queen City youngsters will have their work cut out for them.

Plainfield merchants have done their share for athletics during the past two weeks and if the city is not a leader in the world of sports the blame cannot be left at their doors. No less than fifty silver trophies have been donated by public spirited business men and the influx of silver should act as a wonderful incentive to clean sportsmanship on Independence Day when a majority of them will be awarded to superior performers on the field and track. The baseball argument to be decided this afternoon between Plainfield and North Plainfield has produced four cups and these will be given away this afternoon.

The Elks' Club bowling tournament, the first of its nature ever held in this city, was brought to a close last night and thus ended one of the greatest club events of the season in the Queen City. Over half a hundred pinners took part in the league's activities and there was a wonderful display of ever increasing enthusiasm as the hostilities got under way. The fact that two teams should have been deadlocked for first place at the conclusion of the playing schedule is evidence in itself of the calibre of contestants that fought for the championship. A few more competitions of this nature hereabouts would go a long way toward awakening an interest on the alley sport and revealing some clever pinners who are at present moulding away, while others remain in ignorance of their true ability.

That Plainfield High School swimming pool, made famous by the Elks of the city, is rapidly assuming a real form and when the school term opens in September the local schoolboys will have one of the finest equipped bathtubs in the State. We fully expect to see the red and blue represented in the aquatic world next season and if Plainfield doesn't get into the swimming limelight it will not be for the lack of proper equipment to facilitate this branch of sport.

Judging by th einterest taken in tennis competitions both in Plainfield and North Plainfield during the last few weeks this sport is also to be revived hereabouts. Racquet wielders of every age, size and calibre are practising daily in different sections of the two municipalities and the tournaments arranged to date have brought out large entry lists. The one now under way at the Plainfield Country Club had a big roster for the first round and the matches staged have been fast and interesting.

That five-mile road race on July 4 should prove to be the real thing as an advertiser for local merchants. It is proposed to run the modified marathon through the business streets of the city, starting and finishing at Parker Field. Many New Yorkers have entered this classic and it behooves local long distance men to keep on drilling for the feature event on the holiday program. We want the five-mile title if we have to sacrifice all others.

This afternoon will settle the one pending argument that is of interest to young and old, large and small, in this city and borough and when the argument is curtailed we will get an opportunity to hammer something else besides interscholastic baseball.

The third game of the Yale-Princeton baseball series will be played at the oPlo Grounds, New York, next Tuesday afternoon. The Giants and Reds were scheduled to play that day, but their game has been set aside to make room for the collegians and the Giants and Reds will play a double header on the next trip East of Herzog's batters.

On the diamond this year Yale and Princeton each swatted the other once, Princeton winning at New Haven and Yale at Princeton.

LOCAL COPS WILL PLAY AMBOY TEAM

Strong Lineup Announced by Captain Flatley for Opening Game Tomorrow.

Captain Martin Flatley, of the local policemen's baseball team, has completed arrangements for the bluecoats' debut on the baseball diamond this season and will take his players to Perth Amboy tomorrow afternoon to lineup against the cops' team of that place. The game will be played on the Atlantic League diamond in that town, one of the best parks in this section of the State, and the Amboy team will have a former league battery to work against the Plainfielders.

The Queen City minions of the law have been practising hard for their opening game and anticipate a hard struggle at Amboy. Captain Flatley and Joe Hayle, the latter one of the recent additions to the force, will do the twirling and Connie McCarthy, the manager, will receive the slants behind the bat. New uniforms have been purchased for the occasion and the Plainfielders will make the trip to Amboy via auto bus, Ted Martin's big truck leaving Park and North avenues at 12:30 tomorrow afternoon.

Jack Fritts, formerly a player on the Y. M. C. A. and Plainfield baseball teams, who joined the force last Monday, has been placed at third base by Flatley and his appearance in the fold materially strengthens it. The remainder of the lineup will be as follows: First base, MacIntyre; second base, Keller; shortstop, Martin; left field, McGinley; center field, Mernagh; and right field, Hanlon.

ONE ARM TWIRLER TO OPPOSE PARKS

Good Game Expected When Churchboys Lineup Against New Yorkers Saturday.

When the Park Avenue Baptist baseball team lines up against the Otis Elevator Company's aggregation on Crescent Oval, Saturday afternoon some new faces will adorn the lineup. Captain Ricketts has been scouting around for some new material and intends to entirely rejuvenate the aggregation prior to the contest Saturday. Among the new players signed is Harry Moulton, formerly of the Public Service team. Foster Bowlby will do the twirling for the Parks and Blume will receive his slants.

The Park avenue team has not come up to its standard this season and Ricketts is makifg every effort to bolster it for the remaining games on the schedule. Saturday's contest should evoke considerable interest hereabouts as the New Yorkers have a speedy aggregation of players to send against the church boys.

Bowlby will be opposed on the mound by Sam Cunningham, the famous one-arm twirler who has made a remarkable reputation for himself in and about the metropolis.

GIRARD TWIRLS FINAL VICTORY OF THE SEASON

Girard the High Bridge youngster who will begin work with Tommy Mullin's Plainfield Sunday baseball team at South Plainfield next Sunday afternoon, put a grand finale on his year of collegiate performing yesterday afternoon by pitching Lafayette College to a 6 to 4 victory over the University of Pennsylvania nine. This was Lafayette's last game of the season, and incidentally the most important.

Girard allowed seven hits and scored seven strikeouts. He was master of the game at all times and had the Penn. batsmen eating out of his hands during most of the nine rounds Errors figured prominently in the game, Penn making six and Lafayette four.

LOCAL BOY ATTENDS NEW ENGLAND GAMES

Sees Former Pets Do Some Clever Work at the Bat—Both Are Popular.

One of the interested spectators in the Lawrence games of the New England League schedule during the past week has been George Leighs, of West Fourth street, who is visiting relatives in Lynn, Mass. He has been particularly regular in his attendance at the contests because of the presence of two Plainfield boys in the Lawrence team's lineup, Frank Bruggy and Flick Luyster.

Leighs in a letter, says that Bruggy has become one of the most popular men on the circuit and is doing the catching for the Lawrence leaguers, who hold down third place. He was present at the Haverhill-Lawrence and Lowell-Lawrence games, the former a double header. In the double bill Lawrence won by scores of 10 to 0 and 6 to 2. In the first game Bruggy got a two bagger, five putouts and one assist and Luyster scored two runs, a two bagger, a single and three putouts and two assists. In the second game Luyster got two more runs, one a homeer, and two putouts and Bruggy got one hit, seven putouts and one assist.

In the Lawrence-Lowell game Luyster got two hits, two putouts and one assist. Bruggy got one run, one hit, two putouts and four assists. In the batting averages to date Bruggy is occupying twelfth place in the league standing and is the top notch man on the Lawrence team. In twenty-nine games he has scored twenty-three runs and thirty-six base hits and his percentage is .319. Luyster is nineteenth in the league and second on the Lawrence team. In thirty four games he has scored thirty-two runs and forty-two hits for an average of .309. Luyster has cracked out twelve two-base hits, one three bagger, two home runs, two sacrifice hits and has stolen three bases. Bruggy has accounted for nine two baggers, three three baggers, one home run, ten stolen bases and one sacrifice hit.

Huston Durar, of This City, First in Y. M. C. A. Marathon, is On Deck.

Huston Durar, winner of the modified marathon held under the direction of Physical Director George L. Listman, of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A., over the Mountain avenue course here five years ago, yesterday made application for entry in two events to be contested at Parker Field, Saturday, July 4. Durar's entry blank calls for competition in the five-mile classic and the one mile run.

His appearance at the field will add considerably to the interest of the event as his ability as a long distance man is well known. It would not be a surprise to many to see him run off with the Board of Trade trophy offered for first place in the event. He is one of the most formidable runners in this section and well earned the title of city champion when he outfooted a large field in the Y. M. C. A. event, defeating among others Jack Fritts, who will oppose him Independence Day.

In the Y. M. C. A. meet Durar covered the 4:6 mile in remarkably good time, finishing in fine shape. Andrew McDonough, of the Plainfield High School, was second, and Raymond Manley, another local schoolboy, was third.

PLAINFIELD WILL MEET DUNELLEN AT THAT PLACE

Manager Ernest Dorflinger, of the Plainfield baseball team, will take his pets to Dunellen Saturday afternoon, for the second game of the season with the aggregation representing that hamlet. The first meeting of these two rivals resulted in a victory for Plainfield on Parker Field, but the Dunellen team has since launched out on a winning streak and considerable trouble will probably be experienced by the locals in getting away with the return encounter.

Hannon, the player who starred in a Dunellen uniform against Plainfield on the former occasion, has returned from a tryout with the Gloversville team and will be back in his old position in the Dunellen lineup. Hank Mathewson will probably do the pitching for Plainfield and the lineup will be the same as the one that took the villagers into camp in the initial setto.

ENGLAND REGAINS CHAMPIONSHIP

Captures Second Polo Game by Score of 4 to 2 3-4.

MILBURN IS AMERICA'S STAR

Great Rejoicing as Cables Flashed Glad Tidings to King George—Contest Is Much Closer Than the First, and Defenders Played Much Snappier Game. Penalties Cause of Defeat.

New York, June 17.—England regained *the international polo cup by de*feating the defending American four at Meadow Brook for the second time. The score was 4 goals to 2¾. America lost 2¼ points through penalties, while England suffered the loss of one goal for infractions of the rules. The match was witnessed by 40,000 enthusiasts.

In every club of the empire they were drinking the health of the army officers whose matchless team work overcame the individual brilliancy of the Americans and recovered the trophy taken from Hurlingham five years ago by our "Big Four."

Almost at the instant that Lady Wimbourne, surrounded on the veranda of the Meadow Brook clubhouse by the happy, weary members of her husband's team, lightly touched with her lips the great silver cup brimming with champagne cablegrams flashed to King George, to the Duke of Westminster, to the king of Spain and to English sportsmen the world over. And the sense of the cablegrams was, "We are coming home with the cup after the grandest game of polo ever played."

It was no hollow victory obtained by the lean, hard riders of Hurlingham over the men of Meadow Brook, and the first to acclaim the courage and headlong dash of the Americans were the victors themselves. Lord Wimbourne, caught in a whirlpool of Englishmen and English women, who were almost delirious from joy and excitement, shouted as they bore him on their shoulders to the clubhouse:

"It was a near thing, but we did it; we did it! We caught the Americans off their game on Saturday, but not today. They came back to their real form. That man Milburn! What can one say about him? He played a grand game."

Americans Played Well.

It was a nearer thing, indeed, than the cold figures of the score reveal. America as well as England drove the ball five times between goal posts, but the Americans, undoubtedly more affected by the tremendous nervous tension of a game which must decide everything for them, while it meant for the Englishmen only an evening of the match, were at times too reckless in their riding and suffered from penalties for fouling. While England lost only one full point in that way, America lost two points and a quarter of a point in addition for a safety play which, if it had not been made, might have gained another goal for England.

Thirty-seven thousand persons saw the second and decisive game and not one left Meadow Brook field without praising Rene La Montagne, the Waterbury brothers and Devereux Milburn for such gameness and courage as thrilled the heart. They were swept off their feet in the first two periods by the speed, the slashing pace, the unfailing accuracy of the challengers, but they never stopped fighting. They got better and better as the match went on and at the end they were fighting on more than even terms. They had Major Barrett and Captains Cheape, Tomkinson and Lockett on the defensive, using every trick and device of skill and science to keep the willow sphere from the deadly swings of Milburn and Larry Waterbury. One heard it said more than once as the cheering Englishmen swept to the clubhouse carrying their embarrassed heroes:

"If the game could have gone into extra periods Milburn would have pulled it out of the fire."

The cavalrymen from England won because they displayed the most marvelous teamwork ever seen on a polo field in this country, teamwork which was too much for the individual excellence of our men. This was the judgment not of spectators unversed in the science of the game, but of experts.

Without question the shining star of the American team was Devereux Milburn. He out-Milburned Milburn. He played like a flame over all the field. He accomplished impossible feats in goal defense, robbing England of at least four points by snatching the ball from under the very mallets of Barrett and Cheape. He was down the field like the west wind when the Englishmen fancied he was backing his team, and more than once he riddled the English teamwork by the fury of his attack.

AUTO DITCHED

The Newark man gave one bound and was back in his machine before the onlookers knew what had happened. As a means of proving to his now large audience that he could "run" the car, he pushed in the clutch and away went the machine only to be brought to another halt within fifteen feet, when it struck Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fleese who were standing on the curb with their child. Mrs. Fleese was knocked down and severely cut about the face and hands.

The stop McMurray made, however, was only for a moment's duration and he was off again like the wind. A Polock who stood by at the time suddenly became alarmed and started running around a small three-cornered park in the immediate vicinity. Fate followed the foreigner and before he had gotten well under way he discovered that McMurray was pursuing him in the auto. Several laps of the track were made with the Polock still in the lead when McMurray was taken into custody.

He was lodged in a cell in the Dunellen headquarters and this morning had thawed out sufficiently to warrant his arraignment. Penitent and weeping McMurray was brought before Recorder Campbell in Dunellen this morning and held to await the action of the Grand Jury on a charge of "atrocious assault and battery." He was taken to New Brunswick where the Middlesex authorities are today trying to ascertain where the assault and battery enters the case. Inquiries at Dunellen brought out the fact that the auto hit the woman and this was thought to be sufficient grounds for drawing up the charge against the driver. He was held in $500 to await trial. McMurray admitted being under the influence of liquor when brought into court and plead with the recorder for a chance to get away from the village where excitement is a foreign subject.

TRIPLE HONORS FOR CAMPBELL TEAM, CHAMPIONS OF ELKS' BOWLING MEET

Jonhny Campbell's team of Elks, entered in the local club's bowling tournament, brought the affair to a close last night, by taking two straight games from the Waldorf aggregation, thereby copping the championship. This brings to a close one of the closest races ever conducted in the alley sport hereabouts and last night's match was staged to decide a first place tie, the Waldorf and Campbell teams having concluded the race deadlocked for the title.

Twenty-six pins separated the two teams in the first contest and the Campbell crew smashed the team score for the league in the second match, coming out in front with 118 pins to spare. Low scores predominated in the first match and little excitement was forthcoming from the crowd of spectators who witnessed the playoff. In the second tilt Howard Woolston set up the high individual mark of the evening, a 237 and Vail and Blimm passed the double century circle.

Vail, of the Campbell team, will receive the high individual score prize for the tourney, having a 247 to his credit, and by virtue of their performance last night, the Campbell players will be given the high team score prize.

The scores:

WALDORF—No. 3.
Swalm, C. W.	141	155
Dunham	140	134
Blimm	149	218
Woolston, C.	168	138
Waldorf	170	193
	768	838

CAMPBELL—No. 2.
Woolston, H.	194	237
Melick	124	187
Simons	140	150
Vail	193	212
Campbell	143	170

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is it necessary to have a license to dispose of vegetables and flowers from a wagon in this city providing you raise the product on your own premises? H. J. Y.

Answer—Farmers raising the vegetables and other products on their own places are allowed to dispose of them without taking out a peddlers' license.

Sporting Editor:

Query—A says the mayor of Plainfield does not get a stipulated salary. B says he does but gives it to charity. Who is right J. G. L.

Answer—B is correct. The mayor gets an annual salary of $300 but it has long been the custom for the city executive to give this sum to some worthy charity in Plainfield. It is not compulsory that he should follow this rule, however.

Sporting Editor:

Query—How does the city determine who shall have charge of the street sprinkling each year? Is it always given to the same person or may any one make application for the contract? N. M. B.

Answer—It is let out by contract each spring. Get in your bid when it is advertised next spring.

Sporting Editor:

Query—I know of a candy store in the west end that is disposing of cigarettes and other forms of tobacco to minors. How shall I put a stop to this? Is it my place to inform the authorities and if so, what steps should be taken. L. H. B.

Answer—It is your place to notify the chief of police if you know this practise is being conducted by any individual. The law is severe with offenders who sell tobacco to minors.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Has Manager Dorflinger, of the Plainfield baseball team, secured a contract with the playground commission for the use of Parker Field every Saturday afternoon during the season? J. F. P.

Answer—Manager Dorflinger and Mr. Wriston, supervisor of the field, have reached an agreement in the matter, and the Plainfield team will use the field for its home games.

CLOSING EXERCISES DUNELLEN SCHOOLS

Interesting Program Presented last Night in Presbyterian Church.

The closing exercises of the Dunellen public schools were held in the First Presbyterian church, that place, last evening. The program opened with a musical selection, "March from Eli," to which the graduates, members of the chorus, faculty and Board of Education marched into the church. The organ was played by S. Frederick Smith. Then Rev. D. W. C. Ramsey, of the Dunellen Methodist Episcopal church, pronounced the invocation, after which the school chorus sang a selection to welcome the friends and relatives of the graduation class. The "Vision of Sir Launbal," by Howell, was recited in two parts by Miss Maude Whitford, the second honor pupil, and Miss Agnes Ronayne, the first honor pupil. The selection was well rendered and the recitation showed careful training and preparation. The school chorus sang "The Glen" from Verdi's "La Traviata."

The speaker of the evening was Rev. Dr. J. H. Ingham, of the Second Reformed church, New Brunswick. He spoke on "Preparation and Achievement." In a well rounded and convincing address the speaker advised the pupils to be definite, adequate and thorough. His talk was straightforward and pleasing. His style was simple enough to carry his message to the hearts of the young graduates. Following the address, President A. F. Todd, of the Board of Education, presented the graduates with certificates. The class song written by Miss Maude Whitford, the second honor pupil, was sung by the entire school. The song was quite original and caused much comment for its author. Vice-President Mahlon R. Dayton, of the Board of Education, awarded the prizes and medals. Those receiving the prizes were Agnes Ronayne and George Zink, for excellency in deportment and scholarship; Amy Richards, for showing the most improved penmanship, and Sarah Watson was presented with a book for playing the piano in the assembly room during the year. The school chorus rendered another selection "Speed On," after which Rev. E. R. Brown, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, pronounced the benediction.

The class colors of white and green were very effectively produced by the girls in their white dresses against a green background formed by an array of beautiful palms and ferns. The simplicity of the decorations was noticeable.

CANTATA CHORUS CONCERT AN ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

The fourth concert of the Cantata Chorus of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church was held in the church last night, under the direction of William Holmes, assisted by Mrs. Royle T. Phillips and Clarence Heaume.

The program was attractive and delighted a large audience. The first selection, "Over the Hills," sung by the Cantata Chorus was exceptionally fine. Mrs. Phillips also received a great deal of applause by reciting "Hannah, the Quakeress." Her style of impersonation was humorous. Mr. Holmes sang a baritone solo in the second part of the program and was brought back by the audience for an encore. Another one of the big hits of the evening was scored by Mrs. Albert Flood and L. V. Tallamy with their duet, "Life's Dream is O'er." The accompanist was Mrs. Frederick J. Hubach.

By MARGARET LAWRENCE

Simple indeed is the working of this lovely centerpiece for it is mostly done in outline-stitch. This stitch needs no padding, as does the solid work, and therefore it can be done very rapidly.

This centerpiece design, No. 14673, is 22 inches in diameter and may be stamped on heavy white round-thread linen and worked with mercerized cotton. Outline-stitch, solid work and eyelets may be combined effectively in working these sprays, while the scalloped edge should be done in heavily padded buttonhole-stitch. This design will require about 15 skeins of No. 25 working cotton.

These sprays may be cut apart and used on bureau-scarfs, sideboard-covers and tray-cloths of linen, lawn or batiste.

Guaranteed, hot-iron transfer pattern will be supplied to readers for 15 cents.

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

An extremely simple, one-piece romper is shown in 8139. It closes up the back and has a pair of seamless drawers buttoned up each side which fastens to a narrow stitched belt in the back. A little garment of this sort is especially good for a summer play garment as it is cool and comfortable, does not hamper in any way and may easily be laundered. Among the practical materials are blue chambray, colored ginghams, figured crepes, dimity and madras. The chambray and crepe are especially good as they launder so easily, crepe in particular, requiring no ironing. For a child of four, this romper may be made with 1¾ yards of 36-inch material. The pattern comes in seven sizes, ½ to 6.

This is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to give right size, passing the tape around the fullest part of the breast well up under the arms. It may be secured by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

Some Cookery Suggestions

LAMB ECONOMY.

LAMB is at its best now and fairly moderate in price. There are many delicious ways of serving the less expensive cuts of the meat and portions of cold lamb. These suggestions may be of interest to the housewife who desires to keep down her butcher's bills:

Utilizing Cold Lamb.

Salmi of Lamb. — Take cold roast lamb in thin slices. Cook five minutes two tablespoonfuls of finely chopped onion. Add the lamb, sprinkle with salt and pepper and cover with one cupful of brown sauce or one cupful of cold lamb gravy, seasoned with Worcestershire sauce. Cook until thoroughly heated. Arrange the slices overlapping one another lengthwise of the platter. Pour the sauce around and garnish with toast points or parsley.

Lamb Hash on Toast. — Left over lamb and potatoes are chopped and to each cupful of cold meat add a teaspoonful of onion juice, a teaspoonful of finely chopped parsley and salt and pepper to taste. Moisten with a little water. Put the drippings into a pan. Then add the mixture. Stir until it is thoroughly heated. Cover and set on the back of the stove or in the oven for five minutes. Have the toast in rounds. Place a tablespoonful of lamb on each and garnish with parsley.

Cheap and Nourishing.

Lamb Stew With Vegetables.—Take two pounds of neck of lamb, two quarts of string beans and one pound of tomatoes. Pull the strings from the beans and cut in four pieces. Cut the meat in small pieces, wash it first and then put it in a saucepan. Add four glassfuls of water and cook until it is half done. Then put the string beans in it and four good sized onions, cut into small pieces. Cut the tomatoes and put them in. Put on enough hot water to cover the beans and let cook until well done. Salt to suit taste.

A Novel Dish.

Lamb's Fritters.—Take two pairs of lamb's breads, a few slices of carrot, one-half sliced onion, one-half bayleaf, one gill of stock, salt and pepper, frying fat, tomato or piquante sauce. Make a batter with six ounces of flour, one egg, a pinch of salt, a tablespoonful of oil and a little tepid water.

Wash, blanch, trim and pare the lamb's breads. Put in a buttered saucepan with carrot, onion, bay leaf, stock and seasoning and cook in the oven till the breads are tender. Take up and press them till cold.

Have the batter ready made with the above ingredients; let it stand after it is well beaten. Cut the lamb's breads into slices, coat each slice with the piquante sauce, then dip in the frying batter to completely coat the meat. Drop the slices into hot fat, fry and drain. Serve with tomato or piquante sauce.

The Dolls Said Goodby.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Picnic For the Dolls.

DADDY had a story to tell the children that evening which was to be told especially for Evelyn. Jack never minded in the slightest bit if a story was told just for Evelyn, as sometimes a story was told just for him.

"I am going to tell you a story tonight about a picnic a little girl named Effie gave for her dolls," said daddy.

"Oh, I hope it will give me some ideas for a picnic for my dollies!" said Evelyn. "They are hoping for one now that the hot weather has come."

"Effie invited three other little girls to come to the picnic and to bring their dolls," daddy went on, "and when these four children met, together with all the dolls they owned, there certainly was quite a crowd. You see, they didn't want to leave a single dollie out of a picnic, for dollies adore picnics and would have felt so hurt if they had been left home, because perhaps the sawdust was coming out of an arm or because one's pretty blue glass eyes had been knocked out.

"They were all dressed up in their very best. Some of them wore the most beautiful ribbons you ever saw, and others were decorated with magnificent feathers.

"When they first got to the party they were a little shy and sat up very straight, just as their mothers had put them down, but after a bit they got over being so shy, and, urged on by their mothers, they did all sorts of tricks and recited little poems.

"But the best part of the picnic—in fact, of any picnic—is, of course, the food.

"And delicious food they did have too! It tasted most especially good because it was in the most attractive little pink and white dishes. The dishes had been a present to Effie's dolls from Santa Claus the Christmas before. They had cambric tea, which was poured from a little pink and white teapot, and with the tea they had sandwiches just like real people. Then they had ice cream and cake. It was sponge cake, so it couldn't possibly hurt their teeth, and after they got all through each dollie was given a little basket filled with peppermints.

"And then all the dollies had to get ready to go home again. It took their mothers some time to get them ready. The ribbons had to be tied on, and they had to say goodby, looking as if they had not been tumbled about at all, for dolls mustn't look as if they had been too rough, even at a picnic.

"But they certainly did have a fine time, and they all went home so very happy."

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

Votes For Women—Commencement Season Comments.

"There are thirty-eight college equal suffrage leagues in the United States, and only two college anti-suffrage leagues, so far as reported. One is among the young women at Radcliffe—and it is much smaller than the Radcliffe Suffrage League. The other is among the boys of Tulane University in New Orleans."

"President W. O. Thompson, of Ohio State University, has made public his advocacy of woman suffrage. Last summer he spoke to a large audience from the steps of the State House at Columbus.

"It was my first invitation to speak on the subject, and I jumped at the opportunity," he said.

"Interest in suffrage among the women at Ohio State University has been growing steadily in strength. Four years ago a canvass of the college women showed that the Suffragists were outvoted ten to one. This year more than one-half of the women were in favor of suffrage, and another fourth neutral.'"

Caroline M. Breyfogle, dean of women at Ohio State University, writes as follows:

State universities, we are told, are for the making of citizens and efficient workmen rather than for the making of scholars; and the test of the efficiency of the university product is the social community of which the graduates are members. If this be so, how can the interests of the college woman be limited by the threshold of her home, especially when the needs of the city and State cry aloud for her consideration?

* * * * * *

The women of the State were declared ineligible by the State charter as heads of State institutions, an exception being made by public ballot of the Girls' Reformatory at Delaware. From time immemorial man has been adventurous, destructive, vagrant; woman has been the great conservator, the nourisher, the protector of life and the child. Does not our great State need both forces for the perfecting of her civilization? Why may we not be granted freedom to put into use these high gifts, supplementing one another, perfecting the community and the State in which we live, and through whose social life our children shall be moulded for great and wise things?

From the University of North Dakota:

President McVey, in a recent address to the students, stated that without doubt suffrage would be granted to the women of North Dakota this year. Other members of the faculty expressed themselves as in favor.

Dean Brannon says: "On the basis that the best efficiency is realizable when every unit of the body politic equally shares the responsibility and equally enjoys the privileges of the whole group, I am enthusiastically in favor of woman suffrage in North Dakota and in every State in the Union."

Dean Kennedy gives his views as follows: "I have long favored the granting of the suffrage to women. All the reasons usually given against it are unsound. The right to vote is the right to express one's choice as to the kind of government we live under and the kind of persons who shall administer our affairs. This right belongs to mature and sane persons as such, regardless of sex. The day is coming when we shall wonder at the reasons usually given against equal suffrage."

Dean Ella L. Fulton, formerly opposed, now says: "I believe that the unjust discrimination between men and women on the suffrage question should cease, and that women should be given the ballot."

The status of suffrage at Barnard as described by Emilie J. Hutchinson, instructor of economics:

One of the most interesting developments among the Suffragists at Barnard during the present year has been the reorganization of the suffrage club so that its purpose more definitely includes a consideration of the many questions that arise in the discussion of votes for women and center around the ends for which they may be used. This has been due in part to the attempt of certain opponents of the suffrage cause to identify the demand for votes with the feminist movement, and suffrage meetings are frequently given over to explaning the relation of the two.

* * * * * *

The reorganized club plans to study the woman's movement in its many phases. The great social changes of the nineteenth century have been tremendously important in their effects upon the status of women. A certain amount of adjustment has already been made. At the present time, with its increased interest in the problem, we are beginning to seek more diligently for new methods of adjustment. In this great task the possession of the franchise is but one of the means that we may use. Students know that social questions are far too complex to be settled in any such easy way as simply to give the vote to adult men and women, but, firm in the belief that it is one indispensable means, we, as a group of college women, are addressing ourselves to study in an intelligent way what women can do with the ballot, what the ballot can do for women, and also what forces in addition to direct political influence may aid in solving the great social questions of our time.

"The Desire to Vote," by A. N. Holcombe, of the Bureau for Research in Municipal Government, Harvard University:

"No difference between men and women with respect to the desire for the ballot is demonstrated by the fact that only one woman in ten has actually petitioned for it, nor is there any conclusive evidence that the proportion of men who desire to vote is very much greater than the proportion of women. Certainly there was no greater demand for the suffrage on the part of unenfranchised men a hundred years ago than there is on the part of unenfranchised women today. Women who do not want to vote, if enfranchised, will not be under any greater obligation to do so than are men who do not want to vote. The indifference of a portion of the women is no more reason for withholding the franchise from the rest than is the indifference of a portion of the men a reason for disfranchising all males. Women will have to decide for themselves whether or not they wish to vote. The duty of men is simply to see to it that those women who do wish to vote secure the opportunity without undue toil and trouble."

Cornell University:

During the great Suffrage School and Conference held in Ithaca this winter, President Schurman, in introducing Mrs. Catt, expressed his strong favor for suffrage, and the next day, in a published interview, Dr. Andrew D. White, first president of the university and former Ambassador to Germany, retold the story of his forty year stand for suffrage.

Mt. Holyoke: "The Prejudice of Yesterday," by President Mary E. Woolley:

It is difficut today to realize the storm of ridicule and bitter opposition which descended upon the head of a woman who presumed to lift her voice in public assembly. It is not necessary to go back fifty years to find this attitude, for many of us can remember that the one or two women who took part in the church prayer meeting of our girlhood days thereby deprived some of the members of their families of the privileges of the sanctuary, since they had not the moral courage to lend the sanction of their presence to so radical a proceeding.

It seems almost enexplicable that changes, surely as radical as giving to women the opportunity to vote, should be accepted today as perfectly natural, while the political right is still viewed somewhat askance. No aspect of the question appeals to the speaker so strongly as its reasonableness. It has been shown that women can be both wise and womanly; can speak in public without sacrificing their dignity; can be graduated from a co-educational institution without becoming masculine; that they can interest themselves in making possible "the right to childhood" for the children of less fortunate women, without neglecting their own, and be better home-makers and home-lovers because their interests are not confined within their own four walls.

Some movements in history have been brought about by a stroke of the pen or a sudden uprising of the people, like a great tidal wave, sweeping everything before it; others have come slowly as the result of the cumulative force of years of effort and represent the gradual growth of conviction. The time will come when some of us will look back upon the arguments against the granting of the suffrage to women with as much incredulity as that with which we now read those against their education.

Report in National College League, by M. Carey Thomas, president of Bryn Mawr:

"Our National College League now numbers over four hundred college women, and it could as easily number forty thousand as four thousand members if we had enough college women organizers to take advantage of the present absorbing interest in equal suffrage. College chapters are even beginning to form of themselves. Within the past six months Radcliffe College, Smith, Vassar, Texas University, the Randolph-Macon Woman's College in conservative Virginia, and the two-years' old William Smith Woman's College of Hobart College have on their own initiative begun to discuss woman's suffrage, and in four of the five colleges large Suffrage Chapters are already organized. Our experience proves that women college students and women college graduates are frequently convinced by the need of woman's suffrage by a single good suffrage argument, and, when once convinced, seem able to convince many other people. Our leagues and chapters are doing much to spread the good tidings of Votes for Women."

232 PRINCETON BOYS GRADUATE

Class of 1914 One of Smallest Ever Turned Out.

GETS B. A. AFTER 52 YEARS

Dudley Avery Left Princeton at Opening of Civil War to Join Confederate Army—Five Honorary Degrees—Wilson Farrand of South Orange Wins Alumni Trustee Election.

Princeton, N. J., June 17.—Princeton sent 232 young men out to join her band of alumni in the formal one hundred and sixty-seventh commencement exercises held in Alexander hall.

In addition twenty-one men received the degree of doctor of philosophy, six became electrical engineers, sixty-seven masters of art and five received honorary degrees. The prize winners and honor men also were announced.

President Hibben received the gifts of the year, which totaled a little more than $614,000, and which included the $390,000 stadium, the gift of Edgar Palmer. A revenue of $10,000 annually will accrue to the university from the new athletic arena. The president also announced that Mrs. Russell Sage had extended the time limit of her gift of $100,000, which was conditional on the university raising $400,000 by July 1 for the building of a new dining hall. The new limit is placed at Jan. 1, 1915. This is the second time that Mrs. Sage has extended the time limit.

One of the most interesting figures at the commencement was Dudley Avery, who received the degree of bachelor of arts as of the class of 1862. Mr. Avery, who lives at Avery's island, Louisiana, left Princeton at the opening of the civil war and before graduation to join the Confederate army.

The honorary degree of doctor of science was conferred upon William Crawford Gorgas, surgeon general. He was warmly greeted. Others receiving honorary degrees were: Masters of arts, John Wesley Beatty, director of fine arts, Carnegie institute, Pittsbrugh; Albert Constable, Jr., chief justice of the second judicial circuit of Maryland; Timothy Cole, artist in wood engraving; John William White, lately professor in Harvard university, received the degree of doctor of letters.

The class of 1914 is one of the smallest that has been graduated in several years. The total of 232 was divided as follows: Bachelor of arts, 88; bachelor of letters, 99; bachelor of science, 20; civil engineers, 25.

The result of the alumni trustee elections was announced and Wilson Farrand of South Orange, N. J., was reelected to serve for five years.

CAPTAIN A. A. PEARCE IS DEAD.

Exposure Suffered When Schooner Joseph Johnson Sank Causes Death.

Caldwell, N. J., June 17.—Captain Archibald A. Pearce, forty years old, of the ill fated schooner Joseph Johnson, which encountered a hurricane off the coast of North Carolina in 1908, died in his home on Westville avenue as a result of the exposure he suffered when his ship was broken up by the storm. Thirty of the crew were swept from the deck and lost. Only the captain and two others were saved. They had lashed themselves to the rigging and were picked up after they had been in the water several hours.

Captain Pearce went to sea when a small boy. He was still a young man when he commanded sailing ships which plied between gulf and southern ports and New York. Four brothers survive him.

M'GRATH IN CONGRESS RACE.

Member of State Auditing Department Announces His Candidacy.

Trenton, N. J., June 17.—Ex-Assemblyman Arthur A. McGrath of Hudson county announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for congress from the Twelfth district.

He is now a member of the state auditing department and will oppose Congressman James Hamill, who seeks renomination. McGrath promises to devote his best efforts toward the movement to get for Jersey City the new shipyard, which would result in the rehabilitation of the river front.

BRIEF STATE ITEMS.

All the journeymen barbers in the lower section of Jersey City are on strike for shorter hours.

Although opposed by Mayor Bert Daly of Bayonne, the city hall commissioners instructed architects to proceed with plans for a new $200,000 city hall.

The Newark board of school estimate at a meeting in Mayor Haussling's office decided to erect an administration building for the board of education at Washington and Academy streets at a cost of $500,000.

Today is to be Hackensack's biggest day. The annual state convention of the exempt firemen, the parade, the presence of Governor Fielder, the band concert and fireworks and firemen's dances are expected to bring 20,000 persons to the town.

as directed and required by the Ordinance of the City of Plainfield, entitled "An Ordinance Concerning the Construction and Repair of Sidewalks and Curbs," approved July 15, 1910, as amended, not having been completed, the Common Council of said City has directed such improvement to be made under the direction and supervision of the Street Commissioner, and further directed notice of such contemplated improvement to be given to the owner or owners of any lands thereby affected, and further directed that if such improvement shall not be completed within the time and in the manner directed in this notice, the Street Commissioner shall thereupon forthwith proceed to cause such improvement to be made by the City under his direction, as authorized by said Ordinance and the Act of the Legislature hereinafter referred to. The foregoing is a description of your property affected, sufficiently definite in terms to identify the same and the following is a description of the required improvement, viz., on George Street, Columbia Avenue, Leland Avenue, St. Mary's Avenue, Belvidere Avenue, Sycamore Street, Randolph Road and Morris Street, the construction adjoining said property of a sidewalk to be laid as directed in said Ordinance, to which ordinance and the record thereof in the City Clerk's Office reference is hereby made for greater certainty, at the expense of the abutting land owners, composed of concrete to be laid in conformity with the specifications for cement sidewalks as set forth in "Standard Specifications for Portland Cement Sidewalks and Curbs," filed in the office of the City Clerk, April 11th, 1910. On Lenox Avenue and Webster Place the construction of a curb, said curb to be of concrete, construction in conformity with specifications for curbs as set forth in the above mentioned specifications, and laid under the direction of the Street Commissioner. That all return curbs shall have a radius of six feet, no piece to be less than three feet two inches in length.

The Street Commissioner shall give the correct lines and grades in all cases.

Notice is further given that unless said improvement shall be completed within thirty days after the publication of this notice, it is the intention of said City to make said improvement or cause the same to be made, pursuant to the authority of the Act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, entitled, "An Act to authorize cities to construct and repair sidewalks and curbs, and to provide for the payment of the cost thereof," approved April 13, 1908, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

Proof under oath of the publication or service of this notice will be filed within two days thereafter in the Office of the City Collector, being the officer charged with the duty of making official searches for liens.

Said Act of the Legislature provides that in case of non-payment of the charges authorized thereby, the land and real estate subject to the liens of such charges may be sold in the manner provided for the sale of lands for the non-payment of assessments.

WILLIAM J. BURNS.

Chiefs of Police May Oust Detective From Organization.

That William J. Burns, chief of the Burns detective agency, is "in bad" with the International Association of Police Chiefs and will be ousted at one of the first sessions of the twenty-first annual convention, which opened in Grand Rapids, Mich., was the declaration made by F. J. Cassada of Elmira, N. Y. A concerted movement is on foot to evict Burns because of his activities in the Leo Frank case. Cassada, with Michael Regan of Buffalo, vice president of the association, and chiefs from all the southern states are behind the plan.

INVITED TOO MANY TO HEAR ROOSEVELT

Angry Crowd Barred From His Lecture In London.

London, June 17.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt appeared before the Royal Geographical society to tell its members and many of the most conspicuous men in English public life how he put the "Duvida river" on the map of Brazil.

The society's theater was packed to suffocation. Those anxious to hear the former president would easily have filled the largest hall in London, but he preferred a small auditorium, in which an intimate talk would be possible.

The theater seats only 700, but the society issued more than 1,000 cards, and at the same time it refused hundreds of applications.

The result was close crowding, while two or three hundred persons, including many prominent men and women, who had come a long distance with cherished cards, were unable to get in. The doors were closed and signs "Theater full" were posted half an hour before the colonel arrived. The police had plenty to do in keeping back the disappointed men and women in evening dress, who waved their cards and shouted their names and claims for consideration.

The street was blocked with automobiles, and an hour after the lecture began silk hatted groups continued frequent rushes like a football line upon the barred doors, fiercely criticising the arrangements.

Large forces of police were waiting to protect Colonel Roosevelt against a possible suffragette attack, but none was attempted. The colonel waved his hand when he alighted from his motor car, but the crowd was too decorous for cheering. The heartiest applause, however, greeted his appearance on the stage.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We Eat too Much Meat Which Clogs Kidneys, Then the Back Hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL EXERCISES HELD

Interesting Program During Which 159 Pupils Are Graduated.

PLEASING ADDRESSES

The graduation exercises of the Plainfield grammar schools took place yesterday afternoon in the new auditorium of the Plainfield High School. The stage was very attractively decorated with palms and the walls were covered with American flags and bunting of the school colors, red and white. The girls were dressed in white and sat on the right of the stage, while the boys in their white trousers and blue coats sat at the left. Fully thirteen hundred people witnessed the first grammar school commencement in the spacious hall.

The exercises opened with the invocation by Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church. The entire graduation class then sang a three-part song, "To Thee, O Country," led by Charles L. Lewis, supervisor of music in the Plainfield public schools. The singing was finished in style. Miss Flora Zeek of the graduation class delivered a recitation on the Indian legend of "Niagara Thunder Cloud." Her delivery was exceptionally good. Miss Dorothy Coburn followed with a Greek legend of "Baucis and Philemon," which was also very well given. A chorus of ten boys sang "O Lady, Leave that Silken Thread" and Barcarolle from "Tales of Hoffman." Their singing was greeted with a great deal of applause, both from their classmates and from the audience. Miss Mary Simons' recitation, "Susano," a Japanese legend, was a feature of the program. Her delivery was excellent and her gestures gave much emphasis to the piece. Following the singing of two selections by Mrs. Guy Bender and Mrs. S. H. Tugwell, Dr. Arthur L. Johnson, county superintendent of Union county, was introduced by William S. Tyler, president of the Board of Education.

In his address, Dr. Johnson outlined the importance of further study on the part of the graduates, whether it be at home or in the High School. He congratulated the parents on having the advantage of sending their sons and daughters to one of the finest schools in the State. He spoke of the Plainfield school system as being one which the other schools of the State looked upon as the height of their ambition. Following Dr. Johnson's talk the graduating class chorus sang a bridal chorus from the "Rose Maidens."

In Dr. Henry M. Maxson's address to the graduating class he gave many reasons for the necessity of further pursuit of knowledge. He spoke of education as a means toward the increase of power and strength of character. He praised the present social life in the schools adding that it leads the life of a child toward the right principles. He congratulated the graduates in their completion of the first eight years of school and praised them for their constant efforts. Dr. Maxson's address was characterized by his usual convincing style.

The presentation of diplomas to the graduates was a most impressive sight as the students marched past the president's desk and marched back to their seats. The classes showed excellent organization. The special seventh class marched to the stage from the front seats of the auditorium to receive their diplomas. The exercises came to an end with the singing of "America" by the class and audience.

MISS HELEN C. LEE WEDS PAUL BROOKS

Miss Helen Cowles Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Lee, formerly of Plainfield, and Paul Brooks, of New York, were married at Uplands, the home of the bride's parents at Flemington, yesterday. The ceremony was performed by Archdeacon R. Bowden Shepherd. The boys of the Flemington Children's Choir sang.

Mrs. Stewart Hay, of New York, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Phyllis Brooks, of Andover, Mass., the bridegroom's sister, acted as maid of honor and Thomas W. Ashwell, of this city, was the best man. There were about two hundred guests at the wedding. The bride's father is an official of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company.

AUTHORIZE PLANS FOR NEW SCHOOL

Wilder and White Will Present Them to School Board by August 1.

The Plainfield Board of Education at its meeting last night, formally authorized Wilder & White, architects, to prepare preliminary plans for the proposed $100,000 graded school to be erected on Evergreen avenue, and have them ready by August 1. The board is anxious to begin operations so that the building may be completed at the earliest possible time.

The board passed on the teachers' salary list and announcement was made that the next meeting will be held on June 29 and all persons having bills against the board are requested to present them on or before June 25. Contractor John Dahl was complimented for his work in completing the addition to the High School to such an extent that the commencement can be held there tonight.

WITNESS CONFUSED IN STEIGMAN CASE

Considerable Testimony Taken in Conspiracy Matter in Newark.

Acting United States District Attorney Bacon reopened the government's case against Louis Stiegman, of 115 East Fifth street, and his brother Charles, of New Brunswick, in Newark, this morning, much testimony being taken in the matter from several local witnesses. In opening the case for the defense Benjamin M. Weinberg counsel for the Stiegmans, stated that he would endeavor to disprove by books and other records kept by the defendants that no conspiracy had been entered into by the brothers and that there was absolutely no foundation for the alleged practise of transferring stock back and forth between the Surprise store run by Louis Stiegman in this city, and the other brother's store in New Brunswick.

Leo Berse, of West Fifth street, a clerk employed by Stiegman in the Surprise Store, was placed on the stand and under cross examination by Attorney Bacon broke down. He became badly confused and it was some time before he was able to recover his self-possession. He was asked to explain certain discrepancies between the testimony he gave the referee in bankruptcy and that given on the stand today but could not account for the errors. The District Attorney expressed an opinion to the effect that the witnesses' mind had been refreshed by the defendants as to dates and other data and the jury became intensely interested at this suggestion. The jurors asked several questions of the witness. Judge Haight called Berse's attention to his disconnected testimony and asked him who had been acting as an informant to him prior to his taking the stand.

Michael Silver, an employe of Saul Cohen, the receiver, testified that the firm had received goods three days prior to the private sale that was conducted and was asked if the goods were not sold below the actual cost. The court cited an instance in seventy-five cent gloves that were sold for five cents. Herrman Gold, a jobber, who bought the goods remaining after the private sale and Samuel Rothberg, the appraiser of the stock for Cohen were also called to the stand. Rothberg testified that while he was at work in the store Stiegman took some papers from the safe but he did not know the nature of the documents.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Rev. Charles H. Kues, rector of Holy Cross church, has arranged for the annual picnic of the Sunday-school to be held in the "Notch" at Scotch Plains, on Saturday, and the rector especially invited all members of the school, including the teachers and officers.

Conveyances will leave the parish house at 9:30 o'clock in the morning. Those planning to go are requested to bring lunch. If stormy the affair will be postponed to another date to be announced.

SIDEWALKS AND LIGHTS.

Street ommissioner A. J. Gavett has been putting in several crosswalks throughout the West End. New street lights are also being erected on a number of the streets in various parts of that section of the city, the work being brought about through the efforts of the West End Civic Association.

DIRECTORS FOR LIBRARY NAMED

FOR THREE YEAR TERMS

City Council Plans Street Improvements—Protest Against Auto Bus Ordinance—Tax Supplement Withdrawn to Be Re-introduced Later.

Mayor Percy H. Stewart, at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night, appointed Dr. Leonard Waldo, J. Herbert Case and W. F. Merrill members of the Board of Directors of the Plainfield Public Library for three-year terms and the appointments were confirmed. All three men have been serving on the board for some time and are closely identified with the work of the library and reading room.

Communications from the Board of Education and Board of School Estimate certified to the Council the action appropriating $100,000 for a new graded school to be erected on Evergreen avenue. The supplement to the tax ordinance was withdrawn last night owing to some technalities. It will be amended and adopted later.

An ordinance offered by Councilman Francis J. Blatz and adopted on two readings provide for the macadamizing of Emerson, Giraud, Monroe and Berkeley avenues and West Fourth street, and the issuing of $16,000 worth of bonds to cover the cost, with the usual provision of assessment. There will be a hearing on the ordinance Monday night, July 6, at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Otto Arens, of Rahway road, in a communication, called the Council's attention to the danger from fireworks at Parker Field on July 4, and the clerk was instructed to inform her that there is now an ordinance which fully covers such matters and that it will be enforced.

The West End Civic Association, through W. J. Boyd, secretary, protested against the adoption of the bus ordinance or any action that would tend to restrict the operation of these vehicles. C. C. Burke and others petitioned for a hydrant on Woodland avenue and Ravine road, and residents in the West End asked for a hydrant at West Third street and Prescott place. Both petitions were referred. Oliver B. Leonard, clerk of the First Baptist church, requested that the gutter on the church side of Crove street be properly repaired. This was referred. The annual report of the directors of the Plainfield Library and Reading Room was filed.

The Public Service Corporation reported the changing of a number of street lights. Petitions for two hydrants, one at Giraud avenue and West Front street and the other at Giraud avenue and Sachar place, were referred. A communication was received from Hawkins, Delafield and Longfellow, of New York, bond experts, approving of the city s sewer bond issue.

Mr. Claybrook offered a resolution, which was adopted, appropriating $2,000 from the general fund to cover the cost of making the corrections to the city assessment maps.

STATE ENDEAVORERS TO MEET IN JERSEY CITY

Within the next few months, Jersey City will become the centre of attraction to the Christian Endeavorers of New Jersey, the next convention of the State Christian Endeavor Union to be held in the Bergen Reformed church of that city on October 7, 8 and 9. With the Rev. August W. Sonne, of Flemington, as chairman of the program committee, and Willard Randall ,of Jersey City, in charge of local arrangements, very satisfactory progress is being made.

Mr. Randall, who is president of the Hudson County Christian Endeavor Union, has already appointed his local committees, who have the plans well under way. Small convention folders will be issued in the course of a few days and the county and local press committees are urged to adopt every method possible in order to bring the plans of the convention to the attention of all lcal societies. During the months of April and May, numerous successful rallies and conventions have been held throughout the State.

VICTORS FETED BY TRUE ADMIRERS

LOSERS ARE GUESTS

Plainfield High School Athletes Come in for Their Share of the Merrymaking—Ends With a Dance in Debele's Hall.

Following the North Plainfield-Plainfield High School baseball contest on Hyde Oval yesterday afternoon, the victorious aggregation was feted by Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Milne in their home on Willow avenue. Mrs. Milne had previously extended an invitation to the borough athletes to be her guests at a supper last night, but the victory over Plainfield in the afternoon made the occasion a doubly auspicious one. Members of the team and the host and hostess gathered around a uniquely arranged table and partook of a sumptuous repast.

Eatables of the school's colors and appropriate decorations lent a pleasing aspect to the interior scene and a general good spirit prevailed during the supper. Crossed bats and other similar decorations adorned the table and following the dinner speeches were made by the team's leaders and Mr. Milne, who is a former borough player and former captain of the Stevens Institute nine.

After the supper the athletes went to the Somerset School where they were joined by admiring schoolmates. With a large variety of noise making equipment the enthusiasts paraded the streets of the city and borough delivering school cheers at regular intervals along the avenue. At the store of Paul Collier, the donor of the cup, a stop was made and Mr. Collier was cheered to the echo by the North Plainfielders.

Reaching the junction of Park avenue and Front street the merrymakers espied Coach Tommy Mullin lurking in a corner and he was carried bodily to the automobile of William L. Smalley on the corner where cries for a speech induced him to make a try at oratory. After waiting several minutes for the din to quiet Tommy shouted, "Plainfield is all right but they will have to learn to hit 'em where they ain't."

Another stop was made at the Ritz store on West Front street where the Plainfield players were standing. The two teams exchanged yells and afterwards invaded the Ritz store as guests of William L. Smalley. More speeches followed of a congratulatory nature, the host complimenting the hard defeat and expressing a wish that more games of this nature might be staged between the rival forces.

Following the street and store merriment the students went to Debele's Hall, which had been turned over to them by the proprietor for dancing. This concluded the evening of demonstration.

MISS ELEANOR HALL BRIDE OF H. J. DILTS

Rev. John Hart, of Readington, Performs Ceremony at Neshanic Station.

Miss Eleanor Emmons Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hall, of Neshanic Station, and Harold Judson Dilts, of Bernardsville, were married at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. John Hart, of Readington, officiated in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends.

The bride was attended by Miss McGill, as maid of honor, and Melvin Hall, a brother of the bride, was best man. A nephew of the bride was ring bearer. The ceremony was performed under a bower of daisies. Miss Hall wore a gown of white crepe, with tulle veil, caught up with orange blossoms and carried bride roses.

The bride is a graduate of a Newark hospital, being a trained nurse. She has been residing in the borough for some time, where she has been associated with a local physician. The maid of honor is also a graduate of the same hospital in Newark. More than one hundred guests were present at the wedding and ceremony, coming from Newark; Elizabeth, Asbury Park and this city. After a trip the couple will reside at Basking Ridge, where the groom recently purchased a home.

MODEL METHOD OF KEEPING HOUSE

First Year Course Completed at Y. W. C. A. by Class of Girls.

PRIZES ARE AWARDED

In Addition to Certificates Twenty-seven Pupils Receive $1 Each for Being Present at Every Meeting—Many Mothers Attend Exercises.

The closing of the "Housekeeping Centre" at the Young Women's Christian Association, yesterday afternoon, was marked by a number of pleasing features, including the presentation of certificates to twenty-seven girls who had completed the first of the two years' course, and the award of $1 each to seventeen girls who had not missed a single lesson. There were many of the mothers of the children present to enjoy the affair.

This work was started under the direction of Mrs. Percy H. Stewart, assisted by Mrs. Martha Tennant, Mrs. S. B. Morrison and Miss Lucy Talmadge, the idea being to teach girls in a practical way the model method of "keeping house." A model apartment was established and every branch of housekeeping from the smallest to the most important detail has been taught by Miss Beatrice Gardner, who came here from the Mechanics' Institute, Rochester, N. Y. She has had remarkable success with her work, the results of which were clearly demonstrated yesterday.

The class is for girls from between the ages of eight and sixteen. The class meets one afternoon each week and the nominal charge of three cents a lesson is made. There have been seventy-two children in the class, and of this number twenty-seven received certificates yesterday, having completed the first year course. Upon the completion of the second year each girl will receive a diploma showing what has been accomplished.

The girls have taken a remarkable interest in the work and it is predicted that the course of training is destined to make them model housekeepers. At the exercises yesterday there was an oral examination which aroused considerable interest on the part of the mothers present who expressed surprise that their daughters had accomplished so much. The centre is now closed for the summer, but will be re-opened again in the fall.

The mothers present yesterday expressed their appreciation to Mrs. Stewart and other members of the committee for the unusual opportunity offered their daughters to learn in such a practical way the art of housekeeping.

LEON HARRIS MARRIES MISS CLARA F. MUCK

Miss Clarence Frances Muck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Muck, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., and Leon Benedict Harris, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Harris, of West Front street, were married last night in the Sacred Heart church, Mt. Vernon. The ceremony was witnessed by several relatives and friends from Mt. Vernon, New York and this city.

An informal reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, after which the couple left on a trip. They will reside in Plainfield on their return. Mr. Harris is well-known here, where he has many friends, while his wife is equally well-known in Mt. Vernon.

COURT RECOMMENDS DECREE OF DIVORCE

Former Chancellor William J. Magie, sitting as an advisory master in Elizabeth this morning, recommended that a decree nisi be granted to James H. Knight, of this city, who instituted a suit for a divorce from his wife, Mrs. Anna Knight, to become valid in six months. The petitioner was represented in court this morning by City Judge William G. DeMeza and Robert Newton Crane represented Mrs. Knight.

The couple were married in St. Stephen's church in 1901, by the Rev. S. R. Simpson, and lived at 1270 Park avenue. The trouble between Mr. and Mrs. Knight arose October 9, 1913 when the husband and two of his friends returned home to find Mrs. Knight in the house with Walter Kettering. Kettering was afterwards indicted by the Grand Jury and fined $50, after entering a plea of non vult.

MRS. E. E. PARVIN CONTRIBUTES $10

King's Daughters' Fund for Summer Work Gets a Boost.

The King's Daughters' fund for the summer work was increased today by an additional $10 received from Mrs E. E. Parvin, making the total to date $45. Now that the fund has such a good start, it is believed that there will be many contributors assisting in the worthy charity. Any sum from the smallest to the largest will be appreciated by the King's Daughters, and the Daily Press will be glad to receive the same, make prompt acknowledgement and forward the money to the treasurer of the organization.

With the advent of warm weather there are to be found many sick babies requiring the services of a trained nurse and proper food and care. The money contributed to the summer work will be used for this very thing and as there are many friends of the work in the city and borough the King's Daughters feel confident of securing the amount needed to maintain this charitable enterprise. The contributions to date:

"Well-wisher"	$20.00
Mrs. Louisa L. Riley,	$10.00
Mrs. E. E. Parvin,	$10.00
"A friend,"	$ 5.00

FOUR ROBBERIES IN THE EAST END

Sneak Thieves Get Away With Silverware, Clothing and Money.

LOOT VALUED AT $150

Three Houses on Norwood Avenue on the List—Edward V. Cox's Home on East Seventh Street, Also Entered.

Operating in the east end of the city during the early hours of the morning sneak thieves got away with a quantity of loot from three houses, the value of which is estimated at $150. Circumstances surrounding clues run down by Detective-Sergeant Flynn this morning indicate that the jobs were done after 3 o'clock and the supposition is that the intruders hailed from either Newark or New York.

The burglars did their biggest business in the home of Clarence B. Vail, of Norwood avenue, where they got away with solid silver articles aggregating in value $100. Entrance was gained through a rear window and the thieves ransacked the first floor of the structure. Investigation this morning brought out the fact that the crooks had drank a portion of several bottles of milk on the back porch of the residence left there by the milkman at 3 o'clock. This indicates that the job was done after this hour. Detective Sergeant Flynn found a copy of the New York Evening Journal and the Newark Evening Star of yesterday afternoon, in the back yard, the papers having evidently been used for sitting purposes while the thieves were assorting their loot. The home of Charles E. Vail, the jeweler, also of Norwood avenue, was entered sometime this morning and silverware and clothing taken. Entrance in the latter place was also gained through a window. George Kipsey, another resident of Norwood avenue, reported to the police today that his place had been entered and $2.75 in cash and 100 Star brand condensed milk coupons taken.

It was also reported today that the home of Edward V. Cox, 150 East Seventh street, was entered last night but the family is at present out of the city and the extent of the haul could not be learned this morning.

A description of the articles which the thieves took has been sent broadcast throughout the State and the local department expects to run down some clues during the day. The articles taken from Clarence Vail's house include the following: One Waterman fountain pen, one baby spoon, six solid silver teaspoons, marked "E. C." six coffee spoons, one teaspoon, marked "M.", one tea spoon marked "M. V.", one teaspoon marked "Noveretta 1893", one sugar shell spoon, one spoon and fork marked "L. C. V", one olive spoon with gold bow; one tomato spoon marked "E. C. 1904", one fish fork marked "E. C." 1904," one butter knife, one meat fork with gold prongs, marked "D. E. C.," one meat fork, one bowl spoon marked "P. V."

From the home of Charles E. Vail the following articles were taken: One dark gray overcoat, two solid silver forks marked "M," two solid silver spoons.

CHARLES D. CLEVELNAD ADRESSES POULTRY ASS'N

Charles D. Cleveland, of Sunnybrook Farm, secretary of the Madison Square Garden Poultry Show, addressed the members of the New Jersey Association for Poultry Improvement at their meeting in Coward's Hall last night. He spoke on the importance of selection of exhibition stock and the breeding and care of white leghorns and wyandottes, referring also to scientific breeding. Mr. Cleveland is an authority on the subject of poultry raising and his talk was full of valuable suggestions.

President W. H. Tavener, of Westfield, was in the chair, directing a short business meeting. No decision was reached regarding plans for the next show. The matter will be taken up at a future session.

LADIES' A. O. H. FESTIVAL.

An indoor festival and dance was held last evening at Sebring's Auditorium under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Division No. 1, A. O. H. A large number were in attendance, and took advantage of the music furnished by an orchestra for the dancing. Both floors of the auditorium were put into use during the evening.

Miss Fannie Williams gave a piano solo, "The Whispering Waltzes," followed by Russell Johnston who recited "Ensign Epps, the Color Bearer." The Rev. J. Madison Hare, pastor of the Scotch Plains Baptist church, then made his address. He gave some excellent advice to the class of '14 and bid them always look ahead and be prepared for the future. Miss Minnie Frazee then read a composition entitled 'Old Story Books." The exercises closed with the presentation of diplomas by Dr. F. W. Westcott, president of the Board of Education. The assembuly room was gayly decorated for the occasion, the class colors of white and green predominating. At the conclusion of the exercises dancing was enjoyed. The members of the graduating class are as follows: Catherine Horak, Fannie Williams, Olive Grada, Minnie Frazee, Mary Saurmilk, Estner Meyer, Lillian Dennison, Catherine Hann and John Meggy, Russell Johnston, Frank Dower, Frank Sargent, Arthur Barry, William Linden and George Dunn.

The Ladies' Aid Society, of the All Saints' Episcopal church, held an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. George Kyte on Martine avenue, yesterday afternoon and spent a very profitable time sewing. There was a large attendance at the meeting which was presided over by the president, Mrs. H. P. Robinson.

A number of people from this place will go to Plainfield tonight to attend the graduating exercises of the Plainfield High School class of '14. There are two young women from this place who will receive diplomas, Miss Emily Garda and Miss Ethelwen Walker. Miss Catherine Russell will take a post graduate course.

DePerr Beeken, a student at Carnegie Institute at Pittsburg, is spending the summer with his parents in the borough.

The Ladies' Sewing Circle of the Willow Grove chapel held an all day meeting at the chapel yesterday afternoon. In the afternoon and evening the members conducted a strawberry festival when a considerable amount was made for the benefit of the parish.

Many people from this place attended the graduation exercises of the Stillman school held in the new auditorium of the Plainfield High School yesterday afternoon when Miss Helen Neilson, Miss Marriett McAnneny and Richard Vincent of this place were graduated.

The local schools closed this morning for the summer vacation and will not reopen until the middle of September. Local pupils attending the Plainfield High School went today for the last time this term.

A musical will be given tomorrow night in the Fanwood firehouse when Robert Thrane, 'cellist of the Philhormonic Society, of New York, will give a recital assisted by his wife, Mrs. Robert Thrane, and Leonard D'Amico, of New York. Mr. and Mrs. Thrane are well known in this place where they have resided for the past two years.

Wright McAnneny has taken a position with F. A. Dunham, the surveyor, of Plainfield.

Dunellen & Vicinity

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Walters, of Washington avenue, are the parents of a seven-pound boy, who arrived on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Faber, of Washington avenue, left yesterday for Centerville, Mass., where they will enjoy a two weeks' vacation.

The recently completed house that Contractor A. H. Burdick erected for investment purposes on Prospect avenue, has been sold through the agency of John Fedderman to John I. Snyder, of the Bronx, who will take possession during the forepart of July. Mr. Snyder is an employe of the U. S. O. N. Steamship Company, of New York.

Earl Victorson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Victorson, of Second street, who will be graduated this evening from the Plainfield High School, has won a scholarship and will enter New York University in the fall. Mr. Victorson will take up mechanical engineering.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Currey, of Madison avenue, are the parents of a baby that arrived yesterday.

The property belonging to Augustus F. Samson, on Washington avenue, recently sold through the John Fedderman agency to N. F. Schofield, of Yonkers, N. Y., will change title in a day or so, when the new owner will at once proceed with the erection of a building for a permanent home.

Frank Day has moved from Plainfield to the most westerly of the row of Frank Farrell houses on Grove street.

A party of six young men, Julius Margentino, Jack Rinehart, Francis Teeling, Sylvester Rinehart, Edward Quinn and Edward Hannon are planning to leave on August 1 for Keansburg, where they will camp out for two weeks.

L. B. Apps, of New Market, had a narrow escape from serious injury on Tuesday evening, caused by a horse which he was unharnessing from the grocery wagon of D. T. Heaume, which he drives. The animal was scared by a cat running out of an open barn door. The horse, which was only partly unharnessed, broke loose from the wagon and bolted through the barn door into its stall. Young Apps followed into the stall to remove the remaining harness. He was met by a flying hoof which just grazed his chest and struck him full on the hand. Upon examination his hand was found to be quite badly lacerated.

After a siege of a little over two weeks with muscular rheumatism, Edward Krinic, of Front street, was able to return to work yesterday.

Hudson Wilcox, son of Fred Wilcox, of Dunellen avenue, who is now living in Oklahoma City, has organized a company. The company owns 150 acres of oil lands in the State of Oklahoma. Mr. Wilcox is well-known in the borough, having been born and brought up here.

There is considerbale conjecture among the members of the Presbyterian church as to just what is the nature of the good news that Rev. E. R. Brown, the pastor of the church, will announce to the congregation at the morning service Sunday, according to announcement.

The outlook as to the local realty market is very promising. The wide awake agency of John Fedderman reports having received quite a number of communications from prospective renters and purchasers of Dunellen property at present residing in Philadelphia. The majority of these letters inquiry are presumably from employes of the Central Railroad who are to be affected by the removal of that company's headquarters on August 1 from Philadelphia to New York city. It is said that over two hundred and fifty clerks will be affected by the change.

In the games of the Woman's Two-team Bowling Tournament on the Presbyterian alleys this evening it will be Mrs. H. B. Arnold and Mrs. J. N. Apgar vs. Miss Lucila Stryker and Mrs. Ford Eckerson vs. Mrs. W. J. Smith and her daughter, Miss Florence.

Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Arnold, of Dunellen avenue, expect to entertain Mr. and Mrs. William G. Hesse, of Newark, on Sunday. Mrs. Arnold and Mrs. Hesse are sisters.

W. H. Taylor, of North avenue has recovered sufficiently from an attack of rheumatism to enable him to resume taking his usual morning drive.

Goldson W. Smalley, who has been awarded the contract of laying the various crosswalks of the borough, commenced work this morning on a new much needed crosswalk on Grove street at that street's juncture with New Market road.

The front of the grocery store of Harry Cashin, on North avenue, has been treated to a complete coat of bright red paint, giving it a modern appearance.

Morris Stites will don a pair of overalls and assist in the blacksmith shop of his father, Tax Collector Isaac J. Stites, during his summer vacation.

At the regular semi-annual nomination of officers of the local order of Juniors held in the Wm. G. Holton Hall on Tuesday evening, the following nominations were made: Past councilor, Fred S. Vail; councilor, Henry Kirchner; recording secretary, Charles H. Dodwell; financial secretary, H. E. Giddes; treasurer, T. F. Voorhees; conductor, R. F. Twining; warden, O. M. Weber; inside sentinel, William Shively; outside sentinel, Lewis Schneider; trustee, O. M. Weber; rep. S. C., C. E. Tinsman. The election will be held June 30.

Mrs. George W. Schmidt has returned to her home on Woodledge road after spending a few days in Cranford.

Ora B. Coates has purchased an automobile.

Bound Brook.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church will be held at the home of the president, Miss Addie Tappan, this afternoon.

Mrs. Sarah Fenner, of Plainfield, was a visitor with relatives at Harris Lane yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. William D. Voorhees, Mrs. Mary K. Brokaw, Mrs. Esther Brush and Miss Nellie Voorhees, of Beechwood Heights, were visitors with relatives at Somerville yesterday.

Owing to lack of attendance the election of officers for the Y. M. A. was laid over until the July meeting.

The closing exercises of the colored school of South Bound Brook will be held in the school-room tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Frederick Ramsey Mason, son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. R. Mason, of West High street, this place, and Miss Dorothy Josephine Poleys, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hovey Polleys, were married at the home of the bride, 420 South Sixth street, East Missoula, Montana, at 7 o'clock last night. Mr. and Mrs. Mason will be at home after July 26, at 813 Ronald street, Missoula, Montana.

The commencement exercises of the Bound Brook High School will be held tomorrow night in the Presbyterian church. The address to the graduates will be made by Dr. Bevier, of Rutgers College.

German Valley and Chester

Mrs. George E. Conover, of Chester, left yesterday morning for a brief visit to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert T. Conover, of Morristown. Before her return to Chester she expects to visit Niagara Falls and the Thousand Islands.

By the will of Elias B. Sutton all of his property was given to his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Sutton, during her lifetime and then to his son, Aaron Sutton. Mrs. Sutton is making her home with her mother, Mrs. William Blaine, of Chester.

The Willing Workers of the Chester Congregational church will hold a delicatessen sale Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Daniel Skellenger.

Wesley Day, of Morristown, was a recent visitor to Dr. and Mrs. Harris Day, of Chester.

Mrs. Mary Gillen, of German Valley, is visiting in High Bridge.

Flemington.

Mr. and Mrs. George G. Brokaw and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Nevius will leave next Wednesday for Lake George, N. Y., where they will spend ten days.

The pupils of the sixth grade of the Flemington School went picnicking on the South Branch river at Woodfern, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin K. Large, of Atlanta, are spending a week with the latter's parents, former Senator and Mrs. George H. Large.

The Flemington Country Club's baseball team will play the first of a series of games with Pennington here Saturday afternoon. The initial game of a series with High Bridge will be played here June 27.

The Record-Breaking Buying at the June White Sale is a Natural Result of the High Quality and the Low Prices

The past week saw an influx of smart shoppers that threatened to carry off the stock in record time. The buying was the briskest in the history of such sales. We are, therefore, unable to say with any degree of certainty how long this sale will last. It, of course, ceases when the supply offered is exhausted.

This should impress you with the obvious importance of attending at once. Already assortments have been reduced to an extent that restricts you in the choice of some of the most desirable items. Presently these will be retired altogether, and your opportunity to get the very thing you want will be gone forever.

We will not say much about the prices. The specimens listed below are a fair indication of our indifference to profit during this, the most extraordinary sale of Summer White Goods, we have ever undertaken.

COUNT VON BERNSTORFF.

German Ambassador Who Was Shot at For Speeding.

Count Johann H. von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States, narrowly escaped death or serious injury when a special policeman fired at an automobile conveying the diplomat to the University of Illinois in Champaign, Ill., where the count delivered the annual commencement address to the graduating class. Michael Murphy, employed by east side business men, who stood at a street corner when the ambassador's car sped by, held up his hand as a warning, but the chauffeur disregarded the signal, as the policeman was not in uniform and there appeared to be no cause for halting. Then Murphy drew his revolver and fired at the car, a distance of a few yards only. The bullet went wide.

COLONEL'S THROAT BAD; MUST LIMIT SPEAKING

Sustains Fever In Larynx In London.

London, June 18.—Colonel Roosevelt will make no open air speeches when he returns to the United States and will limit the addresses indoors during the campaign to a considerably smaller number than he had expected to deliver. Dr. St. Clair Thomson, the throat specialist, whom he visited, has placed an absolute prohibition on continuous speaking by the colonel.

As was told in a dispatch, many persons who heard Mr. Roosevelt's lecture before the Royal Geographical society were surprised at the weakness of his voice. The stentorian tones to which those who had heard him before were accustomed were lacking. Colonel Roosevelt himself was surprised and anxious, so he determined to consult the specialist.

Dr. Thomson, who is professor of laryngology and physician for diseases of the throat and nose in King's College hospital, made a careful examination of the throat, and then issued his prohibition.

"I noticed toward the end of my address that my voice had practically failed me," said Colonel Roosevelt. "It was as a result of Colonel Lee's insistent urging that I went to see Dr. Thomson, whom I had consulted when I was here four years ago. He found my larynx in bad shape. It evidently is in a fevered condition, and he declared that it will be a physical impossibility for several months at least for me to attempt anything in the nature of a campaign of continuous speaking."

ENDS HER LIFE ON GOLF LINKS

Miss Schwartz Drinks Acid at Mount Vernon Country Club.

Mount Vernon, N. Y., June 18.—Miss Josephine Schwartz, forty years old, of 1228 South Fulton avenue, an aunt of Miss H. Jessie Thorpe, a crack shot of the Siwanoy Country club, committed suicide on the golf links of the Sunningdale Country club, Mount Vernon, by drinking carbolic acid.

Miss Schwartz visited the home of her sister, Mrs. Walter Thorpe, on Summit avenue, and after playing with Mrs. Thorpe's children went direct to the golf course. When found she was unconscious and was hurried to the hospital, where she died several hours later. Miss Schwartz was wealthy, and her family can assign no reason for her taking her life.

HUERTA ENVOYS REJECT PROPOSAL

Flatly Turn Down Our Tentative Plan.

MEDIATION IS TOTTERING.

Assert Taking Rebel For President Would Mean Election of Revolutionary—Carranza Finally Gives In to Villa—Rebel Gunboat Sunk.

LATEST DEVELOPMENTS IN MEXICAN SITUATION.

At no time since the beginning of the mediation conference at Niagara Falls has the Mexican situation been so involved and the ultimate situation which the United States may be called on to face so much a matter of pure conjecture.

The A, B, C mediators have decided, unless the administration changes its attitude of supporting Carranza by tomorrow, to submit to the United States a final plan of their own. If this is not accepted they will immediately cease to be mediators.

There is no indication of what the administration's reply to this ultimatum will be.

Niagara Falls, June 18.—Throughout the circle embracing all those involved in the Mexican peace undertaking profound gloom prevails. Mediators and both sets of delegates argued a disastrous ending of their efforts from the fruitless conference in Buffalo between Justice Joseph R. Lamar and Frederick W. Lehmann, the American commissioners, and Rafael Zubaran Capmany and Louis Cabrera, the delegates appointed by General Carranza to represent the Constitutionalist cause in the peace negotiations.

That an unhappy ending was at hand was indicated when the Mexican delegates issued a formal statement disclosing inside information concerning the main points of their differences with the American delegates. The Mexican delegates, although clothing their views in courteous language, virtually allege that a provisional government composed of Constitutionalists, which was urged by the American delegates, would control the general elections in such a way as to insure the choice of the Constitutionalist candidates and that the contest would be a farce—in short, to use the Mexican delegates' own words, the American proposal was "tantamount to abetting and even to exerting fraud and violence at the elections."

Differences Adjusted.

Washington, June 18.—Secretary of State Bryan received a dispatch from Consul Edwards at El Paso that the split between Carranza and Villa had been patched up and that Villa had left for Zacatecas to assume command of the rebel advance on Mexico City.

Consul Edwards reported that the tense situation which thus has been relieved would not affect the progress of the Constitutionalist cause nor interfere with the advance of its armies.

According to the consul's report, the sending of Villa to the front and the withdrawal of his resignation was accomplished through the virtual coercion of General Carranza by the high officers of his army, including Minister of War General Felipe Angeles. It was the announcement by Carranza of his intention to appoint General Angeles commander in chief of the rebel army in the north that precipitated what amounted to the revolt of Villa and the other generals.

The incidents recounted in Consul Edwards' report are substantially as follows:

Villa was relieved of the command of the army and was ordered to take up the duties of civil governor of the state of Chihuahua. He immediately sent his resignation to Carranza.

A conference of the generals was hurriedly called, some twelve of them meeting to discuss the situation. All sided with Villa. Especially was this true of General Angeles, whom Carranza had chosen to succeed Villa.

Gunboat Sunk.

Washington, June 18.—The Constitutionalists' only naval vessel on the west coast of Mexico, the gunboat Tampico, was sunk off Topolobampo by the federal armed transport Guerrero.

The crew of the Tampico was rescued from drowning by the cruiser New Orleans and the Guerrero. News of the naval engagement, which was witnessed by the destroyers Perry and Preble as well as the New Orleans, reached Washington.

After his vessel had been disabled by shots from the Guerrero and it was apparent that further resistance could not be made against the stronger vessel Captain Malpique, commander of the Tampico, committed suicide. The chief engineer took his own life rather than be made a prisoner by the federals. Ten men were killed and ten wounded in the engagement, Admiral Howard reported.

Eugenic Marriage Law Upheld.

Madison, Wis., June 18.—The Wisconsin supreme court upheld the constitutionality of the state eugenic marriage law, reversing the decision of the Milwaukee county court.

Plainfield, N. J., June 18, 1914.

THE PRESS WAS FIRST.

While we do not wish to burden our readers with a matter which concerns only the Press and another local paper, we repeat that the Daily Press was the first newspaper in Plainfield to report ACCURATELY and EXCLUSIVELY that Alvin E. Hoagland would be the next postmaster. We was also the first newspaper to notify Mr. Hoagland that Senator Martine had given his name to the postmaster general, the principal step in an appointment. On May 29, under the heading, "Hoagland Gets Postoffice," the Press said:

"Alvin E. Hoagland was today named by United States Senator James E. Martine for postmaster of Plainfield, according to a Washington dispatch."

Since the appearance of that article, exclusively in the Daily Press, everyone in Plainfield has known that Mr. Hoagland would be the next postmaster, and the mere fact that the President sent the name to the Senate last Saturday, after the Daily Press had gone to press for the day, constituted but a very minor step in completing what this newspaper had definitely announced two weeks before.

PERMANENT PAVEMENT.

With the Councilmanic street committee considering the construction of permanent pavements in Plainfield, the experience of other places is of more than passing interest. Engineering News in a recent issue printed in detail descriptions of some of the street work that has been done in Charlotte, North Carolina, prepared by S. H. Lea, the city engineer. Sheet asphalt, on a concrete base, has been found very successful, although Mr. Lea says that there has not been sufficient time during the few years that it has been tried for conclusive results to be obtained.

The first pavements were laid upon a macadam base and this form of construction was unsatisfactory. It was found that where worn or broken spots occur in the surface, disintegration proceeds more rapidly over a macadam base than over one of concrete. The yielding, springy nature of the macadam allowed considerable vertical motion under the impact of traffic and resulted in rapid raveling action.

The bituminous macadam pavement constructed by the penetration method was also not considered a success. For a considerable while after its completion this pavement was in poor condition, with very little surface bond. Later, however, the conditions improved and, under the action of warmer weather and traffic, the pavement became firmer and more compact, although the surface is still rough. As a result all pavement in the city is now laid upon a four inch concrete base, and sheet asphalt is being used on most of the streets.

All of the pavements are laid under a five year maintenance guarantee, which is so worded that the contractor has to keep them in practically the same condition as new for five years, delivering them to the city "in a good serviceable condition free from any defects that will impair its usefulness as a roadway" at the end of five years.

The experiences of other cities will undoubtedly be taken into consideration by the Plainfield city fathers before proceeding with any plan for permanent pavements, but the sooner some definite idea for the improvement of the streets is worked out, the better will it be for the city. Certainly decided changes are needed.

While everyone regretted seeing the polo cup returned to England, as a result of the game played at Meadowbrook on Tuesday, we have the consolation of knowing that as sportsmanlike a group of men as has ever visited this country from a foreign shore took the trophy. For several years the Englishmen have given their efforts, time and money to trying to redeem the cup, and each year the team sent to this country have taken back with them the praise and friendship of the entire American people because of the great battle they put up to try to regain the cup. There are plenty of American polo players left, and it will undoubtedly be but a few years before the cup is again in this country.

All of us do absent minded things occasionally, but the champion has been discovered at Washington, if the news dispatches are to be believed. There John H. Clemmons went to the post office to mail a heavy package and he extracted the money to pay for six two cent stamps from a roll of several hundred dollars enclosed in his wallet. He carefully closed the wallet, stuck the stamps on the outside of it and dropped it in the letter box, placing the letter he intended to mail in his pocket where the money had been.

$475,000 was spent last year for slates upon which to teach two of the three R's. From the complaints about the lack of results in such teaching, the educational authorities would do better to spend twice that amount next year.

They say that defeats come three at a time. If so, Sir Thomas Lipton must be smiling, for the Americans have been defeated by the British in golf and polo this year, and the yacht races are scheduled for September.

Subscribers going away for the summer will confer a favor upon the Daily Press business office if they will notify us a couple of days in advance of the date upon which they wish the address changed.

FORMER LOCAL COUPLE SEPARATED BY COURTS

Miss Grace Llewllyn Schoonmaker, formerly of this city, was awarded yesterday a decree of divorce against Frank L. Schoonmaker by Supreme Court Justice Giegerich. Miss Marie Merwin, "the little blonde widow from the west" was named by the petitioner.

As told exclusively in this paper last week when the first papers in the proceedings were filed, the wife's brother testified that he traced Schoonmaker to No. 55 East Fifty-Sixth street.

SUICIDE'S FUNERAL WILL BE HELD HERE TOMORROW

The funeral services for Wilert Emil Hansen who was found hanging dead in his carpenter shop in the rear of Hogan Hansen's bakery on Park avenue yesterday afternoon, will be held at his late residence, 425 Orchard place, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

Mr. Hansen was fifty years of age and had been missing from home several days when found by William Neilson with life extinct, yesterday afternoon. This was his second attempt to due away with himself, he having been found trying to commit suicide near the Battery, New York and removed to the Hudson Street Hospital several months ago.

"CHAMPION LADY" A LOST DOG.

Mrs. J. D. Anderson of West Fourth street, has lost her dog, "Champion Lady" has disappeared from its home and its present whereabouts is the worst part of its disappearance. The poodle may have just wandered away from home as poodles often do, which is more probable, some admirer of "Champion Lady" may have walked off with her. In either case the dog is wanted back home and the local police force has promised to see that it is returned. The dog was last seen on the end of a rope. Has no one seen "Champion Lady?"

RUFUS C. FINCH WEDS.

Miss Adelaide Barbour Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Lee Bretton Gardner, of New York and Ridgewood, and Rufus Crane Finch, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Finch, of this city, will be married in Christ Episcopal church, Ridgewood, this afternoon. The wedding and reception will be attended by about six hundred guests, including a number from this city.

MATCHMAKING IN INDIA.

One Scheme That Gave a Missionary the Surprise of His Life.

Almost every one who has friends in mission work in India knows that one very important function of the missionary is to play the part of matchmaker to his flock. But few if any have heard of the conditions being reversed and the flock turning matchmaker for their missionary. That does occur, however, as the letter written by a missionary who lives at Tuticorin, south India, tells:

On New Year's day, 1911, as I was seated in my little mud cottage at Tuticorin a number of people entered the veranda and ceremoniously came into my room, bearing trays of flowers, fruits, raisins and sugar, which they placed at my feet like suppliants who desire to gain the hearing of a petition. After all due ceremonial etiquette had been observed and I had indicated my willingness to hear their petition Brother Gnana Draviam, a prominent lawyer in Tuticorin, began reading in Tamil an address to which the others gave strict attention. It ran like this:

"Reverend Sir—You have now for nearly two years bestowed great care and labor upon us, ministering to our spiritual welfare and striving for the health of our souls to such an extent that you have greatly impaired your own physical health, and we feel that you need some one to care for you, since you do not care for yourself. We fear lest your zeal in our behalf may deprive us at once of your life and services. Therefore, with profound humility and sincere respect, we venture to request you to marry a good woman, who will both care for you and help us."

This was naturally a confusing thing to happen, but I was bound to respond to such an eloquent appeal, and when the applause died away I rose and answered with considerable effort:

"Your affectionate regard for my welfare is so overwhelming that I have no words in which to express my appreciation," and sat down, quite faint from the exertion. But the novelty of the situation overcame my fatigue, and, turning to one of the elders, I asked if they had any particular person in mind as one who would be willing to become my helpmeet and be equal to all the responsibilities they had outlined. Immediately Miss W.'s name was mentioned. "But," said I, "I don't believe she would have me." This seemed to me like matchmaking with a vengeance. What a high handed act, to be sure! To order their pastor to marry, and then to choose the girl besides! But the worst was still to come. "We have already seen her and told her she must have you," said Brother Rajappan.

So it was settled. I may add that my wife and I have reason to approve highly of the Indian method of matchmaking, but it should be combined with the western method of courting, as in our case, to secure the best results.—Exchange.

Average American's Taxes.

Somewhere in the United States in a small city lives the average American. He has a family of four, including himself, and earns $517 a year. Some one else in his family, perhaps a stenographer daughter, contributes $330 to the family fund, making the total income of $847. He feels that he pays nothing, or next to nothing, for the privilege of living in a free country, with warships on the sea and street lights in front of his house, with a policeman on his corner, a public service commission looking after his interests and a copy of the Congressional Record coming to him regularly. The truth is that of his $847 a year he pays $140 toward the upkeep of his government.—World's Work.

MAKING READY FOR A NEW POSTOFFICE

Government Orders Samples of Soil on Watchung Avenue Site to Be Taken.

Contractors under the supervision of the United States government officials took the first active steps in the direction of providing Plainfield with the proposed new postoffice building this morning when work was started in securing samples of the soil on the site selected. The earth coming from the different layers, down to a depth of twenty feet, is being sampled and packed in hermetically sealed tubes for shipment to the postoffice authorities in Washington.

This course is being pursued for the purpose of supplying contractors who will enter bids for the construction work, with information regarding the consistency of the soil in which they will have to excavate.

Information garnered from an authoritive source indicates that the construction work on the new building will be started in a short time. The plans call for a building of the one-story type erected similar to the Plainfield Trust Company, with high ceilings and observation gallery extending around the interior. It will be 120 feet long and 6 feet wide.

NEW AERIAL ARTILLERY.

French Captain Makes Tests With a Machine Gun Mounted on Biplane.

The uses of flying machines for war purposes are being put to the test in various ways and in various countries. A new type of armed aeroplane has been invented by French army experts which is expected to prove effective. The illustration shows Captain Destouches of the French army making tests at Villacoublay with a machine gun mounted on a Deperdussin biplane. Maurice Prevost, of international fame as an aviator, has been guiding the biplane. The tests are said to have been very successful, but no definite report from Captain Destouches regarding his experiments has been given to the public.

this form of development of the aeroplane. In the current Contemporary Review, in an anti-war article, he says: "Were I to try to realize what is meant by the peace of today I should feel tempted to call it economic war. Speaking without exact figures, I should say that 40 per cent of the outlay of the various states is absorbed by the armies and navies which are to carry on the great campaigns in the future and by the debts left by the campaigns of the past.

"All the best brainwork of the most eminent men is focused on the effort to invent new lethal weapons or make the old ones more deadly. Take the newest conquest of man—the air. People can fly today. They have achieved the triumph at the cost of the lives of some of the most heroic individuals of all nations, but how do they think of applying aviation? They are obediently following the lead of their respective governments and endeavoring to make the airship one of the most death dealing pieces of mechanism in use, and they may succeed, for one of the arts in which cultured nations have made the most progress is warfare."

The fountain will be surrounded by evergreens.

Monuments have been erected to the memory of the many victims of the Titanic disaster, but among them all this one is especially interesting because the majority of the contribu-

YALE CUP AWARDED TO WARREN BUTLER

Former City Judge William N. Runyon, representing the Yale Club, of this city, appeared at the assembly exercises held in the new Plainfield High School Auditorium, this morning, and presented the annual award for efficiency in scholarships, athletics and leadership to Warren Butler. The prize, a silver loving cup, is given by the local club each year to the boy in the graduating class attaining the highest all around average during his senior year.

Butler is one of the most popular students in the graduating class and in the seniors statistics given out at the class day exercises he was voted as being the best natured, most popular, biggest jollier, laziest, biggest bluffer, biggest I should worry and biggest grafter. He was graduated from the Stillman School in the class of 1910 and spent four years in the Plainfield High School.

While in that institution he has been active in every branch of scholastic endeavor. During his High School career he has played on the football, baseball and hockey teams and is recognized as a leader in each branch.

Judge Runyon, in making the speech of presentation, complimented Butler on his scholastic achievements and commented briefly on what the trophy stands for. Statistics show that the award this year was decided by an exceedingly close margin, there being several of the seniors holding high all around percentages. The cup winner will enter Cornell University in the fall.

AUTO APPARATUS BIDS RECEIVED

Five of the ten bids received by the Common Council at its adourned meeting, last night, for furnishing the city with an automobile engine, were from the Nott Fire Engine Company of Minneapolis, of which Robert D. Woodhouse, of this city, is the New Jersey agent. The other four bids were from L. Lawrence & Co., of Newark; James Boyd & Brother, Philadelphia; Robinson Fire Apparatus Company and Lent Motor Fire Engine Company, both of New York. All of the bids were referred to the committee on fire and buildings and a recommendation will be made later.

The Nott Company presented alternating bids, the first being its latest type of engine of 1,000 gallons capacity for $12,000, less $1,000 which concession Mr. Woodhouse said he would make if allowed to demonstrate the machine. Another bid was $7,500 for an engine similar to the one now owned by the city only of less capacity, while an engine exactly like the present one was offered for $8,000. The fourth bid was $10,000 for an engine built according to the company's specifications, with 10 per cent. off upon payment in ten days and the fifth bid was $10,450 with 10 per cent. off under similar conditions for another type of engine.

L. Lawrence & Co., offered an engine of 700 gallons capacity for $6,500; James Boyd & Brother offered an engine for $8,500, while the Robinson company presented two bids, one for $7,850 and the other for $7,200 for different capacity machines. The Lent Company's bid was $7,750. It is expected that some action will be taken by the Council at the July meeting. The proposed new engine is for the Netherwood section of the city.

Captain W. C. Smith submitted the only bid for laying a new floor and making other improvements at fire headquarters. He offered to do this work, which would include the fixing of walls and making other repairs for $1,170. Some of the members seemed surprised that there was only one bid for a job of this size. It was referred to the committee on fire and buildings.

MISS MARGUERITE GALLEN WEDS NATHANIEL AARON

Miss Marguerite Gallen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Gallen, of Highland Park, Middlesex county, last night became the bride of Nathaniel Aaron, of New Brunswick, manager of the Postal Telegraph Company office of the latter place. Mr. Aaron was for some time manager of the Plainfield office of the Postal company. Rev. George Roeder, rabbi of Temple Anshe Emeth, officiated. The couple were attended by Miss Helen Cohn as maid of honor, and Harold Leibich, of Passaic. A reception followed the ceremony at Hotel Klein.

Miss Gallen is interested in the work of the Y. W. H. A., of New Brunswick, of which she is an ex-president. She is a graduate of the New Brunswick High School class of 1909, and also of the State Normal School, where she received her diploma in 1911.

CAREER OF GEN. BLANQUET.

A Soldier of Fortune, He Is Now Mexico's War Minister.

General Aureliano Blanquet, minister of war in Huerta's cabinet, was the confederate of Huerta in delivering Madero to his enemies. He was born in southern Europe—according to some reports in France, to others in Spain. His record in Mexico begins with his being thrown into the army as a penalty for alleged disorderly conduct. Knowing how to read and write, the young soldier was made a sergeant, and in that position he claims to have formed part of the firing squad that executed Maximilian of Hapsburg. Maximilian, after the French troops had been recalled from Mexico, was surrounded by the Mexican army at Queretaro, and here he was betrayed in the early part of March, 1867, by one of his officers, who admitted the enemy to the imperial camp. Maximilian was forced to surrender and was tried by a military court. He was condemned to be shot, and the execution took place on June 19, 1867. Blanquet avers that the emperor presented him with a souvenir just before the execution took place.

Very little was known of Blanquet until 1910, when in the campaign in the north against the Madero forces he made a reputation for wholesale murder of noncombatants.

Blanquet's name is linked inseparably with the slaughter of Matamoras, in the state of Puebla. The Maderista rebels had taken the town and passed on before Blanquet's federal force arrived. Occupying the place without opposition, Blanquet ordered the jefe politico to point out the residences of all rebel sympathizers. The male occupants of these houses, irrespective of age, were arrested at Blanquet's order, and in this way sixty-four inhabitants of the little town were lined up and shot. Blanquet's official report described "the capture of Matamoras after severe fighting, in which the enemy lost sixty-four."

Under Provisional President de la Barra, Colonel Blanquet was promoted, with other federal commanders, to the rank of a junior general and given a large command of troops, but was relieved from field duty by Madero after a year because of his brutality, and Blanquet, like Huerta, who also had been demoted by Madero, became a malcontent.

SOUTHPARK VACATED BY SUNDAY BALL NINE

Move Scene of Week-end Diamond Clashes to Arlington Avenue Field.

The Plainfield Sunday Baseball Club will not play any more games at South Plainfield. The management has a new field in view about two blocks from the Arlington avenue trolley line and expects to have it ready by June 28th, when the Franklins, of Perth Amboy, will be the attraction.

The game for next Sunday has been cancelled as the poor transportation facilities do not warrant another game at South Plainfield.

When the team appears in the field again there will be several changes in the lineup due to the poor exhibition put up by several players in the game last Sunday when the Mauer A. C. won the deciding game of the series 15 to 10

ROD AND REEL

Wawayanda Lake, in North New Jersey, is yielding big catches of bass and pickerel this season, according to the reports of fishermen who have spent several days in that section. This will be good news for many Plainfield boys who spend their vacation at that place with the Y. M. C. A. campers each year. The first delegation of Plainfielders leaves for the lake in about one week.

The first bass of the season and incidently an unusually large sized one was caught Monday morning in Cranberry Lake. The season opened Monday, fishermen were out in large numbers. The first one weighed three pounds.

A tremendous run of sea bass is along the coast from Virginia to Rhode Island, and thousands are caught every day by hook and line and thousands of pounds are caught in the nets. While sea bass usually run in large schools, this is an exceptionally good year. Few fish rank higher as food over the sea bass, and no deep sea bottom feeder puts up a better fight. Sea bass fried, boiled, baked, deviled or pickled is excellent eating. Boiled sea bass cooked after the following recipe will please anybody: Clean a four-pound bass and place it in a kettle, adding one tablespoonful of salt to every quart of cold water until the fish is covered; add one-half cupful of white vinegar, two onions, a small sartrot and then set the kettle over a strong fire. As soon as the water begins to boil draw the kettle to the side of the stove and let it simmer forty minutes. When done, drain the water from the fish and slip the fish onto a warm platter, then serve with a white sauce.

Trophy for team batting (presented by Ritz) won by Plainfield.

Trophy for base running (presented by Men's Shop) won by VanMater, N. P. H. S.

North Plainfield High School players managed to get away with three out of four silver loving cups offered as incentives to competition in the Interscholastic League playoff yesterday afternoon, and the trophies will be presented to the winners at the assembly exercises in North Plainfield tomorrow morning. Paul R. Collier, donor of the league championship trophy, will make the presentation speech for that award and it will be received by Captain Ralph Smalley.

Jack Todd, of the Men's Shop, will present the cup for base running to DuClos VanMater, of North Plainfield. The Hirsch-Mann trophy, North Plainfield's third annexation, will probably be turned over to the winner by one of the donors. Plainfield's sole triumph came in the cup for team batting in the last game. Tied with five hits each, the captains of the two teams got together last night and the locals won the toss. The Plainfield players will be the guests of North Plainfield at the assembly exercises tomorrow morning.

STAHL THE LEADER BY A SLIM MARGIN

North Plainfield High School Slab Artist Noses out Rosenson and Dunning.

Final averages compiled in the Interscholastic Baseball League's batting department give Ernie Stahl, the North Plainfield High School moundsman, the Hirsch-Mann trophy for individual batting, with a percentage of .555 for six games. Although he was in yesterday's contest for one-third of an inning Stahl did not get a time at bat and this helped him considerably in getting the award. He has five hits in nine times at bat to his credit.

Rosenson is second and Dunning third, in the standings. Rosenson might be classed as the best batter inasmuch as he has faced the pitchers on twenty-seven different occasions and cracked out ten bingles. Dunning has been at the bat one more time than his P. H. S. rival but has the same number of hits. The first five in the final percentage column are three Plainfielders and two North Plainfielders.

WHO WANTS NORMAN HARNEY, BOUND BROOK'S TWIRLER?

Norman Harney, the Bound Brook pitcher who recently returned to this section after a tryout with the Greensboro team of the North Caroline League, is scouting around Central New Jersey for a job and the mound of some fast combination.

While in the South, Harney may a fine record for himself, pitching in nineteen games. The Bound Brook youth can field and bat equally as well as he can pitch and, while he prefers mound work, he is willing to take a job in the outfield or infield.

ELIZABETH POLICE AFTER THE LOCAL TEAM'S SCALP

Manager Schuler, of the Elizabeth policemen's baseball team, is hot on the trail of Manager Cornelius McCarthy, of the local bluecoats, in an effort to sign up a game with the Plainfielders either in this city or on the Betsytown diamond.

It is understood that the Plainfielders are willing to enter into negotiations with the Elizabetheans and a contest is almost certain to follow the first part of next week.

Six players ran a remarkably close race for the silver loving cup offered by the Men's Shop for the performer covering the most number of bases during yesterday's engagement and in winning the prize, VanMater scored but one more base than did Peacock, Burner and Dilts. In the latter part of the game Burner had a fine chance of tying his teammate but threw it away on an attempted steal of second, being thrown out.

Among the first six to finish four were boroughites and two were Plainfielders. The individual award will be made by a representative of the Men's Shop tomorrow morning in North Plainfield High School.

HERE AND THERE

Edward K. Drake, of Elizabeth, recently took an automobile trip through Passaic Valley, making a stop in the course of the trip, at a house located at Washington Valley, where his gradparents, Noah and Margaret (Cole) Drake resided for many years. In this house, Mr. Drake's father, James S. Drake, was married, and Mr. Drake was born in a house not far distant, during 1840. During his wandering about the village, Mr. Drake discovered a flagstaff in a clump of trees near a point where the old cider mill stood. Curiosity as to the circumstance of the erection of the staff, and as to what was directly responsible for the erection of the pole, has led Mr. Drake to write the Daily Press in an attempt to locate the person who now has charge of the staff. Mr. Drake also proposes to present a flag to the village, provided the children of the Washingtonville School will arrange to have the staff put into shape, and have the flag floating on all public holidays. This flag would be in the form of a memorial to Mr. Drake's parents and three brothers, General J. Madison Drake, Silas D. Drake and Charles N. Drake, all of the brothers having served in the Union army during the Civil War. Mr. Drake, who is seventy-three years of age, has many relatives buried in the old Scotch Plains cemetery, which was laid out long before there was a cemetery there.

NORTH PLAINFIELD BASE BALL TEAM CAPTURES THE LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP

Final Score 4 to 1—Enthusiasm Runs High in the Final Game of the Season for Both Teams—Boroughites Always in the Lead but Their Margin is Never a Comfortable One—Plainfielders Gracefully Accept Their Downfall—Tie in Hits but North Plainfielders' Are Opportune.

North Plainfield High School baseball players closed the mortgage on the Paul R. Collier trophy yesterday afternoon on Hyde Oval by annexing the final game of the Interscholastic League season with the Plainfield High School team. The final score was 4 to 1. From start to finish the boroughites held the upper hand and at no stage of the contest did their chances of victory appear dubious. Plainfield put up a stellar scrap for the championship, but the home team's remarkable display of schoolboy cleverness and tantalizing confidence was too much for the red and blue youngsters.

Denny opposed Sminck on the mound and the two premier slab artists took up their argument where they left off at the end of fifteen innings on Parker Field last Saturday. At the start of the conflict Denny appeared to be having considerable trouble in lobbing the ball over the platter while Sminck was in tip-top form. Displaying his old cleverness in the pinches the Plainfielder cut off many rallies, which, if completed, would have swelled the "Canadians" to even larger proportions.

As though inspired by the silver trophy offered for the player making the most number of bases during the issue, base runners on both sides took numerous daring chances, the result being a dozen stolen bases. Despite the adverse criticism launched from various quarters regarding the rugged condition of the diamond at Hyde Oval, the respective forces fielded cleanly and with precision throughout the entire nine innings. When the final putout was recorded, Dilts to Burner, the borough machine was working with the same smoothness exhibited in the preliminary practise and if necessary, could have held up for an indefinite number of rounds at the same gait. The keynote of the contest was "Townley to Burner" and this pair were worked hard during the fracas. When Denny found himself in a rut he lobbed one over the scoring station that invariably found a groove running in the little third baseman's direction and the spheriod was gobbled up and hurled to the first station with a lightning swiftness.

Plenty of thrills were executed during the contest that gave the mob of rabid spectators numerous opportunities to give way to their inward enthusiasm and a din of applause was constantly in the atmosphere. Although in the rear during the greater part of the game the Plainfielders did not relinquish their claims to the verdict until the final ball had been hit to Dilts by Kyle, and the losers are to be commended on the article of baseball they put up. Hazardous chances on the paths, opportune hitting, and sterling work on the part of the rifle pit occupants lent zest to the issue and for interest the affair has never had an equal hereabouts.

Although defeated the P. H. S. aggregation was by no means a disgrace and may well garner satisfaction from the fact that such a worthy opponent as North Plainfield is credited with the decision. With much at stake the contending forces entered the conflict for blood and early in the opening canto the fight resolved itself into a battle for blood. Each advantage that appeared on the horizon was eagerly snatched and technicalities were the cause of much stubborn contention.

The hits, few but opportune, gave the spectators something to shout for. After Burner had smashed out a nifty two cushion scooter in the second inning Sminck held the opposition hitless until the fifth when Smalley, Denny and Van Mater registered a trio in quick succession. North Plainfield's final clout was in the nature of a grand finale, a double decker by Van Mater. Rosenson earned a place in the hearts of the fans in his first appearance at the rubber, responding with a neat single through second. He also was responsible for the second bingle, this time taking an extra base. Victorson registered Plainfield's third clout in the fifth, Peacock got one in the sixth and O'Leary accounted for the final in the seventh.

Plainfield's only run came in the third inning when Hetfield worked Denny for a pass, stole second and romped home on Captain Rosenson's two bagger. The boroughites scored in the first when Van Mater reached first on Victorson's error, caused by over anxiousness to register the putout, stole second and came across on a passed ball. Two were pulled over in the fourth. Smalley got life on a hit and stole second. He went to third when Denny tallied a hit and came home on VanMater's hit. Newkirk, running for Denny, stole second and also scored on VanMater's clout. In the stretch stanza Denny walked and Newkirk running for him again, was advanced to second on Sminck's balk and went over the scoring station on Van Mater's two sacker.

Detroit Baseball Magnate Wins Action For Divorce.

The sealed verdict returned by the jury before Supreme Court Justice Donnelly that heard the divorce suit of Frank R. Poss, vice president of the Detroit Baseball club, against Mrs. Lillian K. Poss and the latter's counter claim against her husband was opened and proved to be in favor of Poss. The jury found that Percy M. Thorn, the corespondent, had been guilty of improper conduct with Mrs. Poss on the night of Feb. 23 last, when Poss and his friends raided her apartment in the Clarendon, Eighty-sixth street and Riverside drive, New York.

NAME "JOHNSON" A ST. LOUIS HOODOO

Cardinals Have Sent Many Recruits With This Handle Back to Minors.

The next time the St. Louis Cardinals procure a player named Johnson, it would be well for them to hold on to him instead of sending him back to the minor leagues without a try-out. This is the suggestion made by experts after studying the records of A. Rankin Johnson, of the Red Sox; Elmer Johnson, of the Giants, and Frank Johnson, of the Jacksonville Club of the South Atlantic League, all of whom, at one time or another, were members of the St. Louis National League Club and each of whom was turned back without a trial.

Rankin Johnson, of the Red Sox, leaped into prominence this year by twice conquering Walter Johnson; Elmer Johnson was the iron man of the backstopping brigade of the Western League last season, and Frank Johnson was the first minor league pitcher to rid his system of a no-hit game this year.

The 1 to 0 defeat sustained by the Chalmers car winner on June 1 at the hands of A. Rankin Johnson was the twenty-third reverse he has suffered in the last three seasons. A majority of these trimmings came from Boston's one time world's champions and Philadelphia's present monarchs of the baseball world. Of the twenty-three defeats charged against Sir Walter since the opening of the 1912 campaign, the Athletics administered nine, the Red Sox six, the Naps three, the Browns (with Ban Johnson's aid two), the Yankees one, the White Sox one and the Tigers one. In only two of these games was Johnson driven to cover, Chicago batting him out of the box in 1912 and Philadelphia in 1913. In no less than nine contests the Nationals failed to make a run behind their star gunner.

Johnson went the route in eighteen of the twenty-three defeats in which he labored in 1912, 1913 and 1914, his opponents making 62 tallies and 126 hits off him and his teammates supplying him with 26 runs and 113 bingles.

The American League hurlers credited with wins over Johnson from April 11, 1912, to June 4, 1914, number seventeen. Carroll, Brown, of the Mackmen, has beaten the Chalmers car winner thrice; Joe Wood, Ray Collins and Rankin Johnson, of Boston, and Joe Bush, of Philadelphia, twice, and these men once: Fred Blanding, Bill Steen and Vean Gregg, of Cleveland; Earl Hamilton and Jack Powell, of St. Louis; Russell Ford, of New York; George Mullin, of Detroit; Joe Benz, of Chicago, and Jack Coombs, Herb Pennock, Eddie Plank and J. Weldon Wyckoff, of Philadelphia.

BY PHILADELPHIA—9.

April 11, 1912—Beaten by Jack Coombs, 4 to 2, White Elephants making seven hits and Senators four.

May 4, 1912—Beaten by Herb Pennock, 5 to 4, in ten innings, White Elephants making one hit in one inning and Senators four.

June 29, 1912—Beaten by Eddie Plank, 2 to 1, White Elephants making four safeties and Senators six.

June 2, 1913—Beaten by Carroll Brown, 4 to 3, White Elephants making nine hits and Senators six.

June 25, 1913—Beaten by Joe Bush, 14 to 2, White Elephants making five hits in three innings and Senators five. Johnson was really batted out of the box in this game.

September 1, 1913—Beaten by Carroll Brown, 6 to 5, in ten innings, White Elephants making nine hits and Seators thirteen.

April 28, 1914—Beaten by J. Wilden Wyckoff, 2 to 1, White Elephants making four hits and Senators six.

May 1, 1914—Beaten by Joe Bush, 7 to 6, White Elephants making five hits in one and two-third innings and Senators nine.

BY BOSTON—6.

June 26, 1912—Beaten by Joe Wood, 3 to 0, Red Sox making four hits and Senators three.

September 6, 1912—Beaten by Joe Wood, 1 to 0, Red Sox making five hits and Senators six.

May 30, 1913—Beaten by Ray Collins, 1 to 0, Red Sox making eight hits and Senators four.

August 28, 1913—Beaten by Ray Collins, 1 to 0, in eleven innings, Red Sox making three hits and Senators six.

April 23, 1914—Beaten by Rankin Johnson, 5 to 0, Red Sox making nine hits and Senators six.

BY CLEVELAND—3.

September 11, 1912—Beaten by Fred Blanding, 3 to 2, Naps making nine hits and Senators eight.

May 22, 1913—Beaten by Bill Steen, 5 to 0, Naps making thirteen hits and Senators six.

June 18, 1913—Beaten by Vean Gregg, 4 to 0, Naps making nine hits and Senators nine.

BY ST. LOUIS—2.

August 26, 1912—Beaten by Earl Hamilton, 4 to 3, Browns making two hits in two and third-innings and Senators five. This game was the one in which Johnson relieved Hughes when two men were on the bases and was charged as a defeat against Johnson only by the president of the American League.

August 28, 1912—Beaten by Jack Powell, 3 to 2, Browns making four hits and Senators seven.

BY NEW YORK—1.

May 25, 1912—Beaten by Russell Ford, 6 to 3, Yankees making eight hits and Senators ten.

BY DETROIT—1.

May 21, 1912—Beaten by George Mullin, 2 to 0, Tigers making two hits and Senators two.

BY CHICAGO—1.

May 8, 1912—Beaten by Joe Benz, 7 to 6, White Sox making eight hits in five innings and Senators thirteen. Johnson was actually batted out of the box in this game.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

By MARGARET LAWRENCE

Surely every girl, whether young or old, should have a parasol for the hot summer days. Do not envy your friends with their lovely embroidered sun-shades, for you may have one also. They are, it is true, expensive to buy ready for use, but you can make one with very little trouble. Fine white round-thread linen or white or colored silk, embroidered with the butterflies from pattern 14677, would make a handsome parasol, the edge of which may be finished with the hemstitched-hem, a plain hem or a scalloped edge. This may be used on a frame from which a worn cover has been taken.

Measure the width of each gore, at its widest portion and the length, allowing plenty for seams all around. Cut the number of pieces required, alternating the widest portion of the wedge shaped piece with that of the point. This is an economical way of cutting your cloth, but if you are using material which has an up and down, the gores must all run the same way.

There are two large butterflie , each 12 by 10 inches and three smaller ones, each 6¼ by 8 inches, contained in this pattern. These are suitable for embroidering parasols, lingerie waists, dresses, chiffon evening gowns, negligees, and underwear, as well as lingerie pillows, bureau-scarfs, tea-cloths and sideboard-covers. This design may be developed in white on linen, lawn or batiste, in solid work, eyelets and outline-stitch. The bodies may be developed in solid work or outline and seed-stitch. On evening gowns or wraps, these butterflies would be very effective carried out in beads and bright colored sequins and silks. Guaranteed, hot-iron transfer pattern will be supplied to readers upon receipt of price, 15 cents.

By Alice Gibson

The shaped yoke and a circular tunic, open front and back, are attractive features of this separate skirt No. 8311. The skirt itself is a three-piece design and both yoke and tunic may be omitted if preferred. There is a slight fullness at the top laid in soft plaits. Black taffeta, moire or poplin are suitable materials for this design and if a more practical skirt is required, tunic and yoke being omitted, one of the new tweed mixtures or serge may be used successfully. There are some dull Roman striped serges which are most attractive for separate skirts. Dull greens and blues, blacks and purples are seen in these as well as somewhat brighter tones. These average 42 to 54 inches in width and are priced from $1.50 a yard and up. To make this skirt in size 24, 3¼ yards of 42-inch material is needed. The pattern comes in six sizes, 22 to 32.

This is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to give right size, passing the tape tightly around the smallest part of the waist and loosely around the fullest part of the hips. It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

Some Cookery Suggestions

RASPBERRY COMBINATIONS.

SUPPER MENU.
Eggs Baked in Potato Nests.
Buttered Toast.
Combination Salad.
Red and Black Raspberry Cake.
Tea.

RASPBERRIES combine well with other fruits in desserts. A few ways of thus using them are the following:

Nice Layer Cake.

Red and Black Raspberry Cake.—Cream half a cupful of butter with twice that amount of granulated sugar until light and frothy. Add the beaten yolks of two eggs, four tablespoonfuls of water, in which a teaspoonful of soda has been dissolved; a teaspoonful of ground cinnamon, half a teaspoonful of ground cloves and a quarter of a teaspoonful of mace, a cupful of black raspberries crushed with half a cupful of sugar and two cupfuls of sifted flour. Beat the cake thoroughly and then add the stiff whites of the two eggs.

Bake in two large layers and put together with white icing colored with a little black raspberry juice to a light lavender.

Berries in Pineapple Shells.

Raspberries and Pineapple.—Take a good sized pineapple and cut off top and a thin slice from the bottom so the fruit will stand firm when filled. Scoop out the inside with a knife, cutting it into small pieces.

Measure the pieces and take the same amount of berries; mix them together and sweeten to taste. Turn into a jar with a tight cover, pack in ice and salt for a couple of hours. Also put the shell of the pineapple near the ice to become well chilled.

When ready to serve fill the shell with the fruit and garnish with leaves taken from the top of the pineapple.

If small pineapples are used they may be cut in half crosswise and prepared in the same way as the large one. A half of pineapple may be served to each guest. Whipped cream may be served with it if desired. The fruit is delicious on a warm day.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Story The Oak Tree Told.

He Comes Every Day to Look at Me.

A SOFT breeze of early summer had been blowing all day. The leaves were looking so fresh and green and having a beautiful time in the warm sunshine.

"Well," began daddy, "I must tell you the story the oak told to the other trees today.

"The other trees would sometimes sigh, 'How nice!' or something like that, but for the most part they let the oak tree do all the talking.

"It was a very young tree, but it looked as if some day it would be a fine big oak with spreading branches and great strong roots which nothing could shake.

"'I was one day picked up as a little acorn by a small boy,' said the tree.

"'He carried me around in his pocket for days and days. I spent all my time sleeping, for his pocket was very dark and I could not stay awake in it.

"'One day he happened to notice me especially. He wondered why he had been carrying me around for so long, for he himself couldn't think of any reason why he should want me.

"'And then he thought he would plant me. So he put me in the ground and covered me over carefully. He watched to see when I would come up. When first he saw me sprouting above the ground I thought he would go mad with delight, for he had really been very much worried about me. After having planted me he was very anxious that I should grow up right away. So he was a very happy little boy when he saw that I was really going to become a tree.

"'Now he comes every day to look at me and has done so ever since I was born.

"'You see it will make me a fine tree to have the pride of that little boy centered in me.

"'And, what is more, it will make him, I think, grow up to be a fine man, brave and strong like his tree, for that is what he calls me.

"'So I feel that we will both help one another, and perhaps some day when he is an old man he will lead some little boy by the hand and will tell him of how he planted me and how he tried to grow up to be strong like his tree, and that will help the little boy too.

"'We trees can do a lot of good if we want too. Just think how nice it will sound to be called a fine old oak, and when we feel proud of ourselves we can think it is even better that we have helped little boys to be stronger too.'"

OVERWORKED SILK WORKERS, HE SAYS

Underpaid and Ill Treated, Declares Former Mayor.

REASON FOR THE UNREST

Tells Federal Commission He Believes Formation of Nation Wide Union of Silk Workers Would Bring About Mitigation of Spirit of Unrest—Calls Carlo Tresca Dangerous Man.

Paterson, N. J., Jan. 18.—Former Mayor Andrew F. McBride and Prosecutor Michael Dunn were the chief witnesses at the third hearing of the federal commission on industrial relations. Dr. McBride tried to analyze the fundamental causes of the strike for the benefit of the commission, while the prosecutor contented himself with an outline of the depredations committed and a condemnation of I. W. W. agitators.

The chief reason for the unrest among the silk workers of Paterson, according to Dr. McBride, was that the weavers were overworked and underpaid and subjected to ill treatment. The attempted introduction of the four loom system aroused the workers to fear the loss of their jobs. He said he had tried to settle the strike through the appointment of a neutral committee of citizens, but was unsuccessful.

He said he believed that formation of a nation wide union of silk workers that could control its members would bring about a mitigation of the spirit of unrest, and he advised the commission to make a very thorough investigation of the amount of wages paid and the conditions under which the men worked.

Prosecutor Dunn said that during the strike there were from forty to fifty cases of simple assault, twenty-eight cases of houses of workmen stoned to intimidate strike breakers, nineteen bomb explosions and three attempts to wreck trains on the Erie railroad. He attributed these instances of violence to the agitators of the I. W. W.

"I must say," he said, "that I believe Carlo Tresca, whom I consider one of the most dangerous men in the United States, was the instigator of many of these nefarious forms of crime."

He declared that the cases against Big Bill Heywood, Tresca, Elizabeth Gurly Flynn and other agitators would be prosecuted.

MISS EDISON IS MARRIED.

West Orange, N. J., June 18.—One of the most brilliant weddings held in Orange in years took place at Glenmont, the Llewellyn Park home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, when their daughter, Miss Madeleine Edison, became the bride of John Eyre Sloane, son of Dr. and Mrs. T. O'Conor Sloane of Montrose, South Orange, and cousin of Mayor John Purroy Mitchel of New York. Mgr. Henry A. Brann, rector of St. Agnes' Catholic church, New York, performed the ceremony, which was attended only by relatives and a few friends.

The ceremony was performed in one of the music rooms on the first floor. The bridal couple knelt on a cushion that was used by the bride's parents at their wedding more than twenty-five years ago. The room was filled with roses.

STATE BOARD URGES SEWER IMPROVEMENT

Dunellen Hopes to Install Collection System at Early Date.

Mayor E. B. Latham at the adjourned meeting of the Dunellen Council, last night, presented a letter from the State Board of Helaht in which the latter body urged that the sewer work in Dunellen be started as soon as possible as the Plainfield system was entirely inadequate to take care of the present sewage. Mr. Lathom reported that the joint sewer project was progressing and he believed that the actual work of installing the collecting system would be commenced soon.

The Dunellen Home and Investment Company petitioned the Council to hasten the work of laying sidewalks on Whittier avenue, as covered by the ordinance, and the street committee was instructed to see that the walks are laid. A petition of property owners asking for two crosswalks at the intersection of Walnut street and Whittier avenue, was referred.

It was reported following an inquiry that the Council has made arrangements for extra police on July 4 when the big celebration will be held in Dunellen. The police committee was given authority to license street stands for the celebration on that day. The street committee reported that the work of improving Third street, between Washington and Lincoln avenues, is progressing.

T. R. PAYS ROUND OF VISITS.

Makes Pact With Newspaper Men For One Day's Truce.

London, June 18.—Treaty making was one of Colonel Roosevelt's principal activities. He did not settle the Irish question, the Balkan troubles or the conflict in Albania, but he was signatory to a convention in which the parties of the second part were newspaper men.

Colonel Roosevelt had been worried by reporters camping on his trail. He planned a round of visits to personal friends and, not wishing to be trailed, called the correspondents in and proposed a compromise.

If they would let him alone, the colonel said, he would agree to see them and talk in the evening. The proposal was accepted and the colonel, care free, started on his rounds.

DOCTOR LOSES AUTO LICENSE

Trenton, N. J., June 18.—Dr. Harry Neafie of Freehold, county physician of Monmouth and major in the medical corps of the national guard, had his automobile license revoked by State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Lippincott.

He was charged with driving his car while intoxicated, the charge having been preferred by the authorities at Asbury Park. He was arrested and fined in Asbury Park after having damaged a street fountain.

Commissioner Lippincott also revoked the license of Walter McClure of Red Bank on a charge of driving his car while intoxicated.

GERMAN LINER HURT IN CRASH IN FOG

Kaiser Wilhelm II. Collides In English Channel.

London, June 18.—A wireless message received here said that the liner Kaiser Wilhelm II. had been in collision with a coasting ship in the channel and was putting back to Southampton for repairs.

The ship which was in collision with the Kaiser was the Incemore, a coasting steamship of 2,000 tons which runs between Liverpool and Southampton.

Later advices said the Kaiser Wilhelm had returned to Southampton, damaged below the water line and that the Incemore had arrived at Spithead. She was badly smashed in the bow. So far as is known there were no casualties when the vessels crashed.

The Kaiser Wilhelm left Southampton yesterday for New York.

New York, June 18.—At the offices of the North German Lloyd line here it was said that no word of any accident to the Kaiser Wilhelm II. had been received.

Word came later to the local offices that the Kaiser had returned safely to Southampton, having apparently sustained some injury below the water line. It was taken for granted that there had been no casualties so far as the German liner was concerned.

The Kaiser Wilhelm II. was launched in August, 1902, and was a fast addition to the fleet of German ocean transports. In length over all the liner is 706 feet 6 inches and her beam is seventy-two feet. Her displacement is 26,500 tons.

She cost $2,078,000, and when launched she was the swiftest and most modern of transatlantic liners.

SENATE STARTS TREATY FIGHT

Gives Promise of Being Long and Bitter One.

BRYAN BEFORE COMMITTEE

He Declares That Payment of $25,000,000 to Colombia and $3,000,000 to Nicaragua Would Restore Amity Between United States and Those Countries.

Washington, June 18.—A fight begun in the senate on two of the administration's treaties is expected to equal in bitterness the recent controversy over the Panama canal tolls repeal. The treaties are those with Colombia, in which the United States virtually apologizes for the Panama revolution and agrees to pay an indemnity of $25,000,000, and the treaty with Nicaragua, which in effect establishes a protectorate over the Central American republic and gives Nicaragua $3,000,000 to be expended on internal improvements.

In return for the money paid to Nicaragua the United States is to have an exclusive right of way for an interoceanic canal by way of the San Juan river, a coaling station on certain Nicaragua coast islands and other concessions.

The chief feature of the Nicaraguan treaty though is the application to Nicaragua of the so called Platt amendment by which the United States maintains a protectorate over Cuba. Nicaragua will not be able to contract any financial obligations without the consent of the United States and thus will reserve the right to intervene in the event of internal disturbances.

The Republicans and some Democrats indicated that they would bitterly oppose both conventions, but chiefly the treaty with Colombia. In the case of the latter treaty an inquiry probably will be made as to what portion of the $25,000,000 indemnity is to go to American and other lawyers.

Three Objects to Be Gained.

Secretary Bryan said there were three objects to be accomplished by the ratification of the Colombia treaty, which he enumerated as follows:

First.—The restoration of amity between the United States and Colombia.

Second.—The creation of an amicable relation between the republics of Colombia and of Panama, which he holds is very desirable.

Third.—The action of the United States pursuant to the treaty will have a favorable impression throughout the Latin American republics and promote general good relations with the United States and the younger republics of the western hemisphere.

The question of attorney fees has proved a stumbling block to many senators in the matter of the Colombian treaty ratification, in addition to the general inherent weakness of the pact. A friend of the secretary of state is acting as counsel in Washington and is said to have a big contingent fee locked up with the destinies of the Colombian treaty.

This man is a former diplomat and a close friend of Mr. Bryan, who has given dinners to the secretary of state and has been mentioned for many important state department and diplomatic posts. One senator said that the activity of Secretary Bryan's many "attorney" friends, who are looming up on the horizon of diplomatic questions here and there with retainers or fees, is rather disquieting to congress.

An investigation of the proportion of the sum proposed to be paid as indemnity to Colombia that is to be paid in attorney fees is certain to be moved. One senator has in mind the introduction of a resolution in open senate to throw open the doors of the senate for the debate on the two treaties. He believes public discussion of the treaties is warranted by the widespread popular interest in the subject.

GOVERNOR EBERHART BEATEN

St. Paul, June 18.—Late returns show that Governor A. O. Eberhart was defeated for the Republican nomination for governor at yesterday's primaries by W. E. Lee of Long Prairie.

H. W. Lawler defeated Representative W. S. Hamond by about 2,000 majority for the Democratic nomination.

All the present congressmen who were candidates for renomination were successful with the possible exception of C. A. Lindbergh.

MILITANT CHAINED TO STATUE

Workgirls Attack Suffragettes in Whitehall—Several Injured.

London, June 18.—Suffragettes, marching through the streets carrying sandwich banners, were attacked by working girls in Whitehall. Two of the suffragettes were knocked down and others were severely handled.

Another suffragette chained herself to the statue of the Duke of Wellington in front of the Royal exchange. She then shouted to passing business men to save imprisoned women. The crowd jeered her, and finally a policeman succeeded in breaking the chains and driving her away.

as directed and required by the Ordinance of the City of Plainfield, entitled "An Ordinance Concerning the Construction and Repair of Sidewalks and Curbs," approved July 15, 1910, as amended, not having been completed, the Common Council of said City has directed such improvement to be made under the direction and supervision of the Street Commissioner, and further directed notice of such contemplated improvement to be given to the owner or owners of any lands thereby affected, and further directed that if such improvement shall not be completed within the time and in the manner directed in this notice, the Street Commissioner shall thereupon forthwith proceed to cause such improvement to be made by the city under his direction, as authorized by said Ordinance and the Act of the Legislature hereinafter referred to. The foregoing is a description of your property affected, sufficiently definite in terms to identify the same and the following is a description of the required improvement, viz., on George Street, Columbia Avenue, Leland Avenue, St. Mary's Avenue, Belvidere Avenue, Sycamore Street, Randolph Road and Morris Street, the construction adjoining said property, of a sidewalk to be laid as directed in said Ordinance (to which ordinance and the record thereof in the City Clerk's Office reference is hereby made for greater certainty), at the expense of the abutting land owners, composed of concrete to be laid in conformity with the specifications for cement sidewalks as set forth in "Standard Specifications for Portland Cement Sidewalks and Curbs," filed in the office of the City Clerk, April 11th, 1910. On Lenox Avenue and Webster Place the construction of a curb, said curb to be of concrete, contruction in conformity with specifications for curbs as set forth in the above mentioned specifications, and laid under the direction of the Street Commissioner. That all return curbs shall have a radius of six feet, no piece to be less than three feet two inches in length.

The Street Commissioner shall give the correct lines and grades in all cases.

Notice is further given that unless said improvement shall be completed within thirty days after the publication of this notice, it is the intention of said City to make said improvement or cause the same to be made, pursuant to the authority of the Act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, entitled, "An Act to authorize cities to construct and repair sidewalks and curbs, and to provide for the payment of the cost thereof," approved April 13, 1908, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

Proof under oath of the publication or service of this notice will be filed within two days thereafter in the Office of the City Collector, being the officer charged with the duty of making official searches for liens.

Said Act of the Legislature provides that in case of non-payment of the charges authorized thereby, the land and real estate subject to the liens of such charges may be sold in the manner provided for the sale of lands for the non-payment of assessments.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that an ordinance entitled "An Ordinance for the Permanent Improvement of Certain Strets and Portions of Streets of the City of Plainfield, with Permanent and Durable Macadam Pavement, and to provide the Necessary Funds in Advance of the Collection of Assessments for Benefits," a copy of which is subjoined to this notice, has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time, and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Common Council to adopt such ordinance at the regular meeting of the Common Council to be held in the Council Chamber, No. 149 North Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., at eight o'clock P. M., on Monday, the sixth day of July, A. D. Nineteen hundred and fourteen, at which time and place prior to the adoption of said ordinance, said ordinance will be considered by the Common Council, and all persons interested may be heard before the Common Council with reference to the proposed ordinance.

By order of the Common Council.

JAMES T. MacMURRAY,
City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., June 17, 1914.

AN ORDINANCE

for the Permanent Improvement of Certain Streets and Portions of Streets of the City of Plainfield, with Permanent and Durable Macadam Pavement, and to provide the Necessary Funds in Advance of the Collection of Assessments for Benefits.

The inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the following streets and parts of streets of the City of Plainfield, shall be permanently improved with durable macadam pavement, said macadam pavement to be of the depth and width hereinafter specified. All work to be given out upon contract to the lowest responsible bidder, and only after bids therefor shall have been solicited and received according to law, all bids to specify prices for each of said streets or parts of streets separately:

Emerson Avenue, from the macadam on East Front Street to the macadam on George Street.

West Fourth Street, from the macadam on Clinton Avenue to the City Line;

Sec. 2. That said streets and portions of streets described in Section 1 shall be macadamized for the depth of seven inches in the center and five inches at the curb lines, and for the entire width of the roadway, and the macadamizing preparation shall be laid down to the grades established by ordinance for said streets or portions of streets, respectively.

On Gerard Avenue and Monroe Avenue the gutters shall be paved with cobbles for a width of 3 1-2 feet on each side of said streets.

Sec. 3. That for the purpose of obtaining money by the sale of bonds hereinafter specified for the permanent improvement of said streets and parts of streets as aforesaid, in advance of the collection of assessments for benefits, to an amount not exceeding fifteen dollars per capita for each of the inhabitants of said city according to the last official census, but not for more than the amount limited by law, the Common Council of said City do hereby, pursuant to the Act of the Legislature of said State entitled "An Act to authorize the improvement of streets and highways in cities of this State, and to provide for the payment of the expense of the same, and for the assessment of the benefits of such improvements upon the land and real estate benefited thereby," and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, authorize the issuing of sixteen coupon municipal bonds of the City of Plainfield of One Thousand Dollars each ($1,000) and amounting in all to Sixteen Thousand Dollars ($16,000) which bonds shall be dated September first, 1914, and shall bear interest at the rate of five per centum (5 per cent.) per annum, payable semi-annually and be payable three years from the date thereof, with the option to the City to redeem or pay off the said bonds, or any one or more of them, at any time after one year from the date thereof and before three years from the date thereof, on giving personal notice to said holders of said bonds or thirty (30) days notice by advertisement in the official newspapers of the City of the intention to make such redemption or payment, which bonds shall be signed by the Mayor and bear the corporate seal of the City and be attested by the City Clerk, and may severally or collectively when ordered by resolution of the Common Council be sold for an amount not less than par value; and there shall be raised by tax in each year hereafter such sum of money as may be necessary to pay the interest on all outstanding bonds and the principal of such bonds as may mature during that year, and the money derived from the assessments upon the property benefited shall, when collected, be held as a fund toward the payment of said bonds.

Sec. 4. That after said improvements shall have ben completed, the Common Council shall, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, apply to the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Union for the appointment of Commissioners to estimate and assess benefits upon the owners of the lots or parcels of land and real estate peculiarly benefited by such improvements, in proportion, as near as may be, to an amount equal to the amount of benefits actually acquired by the lands and real estate bordering on said streets or portions thereof respectively, by reason of such improvements respectively; and in case the costs and expenses aforesaid shall exceed the amount of said benefits, the excess thereof shall be paid by the City at large and raised by general tax; no property or owner thereof to be in any case assessed beyond the amount of benefit actualy derived from said improvements.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.

UNION COUNTY COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

Notice of Hearing Objections to Assessments for Street Improvements in the City of Plainfield.

Harry C. Runyon, Michael D. O'Keeffe and Andrew J. Gavett, the Commissioners appointed by the Union County Court of Common Pleas, by order entered on the ninth day of January, 1914, to estimate and assess benefits conferred by the permanent street improvements in the City of Plainfield, under the ordinance of said city specified in said order, (said ordinance being also herinafter specified) and the character of the work and improvements for which said assessments have been made and a description of the sections of the particular streets and avenues thereof which are included in said assessment, being as follows, viz.:

Wallace Place, from the macadam on Spooner Avenue to the southwesteriy end of Wallace Place;

Manson Place, from the macadam on South Second Street to the macadam on West Fourth Street;

McDowell Street, from the macadam on West Third Street to the macadam on West Fourth Street;

Pond Place, from the macadam on South Second Street to the macadam on West Third Street; under the ordinance of said City entitled: "An Ordinance for the Permanent Improvement of Certain Streets and Portions of Streets of the City of Plainfield, with permanent and durable Macadam Pavement, and to provide the Necessary Funds in Advance of the Collection of Assessments for Benefits," Approved April 7, 1913, which ordinance was adopted under and by virtue of the Act of the Legislature entitled: "An Act to authorize the improvement of streets and highways in cities of this State, and to provide for the payment of the expense of the same, and for the assessment of the benefits of such improvement upon the land and real estate benefited thereby," approved June 13th, 1898, and the amendments and supplements thereto, having made and filed in the office of the clerk of said court, a report in writing of their estimates and assessments, accompanied by surveys and maps prepared by the City Surveyor under their direction, showing lots or parcels of land and real estate peculiarly benefited by such improvements, respectively, the total cost of the whole work upon each of the sections of said streets or avenues improved as aforesaid, under the aforesaid ordinance; the portions assessed upon the City at large, and the names, so far as ascertained, of the owners of the said lots or parcels of land and real estate, and the amount of the assessment to each owner for each of said lots or parcels of land and real estate for the said benefits, and the excess thereof to be paid by the City at large, and raised by general tax, and the other matters required by said acts of the legislature, as by reference to said report and maps will more fully and at large appear.

Notice is hereby given, that said Union County Court of Common Pleas has fixed the 19th day of June, 1914, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, or as soon thereafter as the Court can attend to the same, at the Court House in the City of Elizabeth, as the time and place for hearing before said court any objections that may be made to such assessments, when and where all parties may be heard, and has directed the publication of this notice.

JAMES C. CALVERT,
Clerk of the Union County Court of Common Pleas.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION. to be held in the Borough of North Plainfield, September 24th, 1914.

Whereas the Council of the Borough of North Plainfield did by resolution adopted at a regular meeting thereof, held June 5, 1914, fix and appoint Thursday, the Twenty-fourth day of September, 1914, as the time for holding a special election in said borough to determine whether or not a majority of the qualified voters of said borough desire to accept the provisions of the act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey entitled: "An Act to unite and consolidate the municipal corporations known as inhabitants of the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union, and the mayor and council of the borough of North Plainfield," approved April 16th, 1902:

Now therefore public notice is hereby given that such special election for the object and purpose aforesaid will be held in the said borough on the said Thursday, the Twenty-fourth day of September, 1914; and that the polls for the First Election District of said borough on said day will be located at No. 33 Somerset Street, and the polls for the Second Election District of said borough on said day will be located at No. 181 Somerset street, and the polls for the Third Election District of said borough on said day will be located at No. 78 Somerset Street, and the polls for the Fourth Election District of said borough on said day will be located at No. 108 Somerset Street; and the polls for the Fifth Election District of said borough on said day will be located at No. 237 Somerset Street, in said borough, and will be kept open for the same time as provided by law for general elections.

And notice is further given that the oards of registry and elections for the said several elections districts will meet at the said respective polling places hereinbefore specified, and which said several and respective places are hereby by me designated for such purpose on Thursday, the Seventeenth day of September, 1914, to revise and correct the register of voters of said respective districts made for the last general election held therein; said meetings of the boards of registry and elections will begin at one o'clock in the afternoon, and continue until nine o'clock in the evening of said Seventeenth day of September, 1914, for the purpose of revising and correcting the register and adding thereto in the manner provided by law, the names of persons entitled to vote in the respective election districts of said borough at said special election.

C. M. DOLLIVER,
Borough Clerk.

TRIES TO KIDNAP HIS LITTLE GIRL

TAKEN INTO CUSTODY

Miss Miriam Oatman, His Sister-in-law, Leaps Into Machine and Scuffle Follows—Husband and Wife Are Separated.

In an attempt to get possession of his little daughter now in the custody of his wife from whom he is separated, Phillip V. VanArsdale, a school teacher, of 301 East Front street, raced two miles in an automobile from Lumbertown to Mt. Holly, yesterday afternoon. During the wild flight with the car running at high speed VanArdsdale was fighting continually with Miss Miriam E. Oatman, his wife's sister, from whom he had snatched the girl. Rescued by the police of Mt. Holly, who had stopped the car, Miss Oatman went to police headquarters where she preferred a charge of assault and battery against the Plainfielder. Her clothes had been nearly torn from her body during the flight and her face and hands were bruised and scratched

Since being separated from her husband Mrs. VanArsdale has been teaching school in Mineola, L. I. and left her daughter with her sister and father, the Rev. Johnson Oatman, of Lumberton, where the latter family has a bangalow. Van Arsdale, it is said, went to Mt. Holly yesterday afternoon and rented an automobile, with a chauffeur, and went to the Oatman home. Seeing his daughter playing in the yard, Van Arsdale seized her, but, by the time he regained the machine Miss Oatman, who was nearby, was upon him. She leaped into the automobile as the car started and the struggle began.

Miss Oatman said that several times she was knocked down and in one instance narrowly escaped being hurled from the speeding car. The fight continued all the way to Mt. Holly, where a policeman, hearing the woman's terrified screams, stopped the machine. He took all of the occupants to jail and there Miss Oatman preferred the charges against her brother-in-law. She clung to the child and was driven back to Lumberton with her in the evening.

In a preliminary hearing Van Arsdale said he was only trying to get possession of his own child and had only tried to protect himself from Miss Oatman's attack. He provided the necessary bail and left Mt. Holly last night.

When sought by a Daily Press reporter this morning Mr. VanArsdale could not be found at his home on Front street. He is well known in this city and is recognized as a talented musician. For several years he has been taking a law course in New York but has maintained a residence in this city.

The trouble between Van Arsdale and his wife arose last February when Mrs. Van Arsdale alleged that her husband sang love songs to Mrs. Ella Gottlieb, wife of Oscar Gottlieb, a Manhatan jeweler. The course of divorce action is said to have been committed in a hotel at Jackson's Mills, while Mr. Gottlieb was attending business in New York when the Van Arsdale's were spending their vacation at the hotel. According to Mrs. Van Arsdale and her husband spent much time in Mrs. Gottlieb's company in the reception room of the hostelry smoking cigarettes and singing.

CHAUFFEUR'S QUICK ACTION PREVENTS SERIOUS ACCIDENT

While driving through West Front street in a westerly direction yesterday afternoon, a chauffeur in the employ of Walter Scott narrowly averted a serious accident by driving up on the sidewalk, when another machine driven by William Vail, of North Plainfield, came around the corner of Washington street, at a rapid speed.

The two cars grazed each other at right angles but no one was injured. The Scott car, which is a seven passenger one, was considerably damaged.

PLEASING RECITAL AT ST. JOSEPH'S VILLA

Pupils of Music Class Give a Very Attractive Program.

The pupils of St. Joseph's music class gave a very pleasing recital in the reception hall of St. Joseph's Villa, Westervelt avenue, last evening. A large number of parents and friends filled the prettily decorated hall. The pupils performed very creditably.

Following the recital a social hour was enjoyed. The program consisted of thirty selections. The program: Qui l'ive (Ganz), by Miss Gertrude Blimm and Master Edward Blimm; Eohenne Harp (Smith), by Miss Lillian Pettengill; Flower Song (Lange), by Miss Phoebe Hogan; La Grace (Bohm), by the Misses Carrie and Grace Williams; March of the Tin Soldier, by Miss Minerva Neidig; Alice (Ascher), Miss Adelaide Stiglitz; Beautiful Moonlight (vocal), by Miss Elsie Moulton, Adelaide Stiglitz, Grace Williams, Carrie Williams; Trip It Lightly (Fieldhouse), by Miss Elizabeth Louis; Heather Rose (Lange), Miss Carrie Williams; Success (Bachmann), by Miss Helen McDonough; Frost King (Evans), by Miss May Maag; violin and piano, by Misses N. and R. McDonough; Tam O'Shanter (Warren), by Master Blimm; Palms (Legbach), by Miss Nora Meany.

The second part of the program follows: Rose Fay (Heins), by Miss Grace Williams; Humoresk (Dvorak), by Miss Phyllis Daley; Bud of Promise (Webster), by Misses M. Neidig and P. Hogan; Concert Valse (Evans), by Miss Constance Hedden; Tyrolienne (Legbach), by Miss Helen Meany; violin and piano duet, by Misses N. and R. McDonough; Dying Poet (Gottschalk), by Miss Gertrude Blimm; Song of Gladness (Ravins), Master Vincent McDonough; Whispering Hope (vocal), by Misses G. and C. Williams; The Storm (Weber), by Miss Nora McDonough; melody in F (Rubensteins), by Miss Mary McCormick; Last Hope (Gottschalk), by Miss Elsie Moulton; Flow Gently Sweet Afton (violin and piano), by Miss Phyllis and Master James Daley; Sunday Morn (Lichner), by Miss Minnie Smith; Believe Me of All Those Endearing Young Charms (Pope), by Miss May Hand; Triumphant March (Holst), by Misses Helen Murphy and Elsie Moulton.

DIES FROM GRIEF OVER DAUGHTER'S DEATH

Mother of Mrs. Gustaf Peterson Passes Away at Her Home in Sweden.

Mrs. Gustaf Peterson, of West Third street, received word this week of the death of her mother, Mrs. Erik Heden, who passed away at her home in Sweden on June 1, her death being caused by grief over the loss of her daughter, Miss Olga Heden, who died on March 17 last in Sweden. The Misses Martha and Marie Heden, of this city, upon hearing of the serious illness of their mother left for Sweden on Thursday last, but they will not learn of her death until they arrive at their destination on Monday.

Mrs. Heden is survived by her husband and five daughters, the Misses Anna, Esther, Martha, Marie and Lydia. Miss Olga Heden, who died in March, formerly lived here and on account of her ill health decided to return to her native land in the hope of regaining her strength, but the trip proved unavailing.

MRS. RACHAEL JENNINGS DIES IN HER 82D YEAR

Mrs. Rachael Jennings, aged eighty-two years, mother of Assistant Fire Chief Andrew D. Jennings, died this morning after a long illness, at the home of Joseph E. Plum, in the borough. Mrs. Jennings has been a resident of this city for many years, and had a wide circle of friends. Besides her son, Mrs. Jennings is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Mary L. Havens, of Washington, D. C. The funeral serivces which will be private will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. Plum, 327 Manning avenue, North Plainfield. Burial will be made at Hillside.

SUES PLAINFIELD BOARD OF EDUCATION

Perth Amboy Concern Seeks to Recover Under P. J. Exner Co. Contract.

Claiming that its lien is a prior one over others and should be paid, New Jersey Terra Cotta Company, of Perth Amboy, has brought a suit in the Court of Chancery against the Plainfield Board of Education and others, to recover $2,176, which it claims is due on a $4,800 contract for furnishing terra cotta for the addition to the High School building. The contract for the work was awarded to the Paul J. Exner Company, of New York, for $161,200. This company contracted with the complainant to furnish the terra cotta.

The Paul J. Exner Company became financially involved and finally was compelled to stop work. The Board of Education took hold and getting all of the creditors together eventually arranged matters so that the work could go on, John Dahl, of this city, being awarded the contract to complete the building.

When the Paul J. Exner Company gave up its contract it had received about $100,000, leaving a balance of $60,000, which is being held by the Board of Education. No disposition of this fund or distribution will be made until after a decision of the courts is made to determine the matter.

While the action of the Perth Amboy concern is against the Board of Education, this body is in no way involved, being protected in every way. It is simply acting as the custodian of the balance due the Exner company and when the decision of the courts is made it will probably be paid to those entitled to receive the same. It is believed that it will be some time before the troubles of the Exner company are settled.

MILITARY UNIFORMS ADOPTED FOR POLICE

Recently Appointed Patrolmen Appear in New Style Suits.

The fact that the newly-appointed patrolmen, John J. Fritts, Joseph Neylon and Joseph Hayles, who went on duty this week, appeared in the military style uniform, the same as those worn by the New York police, and entirely different from those now worn by other members of the local department, has caused considerable comment. The uniforms used here by the majority of the men are similar to those in use in every police department throughout the country, except New York.

During the term of Commissioner Waldo in New York he adopted the present style of military uniform with short-tail jacket, and standing military collar with leather band. When the orders were given the New York police were compelled to change their uniforms, meaning a considerable loss to the men who had to discard their old suits.

A policeman is obliged to have three different suits, one for winter which costs $40, a dress suit which costs $36 and a summer suit which costs $24. These are exclusive of caps, belts, etc. Ordinarily they will last from two to three years, depending upon the amount of use. Many of the local policemen purchased new clothing this year; in case a change is made to the style worn by the new policemen it would mean an additional expense.

It is believed that the New York regulation overcoat is not only clumsy, but burdensome, preventing free action in case a man is obliged to run any distance. Just why the new patrolmen ware asked to purchase the new style of uniform is not known by other members of the department and they are hoping that all will not be compelled to make the change. Just who was responsible for the adoption of the uniform by the three new patrolmen has not been learned. It is said that no formal action has been taken by the councilmanic police board.

TO MARK TIME IN MEXICAN CRISIS

Present Prospect is That "Watchful Waiting" Will Be Resumed.

GARRISON IS WORRIED

Secretary of War Plainly Shows That Presence of From 17,000 to 20,000 Mexican Troops at Vera Cruz Means Trouble.

(Special from Central News.)

Washington, June 19.—So convinced is the administration that the deliberations at Niagara Falls are nearing the end that President Wilson is said to be preparing a formal statement to the American people which will set forth the administrations attitude. This report was not denied at the White House.

It was declared furthermore that the administration was prepared to resume its policy of "Watchful waiting," until the situation simmered down again. Secretary Bryan was said to have urged this upon President Wilson. He called at the White House this morning and had a long talk with the president.

Secretary Garrison, however, was plainly worried as he apparently foresaw a forward movement on the part of the Huerta troops that have been crowding around Vera Cruz until now. They number between 17,000 and 20,000. This movement it is feared will be started just as soon as the armistic is ended. The action of foreign governments in case mediation fails is causing grave concern here, is is recognized that Great Britain and Germany especially are not disposed to put up much longer with the vaccillating policy of the mediators.

The White House and the State Department today were awaiting with the deepest concern the next steps to be taken at Niagara Falls. The issue of the statement by the American representatives there was conceded to have brought on a crisis. The next few hours, it was recognized, probably would settle the fate of the negotiations that have dragged so long with such perplexing and baffling halts.

Niagara Falls, June 19.—It seems impossible that anything will be accomplished at this afternoon peace conference to bring about an adjustment of the Mexican difficulty. The Mexicans before the meeting will issue a statement declaring that a Bi-Partisan Commission as proposed by the Americans would not be practical as they claim that a majority of the people of Mexico do not favor General Carranza's cause; that the conquered territory contains only a small portion of the population, and that the whole people of no section have risen against the Huerta government. Neither side appears to be willing to yield an inch.

MRS. LILLIAN M. DONNER DIES AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

Mrs. Lillian M. Donner, of Jefferson avenue, this city, died at an early hour this morning, after a short illness. While Mrs. Donner had been in poor health for sometime, and about ten days ago her condition became critical. She was in her thirty-first year. Beside her mother, Mrs. Mary E. Randolph, at whose home she died, Mrs. Donner is survived by one sister, Mrs. Louise Vossler, and two brothers, Harry and Richard Randolph.

The funeral services will be held at the residence of her mother on Jefferson avenue, and will be conducted by Rev. Ernest R. Brown, pastor of the Dunellen Presbyterian church. Interment will be made at the South Plainfield cemetery.

GAVE FINE EXHIBITION OF SCHOOL SPIRIT

Considerable Enthusiasm is Shown at Presentation Exercises This Morning.

The best exhibition of enthusiasm and school spirit in the North Plainfield High School was shown at the presentation exercises during chapel, this morning. About thirty visitors were present and the assembly hall was crowded to the doors with pupils and friends of the school.

After the opening exercises Captain Ralph Smalley presented the Collier cup and a rousing cheer was given for him. Principal Earley accepted the cup and then Samuel Mann presented the Hirsch-Mann batting trophy to Ernest Stahl. Both of the donors were given long yells and after saying a few words in response, Stahl was given a good cheer.

Duclos VanMater was the next one to be honored, and Mr. Osmun, of the Men's Shop, presented him with a handsome loving cup. Mr. Earley presented the members of the team with their monograms and each one was heartily applauded as he received his letters. The two pitchers, Denny and Stahl, were given cheers. Carroll Taylor and Edmund LaPorte, alumnae of the school, were called upon and responded with short speeches. W. L. Smalley, the ardent borough supporter, also made a little speech in which he commended the city boys for their fighting spirit.

At the close of the exercises Mr. Earley presented Miss Dorothy Jacot with a five dollar gold piece as winner of the annual W. C. T. U. prize essay. Wilbur Bolen was given honorable mention. Before dismissed the boys gave each of the teachers, who leave this year, a hearty cheer.

RUFUS CRANE FINCH WEDS MISS GARDNER

Brilliant Affair Takes Place in Christ Episcopal Church, Ridgewood.

The marriage of Miss Adelaide Barbour Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Lee Breton Gardner, of New York and Ridgewood, and Rufus Crane Finch, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Finch, of this city, took place at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in Christ Episcopal church, Ridgewood, the rector of the church officiating. There was a large assemblage of relatives and friends, including a number from this city, who made the trip from New York in a special coach.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore white satin trimmed with old lace and a rose point veil. Her sole ornament was a diamond pendant, the gife of the bridegroom. She carried a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley. Miss Margaret Selden Ross, who attended as flower girl, wore a film lace dress, with picture hat of pink and blue and carried a French basket of pink roses, combined with blue ribbon.

The best man was Edmund R. Finch, a brother of the bridegroom, and the ushers were H. L. Finch, Warren Barbour, Thomas White and Frederic Sanner, of New York; George Elkins, Jr., of Philadelphia, and William Palmer Smith, Jr., of Netherwood. A reception followed at Kenmore, the country home of the bride's parents.

Among the handsome gifts received by the bride was a solid silver platter from the Watchung Hunt Club, of which Mr. Finch is the master. This was inscribed: "From those who have ridden with the Master." The couple will go abroad and upon their return wil live in New York city. The bride is popular in New York society and the bridegroom is equally well-known in local and New York society.

1914 CLASS FIRST TO GRADUATE IN NEW HIGH SCHOOL AUDITORIUM

Custom of Conducting Commencement Exercises Outside of Building Abandoned With the Completion of School's Addition—Many Attend Impressing Affair—Prizes for Superior Academic Work Distributed to Winners.

Parents and friends of the Plainfield High School graduating class filled the spacious new auditorium of the building, last night, when the annual commencement exercises were conducted. This is the first time in the history of the school that the graduation program has been given in the school's auditorium, the authorities having heretofore provided for the affair in the theatre and the First Baptist church. The increased room in the large assembly hall was well filled by many of the school's alumni and another innovation was also introduced when the Alumni Association gave its annual dance and reception to the seniors in the school.

William S. Tyler, president of the Board of Education, presided at the exercises and made the annual presentation awards. Many of the seniors and several lower classmen were rewarded for the meritorius work in the academic departments, the prizes this year being more numerous than ever before.

The principal address of the evening was made by the Rev. Henry L. Rose, of Newark. He congratulated the pupils on their completion of the prescribed course of study in the High School and spoke of the battles facing them in the business and commercial world of today. He spoke of the vast opportunities offered for the High School graduate in this and other countries and the part each student is expected to fill in the field of commerce. Dr. Rose commented on the educational features being promoted in the United States and the opportunity boys and girls of today have for advancement. He urged higher education and the application of the knowledge secured from the High School course.

He spoke in a personal way to the graduates who are about to go out into the world as business men and women and explained the part each is expected to play. Dr. Rose's talk was featured by a number of short and interesting stories, many of which were personal experiences of his. Punctuated by these anecdotes his address was highly appreciated and the seniors gathered much good advice from his words.

Miss Ellen Elvira Sandberg delivered the salutatory address as follows:

Mr. Speaker, Members of the Board of Education, Citizens of Plainfield, we, the Class of 1914, welcome you all to our Commencement exercises. We are glad to have you here this evening to share with us one of the proudest moments of our lives. And it seems especially fitting that on this occasion we express our appreciation to you for the advantages and opportunities our high school course has offered us.

Much has been said and written recently about the need of practical education in our public schools. During the last score of years our schools have undergone a radical change and practical ideas have been introduced. Commercial Education is one of the important phases of this practical education. It was given to a limited extent in private schools about the year 1855; but its introduction into public schools has been comparatively recent—within twenty or twenty-five years. But the United States is essentially a commercial country and the Twentieth Century is essentially a commercial age, and the schools must furnish the instruction the nation demands and adapt themselves to the needs of the times.

Even some of our most prominent colleges, such as the University of California, Harvard and Columbia, have recognized this growing demand and now include commercial training in their curriculum, so that now the collede graduate becomes a man of affairs as well as a scholar in the old sense of the word. Commercial Education has passed the experimental and the critical stage and has become an established reality.

By Commercial Education is meant "that form of general education which prepares young people to serve intelligent apprenticeship in business pursuits." It is not merely limited to Stenography, Typewriting, and Bookkeeping, but includes such subjects as Commercial Law, Salesmanship, and Advertising, all of which tend to prepare the future business man for his calling.

Commercial Education is practical in every respect. The student who graduates from the Commercial Course is able to take his place among the workers of the world. He is independent. This is more than we can say of any other course offered in the high school. Most graduates in French and German are quite unable to converse intelligently for ten minutes in either language. They may have a knowledge of drawing and music, but not enough to make it of any lucrative value, for subjects of that nature require from two to four years further preparation before they can attain such an end. In analyzing the question: "What knowledge is of most worth?" Herbert Spencer says it is "that which insures the individual's immediate preservation." Surely Commercial Education does this for the graduate. And in commercial life the question has become: "What can you do?" in addition to "What do you know?" One must have the power of action, must take the initiative, must not be content simply to carry out the ideas of others. That is what Commercial Education is seeking to accomplish—to make the student capable, efficient.

Then, too, Commercial Education has a cultural value as well as a utilitarian value. It trains the hand to work in unison with the mind. This is especially true of shorthand and typewriting. "To catch the fleeting word, to record its shorthand symbol, and, then, with almost equal rapidity to print its alphabetical equivalent on the typewriter" require great mental activity and instant decision such as is called for in hardly any other study. It develops the student's power to think and execute. Commercial Education combined with a sound general education cannot be overestimated.

There is an old saying, "Once a bookkeeper—always a bookkeeper" which has been quite disproved. A wide future stretches out before the stenographer of today, limited only by his own ability and ambition. Young persons have attained higher success in the business world by means of stenography, for the stenographer, and especially the private secretary, is brought into direct contact with the various principles of the business in which he is engaged and so, by his own merits, is often able to attain a position of power and importance.

It is interesting to note some of the many famous characters who have been connected in one way or another with commercial work. Everyone knows how Charles Dickens made a success of his reporting, and the press frequently makes reference to President Wilson as an expert at shorthand and typewriting. He makes continual use of it in preparing his speeches to Congress. The original transcript of his inaugural address was typewritten by himself from his own notes. The Brooklyn Eagle says this of him: Perhaps one reason why President Wilson maintains such admirable brevity in his addresses to Congress is that he not only performs all the mental labor of composing them but he also does the manual labor." And there is another prominent figure in life today whose accomplishments have been a familiar theme in recent years—Helen Keller, university graduate, authoress reformer. It seems almost needless to say that among her numerous accomplishments she is also a capable typist.

But our interest in Commercial Education is not only general and theoretical. We know something of its real worth from our own school. The Plainfield High School was one of the pioneers in commercial instruction in public schools. It was introduced in 1897, and the course proved popular from the very beginning. The Commercial Department began with just a handful of pupils, but now requires the services of several teachers and enrolls almost half the students in the entire school. This shows clearly the popularity of commercial instruction. It also proves that any subject can be made more attractive and effective by giving it a practical turn.

One of the new features of the Commercial Department is its Commercial Club, by means of which the pupils will be brought into more direct contact with the civic organizations of the city. It is confidently expected that through this medium a higher degree of efficiency may be established and maintained.

There are two primary aims of the Commercial Department First, to train the boys and girls to fill positions immediately upon graduation; second, to fit them for higher education in Schools of Commerce. It is the aim of the Commercial Department to satisfy the demands of the modern business man for better trained young men and women, to give them a sound and broad education,—not the meagre, technical education of the ordinary business college stamp.

The citizens of Plainfield are to be congratulated on their high school. It has always stood for high scholarship in the past, and through its practical courses successfully meets the needs of the present. A city is indeed fortunate to have a Board of Education whose members

Only a Parrot!

He had just come "over." Seeing an escaped parrot of fine plumage perched on a tree-branch at the entrance of our park, he climbed up to catch it. Just as he put out his hand to seize it, the parrot arched its neck, looked down at him and squaked, "good morning!"

Our friend drew back quickly, took off his hat and said: "Excuse me sur, I thought ye wuz a burd." There's no danger of being deceived by appearances when you buy your Summer Suit at Rothberg's!

Our label in each one of them is the hall-mark of excellence and of lasting satisfaction!

We stand back of them to be all they seem, and then some! We trust to time to show YOU their dependability.

NEIGHBORS' FUED SETTLED IN COURT

Mosher and Rogers Found Guilty of Disorderly Conduct Charge.

J. Wendell Mosher, Harold Rogers and Chauncey Burt, all of the West End, appeared as defendants in the city court, this morning, to answer to charges of disorderly conduct preferred against them as the result of a fracas that took place on the front porch of Mosher's home, 911 West Sixth street, last Thursday night. After hearing considerable evidence on both sides of the case, City Judge William G. DeMeza found Mosher and Rogers guilty of disorderly conduct and dismissed the complaint lodged against Burt. The guilty parties were given a suspended sentence by the court after listening to a scathing reprimand and the neighbors all departed from the courtroom the best of friends.

According to testimony given on the stand by Burt and his witnesses, Rogers chastised Burt's six-year-old child in a lot adjoining his home Thursday afternoon, and when Burt went to Rogers' home demanding an explanation, he was treated to a beating by Rogers and his brother-in-law, Mosher. According to Burt he was severely pummelled by the other two defendants, and displayed a badly blackened eye in court, declaring it to be the result of the encounter. It was brought out in the testimony of witnesses that a feud had long been existing between the two families and the matter came to a climax Thursday night.

Rogers and Mosher declared on the stand that they had simply ordered Burt from the premises and that he became incensed. All admitted striking blows, however, and Burt found the defendants too much to handle at one time. Rogers' action in chastising the Burt child was prompted, it was said, by the latter's practice of throwing stones into his backyards at the chickens.

TUTTLE BROTHERS SEEK TO RECOVER

Mechanics' Lien Release Involved in Suit Brought in Chancery.

Trenton, June 19.—The Court of Errors and Appeals heard argument yesterday on the appeal in the suit brought by William E. Tuttle, Jr. and Arthur D. Tuttle, trading as Tuttle Brothers, of Westfield, against Benjamin S. Harris, Theodore Apgar and George I. Apgar. It was a Chancery Court action brought by the complainants to recover for a mechanic's lien release. The suit involved a house built by the Apgar Brothers, who are builders, for Harris. Tuttle Brothers furnished some of the material for the house.

The complainants charged that the mechanic's lien release executed by them and delivered to the Apgar Brothers, was by the latter delivered to Harris. They alleged that the release had been obtained through fraudulent representations of the builders, the Apgar Brothers, without any consideration from Harris. They asked that the release be surrendered and cancelled ,and that an injunction issue restraining Harris from offering the release in evidence in a certain lien claim suit in the Middlesex Circuit Court. Vice-Chancellor Emery, who heard the case, adjudged that the release was fraudulently procured from Tuttle Brothers by the builders and directed that it be delivered up and cancelled to the complainants. Harris then took this appeal to the errors Court. Decision was reserved.

work so diligently for the welfare of the community and for those who are to be its future citizens.

Carter Lyman Goodrich was the valedictorian of this year's class and his essay and address follows:

Do not be afraid of my subject, "The Joy of Study." Perhaps you dont believe there is such a thing; perhaps we seniors have never before admitted its existence; but, now that we are safely out of the High School—within easy reach of the diplomas under that table, it can do no harm to confess that we have actually won pleasure from our much-abused lessons.

In the first place, even in the dullest of studies, there is the joy of the hard task done— of the knotty passage translated or the puzzling algebra problem solved. This joy may come equally well from hoeing corn, but I wish to talk about the particular pleasures of the High School course, especially the classical branch.

Nearly everybody loves books; the English course teaches us what books to love. I am glad that I have been forced to read so many good ones, almost everything worth while from Stevenson's "Travels with a Donkey" to Burke's "Conciliation." There is not a volume on the list that does not give pleasure, and I can hardly pick favorites. The heroic atmosphere of "Henry V," the no less heroic characters of the "Tale of Two Cities," the piquancy of Lamb's "Essays" stand out among the happiest memories. Joy has come even from the heaviest works. I suppose nothing outside of school could have made me read Carlyle, but his flaming sentences roused me mightily. Not all our pleasure has been from prose. "The Idylls of the King" and Burns' songs have been favorites, and we have had some of our best times browsing among collections of poems, for, although not everybody does love poetry, the English course teaches us to enjoy it.

But "readin" is only half the English work, and the "ritin" is no less interesting. The study of the knack of writing, the trick of putting thoughts into words and fitting words together, is a fascinating one. We are not required to write themes on the "Beauty of a Starlit Night," but our range of subjects is unlimited. In this connection, too, comes one of the greatest advantages of our training for citizenship—the chance to write on present day public affairs. We have had great fun—and great profit—in papers and hard-fought debates on every political question from suffrage in Mexico.

From current events it is a short step to the events of other days. History, as taught in the Plainfield High School, is never dull and is always closely hooked with modern life. For example, I remember discussions of the Philippine question in connection with the Roman Empire and ardent arguments on Socialism under English history.

"There is a word, 'a name of fear,' which rouses terror in the heart; it will scatter a crowd more quickly than a hose-pipe hornets or the rumor of the plague." If Arnold Bennett's sentence on poetry were applied to our studies, it would fit the dead languages. But I have swallowed a rather large dose of them and can truthfully say that their terrors are exaggerated and their pleasures very real. Latin is not easy, neither is it uninteresting. There is a certain mathematical satisfaction in a speech that is bound by such fixed rules. For those who live through the first three years, perhaps occasionally enjoying the pleasures of picking out Latin words on old inscriptions or Latin derivatives in English speech, there is a book of real interest—Virgil's "Aeneid." Even the difficulty of translation cannot hide the stern beauty of the pictures of the storm at sea or the descent into Hades.

As the sole survivor of the late Greek class, I wish to plead in behalf of that much-scorned language. Although not such a lover of it as the professor who called his pet poodles "Xenophon" and "Anabasis," I enjoyed my Greek greatly. The book for which the dogs were named is an account of a heroic march, brightened by graphic pictures along the way of the life of the ancients. It is a genuine pleasure through it to become acquainted with the customs of a race that has done so much for the world.

A freshman once wrote to her pastor, "I just love Latin, because it's such fun trying to talk it." The pleasures of speaking Latin must be confined to the freshman, but the pleasures of speaking the modern languages are very evident. Once I was climbing a mountain with a jolly German who spoke my language, if possible, even worse than I did his. But we enlivened the climb by a stream of conversation. By signs, by words traced in the gravel with a walking-stick, and by nimble guesswork, we got along famously. By the time we reached the summit, I had found out just how many times he had been married and he could say, "Do not mention it." I have rarely had a better morning's fun.

Although it is perhaps hardest to see the joy, while easiest to see the practical use, of mathematics, yet I remember very distinctly, back in sophomore year, the glee with which two of my not especially studious classmates spent a damp afternoon measuring the width of Green brook according to a freshly-learned fact in geometry.

Science is made fascinating by the informality and camaraderie of the laboratory work, the pleasure of proving things for ourselves instead of memorizing them from text-books, the zest of discovery, and the satisfaction, for instance, of finding alum in a can of baking powder which, according to its cover, "contains positively no alum." Up to this year, I was hopelessly ignorant of the simplest laws of science. I thought of fire as a red thing passed around on matches. A course in chemistry opened my eyes to a great province of new facts and new enjoyments.

After all, the greatest happiness that comes from the High School studies is the joy of the open vistas. If we had not climbed the rugged mountain of tedious study, we never could have had the long look ahead over wide fields of literature and history or toward the sun-lit peaks of science. We never could have even seen those fields and peaks.

* * * * * * * * * *

Comrades:

We have climbed this hill together and have seen this tempting view. Sharers in the joy, in the hard work, and in the drudgery of study, sharers, too, in the joy of the school activities, the athletics, the dramatics, and the good times that have bound us together, we can claim something of the joy of achievements, for no one of us is on this platform except as a reward for some hard and earnest work. But tonight we look forward, not backward, and realize that we have just started to live. As we have shared with each other the joys of these happy years, so may we go out, though scattered and separated, ready to share with others the greater joys that will come with larger tasks. Our aim is not, and must not be, the lonely satisfaction of the scholar, but the warm joy of translating knowledge into helpfulness. Comrades of the class of Nineteen Fourteen, if we gain the greatest and the highest happiness, it will be the joy of service, for "He who would win joy must share it."

TWO RACES GO TO CRIMSON OARSMEN

Freshmen and Second Varsity Water Events Annexed by by Harvard.

New London, June 19—Harvard won the Freshman race here today by three lengths. The official time for the race was Harvard, 11 minutes and 45 seconds; Yale, 12 minutes and 4 seconds. The race between the second varsity eights of Yale and Harvard was started at 10:49 a. m. Harvard had an early lead and won the race by about ten lengths. The official time was Harvard, 11 minutes, 3 seconds; Yale, 12 minutes, 2 seconds.

DEFER BRIDGE WORK.

At the joint meeting of the Union and Somerset County Board of Freeholders this morning the committee of three members that had discussed the building of a new Terrill road bridge between the two counties, reported that it was decided for the present to postpone the erection of the bridge. The Board enjoyed a dinner at the Somerset Hotel after the meeting.

STIEGMAN BROTHERS ON WITNESS STAND

Give Evidence in United States District Court Answering Charge.

Newark, June 19.—Louis Stiegman of 115 East Fifth street, took the stand in his own behalf this morning in Newark, where he is being arraigned before United States District Court Judge Haight, with his brother, to answer to a charge of conspiracy preferred against him by the government. Acting United States District Attorney Bacon, in cross-examining the witness, again brought out contradictory evidence presented by one of the defense. In yesterday's proceedings Leo Berse, of this city, became confused and made a number of damaging statements to the jury. Stiegan presented books which did not get into the hands of the receiver as evidence this morning and when questioned concerning the concealment of these records he denied knowing that they were wanted by the receiver.

He told of buying goods for his brother David who started a Surprise Store in New Brunswick, similar to the one conducted on West Front street, explaining that his brother could not get credit from the manufacturers. He admitted on the stand that he endeavored to get the power of an attorney from his creditors but had failed.

Following his brother, David Steigman went on the stand and made one of the best witnesses yet produced by the defense. In a straight-forward manner he explained his reason for taking credit for his brother, saying that he had recently moved to New Brunswick and was not known among the business houses. He related incidents surrounding a fire in his New Brunswick store last March and proved to the court that the conflagaration had been started in the second floor of the structure and not in that occupied by him.

He testified to opening his goods on the sidewalk and denied any concealment of stock. He said that he had advertised the store for sale in New York papers and sold the stock for $1,050. Immediately upon receiving the money for the sale he paid off a note for $675 and had Bank President Hayes in court to substantiate this fact. He denied being bankrupt at the present time and said that he had never been in that state. He explained a mixup which occured in New Brunswick with his landlord at the time his chattels were attached by proving that the landlord had made a mistake in depositing the check given by him.

HOLY CROSS PICNIC.

Rev. Charles H. Kues, rector of the Holy Cross church, has announced that the annual picnic will be held tomorrow in the "Notch," at Scotch Plains. Conveyances will leave the parish house at 9:30 o'clock. Mr. Kues has invited all members of the school, including the teachers and officers. The picnic will be postponed if the day is stormy.

REMOVED TO THE HOSPITAL.

Mrs. William J. Winges, of Dunellen, was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital this morning, suffering from an internal injury, sustained on June 7, when she assisted her late husband from the porch at her home to a second floor bedroom. Mr. Winges while sitting on the porch had a stroke of paralysis and became helpless. He died on Saturday last.

APPROVED ASSESSMENTS.

ANNUAL RECEPTION OF P. H. S. ALUMNI

Followed the Commencement Exercises Held in New Auditorium.

Following commencement exercises of the Plainfield High School in the new auditorium last night, the members of the senior class were guests of the High School Alumni Association at the annual dance. Fully five hundred people enjoyed dancing until long after midnight and excellent music was furnished by Suhr's band of ten pieces. The dance floor is considered the best one in the city, and was crowded last night.

The walls and balcony of the auditorium were draped with American flags and the class colors, blue and gold were prominent. At midnight, during the intermission refreshments were served. The patrons and patronesses were Dr. and Mrs. Henry M. Maxson, Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Meredith, Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Best, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Tyler, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd T. Wodhull, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Babcock, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Ackerman, Dr. and Mrs. Norman H. Probasco and Mr and Mrs. Francis K. Anderson.

The committee in charge of the dance was as follows: Dr. Sydney R. Titsworth, chairman; Charles B. Morse, Burnett O. Doane and Edson A. Woodhull. The officers of the Alumni Association are Francis K. Anderson, president, '04; Sydney R. Titsworth, vice-president, '97, and Miss Margaret V. Leggett, secretary and treasurer, '10.

MOTORISTS HAD A BIG TIME AT LAKE

New Market the Attraction for Plainfielders on a Monthly Outing.

Following the monthly meeting of the Plainfield Motorcycle Club, held last night, at which time four new applications for membership were received, the members went to Hotel Nelson, in New Market, where they enjoyed their monthly "blow-out." The New Market hotel was transformed into a scene of gayety by the cyclists and their friends, a dinner featuring the occasion. Following a sumptuous repast the club quartet composed of Harry Uhler, Herbert Alberts, Lester Renninger and Al Bowlby, rendered a number of popular ballads which made a big hit. Miss Ball presided at the piano for the singers.

During the musical period a dozne other members of the club tried their hand at singing topical selections, but all voted after the tryouts that no "night-in-gale" had been unearthed. Dancing followed this program and the terpischorean amusement was enjoyed for an hour. Canoes and boats were placed at the disposal of the merry makers during the latter part of the evening and moonlight trips up and down the rendezvous were enjoyed by all, but two old salts, Bud Kline and Herman Ruppert, who, while manipulating a canoe, had the misfortune to topple over into the icy waters of the lake. When rescued by fellow members who happened to be near at hand the unfortunate youths were shivering from the cold and experienced considerable annoyance during the remainder of the evening with wet clothes. It was finally decided to leave the inexperienced canoeists in the wilds of New Market all night and while their clothes were drying Kline and Rupert slept in Hotel Nelson. The members arrived home about 1:30 this morning.

Those who went on the trip were the Misses Ball, Siggins, Baker, Mills and Shay, and Mrs. Herlich and Mrs. Horner, and Herbert Alberts, Harold and Charles Scarlette, Warren Groff, William Cooper, Herbert Case, Gus Johnson, Paul Phillips, Harry Uhler Bill Higgins, Al Bowlby, Ralph Auerbach, Ernest Bird, Al Renninger, Al Herlich, Bud Kline, Herman Ruppert and Jack Horner.

PERSONAL.

The Misses Evelyn and Lillian Johnston and Angie Whittman, of Leland avenue, are the guests of Mrs. Joseph Newton, of Coontown.

Henry Garrett and family, of Grove street, have moved to Toronto, Canada.

Mrs. Fred Porter, of this city, is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Mary Giddes, of Bound Brook.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ferguson, of this city, have returned home from a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Hardy, of Hamilton.

A. E. Caffrey and family of 423 John street, have removed to 360 Sumner avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. VanWinkle and son, John H. VanWinkle, Jr., of Duer street, have gone on a two weeks' vacation to Lake Hopatcong.

THE "FLY-BY-NIGHTS."

Attention has been called to the unfair competition created for the permanent business man in this city by the short term fake sales people which visit the town, hire a store for a few days or weeks, and then put out all sorts of poor merchandise under false pretenses. When the number of gullible people becomes small, these merchant-pirates pack up what they have been unable to unload in this city, and move on to some other place, where the program is repeated. Sometimes a local auctioneer is hired, to give the sale respectability, and at other times glaring and false advertising plastered all over the store windows is depended upon to attract the "easy marks."

It might be well, as has been suggested, for the Plainfield Business Men's Association to prosecute one of these fellows for the fake advertising they do. The Newark Star sums the situation in that city up, when it says:

The nuisance of the "fly-by-night" dealer who temporarily occupies vacant stores in business centres to conduct fake bankrupt, fire and auction sales has afflicted Fifth avenue, New York, for some time. The storekeepers of the avenue have an association which recently began operations to stop the nuisance and has already driven out a number of the fakers. They have been enabled to do so by invoking the new law in New York against false advertising, which applies to all kinds of business misrepresentation. The nuisance of the "fly-by-night" dealer may also be eliminated by the combined efforts of the Common Council license committee and legitimate business men. These fakers should be kept out of Newark and the owners of vacant stores should help the reform by refusing to let their places for temporary periods to non-residents.

It is equally as important that the "fly-by-night" dealers be kept out of Plainfield, and owners of vacant stores can do their full share to help legitimate business by doing as the Star suggests be done in Newark.

POLITICAL NEWSPAPERS.

The days of the political newspaper are gone. This has been demonstrated time and time again, but never more conclusively than has been the case during the last nine months at Asbury Park. There The Evening Press has been in existence for many years, and while leaning toward Democracy, has given the people of the city a live, newsy sheet, hitting whatever was wrong, and boosting those whom they believed to be right. The paper was giving service such as seldom is given in a community the size of Asbury Park.

Last October, the Asbury Park Times was started by a number of local business men interested in the Republican party. It had a splendid plant, good news service, and was in the hands of a capable business and editorial staff at the start. The Press went on in its usual manner, strengthening the news service a bit perhaps, but doing everything else as they had been doing it before. The Times owners continued to take an active part in the management, instead of leaving it to the practical newspaper men whom they had employed, and it is said, as a result, to have lost money from the first day. Last Saturday it expired quietly, after vain efforts had been made to unload the sheet on other newspaper men, the original founders being willing to take a full loss of what they had put into it, provided the purchasers would assume the debts.

In the face of the strongly financed opposition the Press has increased its circulation and also its advertising rates, the latter by ten per cent, it is said. It is only another evidence that where a newspaper is serving its public honestly and is not permitting political bias to creep into the news columns the people will stick to the independent sheet every time.

Proper legislation to lessen the fire loss is being sought by the National Association of Manufacturers, and a suggestion made in "American Industries" which is published by the organization, would, if carried out have a great influence toward minimizing this evil. Attention is called to the fact that the lax methods of the insurance companies breed many fire bugs who practice arson as a profession. In the introductory statement of a recent report Fire Commissioner Johnson, of New York, said, "The crime of arron is rampant in our city. It is responsible for one-fourth of our fire losses, involving an annual destruction of not less than four million ($4,000,000) dollars' worth of property. Despite all efforts of conscientious public officials, suspicious fires—particularly among certain well defined trades—are on the increase."

In Europe incendiarism does not exist, because fire insurance cannot be obtained without previous investigation of property, and close inquiry into character of all applicants. Fire insurance companies should stop the indiscriminate granting of policies and thus cut off the main motive for arson.

Buffalo the tenth city in size in the United States, will be the next great community to decide the commission government question, for the matter is to be put to a popular vote at the November election. Pittsburg is the only city larger than Buffalo in the United States that is now under the new form of government, under which the election will be held. The act provides that if adopted there shall be a city commission of five members, who in addition may perform the duties of the Board of Health, or may delegate these upon the mayor or a commissioner of health. Several years ago a "public opinion" vote was taken in Buffalo which was heavily in favor of the commission plan, but until this year the necessary legislative sanction has been missing. Hence it is reasonable to assume that the change will be made at the November election. One by one the cities are falling in line, and it will probably only be a matter of a few years when the mayor and council plan will be rare in all communities, Plainfield included.

We are in receipt this morning of a letter signed "Katharine Smith." We have every reason to believe that the name is fictitious, however, as no address is given and the only person of that name in the city directory disclaims the authorship. We cannot print the letter without the writer making herself further known to the editor of the Daily Press. Signed communications by persons who are known to us are always printed, but in this case, as the letter will undoubtedly start a discussion, we must insist upon further identification.

"The Sherman Act and the Labor Unions" will be the subject of the contributed editorial for tomorrow's Daily Press, and the subject has been handled in a broad and able manner by the writer, Richard Boardman, a well known local man, with law offices in Jersey City. Mr. Boardman's remarks on the subject will gain for him praise from both the laboring man and the fair-minded citizen.

CHURCH SOCIETY GIVES FESTIVAL AND ENTERTAINMENT

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Peter's Lutheran church held a successful strawberry and ice cream festival in the church parlors last night. In conjunction with the affair the Young People's Society gave a pleasing entertainment. The program began with an organ recital by Miss Edith Richter. The choir then sang "The Lost Chord." The feature of the program was a play entitled "Aunt Bomby's Going to Mawrau." The three parts were successfully taken by Miss Anna Moldenke, Oscar Heinold and Carl Klotz. Miss Moldenke played the leading part very well.

The fourth number on the program was a song, "Just a Wearying for You," by Mrs. Alfred Seidel, accompanied by Miss Richter. Emil Hoos gave a pleasing recitation, "A Trip to the Zoo," which portrayed a stuttering chap inviting his sweetheart to the Zoo. The program was concluded with a song by the entire church choir. The entertainment committee consisted of Emil J. Hoos, chairman, and the Misses Anna Moldenke and Sophie Farber.

THE FORUM

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

Press reports say that the Association of Police Chiefs is going to oust William J. Burns, the "famous" detective, because of his activities in the Leo Frank case.

Is this not the same gentleman who but recently "unearthed" the "gigantic" conspiracy to dynamite the whole of the United States, and who was instrumental in sending many labor leaders to jail?

We believe he is. And we remember also that when at that time the labor press of the country was denouncing the dirty tactics of the above mentioned gentleman, he was defended as the Savior of the country and made the hero of verses.

How interestingly amusing is the change of mind of his former defenders since Mr. Burns used the same tatics against the judicial machinery of a State bent upon revenge.

When he was hounding labor leaders he was a fearless champion of truth and a national hero, now he is a scoundrel and a blackguard, and from a pedestal of fame is unceremoniously thrown into the mire of infamy.

FLOAT ARMOUR YACHT.

Weymouth, Eng., June 19.—Tugs today floated the American yacht Utowana, belonging to Allison V. Armour, of the New York Yacht Club, which went ashore Thursday at Chapman's Pool, between Norbarron and St. Alean's heads. The yacht afterwards proceeded to Southampton under her own steam.

SOME SIGNS OF ADJOURNMENT.

Washington, June 19.—The big supply bills will be out of the way in two weeks and then Congress can sit up and begin to figure intelligently on adjournment. This was the information brought to the White House today by Representative Underwood, who had a long conference with the President.

HERE AND THERE

Flag Day which was observed Sunday had a special significance to many Plainfielders, especially Joseph Bogert, of East Ninth street, for the reason that it was LeRoy VanHorn, known to many here, that was the author and founder of the day. He was born October 28, 1842, at Delaware, Ohio, and died in Chicago in February, 1907. He was a fifer in the 18th U. S. Infantry, and was prominent in the Civil War Musicians' organization of which Mr. Bogert is a member. The latter and Mr. VanHorn were close personal friends, and in referring to the recent celebration, Mr. Bogert recalled the deep interest Mr. VanHorn always had for the movement which spread throughout the country.

TURKISH REPLY CONCILIATORY

London, June 19.—Advices from Constantinople say that the reply of the Turkish Government to the Greek note is conciliatory. Servia has warned the Porte that she would not be able to remain on friendly terms with Turkey in the event of a war with Greece.

"SPORTDOM TIPS"

Even his own teammates declare that Dan Denny didn't have anything but a glove with him Wednesday afternoon, but you've certainly got to hand it to the little fellow for getting away with it. Lobbing the ball over the pan in a listless fashion Denny had his own captain worried. Smalley declared afterwards that he didn't see what his pitcher had on the ball to keep the Plainfield swatsmiths biting, but they were held pretty well in check by the youngster at that.

Considering the two appearances Denny has made on the mound in the all-important series he has worked wonders. In nineteen innings the best P. H. S. could do was to score one run at his expense. Going in as a rescue artist in last Saturday's game he shut the locals out for ten rounds, then came back by holding them to one counter Wednesday.

We might aver at this time that several changes would be made in the picking of a second all-star interscholastic league team. Those who were favored in our first picking have been overshadowed in some cases by other luminaries who have leaped into prominence suddenly.

Although defeated on the mound Don Sminck deserves all the credit that his fellow teammates see fit to shower on his head. Twirling superior baseball and using his head in the pinches, something no other schoolboy pitcher in this section does, Sminck played his role single handed. He was not given the support his grand work merited and to this may be attributed his downfall. It's pretty hard to lose the final game of your schoolboy career and Don felt it more than any other individual on the field.

In giving credit to whom credit is due we must not forget Tommy Mullin. Although he occupied an inconspicuous place on the sidelines Tommy was in every play the North Plainfielders made and to him must be attributed a large amount of the credit for the boroughites' great showing. His training has made a real ball nine out of a stack of raw material and without Mullin at the helm it is one safe bet that the Collier trophy would be resting on the Plainfield bookshelves today.

News item—Class motto of the Rutherford High School this year is "Watch your step." Evidently another phase of the indoor sport question.

It is proverbial in baseball that bow-legs make great ball players. Bennie Rosenson's slightly bowed shins and his general playing ability are assets that may some day place him in the big leagues.

Taken as a whole this has been a rather disastrous year to P. H. S. in major sports. Taking a baseball and basketball title the same year is rubbing it in pretty strong on North Plainfield's part.

Warren Butler has been declared the winner of the Yale cup in the Plainfield High School this year. This is a high honor for any athlete to reap during his scholastic career and congratulations are now in order for the chunky red and blue athlete.

Some adverse criticism is going the rounds in regard to the awarding of that Hirsch-Mann trophy. Many there are who think that Rosenson is entitled to the honor and their contentions appear to be rightly based. Stahl was plainly sent into the game Wednesday for the express purpose of having another contest recorded opposite his name. His advent into the field did not come until after two outs had been scored in the ninth and it was pretty nearly certain at that time that he would not get an opportunity to be charged with a time at bat.

FIRST GAME A WIN FOR LOCAL COPPERS

Beat Perth Amboy in Opening Game of the Season at That Place.

Pounding out twenty-one hits at the expense of Perth Amboy's big league battery on the Atlantic League grounds, yesterday afternoon, the Plainfield patrolmen's baseball nine opened its season auspiciously by taking the rival aggregation into camp with a 19 to 8 count. The fusilade of Plainfield runs came across the pan in the opening rounds and during the latter part of the contest the rival sides performed in a tight fashion, few of the counters simmering across the platter.

Hard hitting and some good fielding featured the work of the local aggregation and their performance in the opening contest of the season was encouraging to those who have been busy with the practice work. A home run in the fourth session by Connie McCarthy, the exponent of the famous Queen City linament, was one of the brilliant spots in the afternoon's play. Teammates and rivals spent some valuable time in an effort to discover the nature of the concoction being applied by the hefty backstop but with futile results. The linament did a whole lot for McCarthy's bingling and he was reluctant to let the name of it get out.

Hayle twirled an excellent game for the locals, allowing but three hits and mowing down nine of the opposing side. He was particularly strong in the pinches and when men occupied the sacks he was invariably master of the situation. Clueney, a former New England Leaguer, played behind the bat for the home coppers. The bluecoats from this city made the trip to Amboy via Ted Martin's auto bus.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LEAGUE STANDING AND SCHEDULE

Hope chapel has an opportunity to climb into first place in the Sunday school Baseball League tomorrow afternoon in the event of a victory over the First Baptist aggregation. At the present time Hope and Monroe are tied for the top rung and the Chapelites' victory will put them out in the front.

A defeat, however, will give Monroe the undisputed possession of the top rung and place Hope second. A win for the Baptists will do little as far as raising it a rung is concerned. Tomorrow's contest will be waged on the West End avenue field.

Y. M. C. A. PLANS FOR OPEN TENNIS TOURNEY

The entries for the Y. M. C. A. Tennis Tournament, beginning July 1, will close June 25. All those desiring to enter must give their names to F. O. Dunning, chairman, 42 Mountain avenue, or at the Y. M. C. A. building. There are no restrictions on the entrants. The entry fee is 50 cents for the singles and $1 for the doubles. At least thirty-two must enter the tournament. The games will be played on local courts about town according to the convenience of the players. The cups will be awarded to the winners of the singles and the winners of the doubles will receive sets of tennis balls.

BOYS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION ELECTS OFFICERS FOR 1915

The Boys' Athletic Association of the North Plainfield High School, at its final meeting this morning, elected DuClos VanMater manager of next year's basketball team, and Roscoe VanCamp, '15, was chosen to manage the baseball nine. Manager Charles Beckman presented his baseball report and it showed that this season has been the best financially in the history of the school.

A purse of $75 has been made up for Tommy Mullin and forty of this was voted by the association. The champion baseball team will receive silver baseballs from the athletic association as an appreciation for good work this season. At a meeting of the baseball squad Captain Smalley was re-elected to that position by a unanimous vote.

WILL CHANGE NAME.

The baseball team that has been playing under the name of the Netherwood A. C. has decided to change its title because there are other teams that have adopted a similar one. This team will be known from now on as the Highlanders. The manager would like to hear from all teams averaging 18 to 20 years for Saturday and Sunday games. All communications should be sent to William Dodd, Jr., 1132 East Second street.

NEWTON-ARNOLD DUO PLAYS WELL

Many Witness Feminine Bowling Contests on Dunellen's Alleys.

The interest in the games of the Woman's Two Team Bowling Tournament on the Presbyterian alleys in Dunellen, continues unabated, another large gatherings lining both sides of the alleys at last evening's games. Mrs. H. B. Arnold and Mrs. J. Newton Apgar, of the Arnold-Apgar combination were in great form, obtaining the excellent average team score of 233 for the four games that they bowled and winning these games, with the exception of the last game when they only defeated the Stryker and Eckerson duo by two pins, by decisive scores. The Stryker and Eckerson team broke even winning two games from the Mrs. W. G. Smith and Miss F. Smith combination and losing two games to the Arnold and Apgar team. The Mrs. W. G. Smith and Miss Florence duo had a bad night of it losing all four games in which they participated. Mrs. H. B. Arnold took the high individual score away from Mrs. Fred S. Vail when she bowled the pins over for the splendid score of 143 in the team's second game with the Arnold and Apgar duo.

FAVORITES JOLTED IN PLAY FOR TITLE

Plainfield Country Club Singles Arousing Considerable Interest.

Several surprises have occurred in the playing of the second and third rounds of the Plainfield Country Club's feminine singles championship which has been in progress for several days. Yesterday's matches brought out considerable enthusiasm and favorites were treated to rude jolts during the afternoon. Miss Barbara Fleming, one of the most likely aspirants for the title, was defeated in an exciting series that lasted for nearly two hours, by Miss Riley. In the third round the play between Mrs. W. B. Tyler and Miss Elsie Goddard was the most interesting.

The results of the matches played in the second round are as follows: Miss Elsie Goddard defeated Miss Louise Patterson, 6-0, 6-4; Mrs. W. B. Tyler defeated Miss Muriel Ashwell, 6-1, 6-4; Miss Dorothy Burke defeated Miss Harriet Goddard, 6-1, 6-4; Miss Marion Brown defeated Miss Elsie Burke, 6-0, 6-2; Miss Florence Stuart defeated Mrs. Donald McGee, 6-2, 6-4; Miss Mary Runkle defeated Mrs. F. C. Osbourne, 6-2, 6-2; Miss Madeline Ashwell defeated Miss Gertrude Butler, 6-2, 6-1; Miss Edna Riley defeated Miss Barbara Fleming, 3-6, 6-2, 9-7.

Third round—Mrs. W. B. Tyler defeated Miss Elsie Goddard, 6-0; Miss Marion Brown defeated Miss Dorothy Burke; Miss Florence Stuart defeated Miss Mary Runkle, 6-1, 6-0. Miss Madeline Ashwell plays Miss Edna Wildey this afternoon.

In the fourth round and semi-finals Mrs. W. B. Tyler plays Miss Marion Brown, Miss Stuart plays the winner of the match between Miss Wildey and Miss Ashwell. The finals will be played tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

DOCTOR-LAWYER CLASH TOMORROW AFTERNOON

Something New in National Game is Promised to Local Fans.

Everything is in readiness for the wonderful baseball game between the Plainfield Doctors and Lawyers at Parker Field tomorrow afternoon. Final rehearsals have been held, poultices, linaments and masseurs have been discarded, old and stiffened joints have been well lubricated and the war is about to begin. Courts have been adjourned for the day, suits of a civil nature have been discontinued and the sick have recovered astonishingly. The field has been well groomed, the committees have worked long and faithfully and the commissary department is prepared to refresh the multitude that will attend.

The keenest rivalry exists between the two teams, and several members of each club have, after prolonged conditioning, developed a style of play that has not heretofore been seen in this city.

Owing to the soreness of the nose of one of the doctors, it is thought that he will not catch any long flies this year.

The umpires have armed themselves appropriately for the occasion, and the ambulance and nursing departments will be ready to cope with any emergency that may fall to their lot. Entertainers have been provided to cheer your souls and a dull moment will not be known. The horse play will be well distributed throughout the afternoon and the committee promises that it will eclipse anything ever heretofore attempted.

WESTFIELD ENTRANT.

C. B. Wilcox, of the Westfield Golf Club, is one of the competitors in the invitation tournament being contested over the links of the Apawamis Club. In the second sixteen, yesterday, he returned a score of 84, 87-171.

SETTLEMENT OF PITTSBURG STRIKE GETS SET BACK

Pittsburg, June 19.—Prospects for the settlement of the Westinghouse strike received a set back late yesterday when a committee of the men met with President Herr, of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company. Before any of the points in the dispute were discussed Mr. Herr informed the committee that he could not deal with it because it was formed entirely of union men and the committee departed. Another reason Mr. Herr gave for not treating with the committee was that it was not made up exclusively of Electric Company employes. He explained that the four companies are not handling the situation as a unit. Arrangements are being made for committees to meet the heads of the other three companies.

WILL GO TO LAKE.

The Plainfield Motorcycle Club will engage in a weekly run Sunday to Lake Hopatcong. The riders will meet at Jack Horner's store on Somerset street at 8 o'clock and will take the route running through Springfield, Morristown and Dover. Dinner will be served at the Netcong Hotel in Lake Hopatcong.

DR. WILLIAMS TO PREACH.

Rev. Dr. Leighton Williams, of New York, will preach in the First Baptist church, both morning and evening, on Sunday. Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, the pastor, has gone to Boston to attend the Northern Baptist convention. He will return next week.

I. W. W. Leaders Tell How Workers Wrecked Machines.

EASY TO CRIPPLE PLANT

Secretary of Paterson I. W. W. Refuses to Commit Himself on Whether or Not Strikers Would Be Justified In Blowing Up a Mill—Blames Detectives For Trying to Wreck Trains.

Paterson, N. J., June 19.—Edward Zurcher, secretary of the Paterson I. W. W., admitted at the last hearing here of the federal industrial relations committee on the silk strike that sabotage had been practiced by weavers in the silk mills and that he thought it was permissible to go to almost any length to gain a point. He refused, however, to commit himself on whether or not strikers would be justified in blowing up a mill.

A workman with a desire for a day off would get it, said Zurcher, by dropping a screwdriver in the machinery of his loom. It would be easy for a workman to cripple an entire plant for days by merely dropping emery dust in the oil cups of the shaft bearings.

Before the strike was called, Zurcher said, a meeting was held to decide whether or not the mills should be put out of business so that strike breakers could not use them for a week or more. The weavers decided finally to leave the machinery alone.

Zurcher gave some interesting statistics about the amount earned in silk mills now and a decade ago. He said that ten or twelve years ago he used to earn $25 or $30 a week, but that now the average wage is $15 or $16. The difference is due, he said, to the system of fining employees and so reducing their pay; also the machines break down oftener, and the quality of goods turned out is inferior to that of ten years ago.

The statement of Prosecutor Michael Dunn that I. W. W. members tried to wreck three Erie trains was contradicted by Zurcher, who said that private detectives employed by the mill owners put rocks on the tracks themselves so as to furnish a cause for the prolongation of their jobs.

James Starr, a member of the general board of Textile Workers of America, thought that much of the trouble in the strike was caused by foreigners to whom organization to remedy conditions meant immediate quitting of work.

FOUR ESCAPE FROM JAIL.

Make Their Getaway by Way of Roof of Morris County Prison.

Morristown, N. J., June 19.—Four men made their escape from the Morris county jail. They were Martin Terry, Timothy McMahon and Thomas Farrell of Paterson. The fourth was Arthur Kingsley of Dover, who was in jail on a disorderly conduct charge.

The men broke through a door into the hallway of the jail and then, climbing through a trapdoor to the second floor, made their escape by way of the roof. Some residents of Western avenue, who saw the men on the roof, telephoned to police headquarters, and the alarm was given at the courthouse. By that time, however, the men had made good their escape.

EGAN MUST SERVE TIME.

Hudson County Collector to Begin One to Seven Years' Term.

Trenton, N. J., June 19.—The court of errors received the mandate of the United States supreme court that former County Collector Stephen M. Egan of Hudson county be brought here to begin the serving of his sentence of one to seven years' imprisonment.

Egan was convicted of using $32,000 of the funds of Hudson county, which he lent to Bob Davis, the Democratic county boss. Sheriff Weden of Hudson county will bring Egan to the jail here as soon as he receives the remittitur from the court of errors, which probably will be within a day or two.

ORDERS CLEAN ERIE WINDOWS

Another Road Is Warned by State Public Commission.

Trenton, N. J., June 19.—The board of public utilities commission of New Jersey ordered the New York, Susquehanna and Western Railroad company to clean and keep and maintain in a reasonably cleanly condition the outside of each passenger car, including windows, in this state. The order becomes effective on July 6.

H. P. Dilliston of Ogdensburg on May 1 complained to the utilities board that for a number of trips he found that the windows of the cars of the railroad were very dirty.

A similar order has been entered in the case of the Erie railroad.

Fresh attractive curtains improve the appearance of a room greatly, and simple ones made of fine white handkerchief linen, lawn, batiste, swiss or fine scrim are cool looking. Embroidered panels, connected by strips of Cluny lace insertion, make very good looking curtains.

The sprays, illustrated here, are 17 inches long by 6½ inches wide and the pattern contains four of them. They are suitable for use on curtains, sideboard-covers, bureau-scarfs, lingerie pillows and sheets. Solid work, Wallachian stitch and eyelets may be combined effectively in carrying out this design.

Guaranteed, hot-iron transfer pattern will be supplied to readers upon receipt of price, 15 cents.

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

8133

One of the nifty short coats that are so economical as well as modish is shown in this design 8133. It may be made in either kimona or drop shoulder style. The back extends over the shoulders to form a yoke in front and there is a pointed sash of the material attached to the under-arm seams and knotted in back to hold in the fullness. There is an upstanding Medici collar which may also be turned down and an elbow length sleeve which may be made in full length if desired. Moire, cloth or taffetas could be used with this design, making the inset vest of white pique, flowered tapestry or cote de cheval. The coat closes with two large buttons and by way of ornament, it is attractive to bind the two large buttonholes with silk instead of working them in the regular way. The waist may be closed with tiny links made of small novelty buttons joined with a cord or twisted silk. This coat may be made in size 36, with 2⅛ yards of 42-inch material. The pattern comes in five sizes, 34 to 42.

This is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to give right size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions. It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

Some Cookery Suggestions

RHUBARB PUDDINGS.

DINNER MENU.
Vegetable Soup.
Corn and Cheese Souffle.
Asparagus Salad.
Steamed Rhubarb Pudding.
Half Cups of Coffee.

RHUBARB makes wholesome and appetizing puddings. These may be baked or steamed and served with pudding sauce or cream. A few specially nice puddings are suggested.

Individual Desserts.

Rhubarb Puffs.—Cream one cupful of sugar, and two tablespoonfuls of butter. Add to two well beaten eggs one-fourth cupful of milk, one teaspoonful of baking powder and flour to make thick batter; then stir in one cupful of finely chopped rhubarb. Half fill well buttered baking dishes and steam for half an hour. Serve with sauce.

Rhubarb Betty.—Cut rhubarb in pieces, put a layer of it in a pudding dish, cover it with sugar and then put in a layer of bread and butter. Add alternate layers of fruit and bread until the dish is full. Cover and bake half an hour, remove the cover and bake ten minutes longer. Serve with a hot sauce of any desired flavor.

Batter Pudding.

Steamed Rhubarb Pudding.—Take a quart of cut rhubarb and put in a buttered two quart pan; cover with a cupful of sugar and pour over it a batter made of one cupful of sweet milk, one egg, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, a pinch of salt and flour. Steam two hours. Serve hot with cream and sugar.

Rhubarb Cobbler.—Make a dough with two cupfuls of flour, two tablespoonfuls butter, two teaspoonfuls baking powder, one-half teaspoonful salt, about one-half cupful of milk and line a baking dish with this. Fill the dish with one quart of chopped rhubarb and two cupfuls of sugar mixed with a tablespoonful of flour. Cover with rest of dough and bake until rhubarb is tender. Serve with cream.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — Why the Rabbit Was Named Pigeon.

"You are paying me a compliment."

DADDY had just heard of the strange adventures of a certain little bunny rabbit, and he asked Jack and Evelyn how they would like to hear about them.

"I think a bunny's adventures are always very interesting and unusual," said Jack.

"A certain little bunny named Pigeon"— commenced daddy.

"A bunny named Pigeon!" shouted both the children at once. "Now, daddy, why was a bunny named Pigeon?" And daddy said:

"You see his mother was very friendly with Mrs. Pouter Pigeon. There had been a time when Mrs. Pouter Pigeon had hurt her left wing, and she hadn't been able to fly. She cried and cried when this happened, and Mother Rabbit, who was very kind hearted, hurried to her right away.

"'Why, what is the trouble, Mrs. Pouter Pigeon?' said Mother Rabbit.

"'Oh,' sobbed Mrs. Pouter Pigeon, 'I have fallen and hurt myself terribly! I won't be able to get out of the reach of bigger animals who may want to eat me up, and I don't want to be eaten up.'

"At that she burst into more sobs.

"'Well, to tell you the truth,' said Mother Rabbit, 'I don't believe there is a creature living who wants to be eaten up. But you come and live with us, and I will see that you are protected.'

"So Mrs. Pouter Pigeon went to live with Mother Rabbit. They became very friendly and attached to one another.

"And then when the little bunny rabbit was born his mother said, 'Now I shall name him Pigeon after you, Mrs. Pouter Pigeon.'

"And Mrs. Pouter Pigeon strutted about and said, 'You have not only saved my life by having me come and live with you, but now you are paying me a fine compliment.'

"And you know the pouter pigeons love to be flattered. In fact, a little praise is good for every one.

"But I haven't told you about little Pigeon's adventures," said daddy. "One day when it was nice and sunny and warm he thought he would go for a walk. So off he started, and it was not long before he found the most wonderful clover field. He took home just quantities of the clover, enough to enable his mother to give a dinner party and invite all her friends to it, and he left enough in the field so they could come back for more."

"But, daddy," said Evelyn, "he didn't get into trouble that time?"

"No," said daddy. "I told you of that adventure because one without trouble would be such a surprise."

AN IDEAL CITIZEN OF PLAINFIELD.

(By John Joseph Veghte Powelson.)

A citizen of Plainfield is, primarily, a person who is a resident of this city no matter if the person is man, woman or child. Many people do not consider the fact that women and children as well as men, are citizens. Every person living in Plainfield, whether he is working for the good of the city or not, is a citizen of Plainfield. There are several kinds of citizens: Indifferent persons, who are not at all interested in the welfare of the city; selfish persons who are willing to enjoy all the privileges and comforts offered by the city, yet are unwilling to do anything in return; careless persons who do not give any thought to the matter, and the well-meaning person who tries to be as useful a citizen as possible. What are the necessary conditions which must be fulfilled for a person to be an ideal citizen?

First, we will consider the man. Every good citizen must be law-abiding. When the city passes certain laws, the residents should accept and keep them, whether they are or are not in accordance with their ideas of right and wrong.

As every man living in Plainfield must in some way pay taxes, either directly, if a property owner, or indirectly if a payer of rent, each one should make it a matter of business to pay promptly, thus saving the tax department time, trouble and expense. Carefulness on the part of each tax-payer would save quite a large sum of money otherwise paid out for wages for clerks, and for stationery.

After one of the recent city elections, it was estimated that a very large percent of the voters did not show enough public spirit to register for the primaries. Such a condition should not exist. Every eligible voter should use his right and give much serious thought before deciding upon the person for whom he casts his vote. He should allow himself to be influenced by no other consideration than the ability of the candidate.

Ex-president Roosevelt says, "Inasmuch as there are equality of rights in this country there should also be an equality of duties.' In every city there are many well educated men of ability who have much leisure time, but who will not run for any office, or serve on any board or committee which requires much work. On the other hand, there are many who are willing and desirous to hold office, but who are not well enough trained to do so. Therefore, every man who is capable of holding an office or doing anything that will serve the city should do his duty.

Because of the proximity of Plainfield to New York, many people buy all their clothes and merchandise there in order to save a small amount of money. These people, if they should stop to consider, would soon realize that the amount of money saved would be very small compared with the good done by patronizing home trade and by keeping the money circulating in Plainfield. In many cases the persons who trade out of town would not miss the extra money required to buy at home.

Every wide-awake and well meaning citizen should be constantly on the lookout for ideas that will improve the city. This can be done by keeping in touch with the affairs of other cities, by reading good magazines, and by thinking of the city's needs. If a man has an idea which he thinks would be of use to the city, he should be willing to give it to the proper authority.

Somebody has said that a nation's greatness depends not upon the number of inhabitants, but upon the number of educated citizens. Some parents having children attending school believe that children should not be given too much education. This is an erroneous idea and should be abolished. The city has gone to great expense to establish good schools for the children in order to make them good, intelligent citizens, and it is the duty of parents to send them to school as long as possible.

Although under the present circumstances, most of the duties of citizenship fall on the men, yet there are many duties shared by the women. In the home the woman, either mother, wife or sister, has in many cases the power of influencing the men to good or evil. In not a few instances where men have risen to prominence and prosperity, the person who has influenced and encouraged them is found to be the mother, wife or sister. What has been said about home trading, education of children, keeping of the law, can also be said about women.

What can a person under age do towards being a good citizen? He can not vote, pay taxes, or hold office. If the opportunity of obtaining a good education is offered, he should accept it. He should read the newspapers, magaines, keep in touch with the progress of the country, and also keep in touch with the affairs of the city.

In summing up the requirements for an ideal sitizen, we find that a man must: 1, keep the law; 2, pay his taxes promptly; 3, use his right to vote; 4, be willing to hold office; 5, patronize home trade; 6, try to improve city, and 7, to give his children a good education.

A woman must, 1, try to influence the men to do good; 2, teach children to become good citizens; 3, keep the law; 4, patronize home trade and 5, give children good education.

A person under under age must, 1, obtain as good an education as possible; 2, read the newspapers; 3, keep in touch with the affairs of the city and 4, keep the law.

PLAINFIELD'S SCHOOLS AS SOCIAL CENTERS.

(By Elizabeth Gibson Doig.)

Plainfield is now awakening to the fact that she is to play an important part in advancing the wide-spread movement of making the school-house a social center.

Not long ago, the doors of the school-houses were locked for the night when the janitors left for supper. Now, there is a complete change. Instead of closed doors and dark school-buildings, we find life and light in the various rooms which have been opened for use to the general public. Almost every evening, one or more rooms are given up to public lectures, evening classes, social clubs, dramatic clubs, debating clubs, municipal orchestras, grammar school alumni association and political organizations.

At present, in more than one hundred cities of the United States, school-buildings are being systematically used to further the social life of the people. In some places, the social activities are purely educational with public lectures, classes in domestic economy, manual training and gymnastics; in others, it is largely recreational, with singing, dramatics, games and dancing, while in yet others, the school-house is becoming the civic forum for the meeting of various clubs and the discussion of public questions. New York city has taken the lead in developing the social center of the educational and recreational types and Rochester has excelled in establishing social centers of the civic type.

What has Plainfield done? Have you stopped to think that she has made marked progress in all three of these lines of activities? The educational activities of Plainfield's "Social Centers" consist in evening classes, public lectures and branch libraries. During the past winter, evening classes have been held in the Stillman and Washington Schools, while regular monthly lectures were also given for the benefit of the public at large in the Washington School Auditorium on the last Thursday of the month during the fall and winter terms, and a system of neighborhood branch libraries has been established in the schools. These libraries are open from 7:30 to 9 o'clock on Monday evenings in the Washington School and on Friday evenings in the Jefferson School.

The second type of "Social Center" activities is recreational. These extend in various directions, but the most important are dramatic clubs, debating clubs, municipal orchestras, grammar school alumni association and dances. The Washington School is the popular "clubhouse." Here two regular weekly dances are given under the supervision of the Public Recreation Committee. The Friday evening dance is for the colored people and the Saturday evening dance is for the young people of the city. Plainfield is certainly doing her duty by thus opening her schools for recreation hours. Here, under safe conditions and a healthy moral atmosphere, the young people of the city can pass leisure hours which are filled with clean enjoyment. The success of these entertainments is due largely to the untiring efforts of the Public Recreation Committee which has striven to set Plainfield's schools on a "Social Center" basis. From the first, this committee received the cordial support and co-operation of the Board of Education and as a result the recreation work has been and is rapidly increasing. It is only natural to conclude that this movement originated in the Parent-Teachers' Association, for here we find the "home" and "school" representatives who have been working earnestly and harmoniously for the benefit of the comunity at large.

Plainfield's schools have, through the medium of the People's Forum, been able to add civic activities as the third branch of their "Social Centers." This organization is the latest department of the work of the Public Recreation Committee and is held in the auditorium of the Washington School. From this, we see that Plainfield is making a bold attempt to establish the school-house as the civic center of the neighborhood—" a place where citizens of various shades of social, political and religious opinions can meet for discussion on common grounds." The civic activities of these "Social Centers" will certainly spell Improvement to the city. This has been corroborated in the case of Rochester by the following account: "The Rochester type of a social center—civic activities—comes the nearest to creating a real community center of any of the 'Social Centers' thus far attempted, because it has within itself the machinery that is necessary to reform politics and improve the community which the other forms of social centers have not." The reason is this. The educational and recreational activities of school social centers are largely under the direction of the Board of Education while the civic activities have to be carried on by the people themselves since civic work calls for activity and personal expression of opinion. When the Board of Education receives the hearty support of the people in this movement, it will surely succeed.

By thus extending the use of the Plainfield school buildings from a purely educational place for the child to one which is used as a gathering place for adults for self-education, through discussion, recreation and acquaintance, we have made them fraternal training places. This, of course, is a thoroughly democratic movement. For, in the midst of the complex life of today, we are beginning to seek a "Community Building" where the neighborly spirit, the democratic feeling, and the common interests are developed. More and more, the "Schools of the People" are becoming "Social Centers for the People" and "by the People."

SUMMIT INTERESTED IN FUTURE OF ARTHUR HOME

Summit, June 19—The report of the New York State Board of Charities, dealing with the affairs of the International Sunshine Society, together with the announcement that the Arthur Home for Blind Babies, in this city, may be closed, has excited interest in Summit. The home here is managed by the society. There are forty-one inmates, and for their maintenance, the society receives $1 a day each. Mrs. Cynthia Westover Alden, president-general of the International Sunshine Society, is in Chicago. The superintendent of the home, Miss Anna Welch, when asked for a statement, declared she had nothing to say, and referred her interviewer to Mrs. Alden.

Several months ago the sanitary condition of the home was the subject of an attack. At that time the Board of Health made a careful inspection of the premises and reported that the place was kept clean and up to date. This was corroborated by the home physician, Dr. David E. English.

It is understood here that the Sunshine Society has sought to obtain from the Arthur Home Corporation a $10,000 bequest that was left to the latter by Horatio Kretchmar, who stipulated that it be used for benevolent work. The Arthur Home had deeded property in Pine Brook avenue to the Sunshine Society for a period of fifteen years, providing that it be used for the care of blind babies, and used this deed as an instrument to check the society's move.

The Arthur Home Corporation is said to have started an investigation to attempt to show that the affairs of the Sunshine Home have been loosely conducted so that the society's right to the land deeded to it may be terminated.

R. F. D. ROUTE EXTENDED TO REACH DUNELLEN

Congressman Scully has been notified that his efforts to have rural delivery route No. 2 from the New Brunswick postoffice extended have been successful. The postoffice department has made an order which will extend this route so that the people near Dunellen will be benefited. The order became effective yesterday.

The route has been extended about three miles. The line is extended, starting at Osborn's and then going northwest to Expositi's and then to Dickinson's and then returning back to the present route. Walter MacDonald is the carrier on this route.

ATTRACTIVE PROGRAM FOR LETTER-CARRIERS' PICNIC

The New York Letter Carriers' Association will hold its annual picnic at Schuetzen Park, Union Hill, Saturday and Sunday, July 4th and 5th. The amusements will consist of an exhibition of fireworks open-air performances, baseball, New York Letter Carriers vs. Stations H and I of New York Prize bowling for ladies and gentlemen, and numerous other attractions throughout the Park. There will be continuous dancing from 3 P. M. on two large platforms. The New York Letter Carriers' Band, under the leadership of Prof. Wm. F. Chave, will furnish the dance music.

The New York Letter Carriers' Drum, Fife and Bugle Corps, under the direction of Drum Major John H. Hagen, will furnish field music selections, and an exhibition will be given by the New York Letter Carriers Sons' Fife and Drum Corps. Invitations have been sent to Postmasters and their official staff, our ex-postmasters, Congressmen, the board of officers of each branch of the National Association of Letter Carriers throughout Greater New York and the State of New Jersey.

W. J. TREMBATH CHOSEN.

William J. Trembath, of Chatham street, the borough, secretary of the New Jersey Poultry Improvement Association, has been designated by that body as official representative to the Government Experimental Poultry Station located at New Brunswick. Mr. Trembath has been associated with the poultry association for some time, and has been quite active in its work.

CHILDREN'S DAY EXERCISES.

The last of the Children's Day exercises in the local churches will be held Sunday morning, when the day will be observed at the First M. E. church. A program of music and recitations by the children of the junior and primary departments has been arranged.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

QUESTION BRYAN ON TREATY PLAN

Secretary Quizzed on Nicaraguan Financing.

SOME ADMISSIONS MADE.

Administration Senator Will Urge President Wilson to Withdraw Colombian Treaty Pending Inquiry. Senator Smith Issues a Peppery Statement.

Washington, June 19.—It has been decided by an administration senator to ask the president and Secretary Bryan to withdraw the Colombian treaty which contains an expression of regret by the United States on account of the Panama revolution.

The senator will urge an investigation by a special committee of the senate into the circumstances giving rise to the claim of the republic of Colombia against the United States. He will try to persuade the president that the treaty will be strengthened before the people and before the senate if an investigation be made into the Panama revolution and the circumstances under which the United States acquired the canal zone from Panama.

Indications are that neither the Colombian nor the Nicaraguan treaty has any show of being ratified at this session of congress. It is probable that representatives of Brown Bros. and the Seligmans, who hold the bonds of Nicaragua and have, it is contended, acquired franchises in that country, will be called before the committee.

Secretary Bryan admitted before the foreign relations committee today that the banker creditors of Nicaragua owned 51 per cent of the stock of the Nicaragua railroad and that they have a mortgage on the remaining 49 per cent to secure a loan of $1,000,000. Mr. Bryan explained that it was very necessary that the treaty with Nicaragua be ratified promptly so that the $3,000,000 which the United States is to pay Nicaragua under the treaty may be promptly paid over and a part of it applied to extinguishing the $1,000,000 mortgage on 49 per cent of the stock of the railroad.

Sharply Questioned.

Senator Sutherland of Utah questioned Secretary Bryan very sharply on this point and brought out the fact that the banker creditors also own a controlling interest in the stock of the Bank of Nicaragua. He obtained from Secretary Bryan the admission that even the foreclosure of the mortgage on the 49 per cent of the stock in the Nicaraguan railroad would hardly add to the complete control which the bankers already exercised over the only important artery of commerce in Nicaragua, because they already owned the controlling interest in the stock.

Secretary Bryan also said, according to members of the committee, that the loan made by the bankers of $1,000,000 on the 49 per cent of the stock of the Nicaragua railroad had been recognized and validated by the state department, which is now conducting the affairs of Nicaragua by the aid of military forces and administering the customs.

Senator William Alden Smith issued a peppery statement after the committee adjourned, in which he charged that Nicaragua was overrun with American office holders, who had been forced upon the payrolls as the result of the American intervention there. He forced an admission from Secretary Bryan in the course of the hearing that there was an unpleasant situation of this kind there, which Mr. Bryan described as another "heritage from the last administration," but which he thought could be cured if the senate would only ratify the treaty he had submitted. Senator Smith's statement, given to the press, was as follows:

"I assert without any hesitation that the salary roll of American employees in the republic of Nicaragua will exceed $100,000 a year, and I wouldn't be surprised if it was $150,000, these salaries being paid to Americans under pressure of our government by the impoverished government of Nicaragua."

NO SURRENDER, IS PLAN OF U. S.

Refuses to Yield to Huerta Delegates.

VILLA HAS BIG TERRITORY

Justice Lamar Issues a Statement, Which Is Refusal to Withdraw From Original Stand That a Rebel Must Be New Provisional President.

SALIENT POINTS IN AMERICAN REPLY.

The Constitutionalists are the dominant party in Mexico.

The choice of a Constitutionalist as provisional president is the only plan which promises peace.

The acceptance of a neutral, which is the Huerta delegates' plan, would not stop the progress of the victorious rebel army.

It would be impossible to find a man of prominence in Mexico who is really neutral in the conflict. If such a man were found he could scarcely be called a patriot.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 19.—The reply of the American delegates to the note issued by Huerta's envoys was made public. The salient point of this message is that the United States government does not yield an inch from its demand that a Constitutionalist be appointed provisional president of Mexico.

The statement, which was issued by Justice Lamar, explains that in the opinion of the Wilson administration no man will be able to restore peace in the southern republic who is not acceptable to the Constitutionalists. This faction, it says, is not only in numerical majority, but is now the dominant force in the country.

Justice Lamar and Mr. Lehmann, speaking for President Wilson, declare that the followers of Carranza are almost completely triumphant and that they therefore must have the last word in the selection of a new head for the Mexican government.

Replying to the Huerta representatives' demand for a neutral provisional president the American delegates declare that the selection of such a man would prove a failure inasmuch as only a candidate known to be a sympathizer of the dominant element would be able to meet the demands of the present situation and enjoy the confidence and respect of the entire country.

The Wilson plan, as outlined by Justice Lamar and Mr. Lehmann, is that the elections to be held in Mexico be supervised by representatives of both parties. The delegates promise that all the influence which the United States can legitimately use will be exerted for an honest election. The board which will be appointed to supervise the election will, however, have a Constitutionalist majority.

Carranza Yields.

El Paso, Tex., June 19.—Supreme command of the military, with power to promote or remove officers at will, is the demand of Francisca Villa as the price of peace between himself and Carranza.

That Carranza has yielded is a generally accepted belief, for Carranza is without a personal military following. He is at the mercy of Villa and his troops unless he can rally a sufficient number of men to oppose the former bandit. This is scarcely possible, since there are few, if any, rebels willing to meet Villa in an encounter on the battlefield, and Carranza has been unable to induce one of his military leaders to say that he will accept the generalship which Villa has resigned.

Villa holds all the territory which his army has captured from Juarez south. Carranza is merely a guest in that territory, performing the functions of "chief of the Constitutionalists" only to those who will accept him. Villa declines to be one of these, and Carranza's orders in Villa territory are nil.

No fighting is expected, for Carranza has always realized his weakness in a test of strength with Villa. Having learned that he cannot induce any of the other generals to risk their lives in taking the command that Villa has vacated, Carranza, even his own friends admit, will be forced to accept the *terms of Villa and recognize the ex-*bandit as the supreme chief of the army.

DEATH BEFORE FLIGHT.

Rome, June 19.—Desperate fighting at Durazzo, Albania, for possession of the city was reported in despatches received here.

They declared that the remnant of Prince William's army, which lost 200 dead, 250 wounded and all its cannon in an attempt to advance yesterday against the Mussulman besiegers, was today making a last ditch defense from trenches outside the city.

The fall of Durazzo and the flight or death of Prince William was considered inevitable before night.

New Senator Sworn In.

Washington, June 19.—Escorted by Senator James, John N. Camden was sworn in as a United States senator from Kentucky. Mr. Camden brings the roll of the senate up to ninety-six members again.

LARGEST CLASS IN HISTORY OF BOROUGH HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATED

Twenty-five Awarded Diplomas at Exercises Held in the Plainfield Theatre Last Night—Awards Also Made to Individuals—Class day Program Combined With Commencement.

An audience that packed the Plainfield Theatre to its capacity, last night, attended the simple and impressive exercises conducted by the graduating class of the North Plainfield High School. Combining their class day and commencement program the twenty-five graduates took entire charge of the affair and the main addresses of the evening were given by the valedictorian and salutatorian. In accepting the picture presented by the outgoing class to the school, Supervising Principal Vosseler spoke of the 1914 class as the largest and most brilliant ever turned out by the borough institution.

The main event of the evening, the presentation of the Yale Cup, was in charge of Mr. Vosseler, in the absence of a member of the Yale Club, and the trophy was awarded to Ashley Burner. Various parts of the evening's program were taken by members of the senior class as follows: Class historian, Miss Virginia LaPorte; class poet, Atwood Giddings, and class prophet, Miss Mary Martin. The class will, a humorous document, was read by Franklin Lowe, and Miss Lucile Ewart presented the class gift of the school, the acceptance being made by Mr. Vosseler. On behalf of the class, Frank Dunning, the president, presented Estes Small, the valedictorian, with a large red and gold banner, a trophy given annually by the Parent-Teacher Association to the pupil attaining the highest average in scholarship during his High School course. Several vocal selections were rendered by the High School Glee Club, some sixty voices taking part in the chorus. Dr. Charles M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church, delivered the invocation and the benediction which followed.

Miss Jennie Sears, the salutatorian, took for her subject "Lafayette in the American Revolution," and spoke as follows:

To the Board of Education
To the High School faculty,
To all of our relations
And friends and schoolmates, we Extend commencement wishes
Ten thousand welcomes, too,
With 1914's greetings
To each and all of you.

One of the greatest men whose name has ever been connected with American History, and the second greatest man in the Continental army of the American Revolution was Gilbert Mottier Marquis De Lafayette. Lafayette, as we shall call him, was born in the Castle of Chavagnos France, September sixth, 1757. He was descended from an ancient noble family and grew up in wealth and luxury, receiving a fine education and military training.

He was nineteen years of age when he first became prominent in American History. It was then that he came to this country to help the Americans whom he called "his friends across the sea," fight and win their liberty. While attending a banquet at Metz, he received the inspiration which later on was so faithfully and successfully carried out. The conversation of the dukes and counts around the table had drifted to discussing the American War which was then in progress. The Proclamation of Independence had just reached France and had spread all over the country. Lafayette inquired of the Duke of Gloucester how affairs were progressing in America and learned all he could about the policy, purpose and plan of the war. Before the end of the banquet, the determination to go to America to help had riveted itself so deeply in the mind and heart of this young Frenchman that neither threats, bribes nor laws could turn him from his purpose.

After communicating with Baron De Kalb of Canada and several other men of prominence, he bought and fitted out a vessel at his own expense, and to disguise his purpose, he sailed for London. Here, however, his design was found out, and when his parents heard of it, they forbid him to go to America and issued a "Blettre de cachet" against him. However, after hearing of "White Plains" and the "Retreat across New Jersey," he would not turn back. He left Paris, disguised as a courier and sailed from Spain early in 1777. On the hazardous voyage, he had the guard against English and French vessels sent out for him, but without any interruption, he landed at Georgetown, South Carolina, in April. After presenting his letters of recommendation, he was welcomed at a dinner in his honor where he met General George Washington, and there and then began a friendship which lasted until death.

In consideration of his personal sacrifice, and his offer to serve the Americans at his own expense and without pay, Congress conferred upon him the honor of Major General in the Continental army.

He came at a critical time when the Americans most needed help, and it was through his influence that they were able to make the French Alliance. We read that he figured prominently in the battle of Brandywine and after being defeated, was severely wounded at Chester while trying to rally the troops and join General Washington aid-de-camp, and did everything he could for the commander whom not only he but everyone loved.

The following spring, he joined Washington at Valley Forge. Although the soldiers had borne the untold suffering all winter from cold, hunger and lack of clothing, spring brought glad tidings and relief. Early in March the first French frigate arrived and on her deck, a herald from France proclaimed and armed alliance between his country and the United States. The American army spent that day rejoicing, for it was like a great victory and brought cheer and hope to the hearts of the tired, discouraged soldiers. At Valley Forge it was a day of Thanksgiving, and after the treaty was made cheers for the "King of France," and for "Washington and the Republic" were sounded throughout the ranks.

A little later Lafayette was sent with twelve hundred chosen troops to Barren Hill, a suburb of Philadelphia, to watch the enemy in the capitol. This was the first independent command he had received and the way he executed his trust illustrated his fine character which had early won Washington's respect and deep admiration.

About this time war broke out in France between the French and English, and Lafayette considering it his duty, sailed for home. The American war was now at its height of popularity in France, and the French people received their hero with honors.

A year later Lafayette returned to America in a ship presented to him by the King, and joined Washington at Morristown. With him he brought six thousand troops and a fleet commanded by Rochambean. To the nations of Europe this meant that France was ready to acknowledge and maintain American Independence. At Moristown, Washington planned to attack New York, and had moved his army to Dobbs' Ferry when he received the terrible news of trouble in Virginia. Anticipating a hard struggle at New York, he was bewildered, but the vision of his worthy friend, Lafayette, rose up before him and the doubt and uncertainty were cleared. In four weeks time Lafayette in full command of twelve hundred men was in Virginia, the one great battlefield upon which the war now centred.

Cornwallis and Arnold with five thousand able-bodied soldiers, were first a terror to Lafayette and his poor half fed men, but finally, after watching him as a cat watches a mouse he succeeded in outwitting the confident British commander and pursued him through tobacco plantations, across rivers, over hills and deserted lands until finally, he drove them into Yorktown, and succeeded in keeping him there until Washington arrived with fresh troops.

After the skirmishes at Williamsburg and Jamestown, Cornwallis realized his danger, but nevertheless, in one of his letters to Clinton, he says, "That boy cannot escape me!" However, due to the effort of "the boy" Cornwallis was forced to surrender his army at Yorktown and this ended the Revolutionary War of the United States.

Lafayette seeing no prospect of active service, sailed for France bearing with him the place in the hearts of the American people next to that of Washington.

The names of Stueben DeKalb and Rochambean are associated with honorable mention, but the extraordinary career of the youthful Lafayette is so suggestive of the French Alliance that it is doubtful how that alliance could have been made and maintained if it had not been for him, and his name will always be remembered and honored by the people of America.

The last time Lafayette came to America was in 1824. His long promised visit with joyfully anticipatorate preparations were made for his reception. Everywhere he went, he met grateful people who extended their warmest greetings to one who had done so much for them. He returned to France in 1825 and spent the remaining years of his life happily among his own people until he died in Paris in 1834.

The campaign in Virginia was the

MEDIATION NOW SEEMS FAILURE

Hope for Peace Practically Given up and Outlook is Gloomy.

NOAN AND BRYAN TALK

President Wilson Remains Firm—Conference Nearing an End Unless Some New Plan is Formulated for Amicable Adjustment.

PRESIDENT WILSON FIRM ON DEMAND.

President Wilson informed Dr. Naon, the Argentine member of the A, B, C mediation group, that he stands firmly by the United States demand for a Constitutionalist provisional president to take Huerta's place.

Unless the Huerta envoys recede from their demand for a "neutral" as provisional president it is expected that the mediators will abandon all attempts at reaching a solution of Mexico's internal troubles.

Washington, June 20.—The Niagara Falls mediation conference as a means of bringing peace to Mexico seems to have been doomed at a White House conference attended by President Wilson, Secretary Bryan and Minister Naon of Argentina.

The Argentine diplomat learned that the United States will stand firm in its demand that a Constitutionalist be appointed to the provisional presidency of the southern republic to succeed General Huerta.

He learned that the only hope for the success of mediation lies in the possibility that the Mexican delegates may withdraw their demand that a "neutral" be appointed to the head of the provisional government.

The possibility that the Mexicans will give in on this point is regarded as remote.

Minister Naon conferred with Secretary Bryan for three hours. He came to Washington on the initiative of his diplomatic colleagues and was not expected by the Washington government. His purpose was to make inquiries if the United States would make any alteration in its demand which would open the way for acceptance by Huerta. Mr. Bryan, after a long talk with the minister, which became heated toward the end, suggested that they go together to President Wilson in order to hear from Mr. Wilson himself a final statement of this government's stand.

End May Come Today.

The conferences failed to bring about any change in the situation, and the American government now fears that the end of the undertaking, in so far as the internal differences of Mexico are concerned, may be reached when the American and Mexican delegates hold their next meeting at 5 o'clock today.

The mediation interchanges probably will not be terminated, however. It is expected that at the suggestion of the mediators the scope of the conference will be narrowed to that of adjusting the difficulties existing directly between the United States and the Huerta government, which grew out of the Tampico flag incident and other insults to the United States by federal officials. The continuance of the interchanges on this basis will leave hope for the advancement at any time of proposals which may be formulated by either side for the settlement of the bigger problem.

Mr. Wilson has prepared himself for the failure of the conference by writing a strong statement of the reasons which have animated the United States. He will make this statement public as soon as the interchange is announced. So strong was the president's conviction that the Mexican delegates would reject the plan for a provisional government submitted by the Americans that he prepared his statement before Minister Naon arrived at the White House.

PASSED STATE TESTS.

Collis H. Case, who is employed as a sanitary inspector by the Plainfield Board of Health, was notified today by the State officials that he had successfully passed the New Jersey examination for the position of health officer. He has been employed here for a little over one year and has been pursuing a special course in Columbia University.

ANNUAL SUMMER FESTIVAL.

The Church of Heavenly Rest is holding its annual summer festival this afternoon and evening on Clinton avenue. This afternoon there will be athletic games and refreshments will be served. Tonight the place will be prettily decorated with Japanese lanterns. A platform has been made on which the young people will dance.

LODGE TO ELECT.

Old Glory Council, No. 62, meets tonight in regular session at the Babcock building. Among the matters of business to come before the gathering is the election of officers. The installation will take place Saturday evening, July 4.

By the adoption of a revised honorary membership list, the International Association of Police Chiefs, in convention at Grand Rapids, Mich., dropped the name of Detective William J. Burns. Henry Gallagher of Montclair, N. J., presented the report. At the same time J. L. Beaver of Atlanta attacked Burns, declaring that the "antics" of the detective in the Leo Frank case were a "disgrace to the profession." The chiefs declared themselves in favor of the segregated vice districts.

ASHLEY BURNER GETS THE HIGHEST HONOR

Yale Cup Awarded to North Plainfield High School Basketball Captain.

Ashley Burner, vice-president of the North Plainfield High School class of 1914, was presented with the Yale Cup at the commencement exercises held in the Plainfield Theatre last night. The trophy is an annual award made by the Eli graduates living in this city to the member of the class attaining the highest degree of efficiency in scholarship, athletics and leadership, and the honor in this year's class has been a source of keen competition as stated by Supervising Principal Vosseler in making the award.

During his High School career Burner has become one of the most popular boys in the school and is proficient in athletics and scholastic standing. He captained the basketball team through its championship season this year and has been one of the best players in the Interscholastic League, his work at first base being largely responsible for North Plainfield's triumph in the league race this season.

He has played baseball for three years and basketball for the same number. Burner took a leading part in the athletic association's play this season and has also appeared in several minor productions during his High School course. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Burner, of Jackson avenue.

RECEIVES CALL TO BOSTON CHURCH

Rev. G. R. Maguire Invited to Become Pastor of Ruggles Street Congregation.

NO DECISION REACHED

Popular Preacher Loath to Leave Present Charge—Would Succeed Rev. Dr. A. C. Dixon, Who Has Accepted Call to London Church.

Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire who, for the past five years, has been pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, this city, has just been highly honored by receiving a call to the pastorate of the Ruggles Street Baptist church, Boston, one of the largest and most wealthy in the country. The call came to Mr. Maguire this morning. When questioned by a reporter for the Daily Press as to whether he would accept the call or not, Mr. Maguire said that he had not decided as yet and would make no announcement for the present.

Mr. Maguire added that he had strong ties at the Park Avenue church and was peculiarly attached to Plainfield and its people, while at the same time he appreciated the high honor which had come to him so unexpectedly. A committee from the Boston church came here recently to hear Mr. Maguire, following his recent appearance before the Harvard Brotherhood in Boston, where he made one of his notable addresses.

The Boston church has a membership of 1,000 and a Sunday-school numbering 1,500. Its last pastor, Rev. Dr. A. C. Dixon, has accepted a call to Spurgeon's church in London, leaving the pulpit vacant. There are nine assistants in the Ruggles Stret church. It has had a long list of notable pastors, including the late Rev. Dr. Everett D. Burr, who lived in Plainfield and was graduated from the Plainfield High School. He was pastor of the church from 1890 to 1900.

One of the chief benefactors of the church was the late Daniel Ford, who, when he died left the church $1,215,032.36. This was used to erect the Ford building in Boston and the income is used for church purposes.

Mr. Maguire has a country-wide reputation as a preacher and lecturer. He has been on the circuit of the Chautauqua Circle for several years and has lectured from Maine to California. He is a member of the Plainfield Board of Trade and has taken great interest in civic affairs. He was the speaker at the graduation exercises of Muhlenberg Hospital Training School this year, and was also the orator at the Memorial Day exercises in Reform Hall. Before coming to Plainfield, Mr. Maguire was pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, Cleveland, Ohio. He and his family will sail on Tuesday for Europe, where they will spend a month. Mr. Maguire does not know whether he will decide about the Boston call before he goes away. He is to have a conference with his church officers tomorrow.

BIRTHDAY PARTY GIVEN FOR MRS. MACCLYMONT

Miss Catherine Elizabeth MacClymont, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. MacClymont of Woodbine avenue, celebrated her fourteenth birthday anniversary yesterday and last evening she entertained a company of friends. The young people played games and danced after which refreshments were served. The hostess received many handsome presents including a bracelet from the guests.

CHILDREN'S DAY EXERCISES.

Among the last of the churches to observe Children's Day will be the Park Avenue Baptist church. Tomorrow a program of unusual interest, including both the main school and the elementary department has been arranged. Among the musical features, will be several selections by an augmented orchestra led by Arthur Mosher, and several selections by Emil Closs on his gospel bells. Children, birds and music will add to the attractiveness of the occasion.

BOY THIEVES GIVEN SEVERE SENTENCES

Court Makes an Example of Youths Found Guilty of Petty Larceny.

Michael Brocco, a sixteen-year-old Italian youth, and George Laury, colored, were arraigned before Judge W. G. DeMeza in the city court, this morning, on a charge of stealing lumber preferred against them by Nathan Bloom. The boys pleaded guilty to the offense and were sentenced to pay a fine of $5 or serve twenty days in the county jail.

Brocco and his accomplice were caught stealing lumber from a new building at Fourth street and Plainfield avenue, last Sunday, by Patrolman Craig. When the boys discovered the officer they dropped the lumber and fled. Craig gave chase and when he found that he could not overcome the handicap the youthful crooks had secured on him he fired into the air with his pistol, Brocco dropping to the sidewalk because of fright.

In passing sentence this morning, Judge DeMeza severely reprimanded the boys and explained the heavy sentence by declaring that he intended to put a stop to the petty thievery that is going he rounds in this sections just at present. By making an example of the two culprits arraigned today the court hopes to curtail the practice.

PLAN RECEPTION FOR SCHOOLBOY GOLFERS

Plainfield Country Club Members Will Be Host for Entrants in Tourney.

Entries received to date by the committee in charge of the Metropolitan Junior Golf Championship tournament which will be held on the links of the Plainfield Country Club, Tuesday and Wednesday, indicate that the competitors will outnumber those of last season.

Plans have been made for a reception and dance to be held in the Plainfield Country Club, Tuesday night for the visitors. On the first day, Tuesday, an 18-hole qualifying round will be played in the morning with the contestants divided into classes of eight. In the afternoon the match play will start. The semi-final rounds will be run off in the morning of the second day, and the finals in the afternoon.

Last year the tourney was a big success in every way, and the title was won by Philip Cater, of the Nassau Club, who defeated Stuart D. Connolly, of Dockaway, by 6 up and 5 to play. The order was the exact reverse of the preceding year when Connolly won the event.

FRIDAY IS LUCKY DAY FOR HOAGLAND

New Postmaster Dispells Idea That It is a Day of Evil and Bad News.

Alvin E. Hoagland, recently appointed Plainfield postmaster, has come to the conclusion that Friday is his lucky day, thus blasting ancient traditions that it is the day of evil, the day of hard luck, the day of misery and bad news. Mr. Hoagland was born on a Friday; he started his present business over a score of years ago on a Friday; he received word from the Daily Press that Senator Martine had decided to name him on a Friday; he received notice of his appointment by the postoffice department on a Friday and Friday is the day that most commissions are granted by the government so that the day will continue to be Mr. Hoagland's "luckies."

Realizing a man must have an unlucky day since he has found Friday, which is universally "bad luck" day, to be his lucky day, Mr. Hoagland has picked out Tuesday. Perhaps if Tuesday were most peoples' hard-luck day instead of Friday, there would be more chance for their becoming postmaster.

TWO LOCAL MEN DECLARED GUILTY

Steigmans Conviction a Victory for Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., and Wm. Newcorn.

FACE LONG SENTENCE

Will Probably Be Committed to the Federal Prison by Judge Haight Monday—Prosecution Proves Conspiracy Allegations.

Representing the creditors of Louis and David Steigman, charged with conspiracy and the concealment of assets by the United States Government, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., of the firm of Reed & Hetfield, and William Newcorn, of this city, secured a notable victory in the United States District Court, in Newark, yesterday, when the jury in the case returned a verdic, of guilty after an hour's deliberation. The case took four days for trial and Hetfield and Newcorn assisted United States District Attorney Walter C. Bacon in the prosecution. Following the decision of the jury, Judge Thomas G. Haight, sitting in the case, increased the bail of each of the defendants from $3,000 to $5,000. Sentence will be imposed Monday and the brothers face long terms in the Federal prison.

Louis Stiegman, who lived at 231 East Fifth street and conducted the Surprise Store on West Front street, in December last signed a consent to bankruptcy. After declaring the local man insolvent, B. H. Weinberg, his attorney, conducted a three-days' sale of Stiegman's stock in the store on West Front street and it was shown that the goods were sold far below their actual cost.

It was alleged that shipments were made in 1912 from the Surprise Store in this city to the New Brunswick store, a year or more before Louis was thrown into bankruptcy. Louis Steigman testified that he had received several lots of goods back from his brother which the latter had been unable to dispose of in the New Brunswick store. Theodore C. Wills, agent of the United States Express Company, at New Brunswick, and C. J. Clark, agent here, identified receipts for numerous consignments of goods. . . .

Louis Steigman admitted that he had sought powers of an attorney from creditors prior to a meeting of them so that he could designate a trustee to be elected by hem at the meeing. He also admitted being related to one of the creditors.

CLASS DAY AT ST. MARY'S SCHOOL

Attractive Program Enjoyed by Parents, Friends and Graduates.

The class day festivities of St. Mary's Parochial School were held yesterday afternoon, when many relatives and friends of the class of 1914 were entertained by the graduates, thirty-five in number. They occupied seats on the stage which was attractively decorated for the occasion with a background of daisies, roses and the class colors, blue and white. The girls were dressed in the class colors.

The program opened with a welcome song, "Welcome Sweet Springtime," which was followed with a farce by the boys of the eighth grade. Miss Mary Mack recited the farewell essay and Miss Mary Cumiskey read the class history. The class will was read by Edwin Sullivan, after which the valedictory address was given by Miss Helen Hogan.

One of the features of the progarm was the class prophecy given by Miss Ellen O'Sullivan in which brilliant futures were predicted for the graduates. Honors for excellent work were won by Miss Ellen O'Sullivan, Edwin L. Sullivan, Bernard Sullivan and Joseph Regan. The exercises closed with a short address to the graduates by Father B. M. Bogan and a farewell song entitled "Fare Thee Well Dear Alma Mater."

FORM NEW TENNIS CLUB.

The Hudson Terrace Tennis Club has built anew court on Watchung avenue, at the foot of the mountain. The club has also leased a little building on the property in which to store its equipment. STYLISH RELIABLE

Only a Parrot!

He had just come "over." Seeing an escaped parrot of fine plumage perched on a tree-branch at the entrance of our park, he climbed up to catch it. Just as he put out his hand to seize it, the parrot arched its neck, looked down at him and squaked, "good morning!"

Our friend drew back quickly, took off his hat and said: "Excuse me sur, I thought ye wuz a burd." There's no danger of being deceived by appearances when you buy your Summer Suit at Rothberg's!

Somerville

In the Somerset County Court at Somerville, yesterday, Judge D. H. Beekman revoked the hotel license of Julius J. Lusardi, at Raritan, which had been granted at the April term of court. Recently Mr. Lusardi had the opportunity to sell his hotel property to Michael and Andrew Stabile, the price reported to have been $17,000, and when application was made to the court to have the license transferred to the new owners Judge Beekman was informed that misstatements had been made to him at the time of the granting of the hotel license, and he made a personal examination of the hotel property, and because the hotel did not have the required number of rooms for the care of guests, the license was revoked.

Application was also made yesterday by Nuncio Curcio for the transfer of the hotel license at Raritan from Peter DeLorenzo to him, but Judge Beekman held the matter over for one week. He also laid over for another week the application of Ebo DeLorenzo to have his wholesale license transferred from Somerville to Raritan, as he desired to carry on business at the latter place.

Judge Beekman, however, granted the applications to have the license for the Bernards Inn, at Bernardsville, transferred from Albert W. Fish to George H. Peters, and the license of the Raritan House, at Raritan, from Frank Sisser to Andrew Harcar.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Weill are entertaining for a week Mrs. Mary Hauger, of Northport, and Miss Dorothy Conkling and Miss Eva Erland, of Valley Shian, Long Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alvord have returned from a trip to Honolulu and other points of interest.

Mrs. O. G. Allen has gone to Asbury Park, where she will spend the summer.

A special meeting of the Women's Auxiliary Board of Somerset Hospital will be held at the Engine House next Tuesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

The East Somerville Reformed Chapel will celebrate its second anniversary tomorrow afternoon, at 3 o'clock. This will be combined also with Children's Day exercises in which the pupils will take part. The Rev. Dr. James S. Gardner will address the school.

A concrete house is being erected on North Bridge street, beyond the borough limits. It is being erected for Leo Taussig, of New York city, and is to be of concrete throughout, floors, doors, etc., no wood of any kind being used.

Dunellen & Vicinity

Out of the class of twenty-three eighth grade graduates, according to Principal Guy H. Rentschler, twenty will enter Plainfield High School in the fall.

The engagement of Ernest W. Pierson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lisbon Pierson, of New Market road, to Miss Lillian Cassatt, of Arlington avenue, Plainfield, has been announced.

Taximan H. E. Nelson motored Otis Rinehart, who has been boarding at the Park Hotel, to Dover yesterday, where Mr. Rinehart will take up his residence.

The regular meeting of the board of directors of the Free Public Library was held in the library rooms last evening.

The O. Z. T. Fraternity met for the first time last evening in its new quarters in the Progressive clubrooms.

Miss Josephine Dietz and Miss Ella Hussey, of Brooklyn, were visitors in the borough yesterday.

Jesse Rogers, the popular local magician, has returned from a trip through Long Island and part of Connecticut, during which he filled five engagements for his act, "The Hobo's Dream," one at Meridan, Conn., and the others at Rockville Center, Longbrook, Freehold and Patchogue, all on Long Island.

Oscar Winter, of Hudson, N. Y., who has been visiting George Zink, of North avenue, has returned home.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of John McMahon, of Railroad avenue, to Miss Elizabeth Belle, of Elizabeth.

Mrs. Michael Boyle, of South avenue, was taken in Gus Winter's automobile to Trenton yesterday afternoon, for confinement in the New Jersey State Hospital for the Insane.

A crosswalk is being laid on Lincoln avenue at right angles to the grocery store of Kuldoshes Bros., by Contractor Goldson W. Smalley.

Frank Farrell, the local real estate operator, has sold one of his lots on First street to Frank Mohan, Jr., of this place.

Thomas Briskey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Briskey, of Columbia street, leaves tomorrow night for Pennington, where he will spend a week with friends.

George Block, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Block, of Orange street, has taken a position as stenographer with the importing firm of Herman & Stornback, 21-23 Waverly place, New York city.

C. L. Wahl, Jr., is able to be out again and he hopes that he will soon be able to throw away the cane which he is at present compelled to carry.

John Hill, the proprietor of the Park Stables, was stricken with acute indigestion shortly after noon yesterday. Mr. Hill made a round trip to the camp of the Tidewater Oil Company back of New Market and was sitting in the carriage awaiting the return of the party for the trip back when he was taken ill. Mr. Hill got out of the carriage and fell to the ground unconscious. When he came to he found himself lying in a ditch. He was able to get back into the carriage and complete the trip, after which he went to the home of his sister, Miss Carrie Hill across the street, Dr. Longbotham, who was attending him, having to administer morphine to ease the pain. This morning Mr. Hill was feeling much better and able to be about.

Dunellen has had the distinctive honor during the last five years of having the pupils which she sends to Plainfield High School capture four honor places out of a possible five. In the Plainfield High School graduating class of 1910, Miss Sadie Brower was the honor pupil; in the class of 1911, Miss Meta Pennock; 1912, Miss May Day, and now in 1914, Earl Victorson.

The eighth grade graduating class will meet in the Whittier School at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon to decide as to what disposition shall be made of the funds, about $45, derived from their two short class plays.

The Watchung Water Company has had a telephone installed in its office over the First National Bank. The number of the 'phone is 1276.

Mr. and Mrs. E.L. Field, of Fourth street, tendered a progressive peanut card party last evening for their son Stanley, to the teachers of the local schools. There were fourteen in all present, including besides the teachers, Mrs. George V. VanderVeer, president and vice-president of the Parent-Teacher Association. A very delightful evening was passed at the conclusion of which refreshments were served. Those who won prizes were: Miss Rita G. Brokaw, who was awarded the first prize, and Miss Florence Smalley, who was awarded the second.

The route of the Fourth of July parade which will be submitted by President E. J. Dusel, of the Board of Trade, is as follows: From Washington Park along Washington avenue and New Market road to Center street; from Center street down Prospect avenue to North avenue, thence along North avenue to Madison avenue, thence down Madison to Front street, along Front street to Lincoln avenue, down Lincoln avenue to First street and back along First street to the place of starting Washington Park. Mr. and Mrs. William Bellerejau and Mr. and Mrs. Olney Brown from the entertainment committee. It has not yet been decided as to whether or not the meetings will continue during the summer, although many are in favor of doing so.

Officers were re-elected at the meeting of the Ladies' Sewing Circle of the Willow Grove chapel this week as follows: Mrs. William Sisserson was elected president; Mrs. Edward Evans, vice-president; Miss Anna Scudder, secretary; Mrs. Ernest Wilcox, treasurer; Mrs. Donald G. Darby, chair directress, and Mrs. Louis J. Garda, pianist. The reports of the officers showed that the sewing circle had prospered during the past year. Besides having a surplus in the treasury they have paid for a number of repairs to the chapel.

Dr. H. K. Carroll was in charge of the prayer meeting in the Methodist church last evening.

The weather permitting a strawberry festival will be held on the lawn of Mrs. Fred W. Creesy, on Martine avenue under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild of the Episcopal church during the afternoon and evening of next Tuesday.

ROUNDED UP A GANG OF ALLEGED THIEVES

Detective Sergeant Flynn Took Three Into Custody This Morning.

Detective Sergeant John J. Flynn rounded up a trio of alleged thieves who have been operating in the East End of town with considerable success during the past three weeks, this morning, when he took Walter Jarbensky, Louis Spray and William Mandeville into custody. Jarbensky was arraigned in court this morning, on a charge of stealing ten ducks from John Staats, of Mountain avenue, and gave the police information that led to the apprehension of the other two.

All will be arraigned for hearing Monday morning. Mandeville is a hobo and has been living in barns and fields, but the other two men live in the Netherwood section. All have been paling around together during the past few weeks and efforts will be made to fasten several robberies on them.

PLAYGROUNDS WILL OPEN IN TWO WEEKS

Instructors Engaged for Supervision of Work During the Summer Months.

Plans have been completed for the opening of the playgrounds in this city Monday morning, July 6, and the Commission in charge of the work has engaged four supervisors and two assistants to conduct the local work during the two summer months.

As has been the case during the past four years the schoolyards of the Franklin, Bryant, St. Mary's and Irving Schools will be used and the equipment will be placed in position at once. The instructors selected are as follows: Bryan School, Miss Harriet Moe, supervisor; Franklin School, Mrs. William Nischwitz, supervisor, Miss Mildred Brownlee, assistant supervisor; St. Mary's School Miss Helen George, supervisor; Irving School, Miss Ruth Wean, supervisor, and Miss Marion Wean, assistant supervisor. Miss Moe has been connected with the local work for four years and Mrs. Nischwitz and Miss Ruth Wean was assistant at the Irving School last year.

NO SUNDAY BASEBALL.

Despite many rumors to the contrary, Joe Alberts, promoter of Sunday baseball in Scotch Plains, stated last night that he would make no further efforts to revive the sport in that hamlet this year. During the past two weeks Alberts has been unsuccessfully endeavoring to secure a field and a report got into circulation that he intended to start his schedule tomorrow.

A HEAVY BURDEN.

A Bad Back Makes Life Miserable For Many Plainfield People.

A bad back is a heavy burden.

A burden at night when bedtime comes.

Just as bothersome in the morning.

Ever try Doan's Kidney Pills for it?

Know they are for kidney backache—and for other kidney ills?

If you don't, some Plainfield people do.

Read a case of it:

Mrs. Anthony Wahl, R. F. D. No. 1, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I had such distressing pains in my back that I could hardly stand and it was out of the question for me to stoop. I was all crippled up and I knew perfectly well that my kidneys were the cause of the trouble. A neighbor recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to me and on her suggestion I used them. They gave me almost immediate relief and three boxes changed me from a chronic sufferer to a healthy woman. I still take Doan's Kidney Pills occasionally when a cold settles on my kidneys and they act as a preventive of any serious trouble. You may publish this account of my experience for the benefit of other kidney sufferers."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Wahl had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

Monday Sale of the Fine Stocks of Women's & Men's Gloves & Women's Hosiery of Charles T. Jones, 232 Fifth Ave., New York
At Half or Less Than Half Original Prices

When the march of improvement swept away the old Victoria Hotel at 27th Street and Fifth Avenue, the shop of Charles T. Jones, which for 25 years has been on that corner, had to move across the street, and subsequently went out of business.

For years their stocks have been known to New Yorkers for their excellence and exclusiveness. The store specialized in Hosiery and Gloves—and did it well. For instance, the least price at which women's gloves could be bought was $1.50 a pair. Same way with the Hosiery, of which there was a beautiful collection.

GIMBEL BROTHERS bought the entire stock at the close of business, and Monday place it on sale at reductions which will provide the women of New York—and some of the men—with the best bargains in their experience.

All the Gloves are stamped with the name of Charles T. Jones, and much of the Hosiery bears his price tickets—though not all. In every case values are extraordinary. The sale contains:

Women's $3 to $6.50 Gloves at $1.50 Pair
12, 16, 20 and 24-button length Kid and Suede Gloves. Longer Gloves in black, tan and lighter (or opera) shades. Suitable for party wear. 16-button Gloves in white Kid; all sizes to start

Women's $2 to $3.25 Gloves at 85c Pair
12, 16 and 20 button, in black and opera shades. 8-button in black, tans, browns and lighter shades. None in white.

Women's $1.50 to $2.50 Gloves at 75c Pair
About 1,500 pairs of white Kid Gloves, 2-clasp, all sizes; also 2-clasp, 3 and 4-button Gloves in kid, cape, suede and Mocha; various shades.

Men's $2 to $3 Gloves at 95c Pair
Fine cape and Mocha Gloves from famous makes. Also a few White Gloves for evening wear.

Women's 50c to 75c Stockings at 35c Pair
Cotton, lisle thread and some silk; black and white and a few tans.

Women's $6 to $30 Stockings at $2.95 Pair

only independent command in which he was able to show his ability. However his military reputation rests upon the splendid work he did there in those few short months. Surely we the descendents of his "Friends across the sea" will not forget how he, a foreigner, helped to win our independence for which he also, like the signers of the Declaration of Independence, pledged his life, his fortune and his sacred honor.

Charles Beckman, delivering the valedictory address on behalf of Estes Small, who was unable to take the part, spoke on "International Conciliation," as follows:

By International Conciliation we mean simply that all the nations shall bring their differences to a court of arbitration for settlement, just as the private citizen brings his grievances to a court of law and abides by its decision.

Barbarians were wont to resort to force when settling their difficulties, and "Might Makes Right" was the Alpha and Omega of their law. However, as the ages passed, Man became more civilized and was led to resort to the law court rather than to his brute strength. At the present time force has no weight in the court of justice and right is the only thing that can make right.

But, although the plan of conciliation is almost universally adopted by citizens, as individuals, the same citizens, collectively wage war upon one another much as their ancestors did in the dark ages.

Man, individually, is cultivated, but man collectively, is a barbarian and will continue as such as long as might makes right in the settlement of international difficulties.

The manner of settling international disputes by appeal to arms is no more rational than the methods which prevailed in the medieval days of deciding the crime or guilt of an individual by physical tests.

War is, in fact, the sole survival of medieval barbarism.

Many authorities claim that the best way to keep peace is to be so conspicuously armed that no one will dare to attack you. The sum and substance of this prescription is a direct appeal to fear. The idea is to terrorize your neighbors into respect and friendship. Apply this theory to the private citizen's attitude and observe how ludicrous it becomes. For instance, a citizen desires to build a deep and lasting amity between his home and that of his neighbor across the way, and to this end has at each of his windows a loaded gun trained on his neighbor's door. Consider the expense and trouble he would be taking to gain something by force which might be much more easily gained by simply showing a confidence in his neighbor's good intentions. If a citizen should shake his fist in the face of each passerby and thus proclaim his passionate desire to be left alone his atttitude would appear ridiculous, but, when a body of citizens under the name of a nation does precisely the same thing, no one considers it ridiculous and but few consider it the abject folly which it is.

But, aside from the moral and religious aspect of the movement for international peace, there is an even greater and more practical feature which is becoming each day more and more important. Namely, that under the present weight of armaments the civilized nations of the world are fast approaching bankruptcy. In a single year the nations of the world spend approximately $2,500,000 on account of wars, past, present and prospective.

The expense of the nations in maintaining their armies and navies even in time of peace, is stupendous, and if all the expenditures which are made in a single year for the promotion of scientific slaughter should be spent in promoting the public welfare, it would mean the dawn of the greatest era of prosperity and progress that man has ever witnessed.

The annual expenditures of the United States alone for the support of the army and navy, are in round numbers, $500,000,000, which is sixty-seven per cent of all the money expended by Congress. In other words, sixty-seven cents out of every dollar expended by our government goes to satisfy the mania for war and the implements of destruction.

And we call ourselves a civilized nation, devoted to the arts of peace.

Consider the vast amount of good which might be done along other lines with the money which the United States annually squanders in warlike pursuits.

The total appropriations of the United States for the navy, alone, during the fifteen years since the war with Spain have amounted in round numbers to $1,660,000,000, which is seven hundred million dollars more than enough to liquidate our entire national debt.

This depressing situation is becoming steadily more portentious. The armaments of the world have increased steadily and hundreds of thousands of Europeans have emigrated to the United States to escape the burdens of taxation and enforced military service. And now this nation has entered in the mad race for military preponderance and equals in her expenditures the leading exponents of militarism among the European nations. The navy of the United States is now second in cost to that of Great Britain, a fact which should bring no sense of pride to the truly patriotic American. But this enormous financial loss and the incalculable loss in property sustained by the nations in war are of small importance when compared to the human life sacrificed on the altar of our greatest social and moral evil.

It is estimated that, since the beginning of history the aggregate lost of life in wars has amounted to the enorous total of fifteen billion men. This total is more than nine times as large as the population of the world at the present time. Some may say that this estimate is based on ancient history when the world was uncivilized. And yet during the the nineteenth century, fourteen million men were killed in battle or died as a direct result thereof. Our own Civil War contributed approximately 800,000 men to this tragic census.

Some have said that war is valuable because it eliminates the unfit. But the unfit, the physical and mental cripples, are not the men who answer the call to war. On the contrary it is our choicest manhood, it is our most promising young men, who give up their lives in defence of their country. It is the elimination of the fit rather than the elimination of the unfit.

The average stature in France decreased two inches following the Napoleonic Wars and the greatest problem of France, even a century later, is that of a decreasing population.

Without a doubt, the quality and calibre of American manhood was given a decided setback by our great Civil War, when the young men who were the pride of the country and in whom the country's future was vested, spent five years in exterminating each other.

It is time for this wholesale carnage to end. It is time to call a halt to the training of armies and the building of navies. It is time for a great peace movement, and until International Conciliation is universally adopted the nations of the world can by no means be called civilized.

ROBBING THE COAL PILE.

Smoke That Goes Up the Chimney Is Fuel Thrown Away.

For the benefit of any one who may not see the analogy between a robbed coal pile and a smoking chimney it may be briefly and simply explained.

The visible part in smoke is nearly all carbon, either as soot or cinder, and carbon is the principal combustible part of coal—i. e., the useful part, the part capable of yielding heat. Carbon completely burned forms an invisible gas, carbon dioxide; therefore whenever the gases from a stack show black they contain carbon, which indicates that complete combustion has not taken place in the boiler furnace.

In other words, all of the available heat in the coal has not been realized. It is the same as though the corresponding part of the coal fed into the furnace had been thrown away, for, although it has passed through the furnace, it has been thrown away up the stack beyond recovery. Is this, then, so very different from robbing the coal pile?

The owner who through ignorance allows conditions to exist which are not favorable to the most economical operation of his boiler furnaces, although he is unwittingly robbing himself, is nevertheless stealing from his own coal pile.—Power.

CURIOUS PIPEFISH.

The Males Have Pockets In Which They Carry Their Young.

The kangaroo has always seemed to have the monopoly of that convenient way of carrying its babies in a pouch, but it has been discovered that a fish has the same useful receptacle, which it uses for the same purpose. The pipefish, as it is called from the length of its jaws, has a pocket on the under side of its body nearly half its length. It is found in the male species only and is the only part of its body which is unprotected by large flat plates, which take the place of scales in its protective armor.

If a pipefish is taken from the water and its little ones shaken out of the pouch back into the water they always seem either unable or disinclined to run away. But if the father is placed in the water again all the small fish immediately swim back into the pouch. These curious little creatures have prehensile tails, which they use to hold on to the seaweed to protect themselves from being carried away by the tide. The pipefish is similar to the small eel, being about a foot in length and an inch in thickness. But, unlike the eel, it has a very long jaw and the peculiar defensive armor already mentioned.—New York Sun.

AEROPLANES AS LIFE SAVERS; MANY RESCUES BY LAND AND SEA

The Machines Have Preserved Armies In Wartimes.

On the Water They Have Many Potentialities.

THE casualties caused by aeroplanes, the large loss of life which they have entailed, have so impressed themselves upon the public mind that the other side of the question—the lives saved by aeroplanes—has hardly been considered. Saving lives by aeroplanes may sound strikingly surprising to most people, and it is amazing, if the short career of the aeroplane is considered, to find that it has saved thousands of lives in war and a number of lives in peace times and that it promises to be the most efficient life saver the world has ever had.

The aeroplane's career as a saver of lives in large number began as early as 1911, in the very war in which it first demonstrated its potentiality as an instrument of war, and the result shows that its use was still greater as an instrument of peace—a life saver.

Those who followed the developments of the Italian-Turkish war will remember how at the very start of the campaign, before the first engagement took place, the newly landed Italians were saved from an unpleasant surprise by the aerial scouts, Captain Piazza, with his Bleriot, and Captain Moizo, on his Nieuport, who observed three advancing columns of Turks and Arabs of about 6,000 men. The Italians, after receiving this information, could successfully calculate distances and arrange for their defense.

The following day the battle of Sciara-Sciab took place, resulting in an Italian victory. During the battle the two aeroplanes circled the air and directed the firing of the big guns from the battleship Carlo Alberto and also of the mountain artillery. Without the finding of the enemy the Italians would have met with defeat, probably involving thousands of lives.

Perhaps the greatest surprise of the Balkan war was that Adrianople, the Gibraltar of the Balkans, which the Turks were supposed to defend to the last breath of life, was captured with little loss of life by a comparatively small force. The aeroplane—even the old type clumsy machine—manned by an untrained pilot, used by the Bulgarians—deserves the greatest credit for the saving of life and money.

The Bulgarian air scouts, though untrained in military matters and poorly equipped mechanically, went out over the besieged city and brought to their commanders information which enabled them to attack the weakest spots. Then others—messengers of peace—soared over the city and dropped messages to the besieged, which, if not of peace, made for peace.

The moral effect of these messages weakened the defense and made the capture of Adrianople possible sooner than it otherwise would have occurred, and the defenders did not sacrifice themselves in number in an attempt to defend the stronghold.

An admirable feat in saving the lives of 500 French soldiers is credited to a single aeroplane of the French Morocco squadron. In December, 1912, a column of 500 French troops had been surrounded by rebels to the south of Mogador, and for five days some anxiety was felt for their safety. Then Lieutenant Do-Hu in his Bleriot monoplane was able to convey information to the commander that re-enforcements were close at hand, and, encouraged, they renewed their defense, while the rebels, seeing ominous signs in the arrival of the aeroplane, retreated.

Life saving in times of peace, while it has not attained more than a fraction of the number of lives saved in war, is perhaps more interesting to most people than the latter, being closer to daily needs and experiences of the general public. It is therefore gratifying to find that the water aeroplane, the hydroaeroplane and the flying boat seem destined to save life. Already there have been quite a number of cases of rescue from the water by these means. Glenn Curtiss himself, the inventor of the hydroaeroplane and the flying boat, rescued two occupants of a broken down motorboat last June during a storm on Lake Keuka. But what these machines have so far done is but an earnest of their life saving potentialities. The air boat and hydroaeroplane may be said to be the logical adjuncts of life saving stations and therefore absolutely necessary. As an essential purpose of a life saving station is to relieve wrecks and save people from drowning, speed in doing it is the essence of efficiency. The aeroplane—the water kind—is revolutionary in this respect. It can fly to the spot where relief is needed at the rate of a mile a minute, and the air man who sees every detail of what goes on below can either land by the object of rescue or just drop life belts, ropes, food, medicine or stimulants, according to the urgency of the needs.

With all the navies working to develop means for launching aeroplanes from battleships and receiving them back, it is safe to say that the problems connected therewith will be solved very soon. Then liners will carry aeroplanes to use for carrying dispatches and for general pilot duties.

Just as the water aeroplane is a wonderful auxiliary of the navy, so is it a wonderful auxiliary for ocean liners, promising to afford to passenger carrying ships services of the highest kind. To those who are acquainted with marine travel the services which the air boat or hydroaeroplane can render become at once apparent. Nothing can surpass the aeroplane in efficiency for this use. The water aeroplane is destined to perform a wonderful mission as a life saver and averter of disasters as an auxiliary of ocean liners.

The sea is an unknown quantity in many respects, and the biggest of steamships is very much at its mercy, and assistance of the kind which the flying boat affords is a necessity. A vessel at sea often meets signs of wrecks or it is signaled by craft in distress. At the present time there is no way to investigate such things without involving a great delay or putting the craft itself in danger through taking it out of its marked route, which is the safety zone. A flying boat can do all these things for the vessel. It can be launched with two men, one of whom searches the surface of the sea with powerful glasses. The vessel can proceed on its course. The flying boat will overtake it after having discharged its mission.

THE SHERMAN ACT AND THE LABOR UNIONS.

Within the last two weeks, an unanimous House of Representatives has passed a proposed act looking to the exemption of labor unions from the operation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law.

The general public seems to be equally unanimous in its disapproval of this proposed legislation.

The voice of Congress, especially an unanimous Congress, is entitled to respect. The judgment of the men with whom we mingle day by day, especially when their judgment is well nigh unanimous, is also entitled to respect. Which opinion, then, is correct?

The opinion of Congress, when it expresses itself in definite action, has this in its favor—it is not only authoritative, but it is responsible. The opinion of the man on the street is apt to be the reflected opinion of the leaders of his own class, and to express only the wish of his own group.

Today, the political philosophy of the man on the street, be he Democrat, Republican or Bull Moose, is progressive. Theoretically he believes that the accumulation of private fortunes as large as those of Rockefeller and Carnegie is objectionable. He believes that the "people" have been exploited. He thinks himself advanced because he has discovered that the New Haven road has been mismanaged, if not looted. He has discovered that the mighty Morgan, being dead, had feet of clay.

Practically, he is too often opposed to every bit of legislation that has a tendency toward the wider distribution of wealth or toward the bettering of the condition of the industrial workers. He views with honest alarm the activities of those who are striving for radically improved conditions.

On the other hand, every representative body expresses the point of view of the fighting minority. Special legislation in favor of special interests is possible because the moneyed minority is willing to spend its money to impress its view and defeat those who resist it, never because a majority of the people demand special legislation. The view of Congress today is no doubt quite largely shaped by the fighting minority of labor union men headed by Mr. Gompers.

Historically, however, Congress is correct. When the labor leaders waited upon Senators Hoar and Sherman, at the time the Sherman Act was itself under discussion, and urged that a clause be inserted expressly excepting the labor unions from its operation, they were assured by those distinguished statesmen, that such a clause was unnecessary for the act did not apply to combinations of labor, and that it would be useless to except from the operation of the act, something to which the act had no application.

Yet some of the inferior Federal Courts have strongly intimated that the act does apply to combinations of labor. Perhaps their holdings have been dicta, but it has come to be the generally accepted notion that the Sherman Act applies to such combinations. Hence comes the demand for the passage of an act to expressly except them from the operation of the Sherman Law.

Philosophically, too, no doubt, Congress is correct. To classify labor with the products of labor, is an unsound classification. The man who sells his labor, in a very real sense, sells himself. The man who sells things sells that which is apart from himself, something which is usually the product of other men's labor. The man who has only his own labor to sell, must sell it in a very limited market. He has a very limited and rapidly depreciating supply of his commodity. The years of a man, in scriptural times, were three score years and ten. But it is a tragic fact that the term of life of the industrial worker, as a rule, does not exceed two score and ten years. But most distinctive of all, the worker must sell his labor or starve.

The man who sells merchandise—at least the man upon whom the Sherman Act places any restriction—has the markets of the world open to him. Often he has a tariff-protected market. The warehouses of the world offer him the opportunity to hold his wares till the markets of the world afford him the opportunity to dispose of them to advantage.

The man who buys labor, buys it as he buys any other commodity. To him, too often, it means nothing that he is buying the very life blood of men; that he is buying time out of the limited lives of mortal men.

In the sale and purchase of industrial labor, the seller is at a disadvantage. In the sale and purchase of merchandise, especially of necessities, the purchaser is at a disadvantage.

In the one case, the employee needs the protection of the State and the moral obtuseness of the employer requires the stimulus of legislation to compel fair dealing. In the latter case, the purchaser needs protection from the greed of the seller, especially from the greed of the seller of the necessities of life. It was to meet the need in this latter case that the Sherman Act was passed. That act was never intended to put the industrial worker at a greater disadvantage in the sale of his labor than he was before its passage.

We think it is clear that combinations for the restraint of trade, whereby the price of merchandise is raised, and combinations of labors, whereby the price of labor is raised, or the conditions under which labor is performed are bettered, while bearing a slight resemblance in form, have no substantial resemblance in principle.

There is a further consideration to which allusion must be made. The man who corners or attempts to corner the output of any class of merchandise, does the public an injury. The man or group of men who corner or attempt to corner the necessities of life, commit a crime against society—against the whole world. The time must surely come when we shall either abolish capital punishment or else send to the electric chair, the man who, to any appreciable degree, corners the wheat or the beef of the world. On the other hand, every successful attempt to raise the price of labor or to better the conditions of labor is in the long run a public boon. There can be no question but that every honest movement that gives more wages to the worker, benefits society. The stability and welfare of society must rest ultimately upon the welfare and happiness of the masses of the people. It is the proper function and duty of government to promote the welfare of the weaker, and to curb the greed of the strong, not merely for the benefit of the weaker, but for the general betterment of society.

The labor movement has progressed during the last half century despite the opposition of the wealth and intellect of the world. It has progressed notwithstanding the fact that it often has been poorly led and suffered from recurring treachery among its most trusted leaders. It has progressed notwithstanding the violence of which it has been guilty and the greater violence of which it has been the victim. Its progress, no doubt, has been accompanied by many crimes, and it has been charged by a press, subservient to the interests of its adversaries, with other and greater crimes. Nevertheless, today the public conscience and moral sense of the world are on its side.

Congress does well to remove the last suggestion that the Federal Government considers illegal the efforts of the labor unions to better conditions of labor. The betterment of labor means the betterment of the State, the betterment of the world and best of all, the birth of a better generation and of a nobler race of men.

236 MINERS DIE IN AN EXPLOSION

Workmen Entombed Are Burned to Death.

DISASTER CAUSED BY GASES

Lethbridge, Alberta, June 20. — A mighty explosion entombed 250 miners employed in Mine 20 of the Mill Crest Colliers, Limited. Of fifty miners taken out only fourteen were living. Despite the efforts of two score mine experts, laboring amid the poisonous gases and debris, hope of rescuing alive the 200 men yet in the mine is remote.

The effects of the disaster were:

Men in mine when explosion occurred, 600, of whom 350 escaped.

Number of rescued, fifty, of whom thirty-six died later.

Miners still entombed, 200, probably killed by fire, which followed the explosion.

The explosion shook the countryside for miles around, lifted the roofs from many miners' cabins and demolished numerous small buildings. A moment after the explosion a score of panic stricken surface workers rushed from the mine, followed by a dense cloud of smoke and poisonous fumes.

Appeal For Help.

Appeals for help were dispatched to many towns, and in the meantime residents organized an emergency crew and began the work of rescue.

When the first rescue crew arrived a large force of men set about to clear the shaft, working desperately as the feeble moans of the entombed men came from the shaft. The moans became fainter and finally ceased. Thousands of tons of rock have fallen into the shaft, and it is feared that the men, even had they escaped death from the poisonous fumes, probably were crushed to death by the falling debris.

No information as to what caused the explosion has been obtained, but it is believed it was due to the forming of gases. Thomas Quigley, superintendent of the mine, is among those entombed.

Two trains filled with expert mine workers, doctors, nurses and officials of railways arrived at the mine, and the work of rescue was begun in a systematic way. As the experts entered the mine they found jumbled in a chaotic mass horses, timbers, wagons and mining paraphernalia, indicating the force of the explosion.

Fire broke out soon after the explosion, which tore out both ends of the pit and blocked up the interior workings, making it almost impossible for rescuers to get into the shaft. Most of the miners were working 400 feet inside the mine.

A majority of the men were foreigners, but a large number of them were English speaking.

At dusk last night a group of women stood at the mouth of the mine, still hopeful that the cries for help that issued from the inner workings earlier in the day might be repeated, indicating that those beneath were still alive. Later, however, the women dispersed expressing the general feeling that the men were all dead.

FUNSTON PREPARES FOR FUSS

Machine Gun and Ammunition Sent to Mexican Lines.

Vera Cruz, June 20.—Following Thursday's unpleasantness at Tembladero Gap between Mexican and American soldiers the train that went to the gap this morning carried a machine gun and extra ammunition with the usual detail of soldiers.

Nothing happened, but the usual courtesies between their officers and those of the United States were missing. The Mexicans are becoming sullen and are holding aloof from the American soldiers.

General Funston said that it was exasperating for the Mexicans to behave so, inasmuch as the train which the Americans sent out is for their benefit and not for the Americans.

On orders from Washington General Funston is not permitting Americans to go into the interior. Americans now at Mexico City do not seem to wish to leave there.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—Kindly publish the value of the following coins: (1), one cent dated 1816; (2), one cent dated 1858; (3), five cent piece dated 1868; (4) Columbia half-dollar dated 1893? W. C.

Answe:—None of your coins have any special premium.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Who has the power to appoint the acting-chief of police in the absence of the chief from the city? H. S. L.

Answer—The mayor is vested with that authority but he generally consults the chief in the matter.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Where can I get some information concerning the early history of Plainfield? B. V. C.

Answer—There is an abundance of material along this line in the public library.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Will the motorcycles purchased by the Plainfield police department be of the ordinary type of road machine or will they have special equipment and be high powered? G. F. L.

Answer—There will be only one machine purchased and that will be of the Indian type. The machine will be equipped with a speedometer and other necessary pharaphernalia. The motorcycle will have a high powered engine capable of running at seventy-five miles an hour.

Sporting Editor:

Query—A says there is a law against fishing in the New Market pond. B says no. Who is right? H. F. O.

Answer—There is no law against fishing in the New Market pond as long as you keep within the specifications of the New Jersey Fish and Game Laws.

Sporting Editor:

Query—In the event of the extension of the trolley line to South Plainfield will the line connect with the city lines at the Watchung avenue depot What will be the fare to South Plainfield be? What type of cars will be used and what will the time schedule be? K. D.

Answe—Your queries are all a little previous but indicate that you are interested and we will give you what information we have. The line will connect with the others at the depot. The fare has not been settled as yet but indications are that it will be five cents. The cars will probably be similar to those used on the Fourth street, Arlington avenue, Netherwood and Somerset street lines. The cars will in all probability run at fifteen minute intervals.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Does the winner of the Board of Trade's silver loving cup in the Fourth of July meet have to turn it in at the second annual meet for further competition or does it become his permanent possession? I mean does it have to be won three times to become the property of an individual like so many awards of this nature? K. G.

Answer—The winner of the five-mile race comes into permanent possession of the cup and can keep it as long as he wants.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is there a place to dress at Parker Field for visiting athletes? F. D. O.

Answer—A special locker room has been provided for all athletes.

Sporting Editor:

Query—When will the deciding game between Yale and Princeton be played? At what place? D. M. N.

Answer—The rubber game is scheduled for next Tuesday afternoon at the Polo grounds.

TRANSPORTATION TO BALL PARK WAS GOOD

Sunday Baseball Games Not Stopped Because of Insufficient Bus Service.

Since the announcement of the abandonment of the South Plainfield baseball diamond as a place for Sunday games, it has become known that the reasons for the giving up of this center were far different than those announced by the management last Thursday. Poor transportation facilities were assigned as the cause but Manager Campbell, of the Plainfield Transit Company, has set aside this impression by presenting his schedule of runs made on the Sunday afternoons that baseball has been tried in South Plainfield.

A car left this city for the ball park every time there was sufficient number of passengers to warrant a trip and frequently ran as often as ten minutes apart. The spectators were carried to the grandstand, a feature fans do not generally enjoy in going to a ball contest. As a rule a walk is necessitated from the end of a trolley line or from the center of town and in this case the fans as a whole declared themselves particularly fortunate.

The management of the team that played the final game at South Plainfield is responsible for the statement that the treatment of teams coming to that city was responsible for the abandonment. To make Sunday baseball pay it is necessary for the management to secure good attractions and in some cases the teams that performed on the South Plainfield lot were far below par. According to the manager of Maurer A. C., which appeared in the last game, the team received only a portion of the stipulated guarantee for playing on the South Plainfield park and the players were greatly incensed over the local manager's action in withholding part of the guarantee.

It is the consensus of opinion hereabouts that the contests were stopped because of the manner in which the team is being handled rather than because of insufficient transportation facilities. Local fans will patronize properly supervised Sunday baseball and gave proof of this fact in attending the good contests that were staged in South Plainfield.

SURPRISED ON HER BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

Mrs. Peter W. Young, of Elmwood place, was given a surprise party yesterday afternoon on the occasion of the sixty-fifth anniversary of her birthday, the affair being arranged by her three daughters. There were about thirty friends, neighbors and relatives present from Somerville, Bound Brook, Flemington, Connecticut, New York and this city.

During the afternoon there was a program of vocal and instrumental music. Mrs. Young received a number of gifts. A feature was a birthday cake bearing sixty-five candles. Refreshments were served about 4:30 o'clock after which the guests departed.

DANCE AT SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Forty passengers attended the dance and reception at South Plainfield last night. The affair was largely attended and was one of the best of its nature ever held in that town.

THE YALE VARSITY DEFEATING HARVARD.

Yale won the closest and most exciting varsity race ever rowed on the Thames river by one foot. The four mile contest was sensational from the start, and the finish was so close that for mintes afterward none knew which had won. for the two shells had flashed across the line almost as one boat. The picture shows the finish.

YALE'S PLUCK BEAT THE CRIMSON CREW

Old Eli's Oarsmen Win Race by Small Margin.

New London, Conn., June 20.—By one-fifth of a second, four feet, Yale beat Harvard in their annual varsity boat race upon the Thames.

The official time was:

Yale, 21 minutes 16 seconds; Harvard, 21 minutes 16 1-5 seconds.

The Blue oarsmen triumphed in the very last gasp of the four mile drive, when 12,000 persons half crazy from the excitement of the most thrilling struggle in the history of rowing believed that the Crimson eight would spurt first over the line.

Harvard made a tremendous effort at the last and was leading by a quarter of a boat's length when the crews were fifty yards from the finishing point, but the men from Yale in those fifty yards by sheer grit sent the bow of their shell to the front and kept it there until the pistol cracked.

It was indomitable pluck and splendid endurance that broke Harvard's long series of successes in eight oar races. Harvard did everything expected from it by the experts save win the race. The Red eight displayed beautiful form. Coach Wray's young giants worked like a machine.

As one watched the finish from the observation train it looked as if Yale threw skill and science to the winds in the last few yards. McLane, the midget cockswain, was yelling like a lunatic as he fairly lifted his crew, the eight, hitting up a stroke of thirty-nine to the minute.

With the rain falling steadily and a small sized gale stirring up the Thames, the second varsity eights got away early. The Crimson soon demonstrated its superiority, drawing away quickly. Yale was about seven lengths behind at the finish.

Yale also was crushed in the freshman race, the Cambridge youngsters leading all the way and rowing across the line with more than three lengths to spare. The New Haven freshmen, coached by Giannini, made a game fight, but they were outrowed and outclassed.

Ireland's Coney Island.

Coney Island is a good old Irish name, which will be news to a vast majority of people who visit that part of the greater city. Brooklyn newspapers have asserted the name was adopted from small animals which made their homes in the sand. But the will of Viscount Charlemont, who died last summer, aged eighty-three, directs that he shall be buried at Coney Island, Lough Neagh, Ireland, and provides an annuity for the upkeep of the "old tower," which had been in the possession of his family many generations.—New York Post.

PRISON TERM FOR LOCAL HORSE THIEF

William Johnson Will Serve Four Years for Two Offenses.

Elizabeth, June 20—Thomas Johnson, a Plainfield negro, was sentenced to a term of from two to seven years in State Prison, on two indictments for breaking, entering and larceny, in the Court of Quarter Sessions, yesterday, by Judge James C. Connolly. The sentences are to run consecutively. Johnson retracted a plea of not guilty to one of non vult. He was upbraided by the court for his bad record. He has previously served time at the Rahway Reformatory and in other institutions.

He was indicted for stealing a horse and carriage from Jacob Sklarew, of Plainfield, and a set of harness from Herman Dealeras of the same place. He sold the stolen rig and horse in Newark.

UPSET A LAMP.

A lamp was overturned in the home of Abraham Epstein, 447 West Fourth street last night, at about 8 o'clock. An alarm was turned in from Box 34. The flames were extinguished before the firemen arrived.

A Wonderful Word.

Confidence! What a wonderful word it is! How much it does to make a despondent man or woman feel better! How often it has lifted a business man out of the deepest despondency and given him another chance! Say a helpful word whenever you can, whether it be to a child with tear dimmed face or to a workman who has lost his job or to a business man who faces serious embarrassments. It will pay.—Leslie's.

That's All.

"I did not think you would associate with such a man."

"I shan't associate with him much. I am merely going to marry him."—Houston Post.

An injury done to character is so great that it cannot possibly be estimated.—Livy.

Proud Recollection.

"You seem rather elated this morning."

"I am," replied Mr. Meekton. "Last night my wife mistook me for a burglar. It's the only time in my life that Henrietta was actually afraid of me."

The North Plainfield High School baseball team has just completed the best season in the history of the school. Eleven of the twenty games played were victories, eight were defeats and one ended in a tie.

The team was composed of a large amount of new material this year and the new men have made good and will be sure of places on the team for several years to come. The boroughites made a very poor start, but when Tommy Mullin took charge of affairs things changed for the better right up to winning the city title.

Warren Townley leads in the batting department with an average of .356, and Stahl is second with .324.

Tommy Mullin.

Dilts and Dunning are also batting over the .300 mark. Dunning and Burner are the leaders of base stealing, each having 13 to their credit. VanMater has clouted the ball for seven doubles and two triples, while Smalley has four of the former variety.

Captain Ralph Smalley leads the fielders with an average of .984. Burner and Conroy are tied for second honors, each having a percentage of .975. Only four members of the squad have played in the entire twenty contests. Burner and Smalley have each crossed the plate eighteen times and Townley leads in hits, getting 33 during the season. The complete summary of the season will appear in Monday's issue of this paper, it having been received too late for publication today.

BOXERS OF TODAY LACK REAL CLASS

McFarland Only Equal of Old Timers, Says Frank Erne.

PUBLIC IS UNAPPRECIATIVE.

Fight Fans Think Scrapper Is Stalling When He Uses His Brains—Short, No Decision Bouts to Blame For Decadence of the Game, Says Former Champion.

When Frank Erne was champion lightweight he was known as the most brainy gloveman of his time, and Erne flourished when great lightweights were plentiful. Therefore, when he speaks of boxing, what he says has weight and is decidedly interesting as well. Erne was discussing the Gibbons-Howard bout and incidentally commented on the boxing situation in general.

"I see that they said Gibbons was stalling," remarked Erne. "It didn't appear that way to me. Gibbons is a student of boxing. He is no wild slugger. I think that those who criticised his tactics were decidedly wrong. He merely used good generalship in changing the pace from time to time. But generalship is no longer understood, it seems to me.

"It is probably because of that fact that there are few good boxers at present. When one of them does something really clever it is usually misunderstood, just as Gibbons was misunderstood when he tried to make Howard open up instead of attempting to beat him down by main strength."

"How does Gibbons compare with the middleweights of your time?"

"Well, he's a good man, a very good man, but I wouldn't say that he could have held his own with Tommy Ryan and Kid McCoy. They were more seasoned. They had too much experience.

"I'll tell you why the old timers were better than the present set. In our time we fought twenty and twenty-five rounds, and you have to be a general to box over ten. We used to think nothing of the first ten. It was along about the fifteenth that the strain began to tell. Then headwork counted and the man with brains came to the front.

"You don't have to think to box ten rounds. We would have thought that a joke. But twenty-five is a different thing. The last five rounds were torture. The mental strain was terrific as well as the muscular effort. When you are tired and exhausted it is much harder, as well as more necessary, to think and plan. That's why the long fights made good generals of us.

"Packy McFarland is the peer of all boxers in the ring today, principally because he understands feinting. His feinting is remarkable. Feinting is the real art of boxing. Why, in our day we never took an opening that was given us. We thought it a trap. We only took advantage of the openings that we made for ourselves by our feinting. There were real hitters in those days, and one mistake was usually fatal.

"Yes, boxing was decidedly different in those days. For one thing, there was more at stake. As a rule the purse was cut two-thirds to the winner and one-third to the loser, and that made the strain much greater.

"Another difference was the way we trained. Some of the lightweights of my time were almost as big as the middleweights of today, yet they made the weight by a long course of special preparation. For instance, weeks before a bout we would go out into the country where we had plenty of fresh air. Every morning we would do ten or twelve miles on the road, and that brought down the weight. We were also put on a strict diet. A full cup of tea with our meals was something not to be thought of. We were only allowed enough water for a gargle after exercising. There is none of that torture now. It is not necessary in order to tango through ten rounds with not even a decision at stake."

NEW SEAMEN'S BILL TO STOP DISASTERS

Measure May Also Pass at This Session.

Washington, June 20.—A substitute for the La Follette seaman's bill, passed by the senate some months ago, was reported to the house by the committee on merchant marine and fisheries of which Representative Alexander of Missouri is chairman.

The bill is designed primarily to promote the safety of life and property at sea and to promote the welfare of American seamen. It provides for the use of a large number of life craft on passenger vessels and reduces the hours of work of seamen.

What are regarded as harsh measures in the treatment of seamen are prohibited. It is the belief of supporters of the bill that, if it is enacted into law, it will, to a large degree, avoid disasters such as have occurred at sea in recent years. It is the hope of chairman Alexander to have the bill considered and possibly passed at this session of congress.

In an effort to improve the condition of seamen the bill provides that in all merchant vessels of the United States of more than 100 tons gross the sailors while at sea shall be divided into at least two watches and the firemen, oilers and water tenders into at least three watches.

The only exceptions made in the application of this rule are in the cases of vessels navigating rivers, harbors, bays or sounds exclusively and vessels whose routes between terminal ports do not exceed a run of thirteen hours.

News of Interest in Building World

PERMITS GIVEN REACH $20,700

BUSY IN FOUR WARDS

W. H. Abbott to Erect $6,000 House at West Seventh and Division Streets—Some Two-Family Buildings Under Way.

The building trades boom which struck this city with the opening of the present month still continues, with an outlook which promises the continuing of steady improvement in this line for some time. The indications at present point toward a normal season, despite the late start which the building operations experienced this spring. Considering the apparent dullness in other industrial lines in this and surrounding towns, the building trades have held up their end exceptionally well.

Several plans and specifications are out at present on which estimates have been asked. Together with the issuing of many permits thus far this month, which call for the expenditure of clost to $100,000, comes the completion of several buildings which were started last fall before the cold weather set in. The permits issued this month have saved the carpenters and masons running into a dull season such as has not been experienced here for several years. However, contractors are of the opinion, that with the turning of the tide, this month, the worst part of any impending "panic" as far as the building trades are concerned, has been passed safely.

During the course of the past week, six permits have been issued, four calling for the erection of dwellings and two alterations to buildings. The permits for the alterations, were the first of their kind this month. The six permits call for the expenditure of approximately $20,700. These figures bring the total amount for which building permits have been issued this week are as noted below.

First Ward.

Tilley Friedlander, of Plainfield avenue, will erect a double frame dwelling at 127-129 Johnson avenue at a cost of $5,000. This structure will be arranged to accommodate four families, and will be two and one-half stories high. G. H. Fisher, Jr., of Mason place, is the architect, while the contractor for the work is Israel Friedlander.

Marie Givanni is to put a 25 by 25 foot extension to the front of the building located at 214 Richmond street, at a cost of $3,000. The improvement will be of hollow tile, and two stories high. When completed, the building will be so arranged to have two stores and two apartments. Blanchard Fosgate is the architect, Alfred Johnson, the corpenter, and Alfonso Cioci, the mason contractor. This improvement is being made on one of the business blocks of the fast growing East End.

Third Ward.

W. H. Abbott has been granted a permit to erect a two and half story dwelling at West Seventh and Division streets. This structure will be modern in every way. A hot water heating system will be installed. It is estimated that this dwelling will cost in the vicinity of $6,000. W. H. Clum is the architect, and W. D. Bird the contracting carpenter. Mr. Abbott will care for the masonry work.

Fourth Ward.

Alfonso Cioci is to erect a two and half story, hollow terra cotta block dwelling on Bergen street at the western end of the ward. The plans call for a two story structure, to accommodate two families. The estimated cost of this dwelling, of which Geo. H. Fisher, Jr., is the architect, is $3,500. Mr. Cioci will, himself, care for the masonry work, while the carpentry contract has been awarded to Antonio Brondi, of Raritan.

A permit for another dwelling on the same thoroughfare has been granted August Anderson, of Webster place. The structure will be two and a half stories high and have a frame superstructure. An up-to-date steamheating plant is to be installed. The estimated cost is $2,500. The contracts for the work have been awarded John Kerwin for the masonry and Alexander Lagstrom for the carpentry work.

Isaac Shrager has been granted a permit to alter the dwelling located at 514 West Third street, making an 18 by 16 foot extension at the rear of the building, the superstructure of the improvement to be of concrete block on the first floor, and wood on the second. When the improvements are completed, two families will occupy the separate apartments. The approximate cost is $700. George H. Fisher, Jr., is the designer of the improvements, while Israel Friedlander is the contractor.

IN THE SUBURBS

Andrew Haye, of Mt. Bethel, has sold a part of the Freeman farm on the Valley road near Millington, to a New Yorker.

Mrs. Mary Runyon, of Dunellen avenue, Dunellen, is having her dwelling altered to some extent. Joseph E. Tetlow has the contract.

The dwelling which A. H. Burdick recently completed on Prospect avenue, Dunellen, for investment purposes, has been sold through John Fedderman, to John I. Snyder, of the Bronx, who will take possession shortly after the first of the month.

The property of Augustus F. Samson, on Washington avenue, Dunellen, recently sold to N. F. Schofield, of Yonkers, N. Y., through John Fedderman, will change hands during the early part of next week, when the new owner will erect a dwelling which he will occupy himself.

Plans are out for two dwellings to be erected at Equator Park, Dunellen, in the near future for Brooklyn people. Several dwellings are now in the course of construction at this tract of real estate.

Frank Broshart has been awarded ing now in the course of construction ing now in the corse of construction on Dunellen avenue for Dr. Thomas H. Platt, Jr. J. Newton Apgar has the carpenter contract.

The bungalow being erected on Whittier avenue for W. T. Piddington, Jr., is about completed, and will be occupied within the course of the next week or two. Charles H. Wrage is the contractor for this structure.

George Corriel, Jr., expects to erect a dwelling on Whittier avenue, Dunellen, in the near future.

James Edris, of Scotch Plains, is having a bungalow erected on King street, which is expected to be completed during the early portion of next week.

The repairs at the Presbyterian manse of Dunellen, are about completed. Harris & Shively have the contract for the painting of the structure.

Further improvements are being made on the property of Dr. Tuttle, on Greenbrook road, Dunellen, where a dancing floor is the latest innovation. C. Lester Rule is the contractor.

Realty transfers recorded at New Brunswick include the sale of a house and lot on Lincoln Heights, Middlesex Borough.

WILL ALTER COURTHOUSE.

William Ackerman, one of the architects of the Union county courthouse, during the past week met with the building and grounds committee of the Board of Freeholders in connection with making several alterations and repairs to the courthouse building. The plans submitted by Mr. Ackerman call for putting in large windows on the fourth floor, where a new Grand Jury room, together with several ante-rooms are to be provided. The present Grand Jury rooms are to be converted for the use of the prosecutor, his assistant, chief of detective staff and the court stenographer. When the new plans are approved, bids will be asked. If the estimate costs are within reach of the county Board, they will endeavor to have the improvements completed before the opening of the October term of court.

REAL ESTATE IS QUIET THROUGHOUT COUNTY

Building operations throughout the county remain steady, many structures of varied types being started in all parts. During the past week twelve contracts covering work in the building lines have been filed with the county clerk calling for the expenditure of $35,173.

Reports from all sections of Union county received recently, indicate that oll of the towns are keeping pace with the improvement of conditions in all parts of the country, several of the communities having many dwellings in the course of construction, as well as many being planned by developing and contracting companies.

The real estate market of Union county, however, is very quiet, and has been so for several months. While the "swapping" of lots has been carried on to some extent, very little ready cash has been seen in this direction. In this matter, Plainfield has not been alone, as the same condition exists is practically every section of the county.

REALTY TRANSFERS

The following realty transfers of this end of the county have been recorded at the office of the register, at the county seat at Elizabeth.

Thomas J. England et ux., to Thomas J. Beaman, lot 4, corner R. Stanbury, Fanwood, $1.

William E. Moore, et ux., to Irene DeFerenczy, lot 8, block 32, map of Fanwood, Fanwood, $1.

Irene DeFerenczy to Alvine DeF. Moore, same as above, $1.

Elizabeth Sheehan to William L. Saunders, westerly side Richmond street, 410 feet of Putnam avenue, Plainfield, $1.

J. D. Loizeaux Lumber Company to Queen City Improvement Company, westerly side Arlington avenue, 200 feet northerly of Laramie road, Plainfield, $1.

FINISH CHANGES AT FIREHOUSE

The alterations and repairs to the doorways of fire headquarters on East Second street have been about completed, and the painting of the improvements has been accomplished during the past week. Alexander Milne and W. C. Smith were the contractors. The doors on the extreme east end of the building were too small for the apparatus housed there, and considerable difficulty was experienced by the drivers in getting the auto engine in and out of the place. The improvements provided for several inches on either side of the engine and eliminate any possible delay in getting out. During the improvements, the Nott engine, as well as the hook and ladder were kept under canvas in headquarters yard.

JUST NOTES

W. H. Clum, the architect, is drawing plans for a $6,000 dwelling to be erected shortly by Aaron A. Vanderveer, of the J. D. Loizeaux Lumber Company.

The India Rubber Company, of New Brunswick, recently taken over by the United States Rubber Company, will re-open their plant in the fall after being closed down since last October. Over two hundred men will be placed on the pay-roll when the plant starts operation in September.

Among the building activities anticipated in this city within the near future, is the erection of a large frame structure on North avenue by the Vitaphone Company. It is also rumored that the Tygard Engine Company, also of Netherwood, anticipates erecting a factory in the East End, providing they can secure a suitable location.

The surrounding towns of Dunellen, Scotch Plains, Fanwood and South Plainfield, are keeping pace with this city, dwellings of all sizes and descriptions being erected at the present time. With the possible exception of the Plains, the building trades conditions of these towns have kept up exceptionally well. South Plainfield is enjoying as good a proportion of the "boom" as either of the others.

Among the larger realty deals of this city recently put through, is the sale of twenty acres on East Front street to Daniel T. Luyster, who exchanged a cottage at Sea Cliff, Long Island, in part payment.

Alterations are being made to the Clifton building at 110 Somerset street corner of Manning avenue, the borough. An entire new front will be put in, while the interior will come in for a share of the improvements. When the improvements are completed, the building will be occupied by Rubin Brothers, druggists. Ambrose Smalley has the contract for the work.

The Condon-Walker Company, of Berkeley Heights, filed their certificate of incorporation at the office of the county clerk during the course of the past week. The capital stock amounts to $20,000. The company will manufacture collapsible baby walkers at the Heights.

Abraham Karnal, of Liberty street, has been awarded the contract for painting the row of eight houses now in the course of construction on West Front street near Giraud avenue. The dwellings are being erected by the Bloom Construction Company. Mr. Karnal also has the contract for work on the building being erected by the same concern at West Fourth street and Plainfield avenue.

TREND TOWARD IMPROVEMENT.

Permits issued in May for new buildings according to returns from seventy-seven leading cities of the country compiled by Dun's Review, make a comparatively satisfactory comparison with a year ago, and indicate a trend toward improvement in this department of industry. The reports show that only a decrease of 0.1 per cent. is noticed in the totals of the cities. New York, for the first time this year, is able to show gains, and that gain, one of 16.5 per cent. Thirty-nine of the cities, or more than half of the number reported, show an increase of some degree over the same month of the preceding year. Newark and Trenton, the only New Jersey cities to appear in the list of seventy-seven, both show decreases, the former a decrease of about 52 per cent. Reports from other sources on other New Jersey cities indicate that they are holding their own in the building activities in the majority of cases.

MINOR ALTERATIONS.

Minor alterations are being made to the store of the New York Lunch on West Front street. Thorpe and Smith are the contractors.

NEEDLEWORK

By MARGARET LAWRENCE

DAINTY AND ATTRACTIVE UNDERWEAR DESIGNS FOR SUMMER WEAR

Dainty underwear appeals to the eye of every woman and such lovely and attractive things may be made from handkerchief linen, fine lawn, batiste, cross-barred muslin, cotton crêpe, China silk or crêpe de Chine. These may be effectively trimmed with hand embroidery, bits of lace and ribbons.

Hand embroidery is a very satisfactory trimming for underwear as it launders so well and will often outwear the garment itself.

Pattern 14133, is a design suitable for embroidering a chemise or corset-cover. By omitting the flower in the center, it may be used on a front closing garment. The small flowers and leaves should be developed in solid work and eyelets, and the large flowers and scalloped edge in button-hole stitch. The price of this pattern is 15 cents.

Border 14134, which is of the same design, may be used on the bottom of the chemise or combination.

A simple dotted border makes an attractive edging for the neck and sleeves of a nightgown. The border shown here is 2½ inches wide and 3 yards and 4 corners are contained in the pattern. This should be developed in solid work or eyelets and is appropriate for use on underwear, dresses, neckwear, negligees and children's clothes. This pattern is 10 cents.

When using a scalloped border on a curve, slash both edges of the paper at frequent intervals, close to the design. This allows the paper on the outer edge to spread and that on the inside curve to overlap. The pattern should be firmly basted in place before transferring the design.

Guaranteed, hot-iron transfer patterns will be supplied to readers upon receipt of price.

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

New styles of shirt waists come and go, but the simple type of blouse such as this is always in good style and always appropriate to wear with a suit. It may be made of crepe de Chine, crepe meteor, handkerchief linen, lawn, batiste, voile or one of the new cotton crepon weaves, and the embroidery should be always in the color of the material, worked with filo silk on a silk fabric or in mercerized cotton on cotton or linen materials. This blouse pattern, 7407, is cut in sizes 32 to 44 inches bust measure. The pattern 14587 may be adapted to a waist of any size and may be developed either entirely in solid work, or solid and eyelet embroidery.

This transfer pattern is also appropriate for embroidering a dress of ratine, linen or one of the crepe weaves so popular this season. In this case it would be very pretty carried out in blue, rose, violet or yellow on white material or in white on a colored fabric. The pattern may also be adapted to a slip-over nightgown, chemise or combination garment, and may be cut apart for use on a child's dress. It would be very attractive for trimming a little girl's frock of chambray, lawn or cotton crepe if the center of the waist design is used on the yoke, with the garlands placed just above the hem of the skirt.

Waist pattern 7407 can be supplied at 15 cents. Transfer pattern 14587 at 15 cents. Fill out the coupon and enclose stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

Some Cookery Suggestions

BLACKBERRIES IN SEASON.

LUNCHEON MENU.
Asparagus Souffle.
Hashed Veal.
Baked Potato Cakes.
Blackberry Pudding.
Chocolate.

Light Summer Desserts.

Bread and Blackberry Pudding.—Spread some pieces of stale bread with butter and arrange it in the bottom of a pie dish. Pour over this stewed blackberries and when cold serve with a custard sauce.

Blackberries may also be added to a batter pudding and will give it a delicious flavor.

Blackberry Flummery.—Soak a cupful of taploca in cold water till it is soft, then cook in boiling water with sugar. When cool add freshly picked blackberries, stir together, pour into glasses, garnish with berries and pile whipped cream on top.

Blackberry Farina.—Take a quart of stewed blackberries, a cupful of farina and a dash of salt. Heat the blackberries with their juice in a double boiler, then add the farina, stirring it in gradually, and cook for about fifty minutes. Put it into wet molds to harden. When cold slice and serve with sugar and cream.

Fruit Fillers.

Blackberry Fritters.—Make a batter of one pint of milk, one egg, one tablespoonful of sugar, one teaspoonful of baking powder, one cupful of flour and a half teaspoonful of salt. Into this batter stir lightly two cupfuls of blackberries. Drop the batter by the tablespoonful into boiling fat and serve the fritters with liquid sauce.

Chartreuse of Blackberries. — Take two heaping tablespoonfuls of powdered gelatin and into a saucepan add a cupful of water, strained juice of one lemon, one cupful of sugar and four eggs, slightly beaten. Stir over the fire until the mixture thickens. Strain into a basin and when cool add two cupfuls of whipped cream. Pour into a wet ring mold and allow to set. Turn out and decorate with whipped and sweetened cream and plenty of ripe blackberries.

Saving the Little Birds From Danger.

Daddy's Bedtime Story— The Robins Come to The Rescue.

THE honeysuckles were beginning to bud. Already the humming birds were hovering near and had built a nest right in the heart of the vine. This vine was in a nice old fashioned garden, but near by there was a vacant lot which was very swampy.

"You know the garden by the vacant lot?" began daddy.

"Yes," replied both the children; "are you going to tell us a story about that garden?"

"I am going to tell you," said daddy, "about the mother humming bird whose little ones were attacked by a cruel snake when they were rescued by the brave robins.

"The snake had come over from the vacant field and had crawled up the honeysuckle vine as the mother humming bird had gone off for some food. Some robins hovering near had seen the awful snake. They had cried out in terror and had flown over to the nest.

"The mother humming bird heard the cries and hurried back, but the robins had frightened off the snake. The snake was not a very large one, and really he had been frightened by all the noise the robins had made, and when he saw so many birds flying toward him he got away very quickly.

"The mother humming bird got back just as the snake was leaving the nest.

"She couldn't thank the robins enough for flying to the rescue and saving her beloved little ones, but the robins didn't want any thanks. They were thankful, too, that the dear little birds had been saved, for birds are very loyal to one another and will risk any danger to save each other."

"I am so glad," said Evelyn, "that the little humming birds were saved, for I love to see them having such a good time in the honeysuckle vines, and the more there are of them the nicer it makes the summer seem."

"It was brave of the robins to come to the rescue, though, wasn't it, daddy?"

"Indeed it was," said daddy, "but almost all animals and birds will do anything they can to help one another, and they seem to forget that there is such a thing as being afraid if they see any creature in danger or distress.

"After the mother humming bird had recovered from the awful fright and after the little ones had shown that they were perfectly well and strong, with no ill effects from their fright, the mother humming bird invited the robins to partake of the delicious meal she had succeeded in getting before the cries came from the robins."

ANTI-SUFFRAGE

Conducted by Plainfield Branch New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

Since the last column was published we learn that acts of violence committed by the Militants in Great Britain are paid for according to a regular scale of prices.

Those Suffragists therefore, in this country who endorsed and aided Mrs. Pankhurst have the satisfaction of knowing that the money they caused to be contributed has paid for the slashing of pictures at the rate of $250 (£50) a piece and other acts of violence, arson and desecration according to the arranged scale.

What noble women these Militants—what law makers and administrators they would make.

They pretend to be "working for the cause" when they are paid for each act of violence according to its assessed value.

We have not yet encountered in this country the hatchet methods threatened by Dr. Anna Howard Shaw. We have only thus far reached the stage of passive Militancy, which threatens to ruin the career of policemen who do not endorse woman suffrage.

The Militancy which proclaims all men liars, which says of the men chosen by our States and Federal Government to prepare statistics, "We pay no attention to statistics, they are prepared by men and we all know men all lie." This was said by a prominent members of the W. C. T. U. among others.

The Militancy which issues and spreads vulgar pictures and untruthful statements about the majority of the women of this country because they hold different political views, declaring them connected with the lowest elements of vice, because they differ as to there being no method of attacking the perpertration of it save the ballot in woman's hands.

Anna Howard Shaw made the strongest of arguments against the fitness of the women of the country, when she declared that the 90 per cent. of them either actively opposed or entirely indifferent to votes for women "were criminally indifferent to the welfare of women and children and the safety of girls." "Vultures looking for carrion." The more active Antis "holding out there skirts as a screen to hide the keepers of dens of vice where young girls are ruined; the liquor traffic, the gamblers and the vicious." "Destructionists of the dignity of womanhood of the real home of justice and of freedom." Space is not available for the reproduction of more of Miss Shaw's accusations and criticisms.

Even with the lack of logic displayed by Suffragists can they not see the power of such an arraignment against the wisdom or benefit of bestowing the right of franchise on such women. According to Miss Shaw every woman who is not shouting and actively working for equal suffrage, belongs in at least one of these categories.

When once the franchise is granted to all women no one will have the power to deprive any certain section of them of the right to exercise it.

Does Miss Shaw, as a woman, a minister, as a patriot—she is supposed to be all three—wish to throw political power into the keeping of such creatures as she describes.

It might appear that there would be more danger from those who are using irresponsible, spectacular methods in the fight for the ballot. Mis-taking parades with banners flying and bands playing, hiking in the snow, making soap box speeches on street corners, flying around in yellow automobiles with young girls—too young to have intelligent understanding of the questions—shouting "Votes for Women," as conclusive arguments, to prove their fitness to legislate and administer the national and international affairs of one of the greatest of the world's powers.

It would almost seem to prove that the Suffragists have not the power to grasp the greatness of their country, the seriousness and dignity of her position among nations, if we are judged by their methods.

The words of Miss Winsor in debate at Oak Lane, Pennsylvania, would surely prove the assumption correct when she said, "That the demand for an amendment to the Federal Constitution was productive of the 'Greatest publicity the Suffragist cause had ever had'." Or as another Suffragist said—and we have every reason to believe she voiced the sentiments of the majority—"Bother what's best for the country, the men vote, so I have the right to and I'll fight to the last ditch to get it."

Patriotic, unselfish, womanly!

Monday Starts a Week of New Economies in the Subway Store.

Every provider and—equally important—every spender of the modest outfitting outlay for the family will find that the purchasing power of a dollar has been greatly increased in the Wanamaker Lower-Price Store.

It is a convenient Store, with a front door opening directly on the Interborough Subway. Its great economically-priced stocks, of Wanamaker standard, are assembled on one floor—the Subway floor. Quick and easy place for Summer shopping.

Some particular instances of those unusual economies on Monday.

IN THE WOMEN'S SECTION

Summer Dresses, $1.95, $3.75 and $5

Lower in price than we have ever seen dresses like these sell for in June. All the dainty and cool summer cotton materials are to be found in the collection. Unusual variety of styles, including many long-tunic models.

White Washable Skirts, $1

Tailored Suits Down to $6.75 and $10

Surprisingly low if one knew their original prices. Serge, wool crepe, wool poplin. Plain and fancy models.

IN THE GIRLS' AND YOUNG WOMEN'S SECTION

Girls' Graduation Dresses

Neatly-made white lawn dresses with double tunic for as little as $2.50. Another of white voile with dainty lace trimming at $4.50. Others up to $8.50. Sizes 6 to 14 years.

Young Women's Linen Suits, $6.50

A hurried call on the manufacturer brings this new collection for Monday. Pure linen in white, tan and blue. Two styles, belted and cutaway coats. Sizes 14, 16, 18 years.

IN THE MILLINERY SECTION

Fresh White Satin Hats

Among the "just arriveds" are white satin hats with maline fancies at $6. One trimmed with burnt white ostrich fancy is $8. Another conspicuous arrival is combined with black velvet, $6. Still another particularly attractive one has high crown with soft silk draping and ostrich fancy, $8.

IN THE WAIST SECTION

Sample Waists, 75c

Only a few of a style, but more styles than you would take the time to count. Voile and crepe. Sizes 36, 38 and 40.

IN THE TOWEL AND LINEN SECTION

Turkish Towels, $1, $1.50 and $2.40 Dozen

Guest, large and extra heavy sizes. All exceptionally low priced.

Tablecloths and Napkins

Tablecloths, unusual at $2.35, $3 and $3.50 each; napkins to match, 22-inch $1.85 dozen.

IN THE UNDERCLOTHES SECTION

White Underclothes and Petticoats, Specially Priced

Nightgowns, 50c. White pique petticoats, 85c. Nainsook petticoats, 65c. Silk petticoats, $3. House dresses, 75c.

PERKINS ASKED TO QUIT BULL MOOSE

Resolution Demanding His Retirement Offered.

TABLED ON COLBY'S PLEA

Former Governor at State Committee Meeting Asks to Wait on T. R.'s Return—Other Features Included Resignation of F. B. Jess and E. A. Shay. To Put Full Tickets In Field.

Trenton, N. J., June 20.—The retention of George W. Perkins as chairman of the national executive committee of the Progressive party formed the subject for a lively debate at a meeting of the Progressive state committee and representatives of the various county committees.

Action upon a resolution demanding the retirement of Mr. Perkins was deferred until the return of Colonel Roosevelt after ex-Governor Everett Colby had come to the defense of Mr. Perkins and expressed the belief that Colonel Roosevelt would also be found among the chairman's supporters.

Other features of the meeting included the resignation of Frank B. Jess as chairman of the state committee, the resignation of Ernest A. Shay, the Sussex county member, who expressed the belief that the defeat of the administration should occupy the whole attention of Republicans and Progressives; a decision to hold a Progressive conference at Asbury Park, at which delegates will be invited from New York, Pennsylvania and Connecticut, and the threatened resignation of George L. Record unless the conference should declare against Mr. Perkins.

Mr. Record started the principal argument at the conference by offering a resolution demanding the retirement of Mr. Perkins and in doing so referred to the formal protest filed by Amos Pinchot against Mr. Perkins' continuation in the chairmanship.

It was decided that Progressives should put in the field full tickets in every congressional district and for county offices to be filled at the coming general election. This decision followed the discussion as to the advisability of indorsing Republican nominees who might declare themselves in favor of Progressive principles. Mr. Colby declared that the Progressives had always been "flimflammed" when they had resorted to such tactics. He argued that they should go it alone.

HEN GULPS GEM; DODGES AX

Balbot Kills Guiltless Fifteen—Swallower of Jewel Eludes Him.

Jersey City, N. J., June 20.—Abraham Balbot, a produce dealer, of 634 Communipaw avenue, this city, was feeding his flock of fifty Plymouth Rock chickens when the stone in his diamond ring, worth $125, dropped out and was gobbled up by a big hen.

As there were big gray hens present Balbot couldn't tell which was the diamond eater. He picked out six who seemed like the one that swallowed his diamond and killed them. None of the six was guilty, so he kept on leading hens to execution. Fifteen guiltless ones have already perished, and as the gem hasn't been recovered more are in danger.

In the meantime the members of the Balbot family have suffered a chicken diet in all its forms and are beginning to complain.

ANTI-MOSQUITO FUND UPHELD

State Supreme Court Orders Passaic Freeholders to Find $14,720.

Trenton, N. J., June 20.—The peremptory writ of mandamus allowed by Justice Minturn to compel the board of freeholders of Passaic county to include in its annual budget an item of $14,720 asked by the Passaic county mosquito extermination commission was made absolute by the state supreme court.

The appropriation was applied for by the commission in the regular way, but the freeholders refused to honor it in compiling the annual budget.

BRIEF STATE ITEMS.

Samuel Seligman, a farmer, of Jamesburg strapped a shotgun to his cultivator handle to be handy in case he sighted the crows. In turning the cultivator around the shotgun accidentally went off and killed him.

Because he swore that he had ten spare bedrooms in his hotel when he had only four Julius Lussardi was deprived of his license for the White House, a hotel at Raritan, by Judge Daniel H. Beekman in Somerville.

Henry Marelli, counsel for Patrick Quinlan, I. W. W. leader, whose conviction and sentence to one to fifteen years for inciting to riot was upheld by the supreme court last week, filed an appeal in the court of errors and appeals at Trenton.

The Fourth Ward Civic club, composed of prominent citizens of Passaic, has been organized with the avowed purpose of assailing the action of the city commissioners in bringing unsuccessful ejectment suits against river front property owners.

FIRST IN MINNESOTA

According to the figures filed by the various companies with the Insurance Department of the State, The Prudential led every Life Insurance company operating in Minnesota in 1913 by issuing and reviving through its agents in that State during the year 31,905 policies, for $6,031,452 paid-for Life Insurance. A great honor paid to this Company and its agents by the people of Minnesota. Furthermore, The Prudential has been the leader in new business in Minnesota for the past five years.

A VACATION SUGGESTION FOR THE CHILDREN.

School has closed. Vacation time has come again. No more studying to do for three long months—but here is a lesson which may be learned without books and without study—the all important lesson of saving money. If you want to try to learn it, call at The Plainfield Trust Company and ask for a then instead of spending ALL your money having a good time put some of it in this little bank and see if you can save enough before school opens to start a bank account in your own name.

ST. MARY'S PAROCHIAL SCHOOL GRADUATED THIRTY-FIVE PUPILS

Many Awards Made for Superior Work in Various Academic Courses—Father Bogan the Principal Speaker at Closing Exercises Conducted in the Church—the Graduates.

Thirty-five graduates received their diplomas from the commercial and grammar grades of St. Mary's School at the commencement exercises conducted in the church last night. The edifice was crowded to the doors during the closing exercises and a fitting program marked the occasion. Vocal selections were rendered by the church choir and the principal address was made by the Rev. Father B. M. Bogan. Father Bogan also made the presentations for meritorious work during the scholastic year and awarded the diplomas to the graduates.

In addressing the graduates last evening Father Bogan expressed a regret that the subject which had been uppermost in their minds during a year of successful work in the schoolroom, the subject of education should be the theme of his address to the graduates. "For, he said, if ever there was a time it was on commencement day that pupils well might wish that all eulogies cease from troubling and all pedagogues be at rest. However, the subject with its seriousness is unavoidable, the holding of the exercises in the building erected for the service of God was in keeping with the spirit of thorough education that cannot separate the claims of the soul from the aspirations of the mind. It is in keeping with the spirit of education as presented to the mind and conscience of the Catholic that the first dawn of intellect should reflect its tribute to its Creator. That the influence of religion as the directive impulse of morality, and morality thus directed as essentially in keeping with the hope of stability for our Republic, needs no stronger, more thoroughly American approval than the oft quoted memorable words of General George Washington in his farewell address to the American people. Hence, our system of secular education informed and directed by religious influence, fulfills the claim of the Creator upon the allegiance of His creatures and is as logically the outcome of that best sense of Americanism which finds expression in minds and hearts whose love and devotion for our Republic are above the influence of prejudice. We are devoted to God and because of that we are devoted to our Country. In matters of religious doctrine we pay, it is true, our "tribute to God," as in matters of State we just as conscientiously pay tribute to Caesar all 'foreign power' nursery tales to the contrary notwithstanding. Our pupils are taught those duties of citizenship which make for better civic life, and are prepared for the citizenship of God's country hereafter.

From the earliest history of the church, the school was the neighbor of the House of Worship, as in the thirteenth century the number of children attending parochial schools of Florence was as large as the proportion attending New York Schools in the present generation. Today there are four thousand schools in the United States and an attendance of a million and a half pupils. These are practically free Catholic public schools, taught by trained teachers who give themselves to the work until death, hopeful of no other reward but that which God bestows upon His faithful children. It is not any sinster, selfish purpose that has brought the parochial school into being; it is our immovable conviction that the salvation and true welfare of Catholic children depend upon their being grounded in the knowledge of religious truths and the laws of right living. Our legislation on this question is no tyrannical exercise of priestly or hierarchical power; the laity are as strong in their conviction on this point as the clergy for no church, either Catholic or Protestant, would impose on the free and independent people of the United States such a vast, expensive system as is that of our parochial school did not the people themselves, the great mass of our Catholic laity recognize its necessity and adhere to its principle. It is true that the special doctrine and practices of the Catholic church are taught in our school, but we hold and we know that the more faithful a Catholic is to his religion and its teachings, the more loyal he will be to the laws of the land. The Godfearing man must necessarily be the upright, law-abiding citizen,—God and Country are the dominant notes of Catholic teaching. The Catholic Schoolboy, Haggerty, the first to die in our Navy, and the Catholic schoolboy, Walsh, the first to die in our Army in the present Mexican trouble, are not isolated evidences of the spirit of patriotism inculated in our parochial schools.

You will hear it said that our schools have a limited curriculum; that they cater to a class; that they set up authority in place of study and research; that they destroy initiative and compel the acceptance of teachings that so many believe to be superstitious or at least untrue. They claim too, that we rule out important studies; that we refuse to teach or to follow the findings of the great men who, having consecrated their lives to science, utter the only valuable truths, the only ones at least that a sane people can accept with a sense of certainty. These statements made concerning the Catholic School system are supplemented by the prejudices of those who declare that we not only fail to teach the truth, all the truth, but that we also try to set up a barrier against American institutions and the American spirit. We are afraid, they say, of the liberty that belongs to the common schools, we are afraid of the liberty that is the birthright of the American system in youth as well as in old age. From statements such as these have arisen constant misunderstanding of this so-called Catholic School system as has arisen the ghost of prejudice, which it is difficult, if not impossible, to lay. As these prejudices are unfounded and these statements are untrue we cannot but keenly feel the cruelty, the humiliation of them. That we are contributing to educated citizenship and in this obeying the law of the State while at the same time we are cultivating the individual conscience the recognition given our schoolwork by High School officials capable of judging and scorning the limitations of prejudice upon their judgment is unanswerably acknowledged by the courtesy shown our school in accepting our graduates on the conscientious credentials of our own teachers as fit for entrance upon the higher course of study in our High Schools. Nor is it without record that some of our graduates have held their place in High School with distinction.

We are anxious to go on record in our opinion that the principle of education we are following parallel the best that is to be attained in citizenship, the best that is to be achieved in patriotism, and that, while anxious to render to Caesar that which Caesar's, we shall not forget our duty unto our Lord and Master. It is His voice that is calling us. It is in answer to His demand that the little children go to him and are not forbidden. It is the call of Christendom and of Christian civilization. It is the demand that His word shall not pass away. Here we stand; we can do no more. And standing here, we feel secure in the face of gathering storm. The institutions we have builded may go down, but the principles on which they are builded are imperishable. We feel in the outward march of the red flag that we will be the first to suffer, but we courageously welcome the conflict. It may be the conquest of our material structure, but it shall not be ultimately the conquest of the principles which we defend. Truth is mighty and shall prevail, and God will guard His own."

The following pupils were awarded diplomas by A. N. Palmer, of New York city, for excelling in the Palmer method of business writing: Grace Mary White, Mary Esther Regan, Mary Catherine McNamara, Alsandra Maria Petruccione Caroline Elizabeth Scheidecker and Helen Maria Heffren.

Diplomas were awarded the following for having completed the prescribed grammar course in St. Mary's School: Catherine Elizabeth Schuck, Mary Elizabeth Traynor, Anastasia Agnes Deady, Grace Mary White, Mary Esther Regan, Mary Catherine McNamara, Alesandra Maria Petruccione, Caroline Elizabeth Scheidecker, Helen Maria Heffren, Anthony Francis Sabino, William Henry Traynor, Edwin Thomas Dugan, Edward Vincent McEvoy, John Thomas Diskin and Charles Joseph Ward.

Diplomas were awarded from the commercial department of the school to the following pupils: Mary Cathrine Welsh, Florence Elizabeth Russ Mary Catherine McAfee, Anna Frances Murphy, Mary Esther Cumiskey, Margaret Anna Mottley, Helen Anna Hagan, Ellen Marguerite Sullivan, Nora Marie McCarthy, Elizabeth Agnes McAlvanah, Anna Elizabeth Regan, Helen Frances Newell, Catherine Dolores Deady, Edwin Leigh Sullivan, Joseph Michael Regan, Andrew Francis Heffren, Frank George Brennan, John Charles Traynor and Bernard Ford O'Sullivan.

The donors of the gold medals awarded were the Knights of Columbus, Ancient Order of Hibernians, Total Abstinence Society, John Hines, Hugh Tracey and Mrs. Slevin.

The medals were awarded as follows: First prize, a gold medal for excellence, to Helen Anna Hagan; gold medal, the first prize in stenography, to Joseph Michael Regan; first prize in arithmetic, a gold medal, to John Thomas Diskin; gold medal, the

HOOD CASE NOT FINALLY DECIDED BY COURT

Chancery Decision Given Several Months Ago is Before Errors and Appeals.

No decision, finally giving to Mrs. Richard Haden Hood, the property which she now occupies on Stelle avenue was handed down by the Court of Chancery in Newark, on Friday of last week, as erroneously reported in another local paper on Saturday. The Court of Chancery decision awarding the property to Mrs. Hood was given several months ago, as reported exclusively in The Daily Press at the time, and the matter is now up on appeal in the Court of Errors and Appeals. The latter court had the matter under consideration last week, in the case brought by Mr. Hood to compel a reconveyance of the property. Hood has claimed that he did not give the property to Mrs. Hood, but merely vested the title in her name for business reasons.

In the Court of Chancery, as reported some months ago, it was decided that the conveyance was intended as a gift, as claimed by Mrs. Hood, and that subsequent differences between the couple were responsible for the efforts of Mr. Hood to have the gift set aside. It was contended for Mr. Hood that the property was merely held in trust by Mrs. Hood, but the latter's attorneys proved to the satisfaction of the Chancery Court that Mrs. Hood was the real owner.

CHILDREN'S DAY AT PARK AVE. BAPTIST

Pleasant Surprise Given to Rev. and Mrs. Gabriel Reid Maguire.

Children's Day was observed by the Park Avenue Baptist Bible School, yesterday morning, with exercises in which both the main school and elementary department participated. The program, which was in charge of the Superintendent, Willard M. Maxim, included two songs by the Elementary Department, and the following recitations by four of its members: "Smiles and Frowns," Jean Vail; "Little Chatterbox," Helen La Rue; "The Elder by the River," Alice Spangenberg.

One of the features was the exercise entitled "Good Wishes" arranged by George E. Hall, and given by the following members of the Main School: Clara Hadley, Grace Hunt, Gladys Hadley, Emily Van Winkle, Irma Mowen, Grace Mosher, Myrtle Townley, Dorothy Barrett, Mary Hunt, Louise Brown, Freda Mowen, Mary L. Casner, Marion Bigley, and fourteen from the Elementary Department: Vivian Mowen, Maybelle Emery, Charles Varian, Burgess Repp, May Dorman, Doris Henry, Lillian Dalby, Howard Henry, Emma Nellis, Russell Thomas, Helen Gaskell, Ruth Ainscough, Edna Nellis, Charles Repp.

This exercise was planned as a surprise to Mr. Maguire and his family who are leaving this week for a trip abroad, and by means of large cards displayed to the audience, expressed "good wishes."

Mr. Maguire responded to these expressions in his usual happy manner, assuring his people of his sincere appreciation of their kind thought and good will. Also at the suggestion of Mr. Hall, a quantity of steamer letters had been written by members of the church and school for each one of the pastor's family, and this made another pleasant surprise when presented to Mrs. Maguire on this occasion by the Superintendent, Mr. Maxim. Emil Closs, of New York, the famous Bell Ringer, delighted the audience with a number of selections.

An orchestra consisting of ten pieces rendered several selections and accompanied the school in their singing, and included: Violins, Arthur S. Mosher, leader, Mrs. Chas. Hellyer, Miss Evelyn Berg, Miss Lyle Smith, Chauncey Wheeler; flute, Elmer P. Wheeler; cornet, Whitney Frazee; 'cello, Dr. J. F. Berg; organ, Miss Iona Wood; piano, Mrs. John Manley. The pulpit and choir loft were made especially attractive by quantities of daises and roses beautifully arranged by the decorating committee, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Van Winkle, Mrs. Ada Cuming.

The program committee included: D. M. Runyon, chairman; G. E. Hall, Mrs. Harry Runyon, Miss Elinore Stutsman, Mrs. Ada Cuming, Arthur Mosher, Chester Gaskell Miss Hawkins

RALPH PATCH WEDS PENNSYLVANIA GIRL

Plainfield High School Athletic Instructor Married Saturday.

Miss Mary Linton Hallowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Hallowell, was married to Ralph S. Patch, athletic instructor in the Plainfield High School, at her parent's home in Jenkinstown, Pa., Saturday afternoon.

Miss Hannah Hallowell was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were the Misses Emma Hallowell, Eleanor Rittenhouse, Frances Hallowell and Anna Belle Boyle. The ushers were Jay Sprowl, Philip Carpenter, Dr. Earle Kistler and F. Norman Wilson.

Following a two months' wedding trip, lasting through the school vacation, the couple will reside in this city. Mr. Patch came to Plainfield last September to take a position with the Board of Education as instructor in the Plainfield High School and during his one year in this city he has become widely known through his associations with the athletic teams. He is a graduate of Amherst College.

"LORD" MANVIL WILL EAT CHICKEN ON THE COUNTY

Charged with stealing chickens from the hen-roost of "Count" VanNest, on East Front street, "Lord" William Manvil, who comes from Utopia, was fined $50 and sentenced to serve fifty days in the county jail when arraigned before City Judge W. G. DeMeza in the city court this morning. Manvil admitted taking the fowls and cooking them in the hobo camp along the brook.

Walter Jarbensky and Louis Sprague, who are alleged to have been his accomplices in the thefts, were arraigned in court, but the case was postponed for one week during which an investigation will be conducted in an effort to run to earth other offenders.

TRAIN RIDER TAKEN FROM PERILOUS BERTH BY POLICE

Detected stealing a ride on the Philadelphia flyer due in this city at 6:44, last night, Isadore Stein, a twenty-two-year-old Jenkinstown, Pa., youth, was arrested at the North Avenue station when the train pulled in. He was taken from a perilous position in the canopy between the tender and the first car where he had ridden from New York. He was taken from the train by the Elizabeth officials but escaped from them and reboarded the flyer.

Arraigned in court this morning, the youth said he had been visiting relatives in New York, yesterday, and rather than ask them for the $2.05 carfare decided to "beat" his way home.

FUND FOR PARKER FIELD FIREWORKS REACHES $37

Thirty-seven dollars has been contributed to date for the pyrotechnic display to be held on Parker Field in connection with the safe and sane Fourth of July exhibition, the following having contributed: George P. Mellick, $10; J. W. Jackson, $10; Joseph Tate, $5; M. S. Ackerman, $5; Charles A. Reed, $5; George M. Rittenhouse, $2.

The Ritz Company and the Board of Trade have provided silver loving cups for the meet to be held on Parker Field in the afternoon and in the event of inclement weather and the subsequent loss of funds the following have consented to contribute toward raising a fund for the payment of the thirty silver cups offered for competition: Mrs. Frank de Lacy Hyde, George P. Mellick and George L. Babcock.

CONGREGATION URGES PASTOR TO REMAIN

Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire Requested to Continue Work Here.

Following the anouncement on Saturday of the call received by Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire to the Ruggles Street Baptist church, Boston, the board of deacons of the Park Avenue Baptist church, met yesterday and adopted resolutions urging that he remain here indefinitely. The resolutions further set forth that in the opinion of the board Mr. Maguire's work is far from being finished here and that the existing need requires a continuation of his services.

The resolutions also refer to the services of Mrs. Maguire, which would be lost if her husband should leave here. A copy of the resolutions was drafted and presented to Mr. Maguire at last night's services by Benjamin F. Hadley.

Mr. Hadley referred to Mr. Maguire's untiring service, his excellent sermons and his willing response to any call for service, whether in this city or throughtout the State.. Mr. Maguire preached a strong sermon on the theme, "The Christian's Triumph," after which the congregation joined in singing, "Blest Be the Tie that Binds."

FRANK W. MORSE DIES IN 69TH YEAR

Burial Service Will Take Place at Elizabeth Tomorrow.

Frank W. Morse, aged sixty-nine years, formerly of Plainfield, and a brother of Joseph E. Morse, of East Seventh street ,died at his home in Norwich, N. Y., on Thursday, June 18, and will be buried in the family plot at Elizabeth, tomorrow. The fact that Mr. Morse was dead was not generally known here and it was a shock to his many friends and acquaintances. Mr. Morse had been in failing health for some time and his death was due to heart trouble.

Mr. Morse resided in Plainfield for several years, occupying at one time a handsome home which he built at West Sixth street and Central avenue. He was associated with the development of Garwood, being manager of the building operations at that place. He possessed a genial, happy disposition and had a faculty for making friends. He was also active in religious work.

Mr. Morse was born at Lockport, N. Y., and at the age of sixteen years he enlisted in the 28th N. Y.Vols., and within seven months was confined in several southern prisons. following the war he located in this section.

Mr. Morse during the past few years had lived in Florida, Georgia, Asheville, Richmond, Springfield, Mass., and more recently at Norwich. He was a member of Winfield Scott Post No. 73, G. A. R., and a representation from the Post will attend the burial at Elizabeth. Mr. Morse was married three times, his first two wives, one of whom was Miss Minnie Bird, of this city, being buried at Elizabeth. He is survived by a wife, a brother, Joseph E. Morse, and a nephew, Charles B. Morse.

The Grand Army of Norwich conducted its ritualistic service on Saturday afternoon and yesterday a service was held at the Methodist church, at that place.

SOMERVILLE COUPLE WEDDED QUIETLY AT BRIDE'S HOME

Miss Joan Churchill Brown, daughter of Mrs. George Churchill Brown, and Stockton Cranmer, son of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. William Stockton Cranmer, were quietly married at the home of the bride's mother in Somerville, at 3 o'clock this afternoon, the father of the bridegroom officiating. Owing to recent deaths in the family of the bride, only immediate members of the two families were present at the wedding.

After a honeymoon of a month, Mr. and Mrs. Cranmer will make their home in Brooklyn. Mr. Cranmer is connected with the firm of Potter, Choate & Prentice, New York city, having charge of their banking department.

GRANTED MONTH'S LEAVE.

Benjamin W. Evans, superintendent of buildings for the public school system, has been granted a month's leave of absence by the Board of Education and will leave at once on an extended trip.

MISS SARAH GILLIGAN WEDS J. R. KNOWLTON

Quiet Ceremony Performed in St. Michael's Rectory, Jersey City, Saturday.

Miss Sarah Gilligan, formerly of this city, but now of Jersey City, and J. Russell Knowlton, of West Fifth street, were quietly married at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, in the rectory of St. Michael's church, Jersey City, Father Clark, the pastor, officiating. Miss Mary Smith, organist of St. Mary's church, this city, was the bridesmaid and Walter Edward Knowlton, son of the bridegroom, also attended the couple.

The bride was gowned in a traveling suit of green silk poplin and carried white carnations. Miss Smith's gown was of brown messaline and she carried pink carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Hotel McAlpin, New York. After a trip the couple will reside here. The bride has been making her home with her brother, Henry Gilligan in Jersey City. It was just a month ago that the bridegroom's daughter, Miss Elsie Knowlton was married to Earl Moran, of this city.

STEIGMAN BROTHERS GET LONG SENTENCES

Convicted of Conspiracy They Are Sentenced to Penitentiary Today.

Arraigned for sentence in the United States District Court before Judge Haight, in Newark, this morning, after being found guilty of conspiracy and the concealment of assets, Louis Stiegman, of 131 East Fifth street, and his brother, David, of New Brunswick, were given severe sentences in the Essex County Penitentiary. Louis was given a term of one year and six months and his brother will have to serve one year and five days.

W. B. Weinberg, counsel for the brothers, said this morning that he would make immediate preparations to appeal the case. Unless the appeal is granted the men will begin their sentences at once. The men were convicted Friday after evidence had been produced by Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., and William Newcorn, counsel for the creditors.

SHIRTWAIST DANCE AT COLUMBUS HALL TONIGHT

Everything is in readiness for the shirtwaist dance to be held under the auspices of the Second Night Club at the Columbus Club's auditorium tonight. The floor will be reserved exclusively for dancing for which music will be furnished by Ed Brown's tango string orchestra, of New York city.

The entire building will be turned over to the guests and those who do not dance will find entertainment in the bowling alleys, pool tables and other games provided. The interior of the auditorium has been appropriately decorated for the occasion with palms and cut flowers. Refreshments will be served during the evening by the Kandy Shope.

LEGAL FOR PRIESTS AND NUNS TO SIGN AWAY PROPERTY

Washington, June 22—The Supreme Court reversed a Minnesota decree that poverty vows of Roman Catholic and other nuns and monks by which they sign away all their property rights to their religious orders are against public policy, and may be enforced during their lifetime, but not after death, against their heirs. The decision was a test case of the Order of St. Benedict of New Jersey, against heirs of Father Augustin Wirth, a Benedictine monk of Minnesota. The court held that it was not against public policy.

SERIOUSLY HURT HE RETURNS HOME

Thomas Brennan Insists on Leaving Hospital With Broken Leg.

HIT BY AN AUTOMOBILE

Policeman Going to Notify His Relatives of the Accident is Surprised to See Injured Man Come From the Netherwood Depot.

Knocked down by an automobile in New York city, Saturday morning, Thomas Brennan, of 1211 North avenue, this city, was removed to the Hudson Street Hospital in an unconscious condition. At the institution it was found that his leg had been broken in two places and that he was suffering intense pain.

After establishing the man's identity through papers found in his pocket, Chief of Detectives Faurot, of New York, notified the local police department to inform the young man's folks in Plainfield of his misfortune. The message came several hours after the accident had happened and Patrolman Muir was despatched to the North avenue residence with the news. Enroute to the place Muir was confronted by the injured man coming from the Netherwood station. He had been supplied with a pair of crutches and gamely made his way unassisted to his home in Netherwood, refusing to remain in the New York hospital.

Brennan was crossing Maul street when the accident occurred and was rushed to the institution by the driver of the machine. Other vehicles in the thoroughfare at the time obstructed his view and he stepped from in back of one to the front of another, being hurled several feet by the blow. Mr. Brennan is a steamfitter and is well-known in this city. He is confined to his home today as the result of the accident and the exhaustion brought on by his trip back home Saturday. It was at first feared that he was suffering from internal injuries.

LOCAL MAN WEDS MISS RUTH SEGUR

Couple Will Reside in This City Folowing Short Honeymoon.

Miss Ruth Chipman Segur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Dighton Segur, of Waterbury, Conn., was married Saturday at the home of her parents to Charles Clinton Burke, Jr., of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert E. Brown, who was assisted by Rev. Dr. John G. Davenport.

Miss Bessie Segur, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Stanley Burke, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. The bride was given away by her father. After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Burke will reside in this city.

HEAVENLY REST CHURCH FESTIVAL LARGELY ATTENDED

The annual festival of the Church of the Heavenly Rest was held on the church grounds Saturday afternoon and evening and proved to be successful, both socially and financially. The decorations were attractive both inside the parish house and at night incandescent light illuminated the grounds. The parish house was draped with flags and the tables were also decorated with American flags. Candy, cakke, ice cream and fancy articles were sold and there were grab bags and other novelties for the children.

About two hundred peopjle attended the festival. Dancing was enjoyed. Miss Elizabeth Forster was chairman of the committee of women, and among those who assisted to make the affair a success were Miss Alice Forster, Miss Julia Tabbing, Mrs. John Chamberlain, Mrs. William Corbin and Mrs. John MacGee. A number of young women assisted as waitresses. Mrs. William B. Grannatt is the president of the Women's Guild.

TELEPHONE MEN PLAY.

The linemen and the installers of the local Telephone Company engaged in a baseball game on Hyde Oval, Saturday afternoon, and the installers came out ahead by one run, the final score being 21 to 20. The game was interesting throughout, and heavy hiting featured the play. The batteries for the winners were Bert Ayers and Howard Agens, and Wyckoff, Callahan and Garthwaite were in the points for the linemen. Guy Thomas was the umpire.

Fourteen candidates took the Civil Service examinations for positions as fourth-class postmasters in this vicinity on Saturday morning, in the Washington School building, held by the local Board of Civil Service Examiners.

Allison C. Hall, of South Bound Brook, was a week-end visitor with his brother at Skillman.

'Plains & Fanwood.

According to report all classes after and including this year's that graduate from the local grammar school will have to go to the Westfield High School instead of the Plainfield High School as has been the custom for the last six years. It is said that the reason for the change is the difference in the tuition rates. It is fifty-five dollars a year for each pupil attending Plainfield while at Westfield it is five dollars cheaper.

Dr. F. W. Westcott, president of the borough Board of Education, has called a special meeting of that body for this evening in the Fanwood firehouse at 8 o'clock. The two new members, Messrs. Ribblet and Britton, will be present and an election of officers will be held.

The local Boy Scouts returned from their first camping trip of the season last Saturday afternoon. They hiked to the Passaic river wheer they camped from Thursday until Saturday.

The meeting of the Saturday Night Club held in the Fanwood firehouse Saturday evening was largely attended. Cards and dancing were enjoyed until a late hour.

Several people from the 'Plains went to Elizabeth, Saturday, to take the Civil Service examination for the position of postmaster of the postoffice of that place.

A number of local school children are planning to attend the Plainfield summer school which opens on July 6. The local Board of Education does not maintain a summer school and so those who attend at Plainfield in order to make up back work are charged a rate of one dollar a week.

Although the Fanwood township Board of Education is trying to relieve the crowded conditions in the local schools nothing can be done before September, as the section of land that the Board has in view to build a school on cannot be taken possession of before that date. It is possible that if the enrollment in School No. 1 is much increased in the fall that the large assembly room will be partitioned off into temporary classrooms.

Somerville

"Jack" Parker's ball team has decided to quit the game, as the public has failed to give them the support necessary to make it a paying proposition. The team was together for the last time Saturday afternoon, when a burlesque game was played with a female nine said to have come from Newark. It was a sorry spectacle, the umpire being compelled to assist the "stars" in making any sort of a show at all. The score stood 11 to 9, courtesy compelling the boys to allow them any runs at all, while they could have piled them up at will.

A slight fire at the new Somerville Theatre called out the department Saturday afternoon. One of the films accidentally caught fire while being rewound, and the flames threatened to set the woodwork ablaze. Fortunately the flames were suppressed before any great damage was done. The matinee performance was abandoned, but everything was alright again in time for the evening show. The fire was out before the arrival of the firemen.

A picnic in Duke's park has been planned for the members of the Junior Choir of the First Reformed church next Friday afternoon. They will start from the chapel at 2 o'clock, in automobiles.

The members of the K. O. K. A., of the Baptist church will spend the week camping along the Millstone river, in charge of H. H. Parker. This is an annual event that is highly appreciated by the boys.

Sunday evening services will be omitted at the First Reformed church until September.

There was a large attendance at the annual reunion of the Revolutionary Memorial Society, of New Jersey at the Wallace House, on Saturday afternoon. Owing to the illness of Colonel Richard Stevens, the president of Newark, Justice James J. Bergen, of this place, presided. An excellent address was delivered by Justice Francis T. Swayze. All the old officers were re-elected.

BOY SCOUTS TAKE PART IN EXERCISES

Present and Salute the Flag at First M. E. Church Children's Services.

Children's Day exercises with baptism of infants attracted a large congregation to the First M. E. church, yesterday morning. The members of the Sunday-school marched into the church led by the Boy Scouts carrying an American flag. When all were seated the Scouts presented and saluted the flag. There was an appropriate program of music by the school and the offertory was sung by Edgar A. Cole, baritone soloist of the church.

KNIGHTS OBSERVE MEMORIAL DAY

Impressive Services Held at the Graves of Departed Members.

The Pythian Memorial Day was observed in this city yesterday, when Crescent Company, No. 13, Uniformed Rank, Knights of Pythias, visited the three local cemeteries, as well as the one at Scotch Plains, where departed brothers of the company are buried. In the line of march with the local lodge men, were members of the Portchester, N. Y., and Elizabeth companies.

Colonels McGinley, May and Ducker led the march, while the Portchester delegation was headed by Captain Latin. The ritualistic work at the various cemeteries was in charge of Captain James E. Flannery, who was assisted in his work by Colonel Charles McGinley, Lieutenants O. O. Peirson and Douglas and Sergeant William S. Watkins. Jacob Weker, of the Portchester Pythian Band, sounded "taps" at each of the services. Members of the Independent Fife and Drum Corps acted as an escort of the fraternities. During the past week all of the graves of the departed members of the local lodges of the Knights of Pythias were decorated with national and lodge colors, as well as with flowers.

The visiting brothers from the out of town companies were entertained at the conclusion of the ceremonies at the Plainfield, where dinner was served. This part of the program was under the direction of Harry Werner, together with a committee of local members of the order.

GREATLY SUPERIOR.

After one year's experience with Commission Government in Jersey City the Journal of that city, although disclaiming to be a "know-it-all", says "we know enough to appreciate its superiority over partisan machine rule." It tells how politics has been banished from the city hall, and the police and fire departments; how certain contractors are no longer favored, and how useless employees have been stricken from the pay roll.

From the wrangles which occasionally occur in the commission a lesson is drawn that they are the best evidence of the absence of boss rule in the city. Under the old management "if a city official knew that the city hall was being looted, he did not dare give an alarm, until he had ascertained whether the boss wanted the looting to go on or not." The people are said to have overlooked these squabbles, for after all, most of them were of a minor nature, and they have tended to bring out expressions of public opinion, which have been productive of much good. Continuing the Journal says:

A glib argument employed by the enemies of commission government is that it distributes authority among "five Mayors" and has no one in supreme command. This is a specious plea for the political boss, the chief evil that the Walsh act aims to eradicate. We have tried out the boss system and found it corrupt and inefficient. The cry everywhere is for its destruction. There have been good Mayors and bad ones, but most of them have either been bosses themselves or the puppets of political bosses.

Each of the five Commissioners has ample authority for the management of his own department, and success or failure is chargeable to him personally. He cannot hide behind others to evade responsibility nor can others rob him of credit. It is his privilege and his necessity to stand always upon his individual record.

How much better it is to have administrative policies determined by five elective Commissioners, acting openly and above board, taking the people into their confidence, than it would be to return to the old method by which these things were done by a Mayor and his political 'advisers" in secret conclave.

One year ago commission government went into effect in Jersey City. It has been a year of progress and achievement. The political atmosphere is purer than it ever was before. Public ideals are higher and partisanship in municipal affairs is dead. Within five years, under present conditions, Jersey City will in large measure have retrieved the mistakes of the past and will have entered upon an era of constructive development which would have begun a generation ago had it not been for the blight of machine politics.

All of this is very interesting to Plainfield for we are told a determined effort is about to be made by the Board of Trade to bring about a commission government election. The opinion of the people in cities which have tried the experiment is worth more than all the figures and statistics which opponents in other places may produce. The Jersey Journal merely reflects the expressions of newspapers in every commission governed city, unless the papers happen to be owned by political bosses of the old school, who miss the power which they enjoyed under the mayor and council method of ruling.

THE FIRE FIENDS.

"Resolute and restless as he was, Paul Jones found his limits," says the Camden Post Telegram. "He captured prizes on the high seas, he frightened the entire coast of the British islands, he took the Serapis off Scarborough harbor, but when he tried to burn the shipping in White Haven he failed. Dispatches indicate that the suffragettes were guilty of starting the fire at the Glasgow docks, and the heavy loss will surely be followed by a searching investigation. To have been more destructive than Paul Jones, to have done more harm in peace than he did in war is a triumph surely, but a triumph more devilish than human."

The atrocities being committed by the militants in England seem almost impossible of belief. There was a time when thousands of Americans who favor suffrage believed that the method adopted by these seekers after the vote were justified in their strenuous efforts to gain attention, but now the action of the English women is losing friends for the cause all over the world. We doubt whether one per cent. of the American people who believe in suffrage approve of the methods of Mrs. Pankhurst and her mob of publicity seeking property destroyers. It is about time for the British authorities to let a few of them continue their hunger strikes until they are ready for the undertaker. The world would be rid of criminals of whom the authorities seem to be afraid, and who have been released with little or no punishment, after committing crimes for which men would be sent to prison for life.

While it is our belief that the women should have the vote in this country, we agree with the Asbury Park Press that "it is impossible not to sympathize with the British government authorities in their perplexing dilemna." Hunger strikers must be allowed to starve, or that will become a more popular method than being pardoned for men criminals who seek release.

George L. Record is trying to get the New Jersey Progressives to pass a resolution demanding that George W. Perkins be read out of the Bull Moose party. There are more than a few Progressives who feel that if George L. was quietly made to walk the plan, the party's ship would have much smoother sailing in the state. Certainly no efforts on his part in recent years have indicated that the people are demanding that he be placed in public office.

TAX EXEMPTION OF CHURCH PROPERTY

"Upon what principle does exemption of church property rest? If it rests only upon a sort of good-natured favoritism or religious graft, it ought to be abolished with every other form of special privilege," says the Living Church.

"But we believe that it rests upon stronger ground. The church and its necessary property for carrying on its work, is the original social centre in this country. The principal of the social centre is now very generally accepted. Social centres are being provided, not only tax-free, but at public expense for maintenance, in most of our cities. Rural social surveys also lay great stress upon the value of the church as a social factor. The official social centres do not take the place of the church as a factor in society, nor do they supersede the use of the parish house.

"Whatever tends to the freer socialization of a community is a force in the interest of the public good. If the church is maintained as a private club for the pleasure of its members, it ought to be taxed. But if it is maintained for the general good of the public, it ought to be exempt. Possibly there are churches of the former class, but they are too few to be classified or to be treated separately, and the general purpose of any religious foundation ought to be assumed to be for the social good of the public, precisely as any other social centre is recognized.

"The church does not ask for special privilege. It asks to be accounted as among the forces for public weal and not for private gain; and it contributes to its community, as an element in public peace and welfare, much more than the amount of its possible taxes.

"It is not the non-church member who contributes to the church in the form of tax exemption; it is the church that contributes to the non-churchman, by maintaining, at its own expense, a social centre such as the State cannot maintain; by promoting good citizenship and thus reducing the number and the expense of criminals; and by co-operating with the schools, public and private, in the training of the children, and as a contribution to society in general.

"Destroy the churches and the resultant lawlessness would undoubtedly increase taxes much more than the amount of taxes that could be assessed or withheld from church property. The church gives; it does not get, from its community."

S. P. C. A. MEETING.

The Plainfield branch of the S. P. C. A. will hold its last meeting of the season at 8:40 o'clock this afternoon at the Y. M. C. A., when the final report will be made on "tag day," and other reports will be received. Arrangements have been made whereby all persons wishing cats or dogs disposed of they may send or take them to the Rushmore Dynamo Works, but they must be buried by the owners.

FUNERAL OF MRS. JENNINGS.

The funeral services of Mrs. Rachael Jennings, mother of Assistant Fire Chief Andrew Jennings, were held yesterday afternoon at the residence of Joseph E Plum, of Manning avenue, the borough. Rev. Edwin Shaw, pastor of the Seventh Day Baptist church officiated. The bearers were Joseph E. Plum, Charles Dunham, Charles Randolph, and Macom Randolph. Interment was made at Hillside cemetery.

DRAKE-CURTIS.

Miss Catherine M. Drake and George W. Curtis, both of this city, were married in St. Mary's church rectory, Friday evening, by Father B. M. Bogan. Miss Matilda Lazzi and Thomas Harvey, of this city, attended the couple. A reception folliowed at the newly-furnished home of the couple, 738 St. Mary's avenue. The bride received a number of presents.

PLAYED AT WHITEHOUSE.

The Dutch Arms Concert Band, of this city, went to Whitehouse, Saturday evening, and played at the Methodist church lawn fete at that place. During the evening, Edmund D. Young, leader of the band, made three engagements for the musical organization, all to be filled during the course of July.

FRACTURED HER ARM.

Mrs. Peter G. Emmons, of 46 Whitewood avenue, the borough, fell at her late home, yesterday afternoon, and fractured her arm. Dr. Marcus L. Clawson was called and had Mrs. Emmons removed to the Muhlenberg Hospital, where the broken bones were set.

FILES HIS BOND.

Alvin E. Hoagland, the newly-appointed postmaster, has forwarded to Postmaster-General Burleson, his bond for $25,000 for the approval of the postal department. Mr. Hoagland expects to receive his commission within a short time.

LANDED FIRST WEAK FISH.

F. A. Bickford, of Watchung avenue, landed the first weak fish of the season from R. O. Acker's place, at Sewaren, last night receiving the prize of $5.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT.

Anouncement is made of the engagement of Miss Martha A. Wagner, of Parlin, N. J., and John Murray, of Perth Amboy.

"HOLY JUMPERS" WILL SERVE TEN DAYS IN SOMERSET JAIL

Bessie M. Davis and Rose M. Dingley, two members of the Pillar of Fire sect from Bound Brook, who were arrested at Somerville on Saturday evening, June 6, for conducting religious services without first obtaining a permit, and who had been released with the understanding that they were to appear the following Wednesday for a hearing before Borough Recorder W. R. Sutphen, but failed to do so, were given a hearing last night in the Somerset county jail before the recorder, and were each fined $5 or ten days in jail.

Both refused to pay the fines and are serving time as martyrs to the cause.

SUFFRAGE VISIT TO WILSON.

Women Will Make Seventh White House Trip on June 30.

Washington, June 22.—Public attention once more will be focused upon the White House on June 30, when for the seventh time a deputation of women suffragists will call upon President Wilson to seek his aid in furthering the passage of the Bristow-Mondell amendment, enfranchising all women.

It is the intention of the women to remind the president again of the need of their enfranchisement. They will also try to bring to his notice the significance of the indorsement of equal suffrage by the General Federation of the Women's Clubs of the United States at Chicago a week ago. Delegations are expected from many states to swell the contingent from the District of Columbia. Especially large delegations are promised from Pennsylvania and Maryland.

ENOYABLE CHURCH PICNIC.

Seventy-two members of the Holy Cross Sunday school were the guests of Rev. C. H. Kues, rector of the Holy Cross church, at a picnic held Saturday morning and afternoon at the "notch" back of Scotch Plains. The party made the trip in a large four horse wagon and spent a day playing games. Dinner was served at noon and the party arrived home about 5 o'clock.

COLLEGE BOYS ON A TRIP.

Bruce Conlin, of this city, who, in company with two college friends, left Plainfield Saturday afternoon on their wheels for Bethlehem, Pa., arrived at the later place at 5:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The trio left Trenton at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. They expect to go to Scranton tomorrow. They report the roads very poor.

APPOINTED A DELEGATE.

A. C. Pleydell, of the borough, has been appointed by Governor Fielder as one of the alternate delegates to represent the State at the eighth annual conference on taxation to be held at Denver, Colo., September 8-11. The sessions are to be held under the auspices of the National Tax Association.

MEDIATORS MAY IGNORE CARRANZA

Possible That Villa May Be Requested to Send Delegates to Conference.

Niagara Falls, Ontario, June 22 — The ignoring of General Venustiano Caranza by a direct invitation to General Parecho Villa to send delegates to Niagara Falls, was admittedly a possibility when the A. B C mediators met at 11:30 today. Obviously without an armistice, the rebels cannot be admitted to full participation, but it was said to be the idea of Dr. Naon to write the Constitutionalists to enter the conference without an armistice for the discussion of the international phases of the problem of Mexican pacification. The international and internal questions involved are so closely corelated and inter woven that once the rebels sent delegates here, a way might be opened by which the Huertistas rebels and Americans could get together without apparently receding from their positions.

Carranza's second refusal to participate at the price of an armistice was no surprise to the Mediators. The reported departure from Saltillo of Fernando Calderon for Washington, was construed as meaning he would head the Constitutionalist Juanta in the United States.

DIPLOMAS NOT READY.

There was a good deal of disappointment last week among the pupils of the grammar grades of the public schools on account of the fact that the diplomas were not ready for them. It has been the custom of the school Board to order these diplomas from a firm in the West, and the order was put in as usual last April. At the last minute, however, and to late to place the order elsewhere, word was received from the firm that they could not fill the order in time, and while the Board was disappointed, there was nothing to do but wait until after commencement before getting the children the diplomas for which they have worked so hard.

The Judson Juniors of the First Baptist church will hold a social Friday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock.

TEMPERATURE REPORT.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 65 degrees; 11 a. m., 68 degrees; 1 p. m., 69 degrees.

A Woman's Coat Day of Great Surprises, Tuesday

279 Imported and Domestic Wraps at New Radically Lowered Prices—$10.75, $15, $18.75, $25, $37.50

Steamer wraps, sport coats, country coats, city coats, mountain coats, beach coats—real Paris models and copies, or strictly American styles—nearly all of imported materials—in this extraordinary low-priced collection.

Coats at $25

A real golfine coat with crepe de chine lining, original Paris model by Bernard, original Paris model by Parry, original Paris model by Mardel-Robert, original Paris model by Bechoff-David, and many were formerly $38.50 to $100 at the beginning of the season.

Coats at $18.75

These coats are only a half and a third of the April prices.

Coats at $15

New long-waisted coats, large check coats, soft sage green coats, dove gray coats and corduroy sports coats.

They were $20 to $35, and earlier in the season they were a great deal more.

Coats at $10.75

Seventy or more coats. Majority in April were double and three times this new price, $10.75.

Kindly remember that there are only one or two coats of a kind—that is the only reason why they are so much less.

Silk Remnant Sale for Last Seven Days of June

Seven days, beginning tomorrow, in which readers of this page may get an entire silk dress pattern for a half, a third or even a quarter of its usual price.

Seven days in which the Silk Rotunda intends at whatever sacrifice to clear away all its short lengths of silks preparatory to autumn.

At this writing we estimate nearly 40,000 yards of this season's silks will be included in this Sale of Remnants.

Every silk will be marked at new prices lower than any we have quoted this season.

Black silks—fashionable weaves. Plain silks—the best kinds.
Washable silks—good styles. Fancy silks—all imported.
Printed silks—mostly imported.

Far too many silks and too many prices to try to give an adequate idea of the great variety. We are marking the silks as we find them in our stocks.

Five yards of this, 6 yards of that, 3½ yards of another, 4 yards of another, 3 yards of still another, 8 yards of another.

A dress pattern that two weeks ago cost $15 ..... now $3.65
A dress pattern that two weeks ago cost $12.50 ..... now $4.75

ROYLE T. PHILLIPS WINS SPRING CUP

Miss Lydie Loizeaux Scores Points for Trophy at Park Golf Club.

Royle T. Phillips won the Spring championship cup at the Park Golf Club, Saturday, defeating Dr. H. K. Carroll, 1 up in a hard-fought match. Dr. Carroll played a little better game at the start of the match, but his opponent quickly overtook him and on the majority of the holes the players were closely matched. Up to the last hole, Mr. Phillips was four down and five to go, and by good playing finished the match 1 up on his opponent. In the fall he will play the winner of the Fall championship cup for the club honors.

Miss Lydie Loizeaux, the only woman member of the club who competes in the men's events, won the first three points for the President's cup with a net score of 86 and only a 12 handicap. The scores:

Miss Lydia Loizeaux, 98, 12-86; Royle T. Phillips, 102, 12-90; J. V. Beekman, 110, 17-93; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 101, 8-93; Clerance J. Hand, 113, 18-95.

ATTRACTIVE BASEBALLS FOR N. P. H. S. CHAMPS

Manager Charles Beckman, of the Borough High School baseball team has ordered the silver baseballs that the Athletic Association voted to award the members of the championship teams. Dieges and Clust, of New York, are filling the order and they will be here about the first of July. On the front will be engraved "Baseball Champs, N. P. H. S. 1914," and on the back will be the player's name.

They will be atached to silver chains and may be used as watch charms. Those who will receive them are Ralph Smalley, Chas. Beckman, Franklin Lowe, Daniel Denny, Ernest Stahl, Ashley Burner, Ronald Conroy, Oscar Dilts Warren Townley, Bob Hebert, Duclos Van Mater, Edson Day, Addison Newkirk, Tommy Mullin, Hyman Abrams and Frank Dunning.

"ONE-ARM" TWIRLER GOOD BUT BOWLBY WAS BETTER

The Park Avenue Baptists had an easy time defeating the Otis Elevator baseball team Saturday, and the final score was 13 to 3. "One arm" Cunningham was on the mound for the visitors, but his smoke and curves were just what the local boys liked and they hit him hard when hits meant runs.

Bowlby was effective at all times and only allowed his opponents three hits during the game, and made fifteen of the Otis batsmen swing at the empty air. The feature of the game was Blume's three-base hit in the fifth with the bases filled. King, Walker and Mills were each credited with a double.

The score by innings follows:

MONROE NINE LOST TO INDEPENDENTS

Sunday School Team Falls Before Stellar Pitching of "Hub" Terry.

The Monroe avenue baseball team was swamped Saturday afternoon by the Independents by the score of 16 to 6. The game was featured by hard hitting and after the first few innings the church team never stood a chance to win. "Hub" Terry was on the mound for the winners and although he was touched for ten hits he kept them scattered and was effective in the pinches.

Monroe set a fast pace at the start and made two runs while their opponents were blanked. The Independents found the opposing pitcher in the third inning and from then on they clouted the ball to all corners of the field. They scored four in the third and five in the sixth. J. Terry led his team at the bat with a triple, a double and a single. The winners made four errors and the losers nine. The score:

TOWNLEY'S DEBUT A FAVORABLE ONE

Little North Plainfielder Plays With the Saurer Baseball Nine.

Conshay's great pitching and errorless playing on the part of his teammates gave the Saurer Motor Company's baseball team a victory over the strong Y. M. A. team of Bound Brook. The final score was 4 to 0. The game was well played throughout, and the visitors were only guilty of three errors.

Warren Townley, the North Plainfield High School third baseman, covered that base for the locals and did himself credit. He made a hit and accepted four chances without an error. Miller made a great catch in the seventh and robbed Green of a long hit. The score:

MISS WILDEY TAKES LOCAL COURT TITLE

Plainfield Country Club Race Closed Saturday Afternoon.

Finals in the women's singles championship of the Plainfield Country Club were played off Saturday afternoon, at the conclusion of the opening rounds of play and the title was won by Miss Edna Wildey, who defeated Miss Marion Brown by scores of 6-4, 6-4, in two well played sets.

Miss Wildey worked her way to the finals by defeating Miss Barbara Fleming, Miss Marion Ashwell and Miss Florence Stuart. In the fourth round Miss Wildey defeated Miss Ashwell by scores of 6-2, 6-3, and Miss Marion Brown won from Mrs. W. B. Tyler by default.

The championship tropay, a silver clock, was awarded to Miss Wildey, and the second prize, a vanity case was given to Miss Brown, the runner up. Miss Wildey was the logical choice for the title from the start of the tourney although several of the other performers were known to be strong contenders.

THRILLING CONTEST WON BY CHAPELITES

Twelve Inning Game Lost by First Baptist Team Saturday Afternoon.

The Hope chapel and First Baptist baseball team battled twelve innings Saturday afternoon, on the West End field before the former nine won the verdict on a bad throw to catch a man off third base the score being 3 to 2. The game was the fastest and closest that has yet been played and the presence of "Hub" Stine behind the bat for the Baptists was a noticeable fact throughout the contest. Jean McLoughlin and Dick Schott were the opposing pitchers and both pitched fine ball and were effective in tight places.

Hope started the scoring in the second inning when Luthman singled and took second on a bad throw to catch him off first, and scored on Heron's safety. Hope's second run came in the sixth. Grisley walked and took third on Johnny Heron's hit. Grisley was nipped off third by a fast throw by Stine and Heron stole third. Luthman walked and on a double steal Heron crossed the plate.

The Baptists tied things up in the eighth when they landed on Schott. Heron dropped a pop fly from Savidge's bat and Stine singled. Barnes scored these two on another two bagger. From the eighth to the finish it was a pitcher's battle. In the twelfth with two down and second and third filled, Stine threw high to Barnes in an effort to catch Grisley off third and the ball went into left field. Grisley scored but Heron who tried to score from second was nailed at the plate. The Baptists could not score in their half of the inning. The score:

NONPAREIL WILL ENTER GOOD MEN IN LOCAL MEET

Because the Oak Club could not be reorganized, the athletes who were to compete in the local meet on July 4, will run under the colors of the Nonpareil Club. The Oak Club was disbanded about a year ago and it was planned to start it up again, but this could not be done and as most of those who will enter the meet belong to the latter organization it was decided to enter under that name.

Manager J. R. Gates has a fine list of entries and expects to clean up a few of the races for his club. He will have men in most of the events and has secured Randolph Granger, of Dartmouth College, to run in the open half mile and the mile relay. The local manager feels confident of winning this race as he has a fast team to spring on local athletes.

SUMMER'S HERE--SUMMER HOT--SOME ARE COOL--SOME ARE NOT

"SPORTDOM TIPS"

'Tis said that the lawyers are planning to appeal their case in the Saturday baseball suit, but if the legal lights know what is best for them they will let well enough alone.

We might suggest at this time that a contest between the conquerors and Manager Dorflinger's Plainfield Pets, minus eight regulars, would be appropriate at this stage of the proceedings.

Did you notice how many foolish questions were asked at the game Saturday? Did anyone ask you how many games had been played during the afternoon or how many chances each man had to hit the ball or let it hit him?

One doctor sold $27 worth of peanuts. They were not giving any change on the field Saturday and somebody probably slipped him a twenty dollar note which he found it impossible to break.

It's a good thing there wasn't any elephants on the field Saturday. It would take a good many of those peanut bags at ten cents per to fill one of those four-legged vegetarians.

Have you ever stopped to think how much nerve it takes to stand up at the plate and face the delivery of a twirler who "doesn't care whether he does or not?" The flingers in the benefit issue threw the horsehide pellets in the direction of the plate but didn't give a continental what part of the player's anatomy stopped the round thing.

Echoes of "solid ivory" and "hickory" could be heard from all portions of the lot when that new ball of Nash's caught "Doc" Cregar in the upper story. All "BALLPLAYERS" get their bumps and that was probably one that has been coming to Cregar for some time.

A hardened bleacherite could garner considerable knowledge of the "rooting" sport from those enthusiastic doctor-lawyer cohorts at the ball park. A language foreign to the thirty-second degree ballist was spoken at the encounter.

Why go to Newark for an umpire when you have a pair of the calibre of Runyon and Conover lurking about the wilds of the Queen City? In a real game the local arbitrators would probably make a big hit and even in the farce of Saturday afternoon they did some good umpiring.

PLAY FOR WESTFIELD TITLE.

Westfield, June 22—W. D. Mehle beat A. E. Kellar, 4 up and 3 to play on 36 holes, in the finals of the club championship contest at the links of the Westfield Golf Club, Saturday afternoon. The prize was a handsome cup. The semi-finals were played for the second sixteen contest with the following results: W. R. Davis beat C. E. Halstead, 1 up on 18 holes, and Gilbert Raine beat F. Fukin, 2 up and 1 to play. The finals in this contest will be played next Saturday.

LOCALS OUTHIT RIVALS

Mathewson and Harney Both Twirl Good Ball in the Pinches—Game Best of the Season at Dunellen—Errors Are Prominent.

One run in the eleventh round of one of the best ball games played by Manager Dorflinger's Pets this season, scored a 3 to 2 victory over the Plainfielders at Dunellen, Saturday afternoon. Getting off to an early lead, when Mathewson cracked out a timely two bagger in the first after Sam Dorman and Norman Harney had secured life on errors, the Plainfielders gradually let the home aggregation creep up on them until at the end of the regulation number of rounds Dunellen was on even terms.

Fielding errors that came in bunches were conspicuous in the work of both sides, but aside from these spasmodic eruptions the contending forces put up a stellar exhibition of the national pastime. Tight twirling on the part of the opposing moundsmen featured the encounter from start to finish and both Harney and Mathewson crawled out of many tight places during the eleven rounds of battling.

Dunellen could garner but four bingles from the delivery of Matty, but these, coupled with three miscues, were plenty to sew up a contest witnessed by some 400 rooters. Plainfield's ten bingles, over twice as many as the opposition could garner, were kept well scattered by the home slab artist and the invaders fared badly in the run column considering the many safe bingles they cracked out during the fracas.

Matty kept up his reputation as an extra base walloping artist and added another of the dobule deck variety to his collection as did also Giddes, another youth who has taken a particular liking to these extra sackers. Harney whiffed nine during the encounter and the Queen City slab artist poked seven. Each twirler walked five.

RUNYON SECOND FOR THE TITLE

Local Boy a Runner-up in Junior Metropolitan Championships Saturday.

THREE LOCAL ENTRIES

Poucher in Poor Condition and Lands Third in Mile—Fritts Fails to Qualify for the Finals in Javelin Throw.

Ralph Runyon, the Plainfield High School boy competing under the colors of the Pastime A. C., led the three local men in the junior championships of the metropolitan district on Travers Island Saturday afternoon. Runyon copped second place in the pole vault event with a leap of 11 feet, winning the silver medal offered for the honor. George C. Halstead, of the New York A. C., was first, doing three inches better than his little Queen City opponent.

Rollinson Poucher, another local boy, competing for the winged-foot organization, came in third in the one-mile run. Poucher has been doing wonderful running at Yale during the past season and his performance at the island was a little disappointing to the critics. He was counted on to add five points to the New York A. C. team score having repeatedly done better than 4:23 in trials. The Eli man was lucky to take third place as he appeared to be in no condition for a hard race. The Plainfielder proved easy for Willie Gordon and Jimmy O'Neill, of the New York A. C., who led him to the line. Gordon won by fifteen yards in 4:28 2-5. It was a peculiarly run race. In the first half Gordon set a slow pace in an effort to see just what Poucher could do, but the Yale man refused to take the initiative, and the half was run in 2:15 2-5, as against 2:13 for the second 880 yards.

Jack Fritts, Plainfield's third notable who was competing for the Pastime Club, failed to get into the finals of the javelin throw, an event in which he has been specializing during the past month.

All three of the men who took part in the junior championships are planning to compete in the Parker Field meet to be held here under the direction of the Playground Commission on July 4.

GIRARD BEATEN BY TEAM THAT LOST FIVE STRAIGHT

Phillipsburg, June 22—There is at least one team that Phillipsburg can beat. That is Lafayette College. After losing five straight games the Phillipsburg boys recovered their batting eyes Saturday afternoon and by bunching hits in the seventh and eighth innings won from the collegians by the score of 8 to 4.

The fact that Lafayette had her star pitcher, Girard, of High Bridge, in the box, makes the victory all the more sweeter. Flood held Lafayette safe and kept his hits well scattered until the ninth inning, when by bunching four singles three runs were scored.

TOWNLEY IS THE BOROUGHITES' BEST STICKER FOR 1914 SEASON

Captain Smalley Leads in Fielding—Remarkable Year for the North Plainfielders Who have Scored Eleven Wins in Twenty Conflicts—Mullin's Coaching a Big Asset to the Boroughites—Majority of the Victories Have Come in the Latter Part of the Season.

Twenty games, eleven victories, eight defeats and one tie, is the record of the North Plainfield High School aggregation for the past season. Out of the score of clashes the boroughites have managed to come out ahead in a majority and the 1914 team has been declared the best in the history of the institution. Victories have been recorded at the expense of such worthy opponents as Reading Academy, Kearney, Bound Brook, Leals, Plainfield, Woodbridge and Roselle, New Brunswick, Rutgers Prep, High Bridge, Somerville and the Alumni have managed to garner wins from the North Plainfielders. It is a peculiar fact that a majority of the boroughites' defeats came at the start of the season, or prior to the time that Tommy Mullin took up the coaching reins. Since Mullin's advent into North Plainfield baseball circles the result has been one win after another until at the present time the over-the- brookers have a pretty fair collection of scalps dangling from their belts.

In batting, Warren Townley is the leader, having taken part in all of the twenty games and piling up an average of .456 with thirteen runs and thirty-one hits, two of the latter being extra cushion licks. Stahl, winner of the interscholastic trophy for batting, is second with .324 for fourteen games. Dunning is fourth with .303 for the regulation number of contests.

In fielding Captain Smalley tops the list with a percentage of .984, with Burner second and Conroy third.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—Are the tennis courts at Parker Field open to the public or is the use of these courts limited to certain persons? If they are public courts how may I secure the use of them for the afternoon? Is Parker Field open in the evening? N. K. H.

Answer—The courts are for the use of the public but that does not mean that you are allowed to make a pig out of yourself by making efforts to secure them for the afternoon. The limited number of courts makes a code of rules necessary and these will be found at the field. You will have to await your turn like anyone else and hand them over to another set of players after you are finished. Parker Field is not open after 8 o'clock at night to the public.

Sporting Editor:

Query—In the event of a tie game in the big leagues where is the play-off played? G. F. T.

Answer—In the field where the tie occurred, at a date suitable to both managers.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is there any special value on Lincoln pennies with the initials on them? J. T. P.

Answer—They are worth one cent apiece.

Sporting Editor:

Query—A says that one needs a license to fish in New Jersey waters. B says not. Who is right? J. G. P.

Answer—You do not need a license this year but after January 1, 1915, it will be necessary for you to take out a license.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Has the world's championship fight between Jack Johnson and Frank Moran been arranged If so, where and when do they meet? B. D.

Answer—Johnson and Moran meet next Sunday in Paris for the world's title.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What steps should I take to secure incorporation papers for a boys' social and athletic club in this city? N. D. I.

Answer—Any local lawyer will take charge of the matter for you.

NEW PROVIDENCE WINS.

Bernardsville, June 22—"Cliff" Saunier, with the aid of fine support, pitched his team, the New Providence A. A., to a 4 to 1 victory over the Bernardsville B. B. C., here Saturday afternoon. Saunier allowed but three hits. His receiving end, Foley, was largely responsible for the quick retiring of the side.

SMALLEY RE-ELECTED.

Ralph Smalley has been re-elected to captain the North Plainfield High School baseball team on the diamond next year. He captained the interscholastic champions in a creditable fashion during the past season and has played regularly behind the bat for two years. He will be a senior next year.

DOCTORS HANDED A BITTER PILL TO LEGAL ADVISERS ON DIAMOND

Final Score Lost in the Shuffle, but the Wiseacres Place it at 30 to 1—Comedy of Errors From Curtain Rise to Curtain Fall—Three Solid Hours of Fun Provided.

Nash Was So Wild They Had to Lead Him Away.

Nine long rounds of assault on America's National Pastime, with thrills of the heart rendering nature before and after each curtain fall was provided by Plainfield's representatives in the law and medical world on Parker Field Saturday afternoon, some 2,000 "fans" witnessing the humiliation of the jurists at the hands of their medicated opponents. The operation was performed in full view of a rabid throng of rooters, many of who sported regalia typical of the fair sex, and several hundred who had never graced a seat in a baseball park prior to Saturday. If a canvas had been taken among the bleacherites many would have been singled out who could not explain the difference between a croquet ball and a baseball and a few would have admitted that they did not know what the players were adorning the field for.

Scorekeepers equipped with special tally cards, conspicuous because of the wide margin provided for miscues, gave up their tasks long before the encounter was curtailed but no one present questioned the decision rendered by Diamond Ruler "Bill" Runyon when he held up the right hand of the doctor's captain, signifying a verdict in behalf of the scalpel wielders.

During the progress of the main show, side acts were being staged on the boundary lines by well known local characters, "Banty" Bennet, "Dutch" Weber, "Tuts" Van Nest, "Murphy" Berse, "Al" Willard and "Ike Shibinsky" Blimm all taking prominent parts. Clown acts, comic amputations, novelty performances and funeral marches constituted the program of side-splitting and death-defying stunts, and what the game failed to produce in real baseball was made up for by the assisting talent.

The only semblance of real baseball came in the second inning when "Bill" Nash pulled off what looked to be a "sure 'nuf" wrangle with the umpire. Swiping the role of real performer for the time being, the lawyers' pitcher started to bawl out Umpire Bill Runyon with real vengeance. So neatly did he execute the feat so typical of the diamond star, that the fans in many cases were forced to believe that he was really in earnest and the gentler sex showered considerable abuse on the legal light's dome, declaring him to be a "mean thing" and a "naghty naughty ball player" to act in so harsh a manner to the "poor little umpire." The whole affair was prearranged, however, between Runyon and Nash, but the "beans were spilled" by J. Henry Crane when he butted in on the argument, thinking that Nash was going to commit violence on the "ump." When Crane recovered his self-possession things were too badly muddled up to be smoothed over again and the twirler was banished from the mound while the clouds gathered. The "benching" came at his own request, as a matter of fact, but few there were who realized this to be true.

"Doc" Cregar did the big league stunt for the amputators in the second round when he stuck his cranium in the way of one of Nash's benders and hit the home station like a log. It was several moments before the big catcher came to his senses and several hours before he finished describing the constellation of stars he witnessed prior to striking the terra firma. All of the genuine baseball described above came in the second round and the remainder of the issue was given over to errors, doctors' runs, hitting the empty atmosphere and a hunt for a lawyer who could twirl.

"Doc" Hedges Pinched Runyon at Second.

While the lawyers' "interNASHional" battery had been heralded for its great merits prior to the conflict it bore little terror for the pill-dispensers who found the delivery of Bill in the opening round for several neat swats. The Nash brothers, as a battery, while not of big league calibre, did some good work while in the points but several dozen inexcusable errors on the part of teammates put this corporation on the blink. J. Henry Crane was then sent in to deliver the pellet to the nine Ty Cobbs of the opposing side and his offerings were also pelted where there were plenty of holes in the infield and outfield.

The fielding stunt of the contest was pulled off in the stretch stanza when Bill DeMeza pulled a sizzling fly out of the clouds in deep center field while several inches above mother earth. His catch brought the fans to their feet and came as a surprise even to the performer. The city executive was compelled to take several glances into his gloved hand before he was fully convinced that the spheriod was lodged therein.

Smarting under the defeats administered to the doctors with him on the mound last year by the dentists "Pop" Anthony came back in great form Saturday and experienced little trouble in putting the Blackstonian batters to rout. Coupled with the great support accorded him by the infield and outfield, his pitching was enough to keep the opposing soldiers at a safe distance from first base during a majority of the innings and only once did a lawyer cross the home plate. Red hot scooters and some thirty-second degree Texas leaguers were bagged by the iron-clad infield of the doctors and many hard wallops delivered by the lawyers counted for naught.

In the fifth stanza the big contest was interrupted long enough to allow the nurses and their blonde friends, the hospital interne, garbed in female attire, to defeat the old guard of doctors by a count of 5 to 4. Frying pans, tennis and lacrosse racquets, crutches, wooden legs, shovels and brooms were used as bats by the contending forces and the one round intermission gave the doctors and lawyers a breathing spell, after which they entered the conflict with renewed energy.

FIRST ROUND IN CHAMPIONSHIP

Plainfield Country Players Compete for Premier Honors.

HARD FOUGHT MATCHES

H. W. Rapalje Gets Points for the Golf Committee Cup—T. S. Wheeler Wins the Sweepstakes Event—Many in Tourney.

The first round match play for the golf championship of the Plainfield Country Club, three sixteens to play, the first for the premier honor, was the big event at the club Saturday afternoon, and resulted in many low scores and closely contested matches. For the first sixteen all the matches were played but one, between F. O. Reinhart and H. T. Eaton. This will probably be played this week. The results of the first round are as follows:

First sixteen—J. Whitney Baker defeated S. H. Patterson, 5 and 3; A. J. Watson defeated Arthur Murphy, 1 up; W. Lester Glenney defeated R. S. Rowland, 3 and 2; Charles A. Reed defeated L. G. Carman, 1 up; W. H. Rogers defeated H. R. Stockton, 3 and 2; Will T. Glenney won from Clifton Wharton, Jr., by default; O. H. Fleming defeated J. E. Erickson, 2 and 1.

Second sixteen—D. O. Rogers defeated W. A. Engeman, 3 and 2; H. G. Lapsley defeated C. E. Lipscomb, 3 and 1; B. C. Kenyon won from D. H. Barrows by default; P. J. McKeon defeated C. C. Burke, 3 and 2; George S. Clay defeated H. D. Hibbard, 5 and 3; D. H. Rowland defeated W. B. Gresham, 3 and 2; W. G. Cooke defeated R. G. Morse, 6 and 4; T. S. Wheeler defeated C. O. Holmes, 2 and 1.

Third sixteen—W. B. Tyler drew a bye; A. W. Klenicke defeated R. C. Blancke, Jr., 7 and 6; L. H. Gates defeated H. G. Phillips, 4 and 3; J. F. Middledith drew a bye; H. H. Williams defeated W. W. Coriell, 8 and 6; R. C. Browne drew a bye; J. P. Stevens defeated G. H. Hodges, 3 and 2; E. A. Lyon drew a bye.

These scores were returned for the Golf Committee Cup:

H. W. Rapalje, 90, 19-71; J. E. Erickson, 85, 13-72; O. H. Fleming, 86, 14-72; A. J. Watson, 85, 6-79; L. G. Carman, 93, 12-81.

These cards were returned in the sweepstakes:

T. S. Wheeler, 89, 171-72; D. H. Rowland, 95, 16-79; George S. Clay, 107, 27-80; L. G. Carman, 93, 12-81; B. C. Kenyon, 101, 20-81.

ELIZABETH COPS TO PLAY CITY MINIONS

Plainfielders Will Endeavor to Add Another Victory on Local Field.

Manager Connie McCarthy, of the Plainfield policemen's baseball team, has signed Manager Schuller's Elizabeth cops to appear on Parker Field next Thursday afternoon for a contest with the Plainfielders. The locals are still glorying in their victory of last week over the Perth Amboy aggregation and expect to trim the fast traveling Betsytowners.

The Elizabetheans have one of the strongest patrolmen's combinations in the State and the locals will have their work cut out for them on this occasion. Hard hitting and with a good battery the visitors will come here prepared to take back a verdict and it looks as though the locals would have a good deal harder time trouncing the invaders this week than they had with Amboy.

Joe Hayle, who formerly twirled for Somerville, and who has recently been added to the local force, will do the pitching for the Queen City bluecoats and this end of the battery work will no doubt be well taken care of. With Connie McCarthy on the receiving end the locals have a battery that will be hard to beat. In Thursday's contest Hayle had the Perth Amboy sluggers breaking their backs trying to meet his delivery and was master of the situation at all times.

TWO CHAMPIONSHIPS ARE DECIDED AT WESTFIELD

Westfield, June 22—The finals in the open mixed doubles and the finals in the men's doubles for the championship of the club were played at the courts of the Westfield Golf Club, Saturday afternoon. Miss White, of the West Side Tennis Club, and Russell Brown, of the Clifton Tennis Club, beat Miss Hazel Gardner and Russel Gomes, of the Westfield Golf Club, 4-6, 9-7, 6-0, in the finals of the mixed doubles. The prizes of the tournament were cups to the winners. In the semi-final round Miss Gardner and Mr. Gomes beat Mrs. Howe and C. A. Bettman, of the Fanwood Tennis Club, 6-3, 5-7, 6-2, and Miss White and Mr. Brown beat Miss Goddard and R. Goddard, of the El Mora Tennis Club, 6-4, 3-6, 6-2.

In the men's doubles for the Westfield Golf Club tennis championship, J. E. Nitchie and F. G. Smith beat G. J. Morgan and A. L. Randall, 6-2, 6-1, 6-4. The prizes were cups to the winners. The club mixed doubles will begin next Saturday. On the evening of July 20 an open night tournament for men's doubles will begin. Players from all sections of the State will enter this novel event.

MAJOR SPORTS A FAILURE IN P. H. S. DURING THE PAST YEAR

Tennis, Hockey and Track Athletics Triumph Over Football, Basketball and Baseball for Popularity and Success—Complete Resume of the Scholastic Year in Sportdom Circles.

By Wiliam Peacock.
(Football Captain 1914).

In reviewing the athletic calendar of the Plainfield High School for the past year we must come to the conclusion that as far as winning victories is concerned, the football, basketbal and baseball teams have not been up to the standard. The football team achieved no notable victories, losing twice to Westfield and also to Rahway and the Alumni. The only redeeming feature of the season was the fact that Philipsburg was played to a standstill, neither team being able to score. Plenty of material was present for a fast and heavy team, but the lack of teamwork seemed to be the cause of the downfall of the red and blue warriors. Almost the entire team will be back in school for next year, and with one season's experience the team of 1914 should be one of the best in the history of the local institution.

The basketball team, also had a poor year losing most of the principal games although it did defeat Westfield, Somerville, last year, and Randolph Military Academy last year's team, which was one of the most successful quartets the local High School ever turned out, had the same five fellows on the court in every game. This year a new idea was tried out, that by adding fresh material to the team from time to time. As a result it proved much of a failure from the fact that the local team lost about half of its games and also the interscholastic championship.

The girl's basketball team was a blessing to the school. It saved Plainfield High School from being disgraced by their rivals the boroughites. The local girls lost but two games one of which was at the hands of South Orange and the other to North Plainfield High School. South Orange was defeated, however on the local court in a return game. North Plainfield fell a victim to the local five in two games out of three.

The hockey team also did honor to its Alma Mater by winning the county championship. Defeats over Cranford and Westfield are credited to it.

The next team formed at the local school was the baseball team. This team started the season in excellent fashion by winning the opening game from Central High School, of Newark. Defeats from smaller schools followed to mar the victory, such as Woodbridge and Somerville, Rahway and Pingry, also scored triumphs over the local institution. All the games were not defeats and victories may be claimed over Princeton High School and Trenton High School. The climax to the season was the series with North Plainfield which Plainfield High School lost, but only after a hard and gritty fight.

The tennis team had a very successful season. This is a new sport for High School and is one the advent of which should be welcomed by all. This team won a match and then lost a match with Woodbridge tied with Montclair and defeated Battin High School and Glen Ridge. The schedule was short, but for the first season, the team did admirably well.

The track team also performed creditably. This also is a new sport and one which should be pushed more than it is at the present time. Although the only meet in which a team was entered was the Union county championships, the local team, without any coaching, whatever, took second place. Members of the school entered several open meets and many points were scored for Plainfield High School.

In summing up the sports of the past year the minor sports such as hockey, tennis and track, which had no coaching, whatever, stand out in glaring opposition to the major sports such as football, basketball and baseball. This gives every evidence that the material is present in the school and the thing to be done is to find some method of coaching to turn this raw material into winnnig stock for Plainfield High School.

BUT FOUR PLAYERS AMONG GRADUATES

Plainfield and North Plainfield Schools Both Have Nucleus For Fast Teams.

When the call for material is sounded by Captains Rosenson and Smalley, of Plainfield and North Plainfield High Schools, respectively, next season, thirteen out of the eighteen regulars of the past season will respond. North Plainfield will lose but two regulars, Frank Dunning and Ashley Burner, who played left field and first base respectively. While the loss of these two performers will be a serious one for the boroughites it is not expected that they will be hard ones to fill. Addison Newkirk, first substitute and utility man on the 1914 aggregation, can be relied upon to fill in as left fielder. Burner's position could be filled by DuClos VanMater and it is not improbable that he will be shifted from the outfield to the initial corner.

Plainfield will have to get along without the services of Don Sminck, its star twirler; Warren Butler, center fielder, and Andrew Hetfield, third baseman. The passing of this trio, especially Sminck, will be a hard blow to the aggregation, but there is a wealth of good material ready to step in next April.

Present conditions indicate that the same coaches will be in control of the whipping together of a team next season, Ralph Patch, for Plainfield, and Tommy Mullin, for North Plainfield. As was the case this year North Plainfield will lease Hyde Oval and the locals will again have Parker Field. Both of this year's captains have been re-elected, but Managers Beckman and Williams are among the graduates and new game bookers will have to be unearthed.

EARLY LEAD NO HELP TO MARCONI PLAYERS

Westfield Overcomes Big Advantage and Pulls Down a Victory.

The Westfield A. A. baseball team trampled over the team from the Marconi Wireless Company, of Aldene, Saturday afternoon on the Mt. Ararat field by a score of 6 to 2. Cowperwaithe's wildness gave the visitors a two-run lead in the initial stanza, but after that the Westfield twirler was the master of the situation at all times.

The home team scored a trio of counters on errors but the remaining three were sent over the scoring station by clean walloping. Cruttenden sent Green home with a clean hit for Westfield's first run after the latter had hit safe and stolen second. The winners were fast on the bases and took many chances.

Marsden, the Marconi soutpaw, twirled good ball but got some bad breaks during the issue that spoiled his chances of nosing out the opposition.

The score:

SIMPLE DESIGNS FOR EMBROIDERING A TRAVELING-CASE

Useful indeed, one will find this little traveling case, for almost indespensible is it when on a summer vacation or a trip over the week end. All of one's toilet articles are compactly folded within an oiled silk case, so that there is no danger of a wet sponge or wash cloth damaging the wardrobe. Then also they are confined to one spot in the suitcase, so that they may be readily found. This case may be made any size desired, and the number and size of the pockets may vary according to ones needs. Silk or linen, with an oiled silk lining, should be used for making this case and they should be bound together with a ribbon. Before the case is made, the names of the articles should be embroidered in outline-stitch, and a design may be placed on the cover.

Pattern 14267 contains 11 words suitable for marking traveling-cases, bureau-sets, baby-carriage robes and laundry bags.

The dainty little trees, shown on the folded case, are from pattern 14503. There are 5 small motifs for cross-stitch, suitable for embroidering towels, runners and fancy articles.

Guaranteed, hot-iron transfers will be supplied for 1 cents.

EMBROIDERY ALL THE RAGE IN NERO'S TIME

Today anything which looks like real embroidery is snapped up quickly, if a dealer, with the purpose to sell again, if a wearer to triumph over her less alert sisters. As a matter of fact, embrodiery has played a most important part in the history of the social world, from king to peasant, and the belles of the fashionable element of society from Nero's time to the present day have invoked embroidery in all its phases to enhance their personal charms.

At all times embroidery has been classed in the luxurious and expensive class, but the Press has identified itself with a proposition that will bring it to the humblest door as well as to the mansion at a cost representing about one-sixteenth what has been the regular rate. In addition to this a free booklet of instructions and also a hoop on which to operate will be supplied, by which assistance any schoolgirl can produce results that will defy the best work of a lifelong expert.

NAVAL OFFICERS ARRESTED.

Hoke Smith's Son-in-law Charged With Careless Auto Driving.

Annapolis, Md., June 22.—Two prominent young naval officers, Lieutenant Fred H. Poteet and Ensign Alston R Simpson, stationed on the Mayflower, the president's yacht, will answer to the local courts on the charge of reckless driving and operating an automobile while intoxicated.

A machine in which they were riding ran into another machine, injuring a woman, and dashed into a crowd of boys, injuring five. The officers were arrested and had to stay in jail three hours. After midnight they were taken before a justice of the peace and bail was given for them.

Ensign Simpson is the son-in-law of United States Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia.

Some Cookery Suggestions

COOKING YOUNG CARROTS.

WITH young carrots in the market the housewife should avail herself of the many wholesome and delicious dishes that may be made with this vegetable.

With Jellied Stock.

Savory Carrots.—Wash and trim the carrots, leaving the crowns on, put into boiling water with salt and boil about fifteen minutes. When tender remove the skins with a cloth, rinse in boiling water, which must then be drained off; put with them into a hot saucepan a piece of fresh butter, also a tablespoonful of good jellied stock, some chopped parsley, powdered sugar and lemon juice. Shake the carrots gently till very hot and nicely glazed.

Sliced Carrots.—Take a bunch of young carrots, wash, scrape and cut into thin slices. Into a shallow saucepan put two ounces of butter. Let it melt, and shake in as much flour as it will absorb from a dredger—about a dessertspoonful. Add a teaspoonful of sugar, then pepper and salt to taste; then, while stirring to prevent lumps, pour in a teacupful of cold water. Put in the carrots, cover the saucepan, and leave it at one side of the range.

Novel and Delicious Way.

Diced Carrots.—Cut into very small dice a bunch of small new carrots. Put a porcelain pan over the fire with butter the size of a small hen's egg, and when melted add the carrots and stir and turn often. Season with salt and pepper and cook at moderate heat in order to draw out the juices of the carrots. This will keep them from burning. After they have cooked five minutes dredge lightly with flour; add a very little water, stir again, and in five minutes add a little flour and water. Cook until tender.

Carrots With Sauce.—Scrape and trim young carrots until of a uniform shape and size; put into boiling salted water and let boil for about six minutes. Then drain and put into a large stewpan containing sufficient melted butter to cover the bottom of it; season with salt, pepper, sugar and a little powdered mace, and pour in enough good white stock to half cover the carrots. Place a piece of buttered paper over and let simmer until tender. Add a sauce made of about a third of a cupful of milk and the remains of the stock in which the carrots were cooked. Thicken it, when it boils, with the yolks of two eggs which have been beaten up with a tablespoonful of cream. Be very careful to remove the sauce the moment it is ready. Add a teaspoonful of finely chopped parsley, and salt and pepper to taste, and pour over the carrots.

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

7958

A suit of pajamas is perhaps a trifle more practical than the ordinary nightgown for the summer traveler. They are made up in the same materials as the men's pajamas: silk, twilled cotton, mercerized poplin, linen, etc. A thin scorch flannel with a fine hairline stripe is a practical material for the suit of pajamas as it washes well and has just enough body. If the stripe in the material be a soft lavender, blue or pink, trimming bands and button loops may be made in same color with good effect. In this pajama suit No. 7958, the coat closes slightly to the side-front, may be made with a round or high collar or collarless as preferred, has a full length sleeve, which may be cut off at elbow length, and two patch pockets which may be used or omitted. The trousers are the regulation pajama trousers held in at the waistline with a shirred string. For size 36, 5½ yards of 36-inch material is needed for this suit. Pattern comes in four sizes, 28 to 40.

This is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to give right size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions.

It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

"You poor tired doggie!" said her master.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Dog Who Wouldn't Leave Her Puppies.

JACK and Evelyn both were devoted to dogs, and daddy always was sure that a story about a dog would please the children.

"I have to tell you this evening," said daddy, "a story about a dog who had five most beautiful little puppies. They were very tiny, black and white puppies, and their mother was so proud of them. Now, her master was moving away to another place, and a new man had bought his home. This person seemed, to the dog's master, like a very nice kind man. Immediately he seemed to take a great fancy to the puppies and their mother. So their master suggested that he should keep the dogs, for he was moving to a village ten miles away and had to go over very rough roads. He decided that the trip would be very bad for the mother dog and the puppies.

"Dogs are very loyal to the first person they love and who cares for them. It is very seldom that a dog is happy with another master when the first one has been good to him.

"The master pretended to the dog that he was just going for a walk and said goodby as usual, or, rather, he tried to.

"But the dog knew that her master was sad, and she had noticed the other man about the place. She knew something was the matter, and as soon as her master started off she set up the most pathetic wail.

"The next day toward evening as the master was sitting in his new house a little whimper which sounded most familiar greeted his ears.

"'Where could it come from?' he thought. He opened the door, and there stood his dog looking so tired and worn. She snuggled down by him, for she was so tired she couldn't jump up, as was her custom. But after a moment or two of petting she gave all the signs, which meant he was to follow her, and outside under a vine on the stoop of the house were the five little puppies, for she had not been able to leave them behind.

"'You poor, loyal, tired doggie!' said her master. 'You and your precious puppies will never be left again.' The dog understood perfectly that she was welcomed with her family and that she would never be given to another master.

"But in the meantime the telephone rang, and the other man telephoned to say that after her master had left the night before the dog had commenced her journey after him, each trip taking a puppy with her. The people along the road had seen this from their windows and didn't know what it could mean until the man explained that she must have gone back to her master.

"When the master heard this he was more touched than ever and told the man that, after all, he would keep his dogs."

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The service at the First M. E. church next Sunday evening will be in keeping with the spirit of the Fourth of July, with special music by the quartet. One of the numbers will be a poem entitled "Our Land, We Love America," written by Rev. Dr. O'Donnell. The music for the words was written by Miss May Vincent.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Hope Chapel are planning to send a box to the New York Port Society by July 1.

A lawn fete will be conducted by the Ladies' Aid Society of Hope chapel at West Fourth street next Friday afternoon and evening. An orchestra will furnish music during the evening.

Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of the Trinity Reformed church, will address the prayer service Wednesday evening on "The Philanthropy of Jesus."

The Dutch Arms Concert Band, of Trinity Reformed church, will hold their annual concert and ice cream festival, Thursday evening, at East Front and Church streets. In case of rain, the event will be held the following evening.

The Young Women's Mission Band will hold their picnic Friday of this week, a trip being made to Riverside Park. The start of the trip will be made from the trolley station at 9:15.

The services at the Trinity Reformed church next Sunday evening will be musical in nature, the organist and choir being in charge of the arrangements.

Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, of the Congregational church, will address the midweek prayer service on "The Work of the Holy Spirit."

The excursion of the Congregational Sunday-school will go to Asbury Park, July 16, together with other schools of the city.

Holy Communion will be observed at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church next Sunday morning. The preparatory service will be held Wednesday evening.

CANVASS WAS A SUCCESS.

The every-member canvass of Trinity Reformed church, was apparently a great success. There was a total of 177 subscriptions made, of which number 130 were new subscriptions making an annual increase in estimated receipts of $969.60 for current expenses. For benevolences forty-eight subscriptions were made, of which number thirty were new subscriptions, making an increase in the estimated receipts for benevolences of $192.64, and a grand total of increase in subscriptions of $1,162.24.

BIRDMAN THRILLS CROWD BY FIGHT

Thousands Startled by His Struggle For Supremacy.

FLIER HITS BREAKING WAVE

Wind Drives Nose of Boat Beneath Planes of Machine Down Into Water. Passenger Leaps as She Struck, but Aviator Tried Vainly to Save Hydroaeroplane.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 22.—Crashing into a big breaking wave while skimming the waters of the Absecon inlet at full speed in his Curtiss flyboat, Aviator Edward K. Jaquith of Hammondsport, N. Y., and a man passenger, O. W. Hiatt, auto dealer of Kansas City, wrecked his flier. Both had a close call with death, Thousands of visitors, both on the shore and aboard the fleet of pleasure yachts, were thrilled by the struggle for supremacy between the youthful birdman, the balky hydroaeroplane and the subsequent rescue.

Jaquith left his station for the sixth trip of the day on a final flight with Hiatt from the beach near the inlet. He made the usual dart over the water, using the smooth surface as a "runaway," and had reached a point a block from shore where he had attained the necessary speed to rise from the surface.

The crowds along the boardwalk were craning their necks to see the craft soar when suddenly it floundered. Jaquith had driven the flyboat toward a line of shoals and as he approached the first bar a receding wave met an oncoming comber apparently. A sudden shift of the wind drove the nose of the boat beneath the planes of his aeroplane down into this wave.

The aviator quickly pulled his elevating gear and tried to rise to escape the water. The flyboat careened, swung around on a half circle and shot out over deep water. Jaquith could be seen switching his gears and fighting gamely to keep the craft in the air.

But she had shipped water from a hole that had been stove in the bow of the boat. While returning the craft suddenly pitched almost head first into the water. The passenger leaped as she struck, but the aviator, more collected, slipped out of his seat and back between the planes. Captain Edgar Headley in the cruiser Shannon picked up the two.

KILLED IN HIS ENGINE.

Freight Engineer Struck by Express as He Leaned From Window.

Metuchen, N. J., June 22.—S. C. Masters, engineer of a Pennsylvania railroad freight train which left Jersey City, was struck by a locomotive of the Washington express train 166 as he was leaning out of his cab window looking for trouble in the mechanism of his locomotive and instantly killed.

Recently Masters was transferred with a number of other Pennsylvania engineers from Jersey City to the Edgemore freight terminal yards in Maryland. This kept him away from his home most of the time. Taking advantage of being on the Jersey City end of his run he had dinner today at home with his family just before starting his fatal trip.

Alderman Hulit, a former Pennsylvania railroad engineer, took Masters' place at the throttle and ran the freight train several miles to the nearest signal tower at Metuchen, whence the accident was reported to Jersey City.

GIVES SERVANT A MEDAL.

Domestic Also Receives $20 For Holding Job Five Years.

Caldwell, N. J., June 22.—For holding a job as a domestic in the home of Stephen Messerer for five years, Frieda Duell is wearing a gold medal, the gift of her employer, and has a twenty dollar gold piece.

Mr. Messerer promised the medal to her when he employed her, little thinking that she would be content to remain for five years in one place. Having received one medal, Frieda has been promised another if she rounds out five years more and intends to show others that servants are not as bad as they are painted.

CONDENSED STATE NEWS.

Superintendent Kerwin of the Knox hat factory in Boonton received notice that the majority of his employees will strike.

Mayor Cooke's order of last week closing concert halls made Hoboken a dry place yesterday. None of the cafes took a chance with side door trade.

The summer girl from Montclair need not be without literature on her vacation. The Montclair public library will allow books to be withdrawn for the entire summer.

Paterson detectives began search for a store which had been robbed of 357 pairs of scissors, valued at $350. The police found the scissors in a clearing near the Bergen county cut on the Erie railroad.

Though $75,000 or more was spent a few years ago to improve the Paterson plank road near Carlstadt, the Hackensack board of freeholders have just arranged to do the work over again at a cost of $8,000.

SHOW LIONS KILL AND MANGLE TRAINER

Dietrich Meets a Tragic Death In Chicago.

Chicago, June 22.—Five young performing lions, housed in a box car in the Santa Fe freight yards, reverted to type and became ravening maneaters when one of them discovered that his own strength was superior to that of his would be trainer.

A lion named Teddy began the attack. He started to play with Dietrich, and when the trainer told him to get down, slunk around behind him and leaped on his back.

Trilby, the oldest of the lion troupe, rushed in and tried to save Dietrich, but the others fought her back. After several repulses she went to a corner of the car and looked on without joining in the attack.

It is thought Dietrich's neck was broken by Teddy at the first leap. While the lions were raging over the prostrate man, George McCord, the keeper, unable to help Dietrich alone, ran for assistance. When he had gone a lion of the troupe escaped from an adjoining cage and terrorized residents of the thickly populated section of the city, where the troupe were quartered in a vacant lot.

Men, women and children fled before the animal and barricaded themselves behind doors. The fire department was finally called out, and the lion was driven back to his cage before it had harmed any one.

Firemen threw formaldehyde in the car where Dietrich's body lay and drove the lions away from it. Then they drew the body from the cage with a pike pole.

RESIGN TO END STRIKES.

Officers Hope to End Strife In Miners' Union.

Butte, Mont., June 22.—Charles H Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, said he had received the resignation of all officers, elect and outgoing, of the union in revolt against the existing regime.

"The labor situation in Butte," said Mr. Moyer in a statement he issued, "was fully discussed at a conference, and the outgoing officers and officers elect of Miners No. 1 have decided that if they are standing in the way of a peaceful and harmonious settlement of the affairs of the union in any way they are willing to sacrifice themselves and their offices and step aside.

"I have in my possession the resignations of all these local officers, and if the interests of peace demand, the resignations shall go into effect, in which case the government of affairs of the Butte union will be left in my hands and the hands of other western federation officials provisionally until matters can be satisfactorily adjusted."

PUTS IDLENESS WITH MURDER

Preacher In Commencement Sermon Classes It With Theft Also.

Lexington, Va., June 22.—The Rev. George H. Gilmer of Draper, Va., preached the commencement sermon at the Virginia Military Institute, his subject being "The Dignity and Worth of Labor." The value and importance of work on the forming of character were dwelt upon. The speaker said that idleness is as much a violation of God's commands as murder or theft.

Superintendent Nichols presided. Graduation exercises with an address by Governor Stuart will be held on Thursday.

Dynamite In Cigar Explodes.

Hagerstown, Md., June 22.—John Fox, sixty years old, of Yellow Springs, was seriously injured in the face today by the explosion of a dynamite cartridge concealed in a cigar dropped on the road by a practical joker. Fox's face was lacerated and the hand that held the cigar was badly torn.
